Greeted By African Chiefs

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 1. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh stepped into the blazing African sunshine today, right into a royal welcome from 400 African chiefs resplendent in bright robes and leopard skins. Brass and silver arm bangles jingled as the towering chiefs leaped in the tribal welcome gesture. Lion headdresses nodded in time. The four-engined Canadair North Star airliner which brought the Royal pair from London touched down at 10:12 am (2:12 am EST) at Eastleight airfield, Nairobi. Governor Sir Philip E. Mitchell, in white uniform, stepped forward as the visitors climbed from the blue and silver British Overseas Airways machine which brought them from London.

Now comes a week's rest in this British colony of rolling plains, snow-capped hills and great herds of African wildstock. Then the couple set out for the rigors of a five-month tour which will take them to Australia and New Zealand.

Chiefs of the Turkhana and Suk tribes from Kenya's northern territories, with their leopard skins and high white and black plumed headdresses, had trekked 500 miles to cheer the Princess.

Riot of Color

Other chiefs who wore cloaks of monkey skin mingled with Somali chiefs and the representatives of the Nandi and Masai tribes. Some in European dress wore the medal ribbons of two world wars. Their robes turned the airfield into a riot of color.

As the Royal pair stepped down from the plane news of their safe arrival here was telephoned at once to London airport, which passed on the report to the King and Queen.

The big airliner took just one minute more than 19 hours to

Three Sarnia Men Killed In Explosion At Refinery

SARNIA, Feb. 1. (CP)—Three Sarnia men were burned to death Thursday when the explosion of three oil heaters caught them inside a partly-built distillation unit at the Canadian Oil Companies' refinery at Froomfield, five miles south of here. Sidney D. (Pat) Thompson, 31, and John Stanford, about 28, died inside the tower. Franz Gromlich, 35, died three hours later in hospital here.

Jan Demeliuk, 38, is in satisfactory condition in hospital with burns on his face, hands and legs. Jack Carpenter was released from hospital after treatment.

It was believed that all of the men but Carpenter were working on a scaffolding 40 feet up inside the tower. Carpenter, a rivetter working nearby, had stepped inside to escape the wind.

Hit By Flaming Oil

The explosion, which was not heard 100 feet away, was caused when one of three small heating units fed by coal oil tipped over on the scaffold. The two others, on the ground below, were hit by flaming oil from above and exploded.

The heaters — called "Salamanders"—were used to keep fresh mortar from freezing. Stanford and Gromlick were bricklayers, employed by a sub-contractor in lining the steel tower with bricks.

The tower, open at top and bottom, acted as a giant chimney and the flames roared upwards pushed

Peron Threatens Double Price

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 1 (Reuters)—President Juan Peron today threatened to nearly double the price Britain pays for Argentine meat after the current contract expires April 22.

The new price, he said, would be £250 a ton.

The statement was Peron's opening gun prior to Anglo-Argentine talks later this month on terms for the next contract.

"'We will see,' I replied. 'You have hunger and we have meat and we will see who can last the longer.'

"They did not want to pay £90 per ton but they ended up paying £150 and next time they will have to pay £250," he said.

Canada's Defence Effort Will Be Boosted—Pearson

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 — (CP). — Canada's defence effort, including her aid to Europe, will be boosted during the next fiscal year, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

He indicated at a press conference that, at NATO's suggestion, Canada has accepted one or two adjustments in her defence program, but has discouraged suggestions that Canada should donate raw materials to Europe.

Sparring cautiously with reporters over just what more Canada has been asked to do in Europe, Mr. Pearson said:

1—Canada will do more next year—starting April 1—in defence than she did this year, and that statement embraces the effort in Europe. (Over-all defence expenditures are likely to go beyond $2,000,000,000.)

2—One or two adjustments in the defence program will boost expenditures. (These are reported to include a speed-up in preparations to field ground and air formations in event of war.)

3—Canada's aid to Europe next year may reach a considerable figure, including "many millions of dollars" for infrastructure costs that is for airfields, communications and the like. In the last two fiscal years, but mainly since the fall of 1950, Canadian aid has totalled $325,000,000.

4—It has been suggested by NATO's committee of "three wise men"—named to study how the whole western defence effort could be nourished—that Canada send free raw materials to Europe. Canada "thinks that is an undesirable principle."

This whole question will come up this month at the NATO council meeting in Lisbon at which he will preside, Mr. Pearson said. He will leave here Wednesday for preliminary talks on the agenda in London. Defence Minister Claxton will go over later.

Making Own Change Find People Honest

YONKERS, NY, Feb. 1 — (AP) —The Central Bank began its honor system of making change for patrons, Thursday.

In the first full day of operation, 94 persons helped themselves to change from bins in the lobby. Each one was supposed to put the proper amount of money in the bins— but nobody stood over his shoulder to make sure he did.

The result? At the end of the day's business, the money checked to the penny.

Said bank president Gerald S. Couzens:

"The results come up to our expectations of the accuracy and honesty of the people."

Ex-Policeman Arrested In Election

Montreal Vice-Buster, 11 Others Held Incommunicado

MONTREAL, Feb. 1. (CP)—Steps were being taken today to bring to the attention of the provincial attorney-general, Premier Duplessis, the arrest here of Pacifique Plante, former deputy director of the Montreal Police Department.

Plante's legal adviser, Guy Desjardins, said his client was being held "incommunicado" following his arrest with 11 election workers during the heat of a municipal election in suburban Ville St. Michel.

Desjardins said the police in Ville St. Michel refused to admit Plante's lawyer or inform him of the charges against the dismissed former police official. He said a writ of habeas corpus was being sought to obtain Plante's release.

Mayor Charles Lafontaine, member of the Montreal city council seeking re-election in the municipality, confirmed that Plante was arrested.

Charges To Be Determined

He said Plante was picked up with three men—A. McGarr, Mike Shaffey, and another identified only as Duhamel—and charges will be determined later by the town's legal counsel.

Earlier this week, Adelard Boisvert, candidate for mayor, and 35 Ville St. Michel business men petitioned Premier Duplessis as Attorney-General asking for provincial police supervision of the election. The request was made on the ground that trouble might occur on voting day.

The lawyer for Mayor Lafontaine's opponent, Adelard Boisvert, said he had tried to get Mr. Plante and the 11 election workers released but was told by police "nothing can be done until 7 o'clock tonight" when polls close.

No Information

Police in the little suburb refused to give any information about Mr. Plante, a controversial figure on the Montreal political scene following his dismissal from the police department for insubordination two years ago.

Mr. Plante joined a group of citizens who launched a judicial inquiry into the conduct of Montreal police affairs over a period of years. He acted as counsel for the petitioners in the inquiry — now stalled by legal proceedings—and was dubbed "vice-buster" by Montreal newspapers.

Mr. Boisvert's lawyer, C. E. Bertrand, said Mr. Plante was not a campaign worker for Mr. Boisvert and that Mr. Plante did not live in the municipality.

Army Courts Handle Offences

CAIRO, Feb. 1 — (Reuters). — Premier Aly Maher Pasha, installed to restore order in turbulent Egypt, today issued an order empowering military courts to handle a series of offences.

The list includes carrying arms or ammunition and attacks, or attempted attacks, on the life of a civil servant or public security agent on duty.

Military courts also will try offences against the maintenance of order in educational institutions. Student disturbances have been a regular feature of nationalist agitation.

Maher Pasha's order also stipulated that certain crimes of the January 26 riots in Cairo may be brought before military courts, even if they are still before a civil judge. These include concealing articles acquired criminally, damaging government property, looting, destruction and arson.

The Premier was reported preparing negotiations with the British—first since Egypt denounced the Anglo-Egyptian friendship treaty.

He has told foreign ministry officials to draw up a comprehensive note on past negotiations.

At the same time he is maintaining contact with the states who proposed a Middle East defence pact — the United States, Britain, France and Turkey—to safeguard the canal.

PM Has Birthday

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is 70 years old today. It is a "work-as-usual" birthday. His staff greeted him with congratulations in his east block offices at 9:20 this morning—about 10 minutes earlier than he usually arrives. His agenda called for "a typical day" one aide said, adding that this is one of the busiest periods the Prime Minister has had since taking office in 1948.

George Corsan Nut Grower Dies In Miami

George Hebden Corsan, internationally-known swimming instructor and vegetarian, died Thursday night in Miami, Fla. He was in his 95th year.

To the end he maintained his athletic prowess and seemed to defy the advance of old age by sticking to a rigid diet of nuts, fruits and vegetables.

Old timers in the district will recall that Mr. Corsan visited the Kawarthas in 1904 and swam the marathon swim from Lakefield to the Lift Locks along with his friend, Harry F. Strickland.

Corsan came to Peterborough to show his prowess as a long-distance swimmer. But he was outlasted that day by Mr. Strickland who is now 82 and living in Bobcaygeon.

The start of the swim was at the Lakefield docks. The late R. M. Roy, founder of the Roy Photographic Studio, and father of the late Fred Roy, was present along with newspapermen in his steam launch, the Rob Roy.

Current Helps

Dick Rogers, former Trent Canal superintendent, had all the lock gates open and the current in places, helped the two swimmers.

Corsan, who had eaten a heavy breakfast, got as far as Nassau and then crawled out exhausted onto the canal bank. Strickland reached the Lift Lock five hours and five minutes after they first plunged into the water at Lakefield.

The result was carried that day in The Examiner.

"Water doesn't drown people," was a favorite saying of Corsan's. "They drown themselves. If they'll keep their mouths and noses up properly they can stay in the water until they starve.

His son, George, said here he received word of the death of the leathery, thrice-married nut king and dietary enthusiast who spent his summers on his nut farm at Echo Valley in suburban Islington and his winters on his 16-acre nut-and-citrus-fruit plantation, El Corsand, in south Miami.

Only last spring, Corsan recovered from a broken neck suffered in a 20-foot fall from a ladder while examining grafted buds on an English walnut tree at Islington. It proved only a temporary setback to Corsan, who left hospital in three weeks.

Against the reported opposition of family and friends, he married Lillian Armstrong, 60-year-old retired Toronto school teacher and fellow vegetarian, in Miami Jan. 2, 1951. His two previous marriages ended in divorce.

About the time of his last marriage, to keep his weight to a trim 155 pounds, he climbed a palm tree daily during the winter. In summer, he occasionally brightened his morning swim by a dive from a 35-foot board.

Duke Seen Wearing Drainpipe Trousers

LONDON, Feb. 1 (Reuters). — Royal approval has been given to tight-legged "drainpipe" trousers which smart London tailors have designed as the latest fashion for men, the trade magazine Tailor and Cutter announced today.

It published a full-length picture of the Duke of Gloucester, younger brother of the King, going to church in the garment.

The "straight-styled" trousers are so thin in the leg, that the wearer must climb into them barefoot with his toes pointed down.

The campaign for a thin-legged trouser is making slow headway here against the conservatism of the great majority of men.

But the magazine's editor holds that "fashion will out" and that "sooner or later narrow trousers will become accepted."

Baby Sitter Notices Flames First

Keeps Sounding Alarm Till All Apartment Occupants Outside

TORONTO, Feb. 1. (CP) — Sheldon Muise, 14, was credited with saving the lives of 19 persons as fire swept a downtown rooming-house early today.

The boy discovered the fire, carried out two small children, then stationed himself at the hand-operated fire alarm until the arrival of firemen.

District Fire Chief Fred Wilson praised the boy and said "at least two children would have died if it hadn't been for Muise."

He remained at the alarm, despite dense smoke which nearly suffocated him, until all of the 19 tenants had left the building.

Young Muise said he was babysitting for the rooming-house landlord when he first sensed something wrong shortly after midnight.

"I was in the kitchen and I noticed smoke coming from under the door where the kids were asleep," he said. "I opened the door and the room seemed filled with flames."

Hard To Move

He tried to pick up Donna Gilgard but found the five-year-old too heavy so he grabbed her baby brother, Howard, and then pulled the two of them from the room.

"They were so sleepy and slow I had to carry them," said Sheldon. "I guess I was pretty rough because they started crying, but I got them out of there."

Once the children were outside Sheldon groped his way through thick smoke to the hallway fire gong, installed recently at the insistence of the Fire Marshal's Department, refusing to leave his post until all occupants of the house were out.

Others he rescued included a crippled man on the top floor who insisted on taking his suitcase with him. Sheldon took the suitcase while the man hobbled from the house on crutches.

Turns Back On Princess Child Steals Spotlight

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 1 — (AP)— A three-year-old African boy bashfully turned his back on Princess Elizabeth today and grabbed the spotlight at this British East African colony's welcome to its future ruler.

The child —named Prince because he was born the same day as Elizabeth's son Prince Charles —was delegated to hand her a bouquet when she visted the New African Maternity Hospital soon after her airport arrival with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, on the first leg of their five-month Commonwealth tour.

Wide-eyed and solemn in white shirt and short blue trousers, Prince turned his back on the Princess and shyly backhanded the flowers. Elizabeth gently pulled him around and took the bouquet, to the delight of the large crowd of Africans.

Canada Protests To Egypt On Boyer's Death

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP)—Canada has protested formally to the Egyptian government over the killing of J. M. Boyer, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Cairo, during Saturday's rioting there. External Affairs Minister Pearson said at a press conference today the protest was delivered this week to the Egyptian foreign minister by the British Ambassador in Cairo. Mr. Pearson said the Egyptian government was informed Canada holds it "fully responsible" for the loss of Canadian life and property and reserves all rights in the matter, such as that of seeking possible compensation.

Further, the Canadian government asked that all necessary measures be taken to maintain order in the future and said it will hold the Egyptian government responsible for any further incidents involving Canadians.

Presents Protest

The British official presented the protest Monday on Canada's behalf since this country had no diplomatic representation in Egypt. He made the same representations on behalf of his own government. Several British casualties were involved.

Mr. Pearson said information received from Cairo was that Mr. Boyer was attacked when a mob set the torch to the fashionable Turf Club while he was lunching there Saturday.

He was last seen alive at a third-floor window of the blazing building, from which a few other persons had jumped. The Trade Commissioner had a bad head wound and fell back into the room, either from the effects of the wound or from smoke. His body was found hours later.

C. E. Butterworth, Assistant Trade Commissioner, was on his way to the club for lunch when he was warned of the rioting. He escaped.

Reds Suggest Using Trust

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 2 (AP) —Communist negotiators proposed today that the fate of 600,000 displaced Korean civilians be left to the "good faith" of the Allies and Communists.

The Reds (1) turned down a United Nations plan to have neutrals find out where the displaced Koreans want to live, (2) cut the Allied proposals for inspections at 12 points of entry to three, and (3) did not reply to the Allied selection of Switzerland, Sweden and Norway as neutral observers of a Korean truce.

Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby said "We told them good faith was not enough" guarantee that displaced civilians would be allowed to live where they choose. He said "Everything was very amicable except they didn't agree."

The UN proposed that neutral teams interview displaced persons after the Reds again rejected a proposal to give the job to the International Committee of the Red Cross. The Communists said they wanted no part of the Red Cross because it is not neutral.

Hissing Sound At Snag Just Breath Freezing

Written for The Canadian Press, By L. E. MANN, Officer in Charge, Snag Meteorological Office.

SNAG, YT, Feb. 1 — (CP)— What's it like at 77 degrees below zero in this icebox of the north?

The skies are clear. Sparkling ice crystals fall continually. You become used to the hissing sound caused by your breath freezing. Small patches of ice fog can be seen hanging over the sleigh dogs lying in the yard.

At 9:30 a.m. Jan. 20 the temperature here dropped to the phenomenal low of 77.6 degrees below zero, within four degrees of the all-time low of 81 degrees below recorded Feb. 3, 1947. (The world record is said to be 93.6 degrees below, recorded in 1885 at the Siberian village of Verchoyansk).

Snag is the last Canadian intermediate emergency airport, radio range station and meteorological observing station on the north west staging route between Edmonton and Fairbanks, Alaska.

It is situated in the broad White River valley about 20 miles east of the Alaska-Yukon border, and 16 miles northeast of the Alaska highway.

Reports of the recent extremely cold weather were compiled and dispatched by the writer, G. C. Heddle and the staff of radio range operators who also act in the capacity of weather observers. James Granger had the honor of being the radio operator observing when the temperature dipped to the 77.6 mark.

At no time during the cold snap was there much wind and most of the time it was dead calm. Smoke rose straight up from all the chimneys.

A heavy snow that fell a few days before the cold spell was a great hindrance to Sergeant Tolmie, commanding the RCAF detachment and the crew responsible for maintenance, and to Mr. Heddle who has to travel a seven-mile stretch of road to the range transmitters. On two occasions he had to walk through heavy drifts in 65-below temperatures.

Passenger Train Hits Freight, Five Injured

NORTH BAY, Feb. 1 — (CP)— Five persons were slightly injured when the crack Canadian National Railways flyer, The Northland, early today plowed into the rear of a freight train standing on a siding with the last of its 85 cars jutting out on the main line.

Several freight cars were smashed and three were catapulted from the rails. Traffic was blocked for six hours by the accident which occurred several miles south of here at 12:30 am.

Railway officials said four of the 50 passengers and a newsagent were injured.

Harry Cook, brakeman, standing on the platform of the freight caboose, leaped to safety a second before the crash, while the fireman and engineer of the passenger locomotive crouched on the floor of the cab as a mass of debris swept over the engine.

Railway officials said the freight, powered by two diesel units, had pulled into the siding to allow the Timmins-bound train to pass. The caboose and several rear cars abutted on the main line and the passenger train tore through them and veered into the siding.

The caboose and a box car were wrecked and three other freight cars were derailed. Fire from a stove in the caboose set one car ablaze after it was heaved at a grotesque angle about the front of the big mountain-type passenger steam locomotive. Flames shot high in the air, illuminating the scene and attracting motorists from miles around.

Thousands of cans of string beans and other goods were scattered over the rails and the sides of the tracks from the smashed box cars. A number of persons were observed removing cases of merchandise and many pasengers kept a can of beans as a souvenir.

Seat cushions in the front-end day coaches were wrenched from their positions. The passenger train continued on to North Bay with an auxiliary engine from the Ontario Northland Railway.

The Northland is a CNR train until it reaches North Bay, where it becomes an ONR unit.

Railway officials declined to release the names of the injured.

Lay 117 Charges Against 6 People

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP) — A record number of shopbreaking and receiving charges were laid today against four men and the wives of two of them following a two-week investigation.

The 117 charges cover thefts amounting to between $12,000 and $15,000.

Bail for Reginald Gunn, 26, and Frank Norman, 35, was set at $5,000 each and $3,000 for William McMurray, 36, and Charles Pearce 26. Mrs. Esther Norman, 26, and Mrs. Rita McMurray, 29, were released without bail.

The six were arrested Jan. 19 when goods which police said were stolen, including outboard motors, refrigerators, washing machines and television sets, were found piled high in the house.

Three Young Children Burned To Death

ST. LEONARD, NB, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Beaupre were burned to death early today when their home in this Madawaska county town was destroyed by fire.

Flames spread through the wooden home after Beaupre had risen to light the furnace. He returned to bed and soon after the house was in flames.

Beaupre said that he and his wife were unable to reach the room where the children, aged 2, 4 and 5, slept.

Farmers Approve Central Agency For Marketing Hogs

Seventy-five Peterborough farmers indicated by show of hands their approval of plans for setting up a central marketing agency for Ontario hogs, as explained Thursday afternoon by Charles Newton of Barrie. The objective, Mr. Newton said, was to secure producer control of the sale of pigs to the processing plants. "It's a step in the dark, but we feel that we are advancing. It is something new in livestock marketing in Ontario. We don't know all the answers, but we are trying to get ourselves out of a muddle."

Mr. Newton explained the project to members of Peterborough Hog Producer's Association at their annual meeting. President Melville H. Johnston was chairman.

"With no British bacon contract last year, conditions in the marketing of our hogs are absolutely ridiculous," Mr. Newton said. "There were terrific fluctuations in the price, but there were no comparable fluctuations in hog gradings."

Production Steady

Mr. Newton traced the year's movement of prices, production, gradings, etc., on charts. Although prices changed sharply, "our volume of production kept a reasonably straight line." Meanwhile, the United States price did not vary more than 10 per cent.

"We started 1951 with inventories of 30 million pounds of pork, in the trade, in storage and elsewhere. That was a little less than two pounds of pork per person in this country.

"Inventories had moved up by May, and our farm wage increases had advanced 15.4 per cent, and there was a gradual increase in the cost of hog feed concentrates.

"There was correlation of these different price fluctuations.

"The price of hogs in January was 31 cents a pound. By April it was up to 36 cents, but during the third week of that month it dropped to 29 cents over a week end. I know that drop cost me considerable money, because I had 40 hogs to sell, and I could have got them to market before the drop if I hadn't had so many meetings to attend."

At that time, Mr. Newton said, the cold storage plants were practically empty. It was approaching a season when production would be expected to be a little on the short side, and consequently price would move up a little.

Imported US Pork

"The packing industry brought in some United States pork, and added to it supplies at home bought at 29 cents, and the cold storage plants were filled with pork bought at 29 cents."

Mr. Newton said the market price gradually moved back to 36 cents and actually got up to 40 cents for a few days in Toronto and Montreal. "Then the cold storage plants were emptied again on the basis of the higher price."

"Maybe I'd be inclined to say that was good business on the part of the packers, good for them anyway. It shows the way industry does its business, and the way we do ours. I suppose it was nothing more than I would do if I could buy a farm for $5,000, hold it for a couple of years and sell it to the government for $20,000. I'm not sticking up for the packers. It looks like cut-throat competition. That's the way they do business, and it's about time we started thinking of ourselves, and our way."

Mr. Newton said the autumn last year was similar to that of spring. With cold storage plants empty, the price of hogs started to decline in September, but the fall run of hogs did not materialize until about the middle of October.

"There were five weeks in there when the supply was not keeping up with the demand, but the price dropped from 36c to 29c. The packers expected a heavy run of hogs, and it was not the case. There was no need for that drop at all, and as far as it did drop."

Don't Bid

A major weakness in the position of the farmer, Mr. Newton said, that only about 4 per cent reached the open market. "On some 92 per cent of our hogs the packers don't have to bid, and it is our fault."

"There is not a man here who knew what he was going to get for his pigs when he called the trucker to come and get them. We are not doing a selling job on our own hogs."

"The plants tell us they'll settle at the end of the week when they see what others are paying. You can't buy a tractor on that basis—tell the dealer you will take it home and run it around and see how it works, and come in and pay for it next week."

Truckers take most of the hogs directly to the packing plants. Why not to the open stockyards? Mr. Newton said the truckers had to pay a commission at the stockyards, but some truckers were suspected of having contacts with some plants and of collecting a commission for taking their hogs there. They also collected a trucking charge from the farmer.

Must Keep Quality

As to grades, Mr. Newton said: "It was never more to our interest than it is today to keep up the quality of our hogs. We are trying to get into the United States market, and we are producing a superior hog to theirs. So, we can't let down on quality. I am inclined to agree that there should be a wider range between A and B grades. You hear it often enough that some farmers are making more money out of Grade B hogs.

"Ontario Hog Producers hope to be able to follow our Grade A hogs from the packing plant to the retail store counter. We think they are nearly all the same grade when they get into some meat shops. We want to follow our top quality pork much the same as Red and Blue brands of beef."

With a central marketing agency, Mr. Newton said, the hog producers of Ontario believed they could bring stability into their business, partly by directing hogs to various markets in the province depending on circumstances. They wished to avoid the price peaks which they had to go through last year, as an example. Control of deliveries, he said, was of great importance.

Use Commission Firm

"In setting up the plan we intend to use the livestock commission firm who have been selling hogs, but only using four per cent of our production in the open market. They are willing to market our hogs. They would not put them all through Toronto stockyards; maybe not more than 10 or 15 per cent. Our interest is to make the packers bid for those hogs.

If we saw pressure building up in Toronto, Hamilton, Stratford or some other local places, we could direct hogs to some other centres, and be better able to hold the market steady. That is what we need—stability—and not have the price knocked off from 36c to 29c in a weekend. There were circumstances in which the directing of a relatively few cars of hogs would help to control the market for a few days that were important."

Mr. Newton discussed surpluses possible western deliveries, condemnation and so on. Some of the smaller packers, he said, were in favor of the producers' plans, and 98 per cent of the truckers were also with the farmers. "The great majority of them are an honest bunch of men."

Can't Refuse

"What if a big firm like Canada Packers refuse to buy from our marketing agency? They can't refuse, because their trade is too valuable to them. That is their great asset. They deliver to 1,000 retail stores in Toronto. They can't afford to sit back and not buy."

"If we can get a stabilized price what about the effect of volume? If we find a heavy increase in the number of hogs, it is the duty of the Ontario Hog Producers to get the word out to the farmers that too many hogs are coming. It is one of the things we have to work out in doing our own business."

Mr. Newton said it was hoped that the plan could be put into effect before March 1.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Newton was moved by Mr. George Shoniker.

Otonabee Man Dies Driving Car To City

Norman Stark, 71-year-old Otonabee township farmer, died Thursday from a sudden attack of coronary thrombosis while driving his car to Peterborough.

The car was found stalled on an icy uphill grade of the 7th concession, half a mile south of Peterborough.

For the last five years he has had a weak heart but he had never before had a serious attack. Death was instant.

Dr. Wilson Ford, Keene village, examined Mr. Stark later and found death caused by coronary thrombosis.

From Pioneer Family

Mr. Stark, a bachelor, came from one of the pioneer families of Otonabee. His forebears were from Scotland and settled in the township in 1820.

Mr. Stark was born and educated in Otonabee and lived there, on the family homestead, all his life. He was a farmer.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Percy Donaldson, Otonabee, and Mary, at home; he also leaves a brother John living at home. His parents were the late John Stark and Maria Armstrong.

Mr. Stark was a member of Keene Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be 2 pm Saturday at the family residence, Lot 23, Concession 7, Otonabee. Mr. A. N. Tomlinson of Keene Presbyterian Church will officiate, and burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Germs, Gas Soon On Army Course

OTTAWA, Dec. 1 (CP)—Canada is set to start training the armed forces in what she's learned in important, hush-hush work on germ and gas warfare amid signs she is developing secret weapons and equipment in those grim fields.

That significance was read into appointment Thursday of Dr. Otto Maass of McGill University as scientific adviser (special weapons) to the chiefs of staff. The announcement said "his fields include biological (germ) and chemical (gas) warfare."

Simultaneously, Col. Gideon Milroy Carrie of the Defense Research Board, a native of Owen Sound, was named to succeed Dr. Maass as scientific adviser to the chief of the general (army) staff.

The shift, said one source, is the sign that the Defence Department feels the time has come to advance the gas and germ studies from the laboratory into actual training and planning for military use of what is available.

Butter And Cheese Production Down 1951

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP).—Ontario's butter production for 1951 was 66,713,000 pounds, a decrease of 2.9 per cent from 1950, the Provincial Department of Agriculture reported today.

Cheese factories reported a 10.3 per cent decrease for the year.

During December the wholesale price of butter at Toronto averaged 66.6 cents a pound, an increase of one cent over November. The price in December, 1950, was 58.1 cents.

Beef, Pork Supply Higher Predict Easing Of Prices

MONTREAL, Feb. 1. (CP)—Meat packers were told Thursday that increased supplies of beef and pork products may be expected this year with a consequent easing in the family meat budgets. A. G. Hall of Toronto said in a report that "a drop in beef prices would be healthy for the industry as it would mean increased beef consumption."

Earlier the 32nd annual convention of the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers heard a report from H. C. Leckie of Toronto, who forecast increased pork supplies and cheaper prices.

Mr. Hall said more than 500,000 fewer head of cattle and calves were marketed in 1951 than in 1950, but that in 1952 more beef will be up for sale.

Lower Price

"We must all be prepared for a sharp, but not disastrous, lowering of cattle prices," he said. "If prices in 1952 decline to the 1950 level—a drop of eight cents a pound—I think most cattlemen would agree that prices were still high."

Mr. Hall said Canadians are eating less and less beef "only because prices are soaring too high."

In 1950, "the per capita consumption by Canadians of beef products was down more than six pounds and it dropped some more last year.

"Canadian beef prices are higher than those in any other country. And since Canada is a country producing a surplus of beef, it is not good business to be charging more for the product than the country to whom you intend to export."

In December "marketing dropped to almost an all-time low for the season. Prices advanced until by the end of the month some grades of American cattle and beef could be imported at cost sharply below that of Canadian beef.

Merchants Smug Chamber VP Tells Meeting

LINDSAY, Feb. 1 (ENS).—The first annual business meeting of Lindsay's 10-month-old Chamber of Commerce was held in the town hall last night and the newly-elected vice-president, George Stephenson, condemned the merchants in town for being too "smug."

"When you approach a good many of them, they give you the impression that you aren't wanted." He said: "They make you feel as though they are saying 'Go away. We're doing all right without you. Business is good and we don't need you fellows.' That's the wrong attitude. They are all being too smug."

He recommended forming a credit bureau here, and suggested a complete revision of store hours. He thought that the chamber, in the future, should sponsor a sales school for members' employees. The report of the nominating committee was accepted, and President Dave Thomson, local lawyer, was returned for his second term, with George Stephenson vice-president, George Ross as treasurer, and secretary-manager Harold Pollock.

The following are to be directors for a one-year term: George Baldwin, Miss H. Bate, Miss Ada Greaves, Joseph Hollom, Harry Johnston, Ken MacDuffee, Norman McIntosh, Harry Peirce, Bernard Schenk, William Whyte, two-year terms, I. B. Bate, Bill McCrae, R. D. Carruthers, W. Dawe, A. J. Hannon, A. E. Hick, G. A. Pickard, S. R. Putts, T. A. Junn, M. M. Smith, Lou Walker, Harold Wood.

Plans were also made at the meeting for the annual supper meeting to be held February 29, when Premier L. M. Frost will be the speaker.

Chairman of the tourist committee, Joe Hollom, in his report, gave the details of the financing of the Kawartha exhibit at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show. Four Chambers of Commerce cooperated for the exhibit, Lindsay, Peterborough, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls. The $2,000 exhibit is to be jointly financed with $1,000 from Peterborough, $800 from Lindsay and $200 each from Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls.

Local Drivers Warned Have Light On Licence

Traffic police are on the lookout for cars with no light, illuminating their rear licence plates after dark.

It is against the law to operate a motor car at night unless a light is in the proper position to enable the licence place number to be seen.

Car owners would be well advised to check these lights, and make sure they are working, because the Highway Traffic Act provides for a fine of $5 and $2.50 costs if a driver is convicted of not having his licence plates lighted properly.

One traffic officer stationed himself at the corner of Rogers and Hunter Streets one evening this week. During a period of 21 minutes, the officer reported he noted on average of one car every three minutes pass which did not have the rear marker illuminated.

Emphasizing that unless he could see the number clearly as the car passed through the lighted intersection, he did not write it down in his notebook, the officer said he saw a number of others go by who should have been charged, but he was unable to get their number.

Industrials And Oils Higher On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Industrials and western oils pushed steadily higher today in early afternoon stock market dealings but golds and western oils eased from early advances.

Papers, steels and refining oils led industrials with a broad list of advances ranging to about $1. Utilities, foods, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues also drew firm support. Constructions, banks, textiles and retail stores held gains and losses in balance but agricultures weakened.

Western oil gains ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton, Gridoil, Jupiter, Kroy, Scurry, Trans Empire and Selburn strengthened steadily.

Base metal leaders were firm. Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Noranda and Steep Rock edged upward. Mindamar climbed strongly in active trading.

Senior golds were steady. Dome, Giant Yellowknife and Lake Shore climbed fractions while Bralorne and Wright-Hargreaves slipped pennies. Junior producers dipped sharply, however, while prospects and holding companies strengthened.

Machine Tool Plant Tenders Called

PORT HOPE, Feb. 1.—Tenders were called today for a machine tool plant to be erected here soon. The company that is starting "an extensive program" in this town is B. Elliott Co.

Plant site is on 15 acres between the CNR tracks and Lake Ontario. It was purchased last June.

First unit of the plant will be a steel and brick building 271 by 300 feet. Future plans call for an extension to the office building and main plant, as well as construction of a boiler house, foundry and other buildings.

About 300 will be employed initially.

Churchill Wins Vote Of Confidence

Socialists Pressing Leaders To Try Unseat Government

LONDON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The Socialists put pressure today on their party leaders for another early attempt to defeat Winston Churchill's Conservative government in the House of Commons and force it to resign.

Some Labor members of parliament demanded that their party chief, Clement Attlee, try to unseat the government with a motion of no confidence during next week's debate on foreign policy. The bones of contention are Prime Minister Churchill's Far Eastern policy and commitments the Labor members fear he made on his recent visit to Washington.

The Conservatives Thursday night defeated a Labor vote of censure on financial cuts designed to make Britain solvent within a year and which, among other things, imposed charges for use of Britain's socialized health services. Churchill's party won by a vote of 309 to 278. The House then adopted his fiscal program 306 to 275. The Liberals voted with the Conservative party, swelling its nominal majority of 14 votes.

No Comment

Attlee so far has declined to say what he would do about the demands that he try to oust Churchill over foreign policy.

For more than 12 years no government has had to face any major challenge in the Commons on its conduct abroad. Both major parties have followed the same broad principles in foreign affairs.

But many Labor supporters say it is time now for the big-party-ship to end.

Many Labor members, and many other Britons, fear Churchill agreed Britain would join the US in bombing and blockading the mainland of China if any future Korean truce is broken. Churchill told the Commons Britain had no formal commitment to join in such punitive action and that his reference to "prompt, result and effective action" did not represent any new decisions made during the Washington discussions.

No Clothes No Court Case

An assault charge, was adjourned in police court Thursday because the accused's housekeeper allegedly beat him up with a beer bottle, then hid the gentleman's clothes.

When court resumed after lunch, W. J. Arthur Fair asked that a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm against Thomas Hughes, 833 Bell Ave., be adjourned.

After explaining his client's predicament, Mr. Fair said: "Unless he can arrange suitable accoutrements considering the weather, he will have to ask for an adjournment".

Another Story

"The story I get is that the accused beat up a crown witness because she wouldn't testify on his behalf", crown attorney John A. Bradshaw interrupted. Mr. Bradshaw added that he believed Mr. Hughes hoped to evade the charge by "dodging".

At this point, a feminine voice from among the spectators asked: "Can I take the stand Your Honor?" but before she could continue, order was called for, and Magistrate W. R. Philp suggested that the case be put at the foot of the list.

Both counsel agreed.

When Mr. Hughes failed to appear before court adjourned, the complainant, George Dwyer, who swore out the information, had left, and the case was adjourned for one week.

Will Build Seaway Howe Reiterates

VICTORIA, BC, Feb. 1 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe reiterated Thursday night that Canada will construct the St. Lawrence seaway alone if help from the United States is not forthcoming.

He told a Liberal party reception here "It has been apparent in recent years that the possibility of US help has dwindled yearly."

Mr. Howe also reviewed the armament situation in Canada.

"There is always a discouraging period while tooling up for armament production," he said. "But this is past now and there is a good flow of munitions."

On the high cost of living, he said: "Inflation in Canada now is under control. And there is an even chance of prices going lower instead of higher."

French Eye Bank Refuses Bequest

PARIS, Feb. 1 (Reuters)—The French eye bank has refused a murderer's bequest of his eyes after execution because cataract patients do not want to look at the world through "killer's eyes."

Michael Courtin, 23, a farm laborer who killed his employer's wife and her 12-year-old daughter, is waiting to go to the guillotine and made his offer from the condemned cell. But in the future the eye bank will refuse all such bequests.

Some sufferers have refused the grafting operation which could restore their sight merely because the bank cannot assure them that the graft does not come from a murderer.

Too Many Canadians Tricked By Something For Nothing Idea

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP)—A top-ranking Canadian industrialist said Thursday that there was a growing belief by Canadians that they can get something for nothing through the government, and suggested that what this generation needs is a disease called Santaclaustrophobia.

"More and more people," said Herbert H. Lank of Montreal, "seem to be buying the idea that if they will turn their problems, their pay cheques, and their independence over to the government, everything will be provided."

Mr. Link, vice-president of Canadian Industries Ltd., and chairman of the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, added:

"It is disturbing to us in that these people do not appear to understand that the government can only give what it takes away, less the amount necessary to cover its overhead, the efficiency of which may be open to question."

In a speech to the Ottawa Board of Trade, Mr. Lank said:

"When I was a kid, the comedian Bill Nye used to say: "True generosity consists in giving something that does not belong to you. If he were alive today, I think he would say:

Pleasant Method

" 'Generosity consists in giving everybody what they think they want without letting them realize that they are going to have to pay for what they get.'

"Many of us feel that this is a problem of grave concern. If ever a generation needed a disease instead of a cure it's Santaclaustrophobia. You know it and I know it, so let's stand up and say it. Let's form right here, in this room the Canadian Society for the Propagation of Santaclaustrophobia."

To combat this false doctrine of getting something for nothing and others that hit at democracy, Mr. Lank suggested that the forces of propaganda be employed to bring all the facts before the people.

"Misunderstanding, misinformation, and what is worse, apathy, can never be overcome if all the facts and ideas are not communicated. It just is not reasonable to assume that public opinion with its backlog of prejudice can come to an unbiased conclusion if it has not heard the whole story.

"The very operation of the democratic process by which we live depends on the principle that we get up on our hind legs and state our case. If we are muffled, even though it be by our own choice, the democratic ideal will soon wither and our destinies cease to be decided by us but for us."

Houses of a similar type on government projects are being erected at Trenton at a cost of around $10,000. Mystery Plane Causes Stir

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) — A mystery plane that put radar spotters on the alert Thursday night has been identified as an RCAF air craft.

Fighter pilots here and in Detroit were ordered to stand by after radar stations of the United States Air Force reported picking up an unidentified plane flying over London toward Detroit at a high altitude and speed.

Soon after US air force jet plane crews at Selfridge Field, near Detroit, were told to prepare to intercept the plane, it disappeared in a northeasterly direction and left the Great Lakes defence area.

Officials at Selfridge Field said they were advised later that the mystery plane had been identified as an RCAF plane on "a local night flight."

TB Campaign Short Of $3,200 Objective

COBOURG, Feb. 1 (ENS)—The West Northumberland TB drive for funds is $300 short of its objective, it was revealed Thursday by the chairman, Mrs. Margery Pewtress, of Cobourg. The objective is $3,200, the minimum amount set to carry on the TB work for the year and the campaign closes at the end of next month.

With the exception of $200 sent to Weston Sanatorium to assist in rehabilitation work and to provide magazines for patients, all the money is spent locally. Besides sending parcels to the sanatoriums and to home patients, the organization carries the cost of extra clinics and pre-employment X-rays. In the past year it also gave an electro-cardiac to the general hospital, as well as other equipment.

Soldiers On Guard Near Arab Quarter

TUNIS, Feb. 2 (Reuters). — Trucks packed with soldiers stood by at the gates of the Arab quarter here today as Tunisians began a 24-hour strike, ordered by the Nationalists chafing at French rule.

Leaders of the Neo-Destour Nationalist party said they had asked strikers to avoid incidents at all costs.

They believed "Tunisia Day," held to support autonomy claims and in protest against tough French security measures, would pass quietly.

Practically all stores and markets were shut, and steel-helmeted guards armed with carbines patrolled the silent streets.

Get More Loot

CHICAGO, Feb. 1. (AP) — Crooks stole $21,272,000 in cash and valuables in Chicago last year. They committed an average crime every nine minutes. The police department, in its annual statistical review, said Thursday the loot represented a 31-per-cent increase over the amount stolen in 1950.

Free Convicts To Help Fight Bush Fires Sweeping Toward Aussie Capital Canberra

MELBOURNE, Feb. 1 (Reuters).—Convicts were freed on Thursday to join thousands of men, women and children frantically fighting bushfires which left a trail of death and destruction as they blazed across Southeast Australia.

At dusk the fires were sweeping toward the federal capital of Canberra after touching Sydney's northern suburbs.

The roaring holocaust Thursday killed three persons, cut the Melbourne-Sydney express line, severed the main highway between the same cities, burned out the Victorian hamlet of Barnawartha and caused unestimated losses to crops, forests and livestock.

Thursday the governor of Berrima Jail, in New South Wales, released the prisoners to help beat back fires threatening a group of houses.

More than 2,000 police, firemen and volunteers fought the flames licking at the Sydney suburbs of Hornsby and Thornleigh.

The fires burned to the doors of about 3,000 homes, destroying two and causing thousands of dollars' damage to a big school.

Grave Measures In Britain For Grave Issues

The new economy measures announced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler, are likely to be only a foretaste of what will come with the next budget in April. Britain is on the verge of bankruptcy. The Chancellor has repeatedly warned his fellow-countrymen of this. They seem not to have realized that when he talks of the possibility of national bankruptcy in the late summer, he means bankruptcy. The economic cuts which they heard of Tuesday may convince them of the peril. The measures are severe.

* * *

Ten thousand Civil Service employees will be dismissed within six months (many will probably be directed into defence industries). Imports are to be cut by $450,000,000—this on top of slashes made three months ago when the new Conservative Government came into office. Heavy cuts are being made on coal, tobacco, clothing, fruits and food—meat imports will be still further cut. Allowance for foreign travel will be reduced from $150 to $75. There will be less steel for automobiles and fewer automobiles for sale. The free medical services are to have price tags of a shilling on every prescription, a pound for most dental services; and nominal charges will be made for wigs, hearing aids and the like.

* * *

Many middle-class people thought that the austerity imposed by the Labour Government and the continued rationing and the restrictions on taking or sending money out of the country, were chiefly Socialistic devices to grind all Britons down to the lowest common level. They now must be convinced differently. They are stern measures, and more must follow. A complete realignment of the economic basis of the nation seems inevitable.

* * *

Like the United States and to a less extent Canada, the United Kingdom is enormously burdened with defence expenditures. Vast amounts of her goods and services are going into re-armament and maintaining soldiers, sailors and airmen in many parts of the world. If Britain were to drop this re-armament program more of her present large productive capacity could be used to feed, clothe and house the people better. But to drop the armament program (as the Bevanites want) would leave her defenceless. Anyway, the United States will not allow it. The grant of $300,000,000 dollars announced in Washington, also on Tuesday, is definitely labelled "to support the United Kingdom defence program".

* * *

Britain's financial and economic plight is also the plight of the sterling area. The rebuilding of the depleted gold and dollar reserves of the sterling area, however energetically undertaken, cannot be achieved for four or five years, if at all. It will be a painful process.

* * *

Ottawa has attempted to minimize the effect of the British import restrictions on Canadian trade. An adequate assessment of the effects has yet to be calculated, but there can be no doubt that they will be felt very sharply by some primary producers in this country. During and at the end of the war Canada made outright gifts to Britain totalling two billion dollars, in order to balance the trading condition between the two countries. Perhaps the time has come, in order to bolster the Canadian export market and help feed Britain, for Canada to make other very large outright gifts.

The Fourteenth Noble Lord In The Ministry

Lord Alexander as Minister of Defence in the British Cabinet Government is the fourteenth peer in the Churchill Ministry and the seventh in the Cabinet itself. Even some Conservatives find it difficult to defend the proportion of seven members of the House of Lords in a cabinet of a total membership of sixteen. The Labour Party in opposition is quick to attack it. Since peers may not sit in the Commons, almost half of the Churchill Cabinet is not responsible to Parliament and cannot be in attendance in the House to answer questions and take part in debates on matters affecting their own departments.

The noblemen in the Churchill Cabinet are distinguished in their own right and men of great abilities. They hold key appointments, chief among them being the post of Minister of Defence (the Earl Alexander) formerly held by Mr. Churchill. Lord Woolton is Lord President of the Council and responsible for Food and Agriculture; the Lord Privy Seal and Leader of the House of Lords is The Marquess of Salisbury; Lord Simonds is Lord Chancellor; General Lord Ismay is Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations; Lord Leathers is Secretary of State for the Co-ordination of Transport, Fuel and Power; Lord Cherwell, nominally Paymaster-General, is a principal adviser to Mr. Churchill and accompanied the Prime Minister to Washington.

Other peers who are Ministers, but not in the Cabinet, are Viscount Swinton (Deputy Leader of the Lords), Lord de l'Isle and Dudley (Secretary of State for Air), Earl de la Warr (Postmaster-General), the Marquess of Reading (Parliamentary Under-Secretary at the Foreign Office), Lord Carrington (Joint Parliamentary Secretary, Ministry of Agriculture), Earl of Home (Minister of State for Scotland), the Earl of Munster (Under-Secretary of State, Colonial Office.)

A Cabinet of this kind, where almost half its members are outside the House of Commons is approaching the status of the American Cabinet which is responsible only to the President, and not to Congress. The American cabinet fulfills the executive side of Government but cannot legislate. This division between legislative and executive capacities, and particularly the irresponsibility of the American Cabinet, are considered by many critics, chief among them being Britons, as a vital weakness. Yet Britain herself is now being governed by a Cabinet in which seven of its sixteen members are as irresponsible to the elected Parliament as are American cabinet ministers to Congress.

Oil For Sale Cheap

When a merchant is overstocked with goods and in need of cash he has a bargain sale. Oil merchant Mossadegh of Iran is having a bargain sale of oil. His government has offered to sell 50,000 tons of oil at cut rates, for it needs the money, although not as desperately as a few weeks ago, before Washington announced a loan.

Western nations have boycotted Iranian oil, feeling it to be stolen goods—stolen from the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Communist countries have no such qualms, and Poland and Hungary are ordering large quantities of the oil at the cut-rate price. Their problem is to get delivery. It happens that neither they nor Iran have tankers. Perhaps Russia may be able to supply them with a few. (Any of the lend-lease tankers of the wartime alliance lying around Russian ports?) But even if the Communist countries do find tankers to deliver the oil, they will still have delivery troubles. Britain has warned that she will try to confiscate any oil shipped out of Iran before the dispute about the expropriation and nationalization of the refineries is settled. There may not be high jinx on the high seas, but there will be some hot words in chancelleries, before the story of Iranian oil is finished.

U.S. To Share Some Of Its Secrets

The chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission has announced that an exchange of atomic secrets has been made between Canada and the United States. Well it might. The United States has been both close-fisted and tight-lipped about its atomic energy developments, even to its wartime partners in the development, Britain and the United States. Yet how would the United States have managed to develop its bombs and atomic processes without Canadian uranium and Canadian and British scientists? And how does the United States expect to get full co-operation in its world-wide defence efforts if it refuses to share its knowledge of atomic weapons and production of energy—vital in the years ahead, whether they be years of war or peace?

It is likely that Canada has traded her knowledge and techniques about the famous "heavy water" reactor for American information about new developments, for instance in the hydrogen bomb. Canada can be expected to guard the processes and whatever secrets they contain wisely and well—as carefully as the United States, for both countries are involved in the same defensive efforts against the same powers that would destroy their governments.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Kitchener City Council Offers a 10-Cent Raise," says a headline. We'll take it.

"People Kind To Widow 23," we read. Obviously his 23rd widow; one aged only 23 shouldn't need to court kindliness.

Teachers worry about the use of shall and will. They shouldn't. It doesn't matter except at the altar.

Congressman Tim Sheehan of Chicago thinks that the U.S.A. ought to buy Canada. What about swapping it for Florida, where our population would fit with just the right density for a first-rate nation? We would like the change of climate, too.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Is there an old city by-law prohibiting negroes from living—or at least owning property—in Peterborough? If not, is the reason for their absence geographical? If not, what?

ANSWER: No. There is no municipal law against negroes being resident or property-owners in this city. I suppose that the chief reason for there being none in the city itself is that there is no work here of the kind they usually engage in. Further, they generally do not like small places unless they are in a colony . . . Peterborough was on the fringe of the wilderness and a pretty small place when slaves were escaping to freedom on the Canadian side of the border. Peterborough was far away from the Canadian ends of the 'underground railway'—unlike western Ontario places on or near Lake Erie.

ALPHA: Is Lake Ontario below the level of the sea?

ANSWER: If it were the Atlantic would flow into Lake Ontario. The bed of Lake Ontario is generally well below the ocean level. Lake Erie, a very shallow lake and of course on the high side of Niagara Falls, is entirely above sea level at both its surface and bottom.

DEAR ALPHA: I searched the book-stores of Peterborough for a good dictionary not long ago—the best being a Concise Oxford at one store. Its fat, squat size did not suit my need so I bought Blackie's which is ordinary novel size or slightly larger, is a British dictionary and appeared quite good.

In your opinion, how does "Blackie's" compare with the Oxford, Funk and Wagnall, Annanhill, Webster and the rest?

I might add that at one store they had a "Winston" and a "Funk and Wagnall"; at another a "Student's Oxford", "Blackie's" and a "Webster"; and at the third, where I purchased mine, they stocked "Blackie's", the "Concise Oxford" and the new "Thorndike-Barnhart".

No one can complain the average dictionary is too dear because none were more than $3.00-$4.00.

ANSWER: You have hit on all the standard good ones. The chief differences between good American and English dictionaries is that the former give American pronunciations, definitions and spellings primarily; and will use diagrams or pictures to illustrate a term. The best Canadian spellings and pronunciations are usually closer to English usage than to American; for that reason I find English dictionaries better for these purposes. However, if there is any difference in meaning between this continent and England, Canadian and American definitions are sometimes more useful. For instance, the little pocket Oxford dictionary definition of a dustbin as "receptacle for rubbish" hardly indicates it is a Canadian garbage pail. On the other hand even this little dictionary gives the north American meaning of 'fall' as autumn; and defines a township: "(U.S. and Canada) piece of land 6 miles square".

English lexicographers believe that the English language is adequate to all situations; therefore they will describe in words what a calyx of a flower is, or a heptagon. Webster and others give a diagram, as well as definition. The new American Thorndike Barnhart you mention, edited by C. L. Barnhart, has been widely praised for the clarity and simplicity of its definitions, and the selection of words in it. It aims to define in the simplest possible fashion, without sacrificing clarity and variety of meaning, all the words a general reader will ever come across. It gives modern American uses, as well as standard.

I still prefer as the handiest the Pocket Oxford—the size smaller than the squat Concise Oxford of which you complain. It is a newer compilation than the Concise; gives clear meanings, indicates the pronunciation conveniently, tells what language the word is derived from; and moreover gives examples of how a word which might present difficulties is used in phrases. It also tells you if anything tricky happens if suffixes are added. (managable or manageable?). My three dictionaries are (1) the Pocket Oxford, the English not American edition of it. (2) a large dictionary by the late Professor Wylde, an English philologist with very firm preference for "received southern English" (I believe his dictionary is out of print, which is a pity). (3) the two-volume Shorter Oxford English Dictionary which has 2,475 pages, each a quarter of the size of this newspaper page . . . Thanks for your good wishes.

ALPHA: Are Masons themselves building the cement block addition to their new temple on Rubidge Street. I have seen some people around there with aprons on. Are they going to cover the ugly new walls or will they remain forever as they are now. Right now the addition looks like the back end of a double-decker hen house.

ANSWER: There are no hens in the Masonic Temple—The coarse walls you now see are to be covered, I have been informed . . . While Masons wear aprons and I believe some of them carry trowels, and all of them speak of "The Craft", they do not practise their profession on actual masonry, unless of course they happen to be stonemasons as well as Free Masons.

ANOTHER GOOD RECIPE from Edward Lear's trio on domestic cookery: To Make Crumbobblious Cutlets.

Procure some strips of beef, and having cut them into the smallest possible slices, proceed to cut them still smaller, eight or perhaps nine times.

When the whole is thus minced, brush it up hastily with a new clothes-brush, and stir round rapidly and capriciously with a salt-spoon or a soup-ladle.

Place the whole in a saucepan, and remove it to a sunny place,—say the roof of the house if free from sparrows or other birds,—and leave it there for about a week.

At the end of that time add a little lavender, some oil of almonds, and a few herring-bones; and then cover the whole with 4 gallons of clarified crumbobblious sauce, when it will be ready for use.

Cut it into the shape of ordinary cutlets, and serve up in a clean tablecloth or dinner-napkin.

Letters To The Editor

FIRST MISSIONARY TO BRITAIN

Sir: On page 3 of the Examiner of Monday Jan. 28, I noticed an article entitled "First Archbishop" in which it states that Christianity was introduced to the Anglo-Saxons in the 6th Century by St. Augustine. This is an error for all the early council agree that Christianity was brought to Britain by Joseph of Arimathia during the 1st Century and the first Christian Church was established at Glastonbury. The Anglo-Saxons became Christians long before the advent of St. Augustine. When he arrived in the country he found a fine cultured Christian people.

I enjoy your paper and find your Bible messages most inspiring.

Yours sincerely,
MRS. R. BONNEY

OBJECTS TO BAKERY AND OUR SENSE

Sir: Your well timed editorial "A 1952 Model Factory For Ashburnham" calls for some comment by at least one of the residents living in the area of the proposed bakery. Though I have signed no petition I wasn't approached. I am not in favour of a factory being built in our vicinity.

However the planning Committee and the city council seems to be taking care of that in their usual high-handed manner. I take exception to your editorial.

You are editor of our daily newspaper but I fail to see why that fact makes you a better judge of city planning than the man who was paid thousands of dollars to do that very thing for us. If the City Council is to continue disregarding his proposals, I can not understand why Dr. Faludi was consulted at all.

As Alderman Rehill so ably stated every change how ever small tended to defeat the purpose of the plan. Rogers St. is not a hodge podge of empty lots, corner stores, gas depots, and houses in various sizes and states of repairs to quote from your editorial. That sort of comment certainly does nothing to encourage people to beautify their homes and surroundings. I suggest you leave your desk, and pay us a visit. You will find clean, well kept homes and grounds and while you are out take a stroll around Aylmer Street and some of the others bordering on another city bakery. You can smell it blocks away even in cold weather. Not a nasty odour, I'll grant you but a passing whiff is entirely different to having it around day after day. However most objections are based on the increased traffic and if that wasn't enough you suggest the C.N.R. spur becoming the main line for all traffic which Bethune St. now has north of the station. If your suggestions are followed, our area will indeed become what you have described it to be now. On your travels you might discover the Quaker Oats Company is across the river and not in Ashburnham at all. I fail to see any financial benefits from the bakery for our district. For the city, 'yes'! But since when has increased city revenue profited the tax payers? Our taxes continue to go up and up.

In closing, Mr. Editor, I suggest you leave city planning to experts—they at least make sense.

MRS. G. TOBIN

(Ed. Note: Blame the railway on the good sense of the planning experts, not on us. The Faludi Plan calls for abandoning the C.N.R. line along Bethune Street, and to use the East City spur as the main one; however according to his City Plan, the new main line would leave the spur and cross to the west bank of the river just south of Hazlitt Street. The site of the proposed bakery runs from Hazlitt Street south to the unopened Tivey Street, west of Rogers.)

Bleeding As A Remedy

(Montreal Gazette)

Anyone who wants to read some of the old case histories will find many illuminating parallels to our modern theories of tax-draining. There is, for instance, the case of HRH the Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, who died under his doctor's care in 1820. Before his demise, he was relieved by his doctors of 120 ounces of blood.

A great physician of the day, Dr. Maton, was summoned for consultation from London, but arrived too late. And what was Dr. Maton's comment on the case? He said: "I think I should have bled him more freely. His stamina was so great, his constitution so unimpaired, that he would have borne more depletion. At all events I would have risked it. The result may have been the same; but I should have hazarded extreme depletion."

Hon. Douglas Abbott, the Minister of Finance, has confessed: "I have made no secret of my concern over a system of taxation under which more than half of company profits are taken away by governments. The effects on incentive and efficiency can be extremely dangerous."

Perhaps there is still hope that the advocates of over-taxing will not keep saying to the very end, and beyond it: "I think I should have bled him more freely. His stamina was so great . . ."

GOOD LESSONS

"You skate wonderfully, dear. Did it take you long to learn?"

"No; I was fairly confident after three sittings."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end. Then shall ye call upon me, and I will hearken unto you.

And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart. (Jer. 29: 11-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are!....Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee. (Job 22: 12, 21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them. But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein. (Luke 18: 15-17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls: who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it. (Matt. 13: 45, 46.)

Contempt Of Court

(Ottawa Journal)

Leading an editorial column in the Summerside (PEI) Journal we come upon this paragraph under the heading "Our Statement":

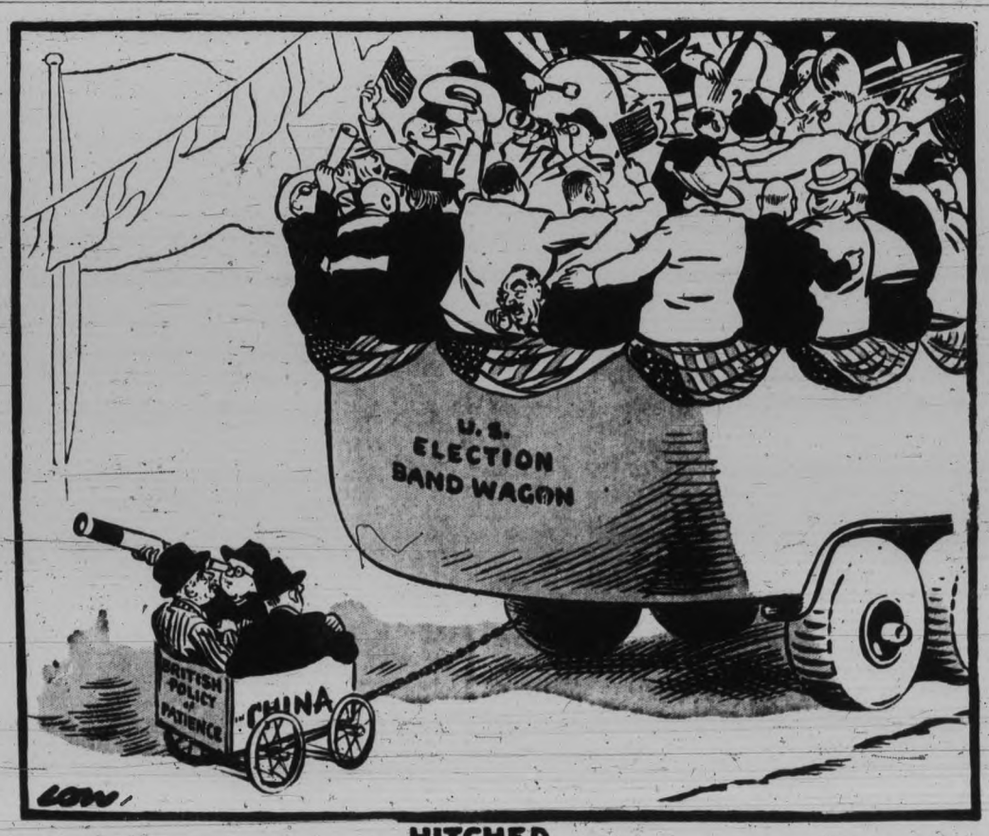
"The charge of Contempt of Court laid against the editor of this paper by the Stipendiary Magistrate of the town, Mr. E. H. Strong, KC, is being withdrawn, on the understanding that we are to state that in the editorial in question we did not intend to say anything derogatory of the court. We do this gladly and without hesitation, because it is in accordance with the facts."

We do not know the circumstances of this case, but there may have been some comment on procedure in the Magistrate's Court, or perhaps on a sentence imposed. At any rate the Magistrate charged the editor of the paper with contempt of court.

Later the charge was withdrawn, in the circumstances noted above. The fact remains, however, that in the discretion of the Magistrate the editor and the Summerside newspaper could have been fined heavily without any right of defence, of jury trial, or of appeal.

The Journal repeats that if there is to be a crime known in law as contempt of court persons or corporations facing that charge should have the protection given even to murderers before conviction and punishment. It is fantastic that the judge of contempt should be the person who discerns it, or thinks he does in the written word, and that the penalty of fine or imprisonment should be wide open, not as prescribed in the Criminal Code.

Contempt of Court ought to be put into the Code. Then an alleged offender considered worthy of punishment would have to be brought before a magistrate's court, from which he might be discharged or committed for trial by jury. If convicted the penalty would be within prescribed limits, and right of appeal would exist. As it is, contempt of court is handled for too casually and is a public menace.



HITCHED

US Magazine Praises Canadian Trade Minister

OTTAWA, Feb. 1—Time Magazine's cover man of the week is Trade Minister Clarence Decatur Howe, who came to Nova Scotia from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, broke, at 22, made his first million before he was 40 and was the first engineer elected to parliament. The magazine pays tribute to his achievements in the current issue with a front-cover picture and two and a half pages of biography.

He is credited with:

1. Reorganization of the CNR which saved it from bankruptcy.
2. Building the Trans-Canada Airlines, one of the world's top 10, and most successful government-owned air service.
3. Conversion and expansion of Canadian industry to meet demands of the Second World War.
4. Directing Canada's atomic energy research and representing Canada's atomic interests in co-operative activities with the US.
5. Reconverting industry to consumer goods production and, finally, balancing defence needs with requirements for civilian consumption and international trade.

Time suggests that the 66-year-old trade minister, who became a Canadian in 1913, is the man who has contributed most to recent Canadian progress. He sold his engineering business, with its headquarters at Port Arthur, and gave up a $100,000-a-year salary to become a parliamentarian at the behest of then Prime Minister W. L. M. King.

Sold On Idea

Mr. King "sold" Mrs. Howe on this idea by telling her that her husband would be able to spend more time at home. After he had been elected in 1935, and given two portfolios which he consolidated in the Ministry of Transport, Mrs. Howe and the family met him at the door one day.

"Children," said Mrs. Howe, "this is your father. I'm sure you've often heard me speak of him."

The magazine article describes Mr. Howe as an optimistic Democrat with Conservative fiscal theories. He is quoted: "If there is any country in the world where unrestrained optimism is justified, that country is Canada."

By inference, it is suggested that his management of Canadian affairs has been largely responsible for parity of the Canadian dollar with the US dollar, and Canada's rise to the fourth trading nation of the world.

Of Mr. Howe's political position, Time reports: "Howe is trusted with his enormous powers partly because of his use of them in the past, partly because of his freedom from political ambition. He has made it clear that he does not aspire to the prime ministry. When Mackenzie King was ready to retire in 1948, several of Howe's friends tried to talk him into making a bid for the job. Howe turned them down, and from the outset supported Louis St. Laurent for the post. St. Laurent, in turn, made it a condition of his own acceptance that Howe stay on to handle the business side of the government."

FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea, Feb. 1 — (AP)—Sharp-shooting Communist anti-aircraft gunners knock down eight of every 10 Fifth Air Force jets lost in combat over Korea, the United States air force disclosed Thursday.

BUNDLED UP against the cold, three sick Indian youngstrs—Kenneth Louttit, Susan Iserhoff, and Ronnie Spencer—arrived in Montreal recently for treatment after a 1,035-mile plane and train trip from the shores of Hudson's Bay. Accompanying them is Nurse Yvette Laurin.

Canada's Railroading Business Hits Billion-A-Year Bracket

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. (CP)—Canada's railroading business has hit the $1,000,000,000-a-year class for the first time in the country's transportation history.

Unofficial figures compiled today indicate that the combination of near-record traffic volume and increased freight rates pushed the carriers' 1951 gross into the 10-figure mark for an all-time high in their straight railway earnings.

However, rising expenses kept their net income well below the war and post-war highs.

A gross intake of close to $1,100,000,000 is the estimate for the companies' earnings on railway operations within Canada. That does not include steamships, hotels and other enterprises or Canadian-owned rail subsidiaries in the United States.

Though the companies' books are not yet closed on 1951, the indications now are that the Canadian National Railways grossed about $550,000,000 on its rail division, with the Canadian Pacific Railway taking in about $433,000,000. Income of the smaller companies would bring the aggregate up to some $1,080,000,000.

Actual Figures

These calculations are based on actual figures for 11 months, supplemented by experts' estimates for Decemger. The net operating income—after taxes—on rail operations would be roughly $60,000,000 for all the carriers.

But although more cash passed through the railways' tills than the previous $959,000,000 top in 1950, the net is down from the $92,000,000 of that year.

In fact, the estimates indicate it will not greatly exceed the $53,000,000 of 1939, which was attained on gross revenues of only $367,000,000—just about one-third the 1951 figure.

Big Volume

In actual volume of revenue freight hauled, last year was the second-highest on record for the railways, topped only by the peak wartime year of 1944. The 1951 total is estimated at 63,400,000,000 ton-miles, against 65,900,000,000 in 1944 and 31,400,000,000 in 1939.

Prospects for 1952, according to railway experts, are for a traffic pattern roughly the same as 1951, barring unexpected developments. That would mean the gross revenue would be somewhat higher, for freight rates have gone up by a total of 17 per cent since the start of 1951.

The net revenues are highly problematical. Their size will depend on any further fluctuations in costs of materials and equipment and the outcome of wage negotiations between the railways and their unions during the year. The two-year contracts covering the bulk of the railways' union labor expire Sept. 1, and the employees will be looking for increases.

Can't Imagine Why Sailors Like Korea

HALIFAX, Feb. 1 (CP)—Many soldiers in Canada's 25th Brigade may find it hard to understand why Korea is a mighty popular place among sailors.

The most popular ships in the Atlantic command of the navy are those slated for duty in Korea, say officers of the RCN manning depot, charged with the allocation of all non-officer personnel on the east coast.

At least 80 per cent of the original crews of the destroyers Nootka and Huron—which have done one tour of duty in the Far East—were more than willing to return. In addition, the depot received more than 200 additional applications for service in Nootka before she sailed Dec. 30 for another stint of Korea. She has a complement of about 260 men.

Called Halt

The number of applicants would have been even higher if the depot hadn't issued a signal calling a halt to the flood of requests.

Several reasons are seen for the enthusiasm. As one officer said:

"There's the natural love of adventure, there's the opportunity to travel to new ports and new parts of the world. The men believe they can save money, and there's the pleasure of feeling a ship under you, of doing a worthwhile job and working as one of a team in a happy ship."

Approximately 1,250 seamen of all categories are tied up by the navy's Korean commitment of five destroyers—three operating in the Far East and two others coming and going. Of these probably 25 per cent are serving their second period in Korean waters.

GODERICH, Feb. 1 —(CP)—Magistrate D. E. Holmes Thursday levied a $50 fine on William Steep of Clinton for hunting deer out of season.

Addressing the Hamilton branch of the United Nations Association in Canada, he said he wondered if educationists should continue to teach reading, in view of the material put before pupils in the daily press.

Later, Sutherland Stephens, association president, said Mr. Phimister referred to Toronto newspapers, not to those in Hamilton.

Act Of Congress Brings Child 2 To US Home

DETROIT, Feb. 1 — (CP) — A beautiful two - year - old girl arrived here by air from Japan Thursday by special act of Congress.

Cathy Besser's mother was Japanese, her father an American soldier. She was one of an estimated 8,000 "mixed" tots in Japanese foundling homes.

A number of local basketball games on tap this e'en, as well as PCVS senior and junior girls in action down Cobourg way. At the YW tonight at 8.10, CGE and Normals bring in February, this fixture being followed by Neill's vs. Lindsay lasses. Boys' activity has SPS bantam, junior and senior "B" teams meeting PCVS squads at the Collegiate, commencing at 6.30 of the clock. Tomorrow sees PCVS juniors toting a 12-point lead to Oshawa in an OABA home-and-home series. Whilst at the Collegiate here that p.m. at eight Trenton winds up the Eastern Ontario men's hoop loop schedule against Outboard Marines. Latter and Belleville will meet in group playoffs shortly.

St. Kitts scribe writes: "Lacrosse stock in St. Catharines was given a boost yesterday with the announcement from the publicity chairman, Jim Lomore, that Joe Cheevers had accepted the position as coach of the senior Athletics for another term This will not be an easy year. Already many of St. Catharines' young players have received fabulous offers from Fergus, Owen Sound and Peterborough, but with Joe back at the helm fellows like Woolley, Uhrynuk and Oneschuk will likely prefer to stay in the Garden City." We doubt if the Mann Cup champs are making any fabulous offers to St. Kitts' guys, but it looks like Owen Sound may return to the senior OLA fold, eh?

Hawklets Meet IOOF-ers

Those fast-steping Hawklets of Bella Villa play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight here, and 8.30 OHA junior "B" joust in Civic Arena. Schedule concludes in just two weeks, and these husky young squads are fighting hard now after a rather long puck grind. All in the pink of condish, they serve up streamlined, bumping hockey in every fray, and tonight's tussle should be worth viewing. The IOOF-ers currently are the hottest team in the group and will give the Hawklets (one of the top two teams in the circuit) a rousing time of it here on the smaller ice surface. No doubt a goodly gallery on deck for the doings.

Some of the Toronto sportswriters resent Conny Smythe "popping off", as they term it, to a Boston press gathering recently. Instead of letting the Toronto writers in on it first, he tells the Boston scribes that Leaf have purchased Ezinicki from Bruins and then states: "When Joe Primeau quits, we have King Clancy ready to step in." Confronted with this remark, Primeau said it was the first he heard of it and that he'd stay with Leafs as long as they wanted him. Yet Conny said "when", not "if", Primeau quits. Many observers figure that Conny prefers a firebrand like Clancy to a quiet—though highly efficient—coach like Joe Primeau. Yes, Smythe does some peculiar things and doesn't seem to worry about making enemies among fans, players or writers.

Former NHL Aces Here?

Dave Kerr, himself an ace goalie for years with the Rangers, tells us the Shriners plan an exhibition puck tilt by NHL oldtimers here Feb. 16, proceeds going to the crippled children's fund. And we note where a practice is being called for Sunday in Maple Leaf Gardens for a flock of former NHL greats to keep them in condition —since their successful charity game in Bracebridge recently—for a few more ice appearances this winter. Thus, local and district fans will have an opportunity of seeing some of the all-time pro puck stars back in hockey harness at Civic Arena two weeks from tomorrow evening.

* * * * * *

Those ordered to attend the Sunday drill are: Busher Jackson, the Conachers (Lionel, Chuck, Roy and Bert), Lorne Duguid, Eddie Convey, Marv Wentworth, Billy Taylor, Flash Hollett, Dit Clapper, Yank Boyd, Herbie Cain, Hank Goldup, Neis Stewart, Jackie Forbes, Doug Smylie, Hal Cotton, Roy Worters, Larry Aurie, Butch Keeling, Bill Thoms, Jack Draper, Bucko McDonald, Windy O'Neil, Phil Stein, Red Hamill, Whitey Farrant, Eddie King, Harry McQueston, Earl Robinson, Andy Bellemer, Rhys Thompson, Jimmy Fowler and a few more. Probably, Doug Brennan—Havelock's contribution to the NHL—will be invited to take part in the game here, also.

Havelock Juveniles Tie Marines, 5-5

HAVELOCK, Feb. 1. (ENS)—In a rough hockey game Havelock juveniles tied Peterborough Outboard Marines by a score of 5 to 5 at the local arena on Wednesday night.

The Havelock team has so far been undefeated and in this encounter the locals being a juvenile "C" team and minus their two defence men, Scott and Pollock, managed to hold Marines who are in the juvenile "A" grade, in check. At the end of the second period it looked as though the visitors would be victors as the score was 5 to 2 in their favor. Havelock fought back hard in the third period to tie the game. Bill Laing once more played a fine game for Havelock getting two goals on assists from Newman and Pollock and also getting an assist with Pollock on a goal by his brother Jim. The other two goals were scored for the locals by George Heath unassisted and Pollock from Newman.

The Peterborough goals were scored by Dodd (2) from Ball; Ball from Byrnes, Doris from Cupoli, and Pearson from Byrnes.

Havelock — Goal, Stackhouse; defence, Newman and Buchanan; centre, B. Laing; wings, R. Pollock and J. Laing; alternates, McCabe, Patterson, Heath, Chase, Ruttan and McMillan.

Bobo And Flan Gain Rematch

Bowing to the demands of Flanagan and Brazil and the approval of the majority of the fans a return tag team match has been signed for next Tuesday at the Brock. Bobo and Pat will be opposed by Lord Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia.

This week's bout was a sizzler with Layton and Pitoscia giving Flanagan and Brazil the works. Knowing now what to expect from this pair, Pat and Bobo are mapping a new line of attack and figure on taking the return bout.

Fans literally eat up these tag team matches and this week's was no exception, featuring explosive action and plenty of rough stuff by both sides.

A newcomer, Jim (the Bull) Wright takes on Zorra, the French Tarzan in the semi-final, while Steve Stanlee meets up with Stan Mayslack in the preliminary.

Name Olympic Coaches At Meeting

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 (CP).—The Canadian Olympic Committee met in a five-hour closed session Thursday night, and amid cigar smoke and much talk chose the coaches and managers that will accompany Canada's Olympic teams abroad this year.

Sidney Dawes, president of the committee, handed waiting newspapermen a brief statement of the meeting naming the team officials to take the teams to Oslo, Norway, and Helsinki, Finland. But on the proceedings that went on behind the closed doors he was non-committal.

Questioned about a reported disagreement over the proposed appointment of Harry Peace as wrestling coach, Dawes said the matter did not come up at the meeting. The list showed that Peace had not been chosen but that J. Trifunov of Winnipeg had received the wrestling coach's job.

The committee named K. P. Farmer as Canadian Olympic Association representative at the National Sports Advisory Council meeting to be held tomorrow in Ottawa.

Following are the Olympic coaches and managers chosen:

"HEY, FELLOWS! TAKE AWAY THAT SCREEN" pleads Trojan bantam goalie Lustic Thursday night after St. Peter's High had scored two goals on screen shots. Lustic, (Top Photo), while Coombes of the Saints' cheers, scoops the puck out of the left hand corner, when Atkinson scored from the blue line in the third period for the Saints' third goal. A minute later on nearly an identical scoring play (Lower Photo), English whipped in the fourth goal. Lustic was discouraged; he couldn't see the puck on either scores for the row of Trojan players in front of him. Coombes was again on the doorstep waiting for the rebound.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Lakefield and IOOF Win Juvenile PMHA Tilts

Civic Arena was buzzing with activity Thursday night as the Peterborough minor hockey teams finished the schedules. All the games, six between six pm and midnight, were won by decisive scores. The juveniles dished up the night's thrillers as Lakefield boys edged the league-leading Marines 5-3 and the Oddfellows defeated the Trojans, also 5-3. The Lakefield Marines' game was marred when Hunter of Lakefield was taken to hospital with a seriously cut hand. It was stepped on by a skate accidentally and required stitches to close.

Lakefield blasted in three goals by Wasson, Matthews and Pue, in the final period after Marines, who had previously lost only one game, kept on even terms for two periods. The teams were tied one-all and were up 3-2 in the second.

Lakefield's Pue performed the hat trick while singles went to Matthews and Wasson. Marines' scorers were Dodd, O'Connell and Frizelle.

IOOF Victors

The Oddfellows went through speedy motions with Trojans for a 5-3 win. The Trojans took a 1-0 score in the first period, then lost ground 2-1 in the second and were edged 3-2 in the final.

Oddfellow goals were scored by Doris, Cullen, Scott, Ferren and Drury, while Riley, Patterson and Burgess tallied for Trojans.

The Martin-Hewitt sextette scored a 7-1 victory over Trojans in the midget set to remain undefeated throughout the schedule. The win came easy with a 3-1 first period score, added a single in the second, and slammed in three more in the final.

Kane topped the winners with two, while singles went to Roberts, Strickland, Stewart, Gardner and Brooks. McFadgen scored Trojans' loan tally.

The winless Snowbirds were easy prey for St. Peter's High Saints in the other midget game as Saints whitewashed them 6-0. The winners started off slowly 1-0 in the first, added another in the second, and finished strong with four. Doris was top goal-getter with two, O'Connell, Feren, Towns and Beaubick getting one each.

Lively Action

The bantam games saw lively action before Trojans and Lions went down to defeat. St. Peter's bantams chalked up a 4-1 win over Trojans while Otonabee Wolves set back Lions by the same score.

Gary Darling, twelve - year - old centre for the Otonabee Wolves was the standout in that game. Although he didn't score, the game centre was digging all the way for his teammates, often setting them up.

The Lions held Wolves to a scoreless tie in the first, then dropped behind 2-1 and were lost in the third. Revoy and Lonsberry each netted two while Murphy counted the Lions goal.

Screen shots paid off for Saints in the first bantam game, especially in the last period when they scored two to assure a win. They were held scoreless in the first, then went ahead 2-0 and finally 4-1.

For the Saints goals were by Forestell, Baker, English and Atkinson, and for the Trojans Reid.

Penrose Rolls Tops

Don Penrose led men in the Mercantile Bowling League at Duffus' this week with high single of 312 and leading threesome of 793. Vern Hopkins had high single of 298 for girls, and Gladys Hamilton's 664 was best in crosses. Braunds No. 1 topped teams in pinnage of 2850.

The only whitewash applied all evening was by A & P over Bond's, the other counts being 3-1 victories for Braund's No. 2 over Neill's, Prudential against Austin's, Loblaw's over their opponents, and Braund's No. 1 over Crowe's.

Finals Reached In 3 Events Of Big Bonspiel

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC, Feb. 1 (CP).—Three Quebec city rinks today held down final-round spots in as many competitions of Quebec's International Bonspiel.

Two of the rinks, Quebec, Victoria, skipped by Alf Muth, and Quebec Jacques Cartier, skipped by O. Samson, also led the field of 120 rinks for the grand aggregate with six wins each without a loss.

Gaston Amyot of Jacques Cartier, skip of one of the Quebec teams reaching a semi-finals berth last night, is close behind with five wins and one loss.

Samson advanced to the Chateau International final when he edged the defending award-winner, N. Finlley of Toronto Royal Canadian, 9-8, in a closely-fought battle.

The Quebecer will meet Montreal West's E. L. Gallagher, winner of the Chateau in 1949, in the final. Gallagher defeated Dr. R. Clark 10-9 to advance with Samson.

Muth took a commanding lead half-way in his Omega International semi-final battle with Fredericton's A. Clark, to win 10-6.

Muth has another Fredericton rink to contend with in the final. Ralph Limerick and his family foursome reached the final when he crushed Adjudor Dussault of Quebec Winter Club, 11-4.

Make Finals

Quebec's Jacques Cartier placed another quartet in a final when Gaston Amyot whipped F. A. Murgatroyd of Hamilton, 12-6, in a semi-final game of the International Gold Cup event.

A newcomer to the Quebec bonspiel, Mac Canapini of Copper Cliff, Ont., reached the cup finals when he edged veteran bonspiel competitor, C. N. Crutchfield of Shawinigan Falls, Que., 9-8.

In the Lieutenant-Governor's competition for the bonspiel championship, Muth and Samson led five Quebec rinks reaching the quarter-finals.

The others are Amyot, F. P. Noel of Quebec Jacques Cartier and V. E. Lyon of Quebec Victoria. Others in the same round are Tom Allan of Brookline, Mass., Mel Stonehouse of Ottawa and Shawinigan's Crutchfield.

The Lieutenant - Governor finals will be played today.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice Richard, Montreal, who scored the only goal of the game Thursday night as Canadiens blanked New York Rangers 1-0.

Gerry McNeil, Montreal, who chalked up his second shutout of the year.

Jim Henry, Boston, and Harry Lumley, Chicago, who each racked up a shutout as the Bruins and the Black Hawks played to a scoreless tie.

Richard Off Again On Goals As Montreal Blanks New York 1-0

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's rocketing Maurice Richard is on his way again toward the all-time scoring record of the National Hockey League. The Rocket counted the only goal when the Canadiens blanked New York Rangers 1-0 Thursday night before a Montreal crowd of 14,394. It was Richard's first effort after a six-game layoff because of a groin injury. The goal, his 25th of the season, was also the 317th of his NHL career, only seven short of the all-time mark set by Nels Stewart of the old Montreal Maroons.

In the other game of the night, Boston Bruins took an undisputed hold on fourth place, just behind Montreal and one point ahead of New York, by tying 0-0 against Chicago Black Hawks. Canadiens' victory put them only half a game behind the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Despite his six-game absence, Richard's counter put him in a tie for most goals scored with Gordie Howe of the league-leading Detroit Red Wings. However, Howe leads the loop in the scoring statistics with 47 points.

Capitalizes on Chance

Richard was off form Thursday night but made the most of his big opportunity midway through the final period. Taking a short pass from rookie Dickie Moore, the Rocket found a momentary loophole to drive a hard, low shot past goalie Chuck Rayner.

The lone score gave goalie Gerry McNeil hih second shutout of the season.

The game at Chicago was witnessed by only 3,218 fans, an all-time low attendance for big league hockey in that city. The closest approach to a goal, in the third period, came from Woody Dumart's rap past Harry Lumley in the Chicago nets. It was disallowed because rookie defenceman Jack McIntyre was in the crease at the time.

Only four penalties were called, two to each side. Lumley made 22 saves against 25 for Jim Henry of Boston.

Henry may get more work in Saturday's struggle against Toronto Maple Leafs. Word from Toronto is that Howie Meeker, ace wingman who has been out with torn leg ligaments, may be in harness then.

Detroit takes on Montreal in the other contest. Sunday Toronto meets Chicago, Montreal goes to Boston and New York visits Detroit.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Montreal's ailing Maurice Richard returned to the National Hockey League wars Thursday night and scored the only goal as the Habs blanked New York Rangers 1-0.

The goal increased his season total to 25, the same number as held by the NHL's individual scoring leader Gordie Howe of Detroit.

Howe is at the top with 25 goals and 22 assists for 47 points, two more than Elmer Lach of Montreal who has 12 goals and a pace-setting 33 assists.

Mrs. G. A. Wood Leading In 'Spiel Play

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 1 (CP).—Mrs. G. A. Wood and her Peterborough rink were leading here today in first-round play of the 21st annual curling irons bonspiel for the Sewell Trophy.

They established the highest margin of score permissible by the rules of the competition Thursday night in defeating Mrs. W. E. Jones, Montreal West, 18-3.

Each of the 38 rinks entered in the four day 'spiel will play three games of 10 ends. The four rinks establishing the highest margin of score in three wins will play to a finalist for the Sewell Trophy. No team may count more than a plus of 10 points in one victory.

A Royal Montreal entry skipped by Mrs. J. A. Robertson, won 11-5 over Mrs. T. F. Doughty, Peterborough, earlier Thursday night.

First Round Win

Another Peterborough entry skipped by Mrs. C. Westbrook has a first round win over Mrs. H. W. MacKenzie, Outremont, by 11-6.

Other results—first round play:

Mrs. W. M. Houghton, Quebec, defeated Mrs. L. Harcourt, Hawkesbury, Ont., 10-3.

Mrs. G. A. Wood, Peterborough, defeated Mrs. W. E. Jones, Montreal, 18-3.

Mrs. W. H. Meikle, Morrisburg, Ont., defeated Mrs. A. Wilson, Vankleek Hill, Ont., 11-6.

Mrs. J. C. Riddell, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. E. A. Cone, Pembroke, 11-9.

Mohawks Trim Indianapolis

By The Canadian Press.

Nick Mickoski, rangy left wing of Cincinnati Mohawks, is beginning to find his scoring eye in the American Hockey League.

Mickoski, striving to return to the parent New York Rangers of the National League, scored once and drew two assists Thursday night as the Mohawks downed the Indianapolis Caps 4-2.

Cincinnati enjoyed a 2-0 lead going into the third period but Bert Hirschfeld and veteran Ed Bruneteau scored in less than four minutes to tie it up at 2-2.

Mickoski then set up a pair of goals for Wiggy Wyle that clinched the decision. Ian MacIntosh scored the other Cincinnati first period goal. Mickoski led the Rangers in goal-getting last year but couldn't get started this season. At the rate he's going with Cincinnati he probably will be back in short order.

Wellington Wallops Frankford 9 to 4

FRANKFORD, Feb. 1.—Wellington kept their hold on first place in the Trent Valley Hockey League's central division by whipping Frankford, 9-4- here.

Playing coach Joe Scott paced Wellington with two goals and as many assists, while Roger Dumois tallied two goals. Bill Rankin was best for Frankford with two goals and an assist.

STILL UNSIGNED

Allie Reynolds, double no-hit pitcher of the world champion New York Yankees, discussed 1952 salary terms with general manager George Weiss Thursday in New York but emerged from the huddle still unsigned.

Many University Students Cheat At Exams

MONTREAL, Feb. 1 —(CP)— Some McGill University students cheat during exams.

A poll conducted by the university's newspaper, McGill Daily, showed that the students cheat during the writing of examinations.

Two questions were asked.

"Do you cheat?"

"Would you if you had the opportunity?"

The questionnaire, taken among 240 students, showed science students with the highest mark. Twenty-six per cent answered "yes" to the first question and 35 per cent gave a similar answer to the second query.

Engineering students were second, commerce students were third and arts, medical and dental students tied for fourth spot.

A greater number of men than women would and do cheat, the poll revealed.

HISTORIC COAST

France has a coastline totalling 1,500 miles on three sides— the English Channel, Bay of Biscay, and Mediterranean.

SPARE THE WHISKERS—Bill Peever of Bear Valley, Ont., would rather lose his snowshoes 50 miles from the nearest trapper's cabin than have his beard reduced to a ragged ruin. He howls while Mrs. Beulah Bruce of Pakesely, Ont., attempts a rugged shave job on his whiskers. The shenanigans were part of the 23rd annual convention of the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association in North Bay, Ont.

20,000 Truckers Strike In US Midwest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)— Some 20,000 AFL truck drivers in 15 southern and midwest states went on strike today in a wage dispute with operators.

The strikes virtually paralyzed operation of freight companies in the 15 states. The effects were felt immediately throughout much of the eastern half of the United States.

The strikers hit the south from the Carolinas to Texas and in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Ohio. The long-haul truckers were ordered out at midnight by the AFL Teamsters Union against approximately 500 companies.

The federal mediation service in Washington was keeping an eye on the strike situation. But there was no indication what the government's next step might be.

Last-minute agreements between the union and operators of nine midwest states averted a walkout of another 36,000 drivers.

But strike orders to southern truckers had been sent out to local unions from headquarters of the southern conference at Memphis, Tenn., after contract negotiations collapsed.

100,000 Affected

W. M. Miller, chairman of the conference, estimated that at least 100,000 drivers, warehousemen, and city pickup and delivery drivers in other states would be affected by the strike because of the curtailed long-haul services.

Southern states hit by the strike are Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, North and South Carolina, Kentucky and Mississippi.

Some firms in the strike areas were exempted from stoppages either because their wage contracts had not expired or because they signed individual agreements with the union.

Contracts covering the majority of truckers in the south end midwest expired at midnight Thursday night.

First Ballet Performance Wins Acclaim

By MAX McMAHON

MONTREAL, Feb. 1—(CP)—An appreciative audience Thursday night acclaimed the first Montreal performance of the Canadian National Ballet Company as one of the finest ever seen here.

As the first-nighters streamed out of the theatre after the final curtain fell, a common comment was, "I never thought it could be done here."

The company, under the direction of Miss Celia Franca, performed Les Sylphides, the Dance of Salome and the Nutcracker Suite to a packed house.

Easily the most popular dance, to judge from audience reaction, was Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite. A child's Christmas dream, the suite was set against a peppermint-candy backdrop. The sparkling colors, the delicate dancing of the fairy chorus, the hilarious comedy of the Danse Chinoise, the mystery of the east in the Danse Arabe made one patron comment, "What a wonderful place to bring a child."

The antics of Robert Ito, of Vancouver, and Grant Strate, of Cardston, Alta., in the Danse Chinoise brought hearty laughter from the audience.

The Danse Arabe as performed by Natalia Butko, of Toronto, had all the excitement and mystery a child associates with the land of desert sands and camel caravans.

Jury Gotshalks and Irene Apine, of Halifax, were interrupted time and again as the applause rolled out acclaiming their portrayal of the Nutcracker Prince and the Sugar Plum Fairy. Applause for Miss Apine's delicate portrayal and for Mr. Gotshalk's spectacular and seemingly effortless leaps.

Choreography for the modernistic dance was by Miss Franca. Adapted from the Biblical story of the beheading of a prophet by Herod, the meaning of every gesture was crystal-clear to all, so vivid was the dancing.

In the classical Les Sylphides, the flowing movements and perfectly-controlled leaps of husky David Adams, of Winnipeg, brought acclaim. He danced the valse with Lois Smith, his wife.

Ease Extradition Of 2 Ex-Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—The State Department has cleared the way for the Italian Government to try to extradite two former American soldiers charged with murdering their commanding officer during a secret wartime mission behind enemy lines.

A certificate testifying to Italy's demand was given the Italian Embassy last Friday, the department said Thursday, thus allowing Italian representatives to seek warrants for the arrest of the two men.

The Americans, former Lieut. Aldo Icardi and former Sgt. Carl G. Lo Dolce, are charged in Italy with killing Major William V. Holohan and stealing up to $100,000 in gold and currency which he had in his possession.

A State Department legal officer emphasized Thursday that while the department has approved the state of extradition proceedings this does not necessarily mean the United States believes the men are guilty and should be returned to Italy for trial.

The step opens the way for their arrest and a hearing before a US commissioner in districts where they now live. Lo Dolce lives in Rochester, NY, and Icardi is a native of Pittsburgh.

The State Department later will review the verdict of the commissioners and decide whether to hand them over to Italy.

CNE Costs $390,574

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Net cost to the city on operations of the Canadian National Exhibition in 1951 was $390,574, a special report by city auditor Sholto Scott showed Thursday. The report was released by Mayor Allan Lamport who requested it to support his repeated charge that the $150,618 surplus through current operation paid to the city did not represent a profit on the city's investment in the CNE.

MARKHAM, Feb. 1 (CP)—Ross Raymer, 22-year-old drug store clerk who police first feared had met with foul play when he was reported missing Wednesday has enlisted in the RCAF, police said Thursday. The youth was traced by his car which he sold to a used-car dealer in nearby Toronto. Police said the youth didn't return to work after taking his girl friend to high school and quarelling with her.

Up To Ottawa

TORONTO, Feb. 1 (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow said Thursday Ontario and its municipalities should not accept any responsibility for relief. "Financial responsibility for assistance to employable persons is entirely a matter for the government of Canada," he said.

Worried Over Decline In Dairy Production

TORONTO, Feb. 1—(CP)—Gilbert McMillan of Huntingdon, Que., president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, said Thursday that unless something is done to check a decline in production, Canada will become a permanent importer of dairy products.

He told the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association: "The situation will get progressively worse unless we can take steps to correct some of the difficulties we are facing."

The Association decided not to move its head office from Ottawa to Brockville after three hours of heated debate over the two sites and the Association's $4,533 building fund.

A new office will be built in Ottawa.

Flight Instructor Explains Crash

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1 (CP)—A plane crash survivor said Thursday night his training craft "piled up" after it hit a turbulent area over Washington State and the pilot "froze at the controls."

Flight Instructor Harry O'Reilly, 33, hiked into Granite Falls, Wash., Thursday and reported the death of John F. Welsh, 31, an RCAF reserve member taking a refresher course.

The two-seater plane crashed Wednesday night on Mt. Pilchuck.

279 Cases of Measles

KINGSTON, Feb. 1 (CP)—The 279 cases of measles reported in this city since Jan. 1 are normal for this time of year, Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, city medical officer, said Thursday. There was nothing alarming about the outbreak, which affected only one adult, he said. Of those stricken, 77 were of pre-school age and 143 in either kindergarten or the lower grades.

More Failures

KINGSTON, Feb. 1 —(CP)— Either the Christmas examinations at Queen's University were more difficult or students weren't as prepared for them as in the past. The university Thursday announced that failures were slightly higher than last year—almost four per cent more failed all but one or two exams.

Set Up Soup Kitchen

DETROIT, Feb. 1 (AP)—A private soup kitchen has been set up in suburban Hamtrack to feed unemployed auto workers. Though private, a Hamtrack city official said the kitchen is a "symbol" of the city's unemployment "disaster."

Protest Ban

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1—(CP)—A delegation from the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) Thursday visited the US Consulate here to protest the barring of singer Paul Robeson from Canada. American immigration authorities Thursday stopped Robeson and Vincent Hallinan, lawyer for leftist labor leader Harry Bridges, from crossing into Canada.

Come Under Fire

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1—(CP)—Anti-union employers in Ontario came under attack Thursday from Harvey Ladd, of Toronto, eastern organizer for the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL). He told the 15th annual IW convention that many workers fear to join a union.

First construction work on the Cobourg ordnance depot site started Tuesday afternoon with the erection of an office for project engineer R. H. Richards and his staff. Construction of the depot proper is nearly ready to begin, but Mr. Richards would not name a date.

STILL WINNING

A Peterborough curling rink skipped by Dr. Ralph Clark is still winning in Quebec at the International Bonspiel. In the Seagram's International today they defeated a Sault Ste. Marie rink in the second round 11-10. Other members of the rink are Vern Selkirk, Zimmel Levine and Dr. Russell Morgan.

INJURES EYE SKIING

While skiing on Kemp's Hill on the Warsaw Road Thursday evening, Hubert Panter, 19, 478 Sherbrooke St., received a badly bruised right eye when he fell and hit his head on a jagged piece of ice. He was taken to Civic Hospital and treated by Dr. B. H. Craig. Panter is still in hospital but Dr. Craig said today there did not appear to be any injury to the sight of the eye.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA

A letter was received today from Ben Rogow who is spending a holiday in Florida. In spite of the fact that he and many other Peterborough people are enjoying warm, pleasant weather with glorious sunshine on the beaches. Mr. Rogow sounds as if he is missing life in Peterborough. He reads the Examiner regularly, because "it sure brings us closer to our home town."

OFFICE RANSACKED

While patrolling his beat Thursday night, Constable Arthur Beardsmore saw an office door open at 188 Charlotte St. On investigating, he found the night latch which had been pushed off the door frame, lying on the floor. Desk drawers and filing cabinets were open and looked as if they had been ransacked. The proprietor, M. J. Roche, was notified, but after looking the office over, Mr. Roche was unable to find anything missing.

Small Fry Hockey Teams May Ignore Outdoor Rinks, But Jam Into Civic Arena

If Armar Butcher reports a drop of nearly 50 per cent in the number of juvenile hockey teams using the outdoor rinks, as he recently told the parks committee of the council, there is no decline in action at Civic Arena.

Walter Smillie, manager, counted 44 of these junior teams from Peewees to the school groups.

There are four teams in the Peewee NHL, composed of Bruins, Leafs, etc., as the name implies.

The Peterborough Minor Hockey Association has twelve teams under its wing. The largest group is the Public School teams, totalling 19; and there are nine Separate School teams.

Mr. Smillie's estimate is that these teams average about 15 boys. At that rate their total enrolment would be more than 600.

"Some of the teams have coaches," Mr. Smillie said. "Off hand I can name two, Jim Munro and Bert Hall."

Skating Period

"Another indication of the extent to which the rink is used is in regard to the skating periods. All the schools in the city have skating periods in the mornings, part of physical training. Then they have their hockey in the afternoons.

"Up to January 31, the schools had been allotted 139 hours of skating and hockey; and the total attendance for all those periods was 6,562."

Apparently none of these leagues and teams require or receive any supervision from the Recreation Commission and its officials.

Lakefield High School Contract Let For $276,000

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 1. (Staff)—Contract has been let for the new Lakefield district high school. Successful bidder was a Port Hope firm—Brantford-Hoshal Construction Co.—who tendered a bid of $276,000. Estimated total cost of the high school is $330,000. Debentures have been sold through the Peterborough county council, and approval has been received from the Department of Education.

The district high school board received only a few tenders, as a shortage of steel threatened at the time tenders were called.

Work Starts

Construction started today when a bulldozer removed the first yards of earth for the foundation hole. Earlier this week, work was started on construction shacks.

The 10-room school, of red brick and steel, will serve northern Smith township, Burleigh-Anstruther, Chandos, parts of Douro and Dummer townships and the village of Lakefield. It is designed to accommodate 250 pupils.

Its site is on the south side of Bridge St. (Highway 28) just inside the western limits of the village. The site covers slightly more than seven acres, and cost $6,000.

Four Classrooms

In the high school will be four general classrooms, a library classroom, as well as rooms for domestic science, commercial work, and science. Plans call for a room for general shopwork, and a combined gymnasium-auditorium.

In addition to these rooms will be a cafeteria designed to seat about 150 students, and a kitchen. Steam will be used to heat the building.

Architects were Blackwell and Craig, Peterborough.

Rev. P. P. Butler Becomes Pastor Of Sacred Heart

Right Rev. P. P. Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral since 1946, has been appointed pastor of the parish of the Sacred Heart here by Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of the diocese of Peterborough.

Monsignor Butler succeeds the late Monsignor J. J. O'Brien in the parochial changes announced by Bishop Berry effective Sunday, February 17.

Rev. J. J. Garvey, pastor of Hastings, becomes Dean of the southern deanery comprising the counties of Northumberland and Durham. The former Dean was the late Rev. J. B. Ferguson of Warkworth.

Rev. James F. McGuire, pastor of Huntsville parish, is appointed Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Other Appointments

Other appointments announced today are: Rev. J. C. Moloney, Campbellford, Diocesan Consultor and Promoter of Justice, Diocesan Matrimonial Court.

Rev. W. C. McCarney, pastor of the parish of Our Lady of the Assumption, Otonabee, Diocesan Director of the Society of the Faith, and other Missionary Societies.

Rev. C. J. Begley, assistant at Victoria Road, to be administrator of St. Mary's parish, Huntsville.

Rev. Francis Mihélic, assistant at the Cathedral, to be assistant at Victoria Road.

Monsignor Butler will be the third pastor of the parish of the Sacred Heart. When it was established and the church dedicated, the first parish priest was Rev. Dr. M. J. O'Brien, afterwards Bishop of Peterborough and subsequently Archbishop of O'Brien. He died in that incumbency.

His successor at the south end church was the late Right Rev. J. J. O'Brien.

Skiers Practise Come Rain Or...

Although the weatherman calls for rain this weekend, Peterborough ski enthusiasts are planning for a weekend of practising at both Betnany and Kemp's hill playgrounds.

This weekend will be the last lengthy period that Peterborough skiers will have to practise before the jumping, downhill and slalom events next week for the Southern Ontario zone. Then the Peterborough club will be host to contestants for the Southern Ontario junior boys meet, an open invitation jumping event, junior girls events and the novice women's downhill and slalom.

Despite today's rainfall the club hopes to operate the ski school at Kemp's hill Saturday morning for the elementary school children. It will not be cancelled until there is no hope, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said today.

Represent Club

The school which has been operating for several years now will see its results next week when its members, the more advanced skiers, will represent the club in the meet.

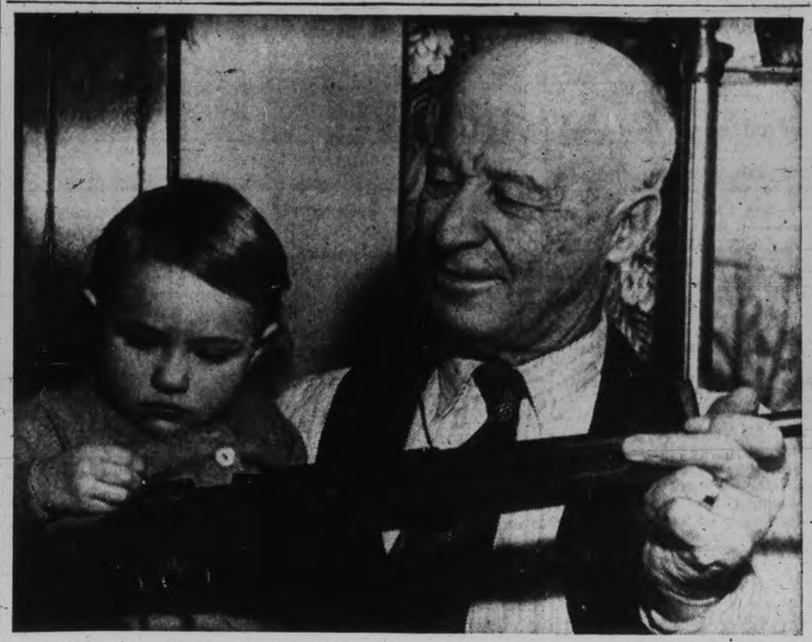
Today a number of calls were received by club members from Hamilton, Toronto and Oshawa from skiers asking about ski conditions. These men and women plan to spend Sunday practising at Bethany where the downhill and slalom events will be held a week Sunday.

But skiing conditions were reduced from "good" to only "fair" after today's rainfall which packed the light powdery snow down. Throughout the area there is an average of eight to 10 inches on all slopes, Kemp's having about nine inches of packed and Bethany about a foot.

Snow conditions for bush skiing are good throughout the district, ranging from a foot to 14 inches.

Hungry Horse

Organist Donald Kennedy, Bolivar St., woke up this morning to see a milkman's horse eating his car. "It's green, so I suppose the horse mistook it for grass." The milk rig was stopped behind his car, and while the driver was about his door deliveries, the horse took a fancy to either the color, the smell or the texture of the paint of the new car. He nuzzled up to the trunk and proceeded to chaw off about a square foot of paint. The animal was so greedy that he not only removed the paint but scratched and dented the metal.



FEW GROUNDHOGS WILL SEE THEIR SHADOW around Peterborough on Saturday because Harold Fry, of 134½ Hunter St. W., Above, retired contractor, has cleaned out 2,357 of the varmints in the past seven years, as a hobby. He shows his grand-niece Myrna Heard, 2, his one and only .22 rifle that he used to roll up this remarkable score — (Examiner Staff Photo).

While groundhogs across the province indulge in a bit of shadow-searching Saturday, the few that are left in Otonabee and Cavan townships will turn over and forget all all about it. Before 1945, they used to rise and shine for Groundhog Day just like any normal groundhog would. That was before Harold Fry came along with his .22.

Between then and last summer, Mr. Fry picked off 2,357 of them, not to mention 13 skunks and 20 jackrabbits.

Heart Attack In 1942

Building supervisor for the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. for nearly 27 years (26 years, 11 months), Mr. Fry suffered a heart attack in 1942. For three years, he was in poor health, and in 1945, when he and his wife would drive through the country, he got the idea of shooting groundhogs for a hobby.

After trying it several times, he asked his doctor for approval. The doctor said it was the best thing in the world for him, adding "Don't overdo it" as a word of caution.

Armed with the doctor's okay, Mr. Fry went ahead with his hobby, which has progressed through three stages since 1945. First, he wasn't able to walk far, and therefore did his shooting at that time from just off the edge of the road.

Eventually, he was shooting from the road side of the fences, and the third stage, of course, was over the fence and into the field. Once into the field, Mr. Fry started on his swath of destruction among the groundhogs.

Swears By Rifle

His weapon is a single-shot .22 calibre Winchester that he bought 18 years ago. Mr. Fry doesn't like telescopic sights, repeating or automatic rifles.

"They don't give the animal a chance," he declares.

An off-hand shooter — he doesn't use a fence rail for a rest—Mr. Fry held forth for some time on the merits of his rifle. He said that he and two other men tried the rifle out, firing three shots at a target set up on a door.

The first shot hit the bullseye, and the other two tried their hands. At first, he said, they thought they'd missed, because there was only one hole in the target. Closer inspection showed the three bullets had gone within their own diameter of each other, cutting one large hole in the door.

His best afternoon, spent in Otonabee township in the Westwood district, netted him 51 groundhogs. His best year, 1946, saw him kill 762.

"Those were all killed for certain," he said. "My wife only marked down the ones she knew were dead."

Mrs. Fry smiled and said yes, she didn't count the ones they weren't sure of.

The Record

Here is her record of Mr. Fry's shooting since the summer of 1945:

1945: 622 groundhogs, six skunks, 13 jackrabbits.
1946: 762 groundhogs.
1947: 538 groundhogs, two skunks, three jacks.
1948: 133 groundhogs, five skunks, two jacks.
1949: 151 groundhogs, two jacks.
1950: 131 groundhogs.
1951: 20 groundhogs.

Mr. Fry said he gave up shooting early last year. There were too many others out with guns, he said. This summer, though, he might just be out there again.

Alfred Barber Heads Local 210

Alfred Barber has been re-elected president of Local 210, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL). Local 210 is the bargaining unit for the production workers at Canada Packers.

Mr. Barber is beginning his eighth term as president of the union. And he has been re-elected for the last six years in succession.

Following is the complete executive for 1952: Alferd Barber, president; Herb Bradley, vice president; R. Bryce Steele, recording secretary; Clarence Croutter, financial secretary; Orville Wease, treasurer; Roy Bannister, chief steward; Bruce Bradley, guard; Ray Stevens, guides; and three trustees— Angus Smith, Arthur Marshall and Tom Ball.

ALFRED BARBER

Local 210 is the oldest CIO-CCL union in Peterborough. It was first organized in 1941 and received its charter and was certified in 1942.

Roy Bannister was the first president.

President Alfred Barber is also president of the Peterborough and District Labour Council (CCL) but he said that he will not be a candidate for office when the annual election of officers is held in February.

Alex MacGregor Retires From CPR

When Alex MacGregor, chief clerk of the passenger department of the CPR ticket office, retires he also disappears. He was not to be found at his lodgings today at 129½ Hunter St., W; a neighbor said she had seen him go out early.

Mr. MacGregor has been chief clerk for the past 23 years but he has had longer broken service with his parent company before that; his associates were not prepared to say how much.

The office staff stopped their work on Thursday afternoon at the end of their shift to wish him well. They presented him with a handmade wallet containing a sum of money to show their esteem.

City passenger agent Elmer J. Heard said during his short past few months of duty in Peterborough he had found Mr. MacGregor was indeed a conscientious and faithful worker.

Successor to the chief clerk's position will be filled by J. Clair Wolff of the Oshawa office, a former Peterborough man. He will report for immediate duty, Mr. Heard said.

Kiwanis Club "Adopts" Child In Europe

A war child from somewhere in Europe has been "adopted" by the Peterborough Kiwanis club members through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

Wilson Gemmell, who is heading the club project, said that the child was "adopted" early this month under a contract which is good for one year.

The club does not know yet who the child is and will not know for another six weeks to two months.

Lenore Sorin, co-ordinator for the Foster Parents' Plan, asked the club in a recent letter, "to please bear with us for a few weeks until we can send you your 'child's' case history and photograph. It takes some time to make each individual assignment to take care of all the details involved."

The organization arranges with clubs and other organizations in the United States and Canada to finance a war child for $15 a month on a year's basis. It has working committees in Belgium, China, Czechoslovakia, England, France, Greece, Holland and Italy and its Canadian headquarters in Montreal.

The Kiwanis club members consider the project, not as a club project, but as a personal project. Each week a small box is passed to each member for them to put in a nickle or dime to help finance the monthly payment. So far, they have co-operated with more than enough money.

Under similar schemes the collegiate students and two other city groups have "adopted" children in Europe.

Farmers 'Spiel Draws 19 Rinks

Nineteen rinks from twelve counties are expected to put their names in the hat for the draw at the Charlotte St. ices Thursday, Feb. 7, for the second annual bonspiel sponsored by the Junior Farmers of Ontario.

There will be one rink each from: Northumberland, Waterloo, Lanark, Renfrew, Ontario county, Bruce, Grey; two from South Simcoe and Carleton; and three from Victoria and Peterborough. That is not the final total. One or two other rinks will comprise the complete list for competition.

Buffet dinner will be provided in the club quarters at 6.30 pm by Canada Packers Ltd., followed by presentations of prizes.

The first bonspiel was held a year ago at Lindsay with nine rinks competing. Arrangements were made by a local committee composed of Keith McIntyre, of Peterborough Junior Farmers, Ira Moore of the Curling Club, Frank C. Paterson and R. E. Bell of the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

School Board Closes Doors At Meetings

COBOURG, Feb. 1 — Cobourg public school board has reverted to its earlier policy of closed-door meetings. Prime mover of the decision, made Thursday night, was Mrs. Frank Spooner.

Whole meetings will not be closed; only for the first half-hour will doors be barred to press and public.

"This gives us an opportunity to discuss things and get them straightened out," said Mrs. Spooner.

Costly Sale

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP).— A police constable testified in court he paid a woman $8.25 for a small pint bottle of rye whisky, but the seller pay a lot more than that. Accused was fined $200 after pleading guilty to selling liquor in her home.

Firm Unable To Purchase Piece Of Land; Delays New Building On Fire Site

Strip of Land Needed For Lane To Rear Of Bradburn Properties; City Urged To Expropriate Small Parcel

Holding up replacement of the Zacks building, burned last May 19, is the inability of a Toronto investment firm to acquire a small piece of land at the rear of the Percival furniture store on Hunter St. This land is wanted to provide a right-of-way to the rear entrance of the Bradburn properties on George St. D. E. Bennett, representative of the Toronto firm, said he couldn't understand why the city wouldn't expropriate the land. It is understood the city could expropriate it to ensure businessmen access to their properties.

The right of way is needed because the proposed building that will replace the Zacks block would extend into the lane that now provides access to the Bradburn properties. This lane runs from Hunter St. to the north side of Fair's store.

Want To Build

The Toronto firm is trying to clear the situation up so construction can start on a building for Metropolitan Stores. Present plans of the new building call for a depth of 140 feet, and a frontage that would equal that of the four stores destroyed in the fire.

Mr. Bennett said he had assurance from Herbert Bradburn that there would be no opposition to his firm's plans if a new rear entrance to the Fair store could be provided. The Braund estate and Peterborough Lumber Co., whose properties are separated by the lane, have made deals with the Toronto firm concerning the lane's closing.

No Inquest Held Into Hanging Of Otonabee Boy

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, said today there will be no inquest into the death of 12-year-old Larry Manley who hanged himself late Wednesday afternoon.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident.

He was found in the loft of the Otonabee township barn with his neck caught in a rope noose that was hanging from an overhead pole. The rope and noose had been left there by his father, George Manley, after threshing.

Larry is believed to have mounted a beam — about three feet high and running the length of the barn floor—reached out and grabbed the rope and slipped the noose over his head.

Somehow he lost his balance. And he was unable to either touch the barn floor with his toes or regain his footing on the beam.

Death was by strangulation.

Found By Mother

He was found by his mother and an older brother who wondered why he wasn't finishing the chores.

Larry was the son of George W. Manley and the former Elsie Stazicker, Lot 18, Concession 9, Otonabee.

Besides his mother and father he leaves two brothers, Terry 14 and Paul 2, and a sister Judith Ann 5; three grandparents, Mrs. Emily Stazicker, Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Manley, Otonabee.

The funeral will be at the Gomstock funeral home 2 pm Saturday, the Rev. Hueston D. McCormack of St. James' United Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

No One Blamed In Youth's Death

OSHAWA, Feb. 1.—A coroner's jury returned an open verdict blaming no one Wednesday in the inquest into the death of a 19-year-old Oshawa youth who died December 7 shortly after he had been sent home from hospital.

Death was caused by brain and head injuries, said to be difficult to diagnose and usually fatal within 24 hours.

The youth, Douglas Farrell, had tried to get medical attention at Oshawa General Hospital. The night supervisor, Mrs. Gertrude Bulmer, said she had called a doctor, who prescribed for Farrell, and then she had sent Farrell home.

He had told her he was drinking wine at a bootlegger's that night.

Since Farrell's death, the hospital medical staff has ruled that in future anyone seeking admission to the hospital must be examined by an interne.

During Mrs. Bulmer's testimony Farrell's mother, Mrs. J. Farrell, interrupted several times, and Police Chief Owen Friend threatened to clear the chamber. In her evidence, she denied parts of Mrs. Bulmer's testimony.

COUNTY FARM NOTES

By HARRY THEOBALD

Federation Meetings At Peterborough and Westwood Largely Attended — Forum Subject Feb. 4 To Dicuss Farm Products Prices —James Bird President of Northumberland Forum — M. H. Johnston Re-elected President of Peterborough Hog Producers

That was a gratifying meeting of Peterborough Federation Monday night at the YMCA. Not so long ago this annual business assembly occupied only part of the hall. In the final year of his presidency, assuming the retirement of W. W. Dawson, the room was crowded, providing an impressive reception to the new Ontario president, Mr. C. W. Milligan of Napanee.

One of the accomplishments of Peterborough's organized farmers during the four years of the Dawson regime is the development of sound and lively Forums.

Peterborough does not have to make apology or excuse nowadays when pins are stuck in a map of Ontario indicating the Forum groups.

It may be repeated that in the early days of their activities, Mr. V. S. Milburn observed and declared that "wherever I visit a Forum territory I find a strong sentiment for the Federation". Peterborough can now show a spirited series of Forums, but as most of them declared at their meetings Jan. 25, there is still more work to be done, too many farmers have not yet seen the Forum light.

FEDERATION at WARKWORTH

James Bird of Codrington was re-elected president of Northumberland Federation at its annual meeting Jan. 25. The other officers are: 1st V.P.—Milton Lacey of Glourourim; 2nd V.P.—Donald Massey, Morganston.

Secretary-Treasurer: Mrs. M. W. Woods of Warkworth, and publicity convenor, Mrs. Raymond Richardson, Dartford.

Forums represented at the meeting in Warkworth were: Fenella, Pine Grove, Trent Valley, Glourourim, West Dartford, Codrington, Mulholland, Morganston, Harwood, and Mount Pleasant.

County Folk Schools was the subject of the address by Miss Beattie McLean, of Greenwood, guest speaker.

In recognition of Burns' Night, Harry and Fred Anderson, in Highland costumes paraded with their bagpipe music, followed by Mrs. M. W. Woods carrying the haggis on a silver tray. 130 AT DINNER

Sponsoring the first Federation dinner in East Peterborough, Westwood Forum had the satisfaction Wednesday night of greeting a capacity attendance of 130 in the community hall. They were welcomed by Reeve James Humphries.

William Mood introduced the guest speaker, Cecil Belyea, who congratulated the Asphodel people on their enterprise. One of his topics was the increasing interest of farmers in their thinking of ways and means to obtain more direct control of branches of their own business.

W. W. Dawson, president of Peterborough Federation, was chairman, and among those at the head table were directors Henry Sharpe and John Kitney and Fieldman Harold Lewis.

Warden R. R. Stewart congratulated the Forum on the success of the dinner, and the members of the Women's Institute on the quality of their cooking. Bruce Graham, one of the active promoters, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Belyea. Entertainment features included vocal solos by Bruce Warr and a reading by Mr. Mood.

ONLY 3% VOTED

Huron county hog producers approved a resolution pressing for legislation which would enable financing a pool to stabilize the domestic hog market. Their executive has signified it would not support a proposed central marketing agency for the province at this time. It based its stand on a recent vote on the question which saw only three per cent of the county's 4,000 qualified hog producers express an opinion.

✦ ✦ ✦

Harry Doxtator of Dartford was re-elected president of Northumberland Hog Producers at their annual meeting at Brighton. HOLSTEIN CONVENTION

More than 100 breeder members attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Holstein Friesian Association in Toronto Wednesday.

Secretary George Clemons said that 40 per cent of Holstein cattle now being registered are of artificial breeding.

More animals than ever were registered in 1951, totalling 67,396, an average of 184 a day. There were 14,633 head exported to eight countries. Membership is now 12,209, the first time it has passed the 12,000 mark.

Superior production certificates, covering eight world and three Canadian records, were presented by Gilbert McMillan, Huntingdon, Que., president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada. These included certificates to J. W. Greenwood, Maple, Ont., for records of 1,089 and 1,011 lbs. fat, the only two records ever made in the world exceeding 1,000 lbs. fat in 305 days on twice-a-day milking. Among the other recipients were N. W. McConkey of Peterborough.

A resolution was passed favoring payment for milk on the basis of total solids-not-fat, rather than a butter fat basis as at present. It was also decided to press for uniform health regulations for cattle shown at fairs throughout the Dominion.

Directors elected to represent East-Central Ontario were: James T. Brown of Newcastle, George R. McLaughlin, Oshawa, George W. Henry, Todmorden and C. J. Cerswell, Beeton.

Mr. Cerswell replaces N. W. McConkey.

FORUM DISCUSSIONS

Consensus of Peterborough Forums on the subject "What's wrong with our farm organizations" was to the effect that many farmers do not take sufficient interest, in their community and commodity affairs.

Eighteen attended Lily Lake Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Darling in Smith. Arthur Hancock was discussion leader. Clarence Ferguson is the new group president, and Mrs. George Middleton is secretary.

Donegal Forum near Norwood reported 31 members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stevenson. Frank Turner was leader. One of their recommendations was: "Canadian Federation of Agriculture should co-operate with government in seeking markets for farm products at prices which would give the farmer a reasonable profit".

Eighteen of Westwood members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pfulfer with William Mood leader.

One of their conclusions was: "The individual farmer can play an effective part in the present set-up if he takes his membership seriously. One would think that more farmers would be anxiously seeking membership in some effective organization that would speak for the whole group. The days of individualism in the business are drawing to a close, and it would seem to be to everyone's advantage to be active in at least one of the basic organizations of C.F.A."

They also suggest that "the Federation should do more work at the individual level".

At Pine Grove north of Lakefield 34 Forum members affirmed that farmers can help if they will become more willing to express themselves "and state what they think at the proper time". Garnet Graham was leader at the home of Mr. and Russel Little.

Central Smith Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clark. Lorne Reynolds was leader. Twelve members were present. One comment was: "Have some way of getting all farmers interested in the Federation. Organize the women in our county to affiliate with the Federation. Have a delegate from each Forum, or have it in the constitution of the Federation to appoint delegate or director from each Farm Forum to attend their monthly meetings, and report back to their Forums."

DISCUSS FARM PRICES

Dr. E. C. Hope of Ottawa, economist for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, will take part in Forum broadcast Monday on the subject: "What sets farm prices?" This is the first of the February series.

Obvious factors influencing the prices of farm products include: uncertainties of the weather, export and domestic demand, cost of living, consumer employment, and so on.

Experienced farmers have first hand knowledge of most of the elements affecting their business and income. They have also been through the system of price controls, marketing boards, periods of surpluses and scarcity in production.

The Forum members have another hefty subject for this Monday night session. Probably, something will be said about quality. Some farmers set a high standard for the products of their investment and work — pork, poultry, milk, etc., but they are just about as vulnerable to price fluctuations as the man who is careless about quality.

Proposals for broader price margins in the grading of hogs, and also of cheese factory milk, make little substantial progress. Milk producer conventions have nearly as much to say these times about sediment content as they did in the days of George Publow and his missionary efforts for top and uniform quality cheese.

Toleration of the indifferent producers to whom markets are open for their produce without the strictest of scanning may be a cause of some of the individualism that remains today. That is only a surmise, but with quality concessions getting mention these later days to provide products that can drop under the prices for highest grade milk, for instance, —well, it must be somewhat disturbing to producers who have held their reputations high.

RURAL SURVEY

Ontario farmers are dismayed by the low return from eggs, poultry and hogs, as reported in weekly review compiled from the counties by the Department of Agriculture.

From west to east the tenor of comments is the same. Lambton: The price of hogs is a general topic of conversation when a group of farmers meet.

Lanark: Much dissatisfaction is expressed by farmers with the price of hogs and eggs.

Haldimand: Early sale of baby chicks is below normal, but orders for turkey poults are ahead of last year.

Middlesex: There is a continued movement of seed grain to the United States. Welland: High prices of feed are causing concern to the livestock and poultry men. Victoria: Weanling pigs are selling as low as five and six dollars. Enquiries for seed grain more numerous.

Glengarry: There has been practically no movement of dairy cows from the county to the USA this winter.

Renfrew: The number of cattle in the county continued to decline in 1951, as also did the number of sheep. Hog production remained the same.

Waterloo: Farmers are planning for their seed requirements for 1952.

POULTRY MARKETING

Whether provincial poultry producers will participate in a poultry marketing scheme will be decided by a public vote in March, a spokesman for the Federation of Agriculture said yesterday, after secretaries and fieldmen from 10 Western Ontario counties had conferred at the Middlesex Federation office in London, Ont.

Ed. O'Dell, Lambton, was elected chairman, and Ray Hergott secretary.

ALFALFA SEED

Ontario farmers who buy alfalfa seed this spring may find themselves faced with the problem of which type of seed to buy. A. H. Martin, Director of the Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture points out that supplies of Canadian grown seed will be insufficient to meet the demand and some imported seed will have to be used. Farmers buying seed will be able to tell something of its origin from the color of the seed since all imported seed must be stained.

Mr. Martin says that alfalfa seed grown in Canada is often preferred because of its hardiness. Some of this seed is grown in Ontario but a great part of it comes from the Peace River Country. The climate in this growing area produces a seed, the hardiness of which is unsurpassed. Like other Canadian grown seed, it is sold in the natural state [illegible]

Another source of seed is the northern United States. All the states bordering on Canada have approximately the same climatic conditions as are to be found here. Seed produced in these states can be imported into Canada provided one per cent of the seed is stained a violet color.

The rest of the world is placed in one category by Canadian Seed Regulations. Seed originating from any part of the world, other than the Northern United States, and Canada must be stained 10 per cent red.

SPRING FARM JULIETTE, right, has for the third consecutive year been named All-Canadian aged Holstein cow for J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, Ont. At the left is another three time winner, A.B.C. Reflection Sovereign, owned by Dr. Hector I. Astengo of Rosafe Farms, Brampton, Ont., who has been selected as the All-Canadian aged bull for the current show season. Both animals were Reserve Grand Champions at the Royal Winter Fair. Selection of All-Canadians is made in the fifteen regular show classes by a panel of judges from the leading fairs throughout the Dominion. Twenty breeders shared the thirty All-Canadian and Reserve All-Canadian awards.

Social Revue, 'Cues For You', Staged By Durham Juniors

"Cues for You" was the title of an hour's revue of etiquette presented by Durham Junior Farmers at their first monthly meeting last week. More than 150 young people from all parts of the county were delighted with this novel show of refinement and amenities of living.

Under the direction of Eart Leask, of Taunton, assisted by Jean Noble, home economist, the cast of 30 young men and women representing all the townships presented an object lesson in good manners and social grace and poise.

How to register in a hotel, introductions in the home and on the street, boy-girl courtesies as when calling on girls or helping them into the car; manners on the street, frowning on rowdiness were some of the etiquette points brought out in dialogue in the cast assisted by the commentators Mrs. Ray Robinson, Janetville and Gerald Brown, Newcastle. Pictures prepared by Farncomb Legresley, Newcastle, and slides illustrated many ideas for the audience as well. To assist any one attending banquets the scene of receiving guests, head table procedure, toasts to The King and guests, and introducing the speaker will long be remembered.

The highlight of the revue featured Lorraine Challice in the story of a wedding. The commentator helped Lorraine with the many problems assisted by slides showing invitation, announcement, replies, check lists of things to do and expense lists showing how she and the groom share these.

Among those taking part in this principal act were: Glenn Larmer and Bill Ferguson of Nestleton; Hazel White and Bev Gray of Garden Hill; Gordon Wilson of Garden Hill; Mary Hoover and Richard VanCamp of Blackstock; Mary McHolm of Welcome; Miss Irene Trick of Millbrook.

Ray Challice, of Ida, was the groom and Alex Martin of Newcastle, best man. The bride's attendants were Margery Finnie of Welcome and Henrietta Wood of Millbrook.

The wedding ceremony which is held as something sacred was not shown, but while the wedding party left the front, Bruce Taylor, Enniskillen sang "I'll Walk Beside You." However the audience were treated to another glimpse of the bride and groom and the wedding party as they made their way down the aisle. The bouquets, corsages and boutoniers worn by the group were made available by the courtesy of Jackman Florists, Bowmanville.

"Cues for You" was thoroughly discussed while the Juniors enjoyed coffee and cake, followed by round and equare dancing with music by Mike and Henry Jurko, Enniskillen assisted by Harold Hammond as caller.

President Ray Challice opened the meeting, welcoming the large group and announcing the plans of the Association to hold meetings and take memberships. Sixty Juniors received their cards and will soon be getting the 'Junior Farmer News' published in Toronto. Ross Metcalfe in his own way had the audience singing to start the program and between scenes while the stage men, Jack Green and Richard VanCamp were busy getting props in place.

In February the Junior Farmers are to be honored by the presence of the president of the Ontario Junior Farmers of Ontario, Miss Eleanor Saracuse who will be the guest speaker.

Permanent Soil Fertility Involved Subject As Outlined By J. M. Appleton

If any junior farmer wishes to test his abilities in concentration and interpretation, he might apply himself some February night to a reading of the article presented by J. M. Appleton of Wallaceburg, Ont., at the convention of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

It is entitled: "Some soil problems involved in the production of six hundred pounds of beef per acre." The recommendation to juniors rather than to their elders is suggested from this comment: "Most of us think in terms of crop yields per year, rather than crop yields per decade."

Active life expectation of juniors does extend to decades of years, but for their parents, the adult farmers, time has become a matter of urgency.

Mr. Appleton emphasizes a distinction between quick crop response on the one hand, and the building of stable, that is unchanging or permanent soil fertility. His is a long story, running to twelve closely typed pages. It is not easy reading for it delves into both practice and theory, but obviously it is recommended by Mr. Appleton's reputation in Ontario agriculture and especially among the crop improvers.

"Permanent" Fertility

Here is a sample paragraph: "First of all, I want to emphasize that in my mind there is a distinct difference between permanent soil fertility and the response of crops to the application of commercial fertilizers. I want you to keep this thought in mind as I elaborate on the various phases of my argument.

"I know it will be confusing. It has confused me for years. However, when you appreciate the distinction it is much easier to understand the problem of grasslands and why they are unique and basic to a full appreciation of what is possible for a nation with a well-balanced agricultural policy."

"Most of us think in terms of crop yields per year, rather than crop yields per decade. Most of us figure the use of fertilizer on the basis of the cost per acre. We prove its benefits by saying that such and such a fertilizer mixture gave us ten more bushels of corn, two more tons of tomatoes and so on. This aspect of soil fertility is important, but it is not directly connected with the permanent soil fertility problem."

That is a clue to Mr. Appleton's talk to the 400 or 500 farmers who heard him at the Crop Improvement convention.

Factor of Response

"The use of commercial fertilizer for all crops except grasses and clovers is generally a problem of measuring response. The use of commercial fertilizer for forage crops is also concerned with response—but the addition of plant nutrients to a soil producing forage crops is very definitely connected with the permanent soil fertility problem . . ."

In any permanent soil fertility program the most important single factor is organic matter. Most farmers appreciate this fact. What most farmers cannot appreciate is the impossibility of significantly increasing the amount of permanent organic matter by adding farm yard manure or plowing down green manure crops.

Even the addition of as many as 10 tons of farm yard manure per acre per year, over a 40-year period under cropping, has not significantly increased the stable (that's not a pun) organic matter of certain soils in Great Britain."

Mr. Appleton quotes Sir John Russell that the plowing under of young green manure crops will so stimulate the activity of soil micro-organisms that part of the permanent soil organic matter may be destroyed. Even the soil reserves of such minerals as phosphate could be further depleted by continuing such a practice.

"You will wonder on what grounds Sir John makes this statement when it is well known that plowing under alfalfa, clovers, young rye, etc., is a highly regarded practice.

Effect of Nitrogen

"Please remember that I drew your attention to the difference between (crop) response and permanent soil fertility. I didn't say that plowing under would not give a good response. It certainly will. But, the response is almost entirely due to the addition of the nitrogen in the green manure.

"On soils of low productivity, the more nitrogen contained in the crop plowed under, the greater the response. This explains in a great measure the value of legumes when plowed in. If the crop is not succulent, but coarse and carboraceous material low in nitrogen and other plant nutrients, the nitrogen and perhaps even the phosphate reserves in the soil will be called upon to feed the bacteria as they eat up the woody material. Crop response is thus very poor.

"When coarse material is plowed under, the effect of the addition of such carbonaceous material in maintaining organic matter is a little longer. There is, however, very little or no addition to the permanent organic matter."

Daily press reports of the convention singled out this reference to green manure without enlarging upon the context of Mr. Appleton's talk.

This also he said on that point: "I do not wish to condemn legumes in farming practice, but I do wish to emphasize that they are good soil builders. They are without doubt most efficient suppliers of nitrogen. From the standpoint of permanent soil fertility the legumes are probably of little value."

That is only page four of the Appleton adress. From there he spades into his subject of permanent fertility policy in relation "to six hundred pounds of beef per acre."

Incidentally, here is another assertion: "Now it would be absurd for anyone to suggest that we discontinue the practice of plowing under green manuring crops altogether. However, it is most important that we realize how to use legumes, and not expect them to perform a function for which they are not well designed."

Korean Veteran Can't Get Pay

DETROIT, Feb. 1 — (AP) — Young Riccardo Del Vecchio hopes to get some word by noon today on whether and when the United States Army intends to pay him $1,297 he claims due him in pay while he was fighting in Korea and getting his feet frozen.

The army's finance centre in St. Louis has been ordered to file a report in Washington by noon today on why Del Vecchio, a Second World War veteran, has been home from Korea four months now—without any pay, there or here.

"You wonder," he muses, "how the army—where you sign everything 20 times—could lose track of a guy. It is a good thing there were free cigarettes and candy bars in Korea . . .

"We were fighting and freezing, but whenever payday rolled around I was the little guy who wasn't there. I didn't get paid. I've been filling out forms, signing forms, on and on. But I haven't got my pay or my disability pension, either."

New Tax Cuts US Gambling By 90 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—A revenue official said confidently Thursday the new federal gambling tax has choked off 90 per cent of the country's illegal gambling business, estimated by investigating senators at $20,000,000,000 a year.

Eugene Coyle, the revenue bureau's expert on the gambling tax, told reporters, "I don't know how long the honeymoon will last, but right now most of the bigtime gamblers have closed shop."

Coyle said gambling operators are staging a mass exodus from the field because the new law required them to reveal their illegal operations to local police, the public and the press.

In another development Thursday, the Federal Communications Commission ordered an investigation into any use gamblers are making of Western Union Telegraph wires.

A revenue bureau report showed that 8,913 gamblers bought tax stamps in December compared to 1,556 in November, the first month under the law.

Most of these are petty operators, Coyle said.

Gamblers who had stamps for November reported business of only about $2,000,000 for that month, paying a 10 per cent tax totalling more than $199,000.

STILL A MYSTERY—Henry Grunewald, the "mystery man" of the tax scandal, kept his role as he appeared again before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee. He once more refused to answer questions of the tax investigators, despite a threat that he would be cited for contempt of Congress.

On Indian List, Jailed

Harvey Bedford, 221 London St., was sentenced to one month in jail for drinking while on the interdicted list. When Bedford appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Thursday, he pleaded guilty and admitted a prior conviction on the same charge early in January.

Guilty Of Negligence In Crash With Motorcycle

Campbell L. Rowatt, 400 Dublin St., was convicted of careless driving and fined $15 and $9.60 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Thursday.

Rowatt was making a left hand turn from George St. on to McDonnel St., the evening of September 30 when he was involved in a collision with a motorcycle.

The motorcycle driver, Jack McKee, 220 McGill St., was thrown on to the hood of the car, and one of his legs, jammed under the car's sun visor was broken.

After the collision, the motorcycle burst into flames and firemen were called to extinguish the blaze.

Expected Car To Stop

McKee testified he saw the lights of the Rowatt car coming north on George St., for about half a block. Then he said, it pulled to the centre of the road. Knowing he had the right-of-way, McKee said he expected the Rowatt car would stop before making the left hand turn, on to McDonnel St.

He said he was going about 25 miles an hour as he approached the intersection, but "slowed down considerably" when he saw the Rowatt car and pulled to the right curb of George St. McKee said he could have stopped before his motorcycle and the car collided but he said, "I knew I was in the right, and it wasn't my place to stop."

After McKee made this statement under cross-examination, defence counsel Robert Carley asked for a dismissal. Mr. Carley argued that McKee could have stopped or turned to the left but by not doing so, he "brought on the accident by his negligence."

Onus On Car Driver

Magistrate Philp ruled that the onus was on the man making the left hand turn to make sure he could do so safely and refused to dismiss the charge.

In defence, Rowatt said he did not see the motorcycle until it was about four feet in front of his car. He said he signalled and did not see any oncoming traffic before making the left turn. "I had about two thirds of my turn completed when I saw a black object in front of me. I did not see any light."

McKee said he believed his headlight was on, because it turned on with the ignition switch, and said he would have noticed it had it not been on. McKee said that he believed the Rowatt car approached the intersection at about the same speed as he did.

Ruling that there was not sufficient evidence to relieve the onus on the accused, Magistrate Philp said that it was difficult to understand why the accused in making the left turn would not have seen the oncoming motorcycle in the beam of his headlights, whether the motoreycle had its lights on or not. He also commented that McKee had stated he had the headlight on "low beam," and that the accused had said he saw a car parked 53 feet north of the intersection when he was making the turn.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Michigan Has Big Problem Of Unemployed

DETROIT, Feb. 1. (AP)—The fate of thousands of Michigan unemployed hinged today on "specific recommendations" promised by a government committee which studied the problem here.

More than 150,000 workers have been laid off in Michigan because of reductions in auto output and a lag in conversion from civilian to defence production.

In Detroit alone 105,000 are idle. The Michigan Employment Security Commission has predicted the city's total will climb to 115,000 in the next two months unless something is done.

R. E. Gillmor, chairman of the committee assigned by the National production authority to study the situation, said Thursday as his group left for Washington, that its recommendations will be made next Tuesday at a Washington meeting of top officials of nine government agencies.

He gave no details but indicated that two basic suggestions—urged by both industry and labor spokesmen at committee meetings here — as "carrying the most weight" with him. These were:

1. That only higher quotas in civilian auto production can help the immediate situation.

2. To prevent recurrent unemployment, defence contracts must be poured into the state—small ones to start, larger ones later.

E. Mahood Heads Omemee Farmers

OMEMEE, Feb. 1 — (ENS). — The annual meeting of Omemee Farmers' Club was held in Coronation Hall Tuesday, with president R. P. Reeds in the chair.

The auditor's report given by W. C. Veals, covering livestock, coal and locker storage, showed a total business of $324,66.82 for the year 1951. The meeting approved of the auditor's action in setting up a depreciation reserve account for the locker storage plant, and adopted their recommendation that a percentage of the operation profits be set aside each year as a reserve for depreciation of the plant.

The election of officers for 1952 was conducted by W. D. Wilson, and resulted as follows:

President, E. Mahood; vice-president, Irvine Connell: secretary-treasurer, S. D. Vaughan. Last year's directors, A. Clancy, J. R. Eliott, J. Rex, H. Griffin, and V. Lang, were returned to office. The shipping committee will consist of five the highest shippers in 1951: J. Windrem, J. Boyd, W. D. Weir, A. H. Veals, and William McMullen. W. C. Veals and Vincent Fee were reappointed as auditors.

Mr. Mahood thanked the members for his appointment.

The question of a banquet next fall was discused, and an almost unanimous vote received in its favor. On motion of W. D. Wilson and Peter Perdue, arrangements were assigned to a committee composed of the directors and the auditors.

King Looks Sad At Leavetaking

LONDON, Feb. 1 (Reuters) — The King stood bareheaded and sad in a bitter wind at London Airport Thursday and waved to his daughter, Princess Elizabeth, as she left on a trip around the world he wanted to make himself.

The four-motor Canadair airliner revved up smoothly and speedily bore off the Princess and her Duke of Edinburgh husband to Nairobi, East Africa, from where they sail for Australia and New Zealand.

The King's recent lung operation prevented him going on the tour, and Thursday he astonished the 3,000 cheering spectators by standing hatless in the icy wind.

Beside him stood Queen Elizabeth and Prineess Margaret, their faces drawn with cold. The teeth of the watchers themselves were chattering.

It was a sad leave-taking. By rigid tradition, British Royalty hides its emotions in public. But Thursday nobody smiled much and both Elizabeth and her parents were obviously upset at the thought that it will be five months before they will meet again.

Homeward bound, the Royal couple will sail from Auckland, New Zealand, June 10, an announcement from their Clarence House home said tonight.

They will call at Pitcairn Island, June 16; Balboa, Panama, June 25; Cristobal, Panama, June 26, and Bermuda July 1.

Double Funeral At Marmora OverflowsChurch

MARMORA, Feb. 1 (ENS). — The rarity of a double funeral in Marmora and the respect in which the two men were held in the organizations to which they belonged was responsible for an overflowing congregation at St. Andrew's United church on Thursday afternoon. Iran Denies Closing Centres

TEHRAN, Feb. 1 (AP). — A Government spokesman denied today that Iran has decided to close all foreign cultural centres outside Tehran, and said shutdown orders issued Thursday to American, British and Russian information offices were due to "wrong handling by local authorities."

US and British embassy spokesmen said Thursday that provincial governors had ordered immediate closing of the US information and education centres in Tabriz, Meshed and Isfahan and the British councils, branches of a Government-subsidized cultural organization, in the same three cities in Shiraz. The spokesmen said they understood the Russians also received orders to close two cultural branches outside the capital city.

Today US and British officials said they would halt the planned shutdowns pending further clarification.

Marketing Board Ruling Problem

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 — (CP) — H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said today that a Prince Edward Island Supreme Court decision on the status of Federal marketing legislation raises a question-mark on the powers of Provincial marketing boards across the country.

However, he added, the position of the boards and Federal legislation will not be clear until the matter has been appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada for a final ruling.

Mr. Hannam was commenting on a Charlottetown report that the PEI Supreme Court has declared the Federal Agricultural Products Marketing Act of 1949 as ultra vires of parliament. The legislation delegated powers to Provincial Boards to deal in interprovincial and export trade.

The question-mark raised by the decision, said Mr. Hannam, is whether the boards now have power to regulate interprovincial and export trade.

The CFA has been pressing for years for development of such boards to achieve "orderly marketing" in agricultural products for Canadian farmers.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Ice Punch Bowl With Egg Nog Creates Sensation, Requires Skill

QUESTION: Happy holidays are over, turkeys are stuffed, families likewise. Now we are getting back to normal. My formal New Year's dinner is over. I have been thinking I would like to have a party. When thinking of beverages some pe ple do not care for liquor. I thought of being a bit different by serving tea as well as sherry etc. Then a thought came to me. Maybe an egg-nog would be a change instead of tea. Then a brainwave—how attractive an Ice Punch Bowl with egg-nog would be. There my bubble burst—ice too cold for eggs. What say you? Would you please give me a slam bang-up recipe for party egg nog? —E. C.

ANSWER: The ice punch bowl is a novelty that creates a sensation, and is not too cold for the eggs, but needs an expert to manage it. The egg nog would have to be extra rich to bear the dilution by melting ice, and would have to be served within an hour after it was poured into the ice bowl, for by that time the bowl is nearly half melted away into the canister in which it stands.

Party Egg Nog (5 Pints)

Beat separately the yolks and whites of 10 or 12 large eggs. Add ¾ cup sugar to yolks while beating, and ½ cup sugar to whites while beating, until stiff. To the yolks add 1 pint rich cream and 1 pint whole milk or 1 quart cream. The next ingredient you must add according to your own judgement: 1 pint double strength coffee or 1 pint pineapple juice and ¼ cup maraschino cherry juice or 1 pint of the traditional spirits. (Write to me if you want the details.) Fold sweetened whites into the yolk mixture. Chill thoroughly. Sprinkle egg nog in serving bowl with freshly grated nutmeg.

QUESTION: Thank you very much for your wonderful letter. I hadn't realized I had asked for so much you answered my every question and thoroughly too. I love to bake and try new recipes. I taught myself to bake when I was first married five years ago by reading and following directions exactly. Pies, the pastry especially, were the hardest of all, because I hadn't ever tried it before or even watched anyone make it. So it was really hard work for me and I "sweated blood" for the first two times. Cakes were the easiest because the directions were easiest to follow and I didn't have to have any previous knowledge of it. cookies I placed too close together and they all ran together. I think my husband put up with an awful lot, looking back. I really tried hard, though and would study a cook book as though it were a text book. (I'm a registered nurse and married right after graduatinng and had never had to help mother —thus my excuse for absolutely no idea of cookery.) Now I have two children—a boy four and a little girl who will be two next month, so I don't have as much time to bake all of the things I would like to try, and I usually have to limit my baking to simple, easily done things like apple and lemon pies, cookies, chocolate cake, and bran muffins. But on weekends my husband helps me make raised doughnuts, which we love and sometimes we try yeast buns, etc. Thank you for your grand recipe for the doughnuts, soft molasses, cookies and Banbury tarts. I have them carefully filed.—I shall not lose these and will be using them constantly.

I especially love your column—I am filing your meat recipes and have used the one for Breaded Pork Chops. As you have probably guessed I need guidance in all departments of cooking. My "pork-chop cooking knowledge" consisting only of frying it. Keep the column going. After reading your letter my husband said "Sounds good". M. B.

ANSWER: Wonderful. I'm ever so glad. I printed this letter for the benefit of other struggling young cooks. Cooking can be fun —but a helpful husband is a wonderful blessing.

Playing With Popgun Child 4 Wounded

EUREKA, Calif., Feb. 1 (AP)—Four-year-old Tommy Van Houtin was playing with his toy popgun Thursday night.

Suddenly there was a loud explosion. Mr. and Mrs. William Van Houtin found their son in a pool of blood.

He had found a .32-calibre shell and jammed it into the popgun—the type which cocks when broken at the centre. Apparently a wire hit the firing pin.

A sliver of the shell severed a vein in Tommy's wrist and there were powder burns on his stomach. But doctors said his condition was good.

French Give Corps Symbolic Log For UK

PARIS, Feb. 1 (Reuters)—Paul Coiree, municipal council president, today handed F. Charpentier, cultural attache at the Canadian embassy here, a log from the rafter of the Church of St. Gervais, for the Canadian Corps Association in London, Ont.

He explained 200 people, including 52 children, were killed in the historic church on Good Friday, 1918, when a German shell exploded.

Charpentier said the log would be carved into a torch and placed in the officers' mess of the London regiment.

"It is proof of the affection which unites our two countries," he said. 'This symbol has been witness to the misfortunes, struggles and victories of Paris."

Find Alibi Perfect For Drunk Driving

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Feb. 1—(AP)—James W. Walker, 53, came to court Thursday to plead that a heart attack, not intoxication, caused him to drive erratically last Oct. 12, when he was cited for drunken driving. He stood up as his name was called, then collapsed. Doctors pronounced him dead of a heart attack.

Industrial Output Up

LONDON, Feb. 1. (Reuters)—British industrial output during 1951 was three per cent higher than in 1950, the treasury estimated Thursday night. This compared with an 8½-per-cent increase in 1950 over 1949. The treasury estimated the production index for all industries in November, 1951—based on a 1946 figure, of 100—as 153.

Murray Suggests Guaranteed Wage

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (CP).—A guaranteed minimum annual wage in United States industry was urged today by Philip Murray, president of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO).

Murray, also president of the CIO said the guaranteed wage would offset unemployment.

Murray outlined his proposal in a prepared statement for a six-man panel of the Wage Stabilization Board, which resumed a hearing on the steel workers' wage and other demands after a three-week recess.

A possible country-wide steel strike hinges on the outcome of the hearings.

Another witness for the CIO, Economist Murray W. Latimer, said a guaranteed annual wage in the steel industry for employees with three or more years' service could be supported by company contributions of about seven cents an hour.

The wage plan in effect would give workers three-quarters of their normal pay in slack periods for as long as a year.

Princess Elizabeth's Ladies-In-Waiting Stylishly Gowned For Australian Tour

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Twenty gowns on their way to Australia to form part of the wardrobe of Princess Elizabeth's ladies-in-waiting will be something no fashion-conscious Australian woman will want to miss.

For these designs combine the talents of two top-ranking designers—London's Worth and Paquin of Paris.

It would be almost impossible, however, to figure out which designer is responsible for such numbers as the garnet red afternoon dress of pure silk with full skirt, cap sleeves and draped, heart-shaped neckline, combined with matching coat of Lyons velvet. A floran design, in garnet beading outlines the neck of the dress and picks out the pocket flaps on the hips.

The rich velvet coat lined by the silk of the dress has skirt fullness falling to the rear, leaving clean hiplines and an almost straight front. The wide sleeves are cut in one with the bodice and deep revers finish in waist fastening.

Truly regal fullness forms the skirt of a primrose and grey tulle ball gown over primrose taffeta. A feathery cascade of wattle flowers in deep gold chenille spots and diamante beading falls from waist to hem down one side of the skirt and outlines the off-shoulder heart-shaped neckline.

Gown of Brocade

Exquisite severeity is the outstanding feature of a cream and gold brocade gown with full skirt falling in heavy folds from a pointed waistline. The bodice has wide, waist-deep revers sweeping upwards to form the cape finish to the off-shoulder neckline.

A short dinner dress in two shades of sky blue organza has a draped, strapless bodice and full skirt. A twist of deep blue comes from one side of the waist, slots the dip of the neckline and floats down the opposite side of the skirt.

Petticoat importance is shown in a full-skirted black faille afternoon dress worn over an underskirt of clover pink taffeta. The dress has cap sleeves, deep neckline and three-quarter-sleeve bolero.

A simple travelling dress in shadow-blue tussor silk, its three-quarter sleeve cut in one with the button-front bodice has white winged cuffs finished by a white bow. It is coupled with a coat of matching faille in plain princess lines.

Styles contributed by the designers range from a straight-skirted wool travel dress of ink blue to a garden-party frock of beige lace and blue taffeta. A sea-green chiffon evening dress with draped braline has graceful, floating width to the skirt. The narrow belt and straped are embroidered with diamante.

Covered Up Look Appears In Evening and Ball Gowns

Fabric is one factor in the new evening gowns this spring and the covered-up look is another. This covered look appears in both short evening gowns and in the very formal ball gowns. It's handled through draped shoulder-panel straps, little ruffly sleeves and interesting circular stoles that float down the back.

As for fabric, denim has become far more formal than it once was. It appears in short evening gowns in a collection by one famous designer, worked in combination with delicate filigree lace. Silk taffetas, organdies, nylon tulles and cottons are used, sometimes given tree-bark pleating, or chevron pleats. Embroidered short organdies are prominent; so are delicate floral silk prints.

Cover-up for evening appears in lace princess dresses that look new, in high halters, in shirtwaists. But despite this cover for shoulder areas, the illusion of formality is retained. The new lingerie-look in short dance dresses helps maintain the feminine airy look. Other aids to the feminine look are Empire dresses with puffy sleeves, demure period dresses that have cascades of ruffles.

White is big drama in all the collections and there is much off-white, stark white and many beige-and-white combinations. Pastels-on-white, muted pastels, blue with a touch of white, pale green, mellowed yellows and the lilac tones, all are favorites for the new evening gowns.

Length is fairly well established now. For most occasions, it's the short evening gown, with regular or irregular hemline. For very formal, very important evenings, it's the full-length ball grown. But this year, even this gown will, in all probability, have the covered-up look.

Nurses To Study Atomic Aspects In Lecture Series

Regular meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association, Chapter C, District 6, took place on Tuesday evening at St. Joseph's nurses' residence. Miss Mary Haddow Reg. N., gave an interesting account of nursing trends in Bolivia where she has been serving as a missionary nurse.

Of much importance was the discussion of plans to organize a series of lectures to study "Nursing aspects of Atomic Warfare as incorporated in the civil defence plans of Canada." It is hoped that every nurse in the district, whether active or inactive in the profession at present will attend. Further announcement will be made regarding the lectures but they are expected to start early in March.

Past president Sister Gonzaga presided for the meeting due to the absence through illness of president Miss Florence Vickers. Refreshments were served by the social convener.

Take Rule For Good Health

Then annual "gym frolic" of the YWCA was held Thursday evening with about 50 girls from the various classes attending. After routines in the gym they gathered in the Green Room to hear a talk by Miss Mary Barker, health education secretary of National Council who is visiting here this week. Miss Barker's theme was "good health through getting along with one another." The quotation taken to heart by her listeners was "You must learn to lose as if you like it and win as if you are used to it". Following a short program of games and music the social conveners Miss Edna Rule and Miss Helen Hooey served refreshments. Board members Mrs. W. G. Ovens and Mrs. Adams Sands poured the tea. Mrs. M. McBride played soft piano music during this half hour. Health week will be observed through the gym department starting Monday when nurses will be on hand to check heights and weights of the girls.

Hospital Auxiliary Executive Meets

Inaugural meeting of the 1952 executive of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary was held Thursday evening in the nurses' residence. Mrs. B. Monaghan newly elected president, was in the chair.

Chairmen of the various standing committees were appointed and the president outlined the duties of each, stressing the individual importance attached. Program for the coming year will be detailed at the monthly meeting which is to be held on the third Thursday evening as heretofore.

The inestimable value of a hospital Auxiliary was emphasized by a letter read by corrersponding secretary Miss Agnes Grant. The letter from Provincial Association of Hospital Auxiliaries stated that Peterborough holds first and second place in this province wide Association. Interest shown by the citizens generally is a great incentive to the Auxiliaries to help the hospitals in their work, it was felt.

The chairmen were asked to have their committees formed for presentation at the first monthly meeting on February 21st.

Council Of Women To Ask Lift Margarine Color Ban

When the Provincial Council of Women for Ontario meets in Toronto next week. One of the major tasks will be the presentation of a brief to Premier Frost requesting the immediate lifting of the color ban on margarine in Ontario.

Mrs. Steinkrauss, president of Peterborough Council and other delegates will attend the meeting.

Through the whole province, the various local councils and their affiliated organizations have been sending telegrams and letters to the government in a steady stream. Resentments against what is termed the "most unfair law in Ontario" is running high and it is expected that the delegation will present their opinions in the strongest terms.

In presenting their brief, the delegaton intends to point out that the Ontario Provincial Council of Women is concerned with the interest of all women as consumers whether they live on the farm or in the city.

The question of the margarine color ban is no exception and exhaustive research was carried out before Council, came to the conclusion that the color restrictions benefitted no one in farm or city.

In support of this conclusion and as part of their findings, the delegation intends to show:

That there is no relationship between the decline in milk and butter production in Ontario and the use of margarine and hence no justification for color restrictions on margarine.

That the true reason for the decline in the production of dairy products is the shipment of dairy cattle to the United States.

That since the embargo was lifted in 1946, Canadian dairy herds have been reduced by over half a million head.

That this decline has taken place during a decade when the population of Canada was increasing by nearly 25 percent.

That sales of fluid milk to the consumer in Ontario have gone up more than 29 percent from 1941 to 1950, despite the decline in total milk and butter production.

That the sale of fluid milk to the consumer is the most profitable way for the farmer to dispose of his milk production.

The margarine is basically an agricultural product manufactured from pure vegetable oils and skim milk.

That today two thirds of all the ingredients in a pound of margarine come from raw materials produced in Canada.

That the Canadian diary farmer supplies the skim milk which comprises 16 percent of every pound of margarine.

That the Ontario farmer produces the soybeans from which oil is obtained that now makes up at least 40 percent of every pound of margarine.

That the production of soybeans has many benefits for Ontario farmers: a cash crop; protein meal and fodder for livestock; greater opportunity for crop rotation and diversification as well as for soil improvement.

That the importation of vegetable oils for margarine in Canada will continue to drop as the domestic production of soybeans and sunflower seeds increases.

That margarine is a wholesome, nutritious product which should be free from silly restrictions such as a color ban.

That its only effect has been to cause resentment on the part of the housewife against those who are responsible for the "nuisance law."

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Britain's Rationing Blamed On Shortage Of Dollars

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Rationing" remains both an important and doleful word in the British vocabulary. Money is the cause of it — particularly the shortage of dollars. This prevents Britain from importing anything but basic products.

Food parcels from this side of the Atlantic still thrill the British friend or relative who receives them.

"We used to get prunes in wartime but since currency deteriorated we don't get them," Mrs. Mary Charley of Kingston-on-Thames in England, recently wrote to a relative in Toronto. "Of course we get fresh fruit in the market, apples, oranges and very expensive grapes."

Bananas, she said, never appear in British shops. She was delighted with the dried apricots, prunes and pears received in a food parcel.

The United Kingdom information office at Ottawa recommends that canned meat be included in food parcels. However this doesn't mean tins of such prepared dishes as Irish stew which contains a large proportion of vegetables and gravy. Plain beef in one form or another is appreciated. At present the bacon ration in Britain is three ounces weekly together with approximately one pound of meat.

Cheese also is welcomed, preferable Canadian cheddar with a rind to prevent dryness.

Other suggestions for the British food parcel: sugar, butter, shortening, and, where there are children, candy and cookies of the sweet varieties. Dried eggs also are desirable.

UK officials say there aren't any desperate shortages and nothing is missing from the main categories of foodstuffs. However, there are shortages of such items as canned salmon, cookies, dried eggs, dried fruits, jellies and evaporated milk.

When packing food parcels it is advisable first to remember the situation of friends or relatives who will receive the gifts. Old persons are at a disadvantage in shopping and standing in line, and often cannot afford restaurant meals which are unrationed. As the tea ration is small it usually is a good idea to send tea to older men and women.

Housewives who do a good deal of their own cooking probably will welcome shortening; sugar and dried eggs in their food parcels.

Frugal Fancies

The National Council of Women suggests that as another means of cutting down on food expenditures Canadian housewives serve simpler titbits and less variety at their teas and club meetings. After all these foods are practically always in addition to regular meals. One kind of cake should do just as effectively as two or three.

Homemade pickles and relishes should add as much zest to meals as olives—which after all are imported.

While the small packages of processed cheese are easy to keep, it's more economical to buy cheese cut from the large mold. This will keep for a long time if wrapped in a cloth wrung out in vinegar. When cheese becomes dry it may be grated for use in cooking.

Ministerial Group Shows Religious Films

HAVELOCK, Feb. 1 (ENS). — A large crowd attended the audio-visual program for the community sponsored by the Ministerial Association in Havelock United church Wednesday evening. Four Christian education film strips with sound effects were shown by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson who gave explanatory remarks. These were especially beneficial for Sunday school and Christian workers. A lively discussion followed each of the films, which were entitled "The Great Adventure"; "The Growing Teachers"; "No Two Alike," and "How Persons Learn."

The Rev. R. G. Newman was the chairman for the evening. During the devotional period the hymns were shown on the screen and Pastor L. Bigelow read the scripture lesson. The Rev. E. W. Rivers gave the closing prayer.

A youth rally will be held here in the Pentecostal church on February 8, for all denominations and sponsored by the Ministerial Association. The Rev. Ralph Hobson of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Peterborough, will be guest speaker.

Omemee YPU Presents Comedy

OMEMEE, Feb. 1 (ENS).—A three-act comedy, "Life Begins at Sixteen" by Hilda Manning was staged Wednesday night in Coronation Hall by 15 members of the Trinity United Young People's Union.

The characters were well chosen. Bill MacKenzie put on a splendid performance as Paul Hollis, an imaginative boy of 16. The other members of the cast were: Donna Clifford as Hilda, a Swedish hired girl; Marion Zufelt as Mrs. Jessie Hollis, Paul's mother; Garnet Pogue as Harry Hollis, Paul's father; Marie Rich as Frannie Hollis, Paul's twin sister; Orma Brooks as Marjorie Hollis, their older sister; Cyril Pogue as Crandal Smythe, a young man of means; Jack Brown as George Gordon, young man without means; Beverly Deyell as Snookie Hollis, the Hollis youngster; Dale Robinson, Joan Whitmore, Roger Northey, Carol Robinson and June Collins as five of the "Secret Seven"; respectively Theo. Arbuckle, Pidgie Miller, Fatty Zimmer, Daisie Jenkins and Boots Bennett; (the other two of the "Secret Seven" being the Hollis twins). Beverly Blakey took the part of Elsie Taggart, who works at the bank. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt was director of the play. He was assisted by Miss Katherine Carnegie and Ted Roose.

Thep roceeds will go to the Missionary and Maintenance fund of the United church.

DOROTHY DIX

Hasty Action Regretted Beware Of Your Impulses

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past few months I have been going with a boy from another town who was visiting here. Shortly after he left I was in his home town and called him. His mother said he wasn't home. When I returned here, I received a letter from a mutual friend saying the boy had been in when I called. That hurt me so much that I sat down and wrote him a nasty letter, saying lots of things I didn't mean. Then two weeks later, I had a letter from him, saying he had thought he cared a lot for me but guessed he was mistaken. I still like the boy, and would like to get things straight between us. How can I?

KITTY J.

ANSWER: You certainly jump to, and act on, hasty conclusions. You were very wrong; for one thing, to accept so readily an explanation given by an outsider. Even if your friend was in when you called he may have had a reason for not wanting to come to the telephone. Since his mother answered, perhaps he never even knew of the call. So why this haste of yours to immediately write nasty letters? You are assuming a lot from a few months' friendship.

You definitely owe this boy an apology, whether or not it succeeds in mending your broken friendship. Write him as nice a letter as you can, and tell him you're heartily sorry for the unwarranted tone of your previous epistle. In the future, watch your temper and avoid such disagreements.

Unwanted Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in my forties and have worked hard to raise my girls. Now they are married and in their own homes. Since my husband died they want me to come live with them, but I know I won't be happy there. I have very little money, it's true, and they help me out, which they hate to do. They live in a big city, seldom come to see me and when they do it's to fuss about the money they send. I feel they are tired of helping me out now; they'll be twice as tired of me if I'm living with one of them.

MRS. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are very much better off to stay where you are, Mrs. J. Since you have your own home, you'll be much happier than living with someone else—especially a daughter who'll begrudge you anything she gives. At least where you are, you only have to listen to their fussing occasionally; if you move into their homes, you'll have it continually. One of the oldest mysteries in the world is why a son or daughter begrudges a few dollars paid to a needy parent, but will go out and spend a much larger sum on entertainment or some other unnecessary luxury.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a boy I have known for five months. He is in service, and last week he wrote and told me he is engaged to a girl and expects to marry her when he comes home. But still he says he loves me. Should I believe him?

F. M. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your friend's dilemma is not too uncommon. A homesick boy is liable to emotional upheavals that wouldn't happen were he at home. However, as you're both young, don't take him too seriously. Answer his letter in a friendly manner, treat his declaration of love lightly and extend congratulations on his engagement. Let him make the next move, but keep yourself busy with other friends in the meanwhile.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of 18 attending college. I am very fond of a girl who is a sophomore at high school. I think she likes me, too, but she is going on 15 and her parents do not wish her to go steady. Therefore she will not express how she feels about me. I, too, feel she is too young to go steady but I would like to know if she likes me. A. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If the young lady goes out with you, or corresponds with you, it's fairly sure she likes you. Further than that she should not, at her age, express her feelings. She is after all scarcely more than a child and you will do well to follow her parents' wishes.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 and go with a boy 19. When we are alone he is very nice and understanding to me, but when we are out in company he is altogether different. He is moody and almost ignores me. JOSEPHINE L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Many boys, still going through the awkwardness of adolescence, fear the kidding of their friends over attentions to a girl. This attitude is, of course, very ill-mannered and childish, but it is characteristic of many teen-age boys. If you are a diplomatic young lady, you can help him acquire poise and encourage better manners in him. He will have to be led tactfully, or you'll lose him forever.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 22, single and in love with a married man four years my senior who has one child. I see this man every day, and know he loves me. He won't leave his wife because of their child and I wouldn't want to break up his home anyway.

HELEN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Regardless of how sure you are that you can't forget this man, and will always love him, you're wrong! You can forget, you can stop loving him—and you must. You certainly can see no future in the relationship so why waste your youth over a man who really cares nothing for you except as a party to a pleasant flirtation?

Joan Fontaine Intends To Keep Single

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1 (AP)—Joan Fontaine, who became a single woman this week, says she won't marry again—until she gives up her career.

Her divorce from film producer William Dozier became final this week. She was formerly divorced from actor Brian Aherne. Now that she again has no marital ties, she intends to stay that way. For the present, at least.

"I've tried it twice, and it just doesn't work," she said. "It's too tough trying to lead the double life as a film actress and wife. You can't do a good job of both.

"Goodness knows, I tried. But I think it's virtually impossible for the right kind of man to be married to a movie star. Even though he has steeled himself against it, something happens to a man when he steps off a train and someone says, "Step right this way, Mr. Fontaine".

"That hurts. Any man with self-respect can't take it, and I wouldn't want to marry the other kind. It's also tough for a man to watch all the flowers arrive for his wife, and the phone calls and the attention she gets. It's hard for him to see his wife off to work at 6 in the morning and have her come home after dark, too tired even to talk to him".

Absences Hurt

The absences are too much of a strain on a husband, she added. During the last year or two, she made a picture in Italy, another in England, made a goodwill tour of South Africa, attended film premieres in Washington and San Francisco—and visited other United States cities for the film industry drives.

I asked when she would be willing to give up her career in order to provide a father for her two daughters (Debbie, 3, and Martita, 6, adopted in Peru.)

"Probably when I find the right man," she smiled.

Barbara Ann Better Skater, Sonia Sexier

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(CP)—Life magazine makes Barbara Ann Scott its cover girl in the current issue and says "the hottest feud ever to strike the refrigerated world of ice extravaganzas is being waged this year" by Canada's ice star and the seasoned Sonja Henie.

Miss Scott, appearing in Arthur Wirtz' Hollywood ice revue at Madison Square Garden in New York, was signed up after Miss Henie had a falling out with Wirtz. Now Miss Henie is touring with her own troupe.

Life says:

"There is little doubt that the 23-year-old Barbara Ann has a more fetching figure than the 39-year-old Sonja, or that she could beat Sonja hands down in an Olympic contest today.

"But in the professional arenas, where a wiggled hip and a well-aimed kiss (Miss Henie blows kisses to her audience) can mean far more than a perfect Axel Paulsen, the battle of the queens is more a contest. Barbara has beauty, breath-taking form and the sparkle of youth, but to match Sonja's well-educated wriggle, rougish eyes and superior showmanship she calls on two sexy supporting stars".

Defence Course Ready For Nurses

Church In Norwood Gains In '51

NORWOOD, Feb. 1—The annual vestry meeting of Christchurch Anglican Church, Norwood, was held on Tuesday with the Rev. H. E. Peasgood in the chair and nineteen members present.

The reports of the various organizations within the church were approved and officers elected for the following year: rector's warden, Joseph Clements; people's warden, Arthur Bitten; vestry clerk, V. J. Redwood. Ten sidesmen were elected in addition to ten to be appointed by the rector.

All the reports indicated splendid progress made in the year, especially the Sunday School, which had shown a steady increase in attendance and now has five classes in operation.

Last year was a year of much activity and included a successful bazaar and sale of work, a hobby show in the town hall and the redecoration of the interior of the church.

Most outstanding event was the announcement that the church was now entirely self-supported by the parish for the first time in its history.

Plans are now being made to examine the possibility of buildingn a church hall in time to celebrate the centenary of the church in 1953 and a fund is being started at once to raise the necessary money.

Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Park St. Alliance Church Reports Progress In Year

The annual business meeting of the Park St. Alliance Church, corner of Park and Dublin Sts., was held in the church Thursday evening.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. Ralph Robson, who for the past three and one-half years has been pastor of the church.

Three years ago the meetings were held in the Orange Hall on Brock St. and in private homes. In a most miraculous way the Lord provided the lot on which the church now stands, enough funds so that the church was built in 1949, and this past year the wherewithal to build a parsonage which is in the process of construction on the church property.

The financial reports from the various departments showed that the total income of the church for the past year was approximately $11,500. A note of praise and thanksgiving to the Lord was expressed for what has been accomplished in so short a period of time. Progress reports were very encouraging from all the different departments of the work including the general assembly, the Women's Missionary Prayer Band, Sunday school, Alliance Youth Fellowship, Pioneer Girls, and the Christian Service Brigade, a boy's organization.

Following the reports was the election of officers as follows: Elders, W. F. Welsh, C. W. Collins, H. C. Pullyblank; deacons, D. Hewitt, J. Skelton, H. Bray, R. Cookman; church secretary, H. Pullyblank; church treasurer, C. W. Collins; missionary treasurer, Miss D. Hooey; Sunday school superintendent, H. Pullyblank; Alliance Youth Fellowship president, E. Hayes.

The meeting adjourned with a humble prayer of thanksgiving and praising God for the past and seeking His guidance; direction and blessing for the future, with this one aim and purpose: the salvation of precious souls whom "God so loved, that He gave His only begotten Son."

St Andrew's Congregation Feels New Interest In Church Life

The annual congregational meeting of the St. Andrew's United Church was held on Wednesday evening following open house. The session reported a membership of 507 with 51 new members added during the year. Rev. Henry Cotton opened the meeting with prayer and acted as chairman during the business session.

Elected to the Board of Managers for a 3-year term were Robert Maybee, Roy Lewis, D. R. Morrow, G. A. Tremaine, D. A. McTavish and Harry Tudhope. Mrs. F. W. K. Harris was named to the Anson House Board and G. A. Gillespie and Bert Lockington to the Bible Society.

Donald Crawford, superintendent of the Sunday School, reported an increase in attendance, especially since the time of the sessions was changed to coincide with that of the morning service. Mrs. J. McColl told of the work being done by the Sunday School choirs and the preparation under way for the operetta to be presented during Easter week.

The WMS reported one of the best year's in its history with the allocation of $1,000 being attained. As the names of those who had died during the year were read by the session clerk E. F. Reid the congregation rose and observed a period of silent prayer in their memory.

The financial statement of the various organizations and the congregation indicated a total revenue of more than $19,000 of which $3,400 was for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. The Woman's Association had an excellent year with $2,691 being raised. The main projects undertaken by this group were the reconstruction of the main kitchen in the Sunday School building and renovation of the manse. The senior choir reported a good year and the Young Peoples' Union with only 18 months since its rebirth a growing interest and addtional members. The Bowling Club had a successful year.

Jack Richardson chairman of the Board of Managers presented a report on the recent redecoration of the church and Sunday school. This work along with installation of new heating units in church and manse has been completed at a cost of $13,000. Plans are underway for a mortgage reduction campaign and it is hoped that the debt can be wiped out in less than five years.

A vote of thanks was tendered by Dr. C. B. Waite to Mr. and Mrs. Cotton. The minister thanked all who gave leadership in the various organizations and spoke of the spirit in the congregation and the willingness of everyone to help.

Likes Big City Back In Jail

When he complained of his feet stinging Thursday afternoon, Fred Brant of Lindsay, serving five days in jail on a vagrancy charge, was taken to hospital and treated for frostbite. Brant froze his feet, while strolling around the city in zero weather early this week.

Perhaps it was the cozy atmosphere of a comfortable jail cell that made Brant reluctant to leave Peterborough after serving ten days for vagrancy.

Or, maybe Brant found the "exclusive" atmosphere of the county cell block more to his liking than trying to find other accommodation in the bitter January cold.

At any rate, Brant disregarded Magistrate Philp's advice to get out of town when his ten days was up, and like the proverbial bad penny, returned.

Co-operative police officers took him five miles out of the city when he was released a few days ago and started him on the way to Lindsay which Brant claims as his 'home town."

In police court Thursday, Brant agreed with Magistrate W. R. Philp that he had come to Peterborough to "see the sights." Apparently after residing in the city for awhile, Brant lost his taste for town life and wandered back to Peterborough.

After lodging in the city jail for several nights, he was again picked up Wednesday night and charged with vagrancy.

He pleaded guilty to the charge almost before the Magistrate finished reading it. He was ordered to pay a $5 fine or spend another five days as guest of the county on the hill.

Geo. Coleman Shown In First Picture

The death of George Coleman this week recalls to the Examiner its first press picture taken with a new Graflex years ago. It was a group in lawn bowling togs, George Coleman and his three sons, George, Harold and Robert. The tournament at that time was on the old green at the southwest corner of Brock and Aylmer Sts., before the club moved out to the west end and into swankier quarters.

The family rink was worth a picture, but at that time the Examiner had to send the photograph to a Toronto photo-engraving plant for the plate to be used in making up the page form.

Today, those processes are all done under the Examiner's own roof, and with speed that was not dreamed of at that time. Veterans of the bowling club may be interested in another recollection of that afternoon; the picture that was taken of Dave Moore.

George R. Coleman

The funeral for George R. Coleman, 447 George St., who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday, was held Thursday from the Comstock funeral home. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, of St. John's Anglican Church, assisted by the Rev. C. G. Boyd, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, conducted the service.

Hornorary pallbearers were: Scott Wildman, Percy Hooper, Harold Freeman, Joe Detcher, Laurie Mitchell, Nelson Routley, Norman Hambly. Pallbearers were Victor Coleman, Ray Menzies, Leroy Menzies, Fred Dearborn, Thomas Robinson, Fred Board. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Drunk Fined

Charged with being intoxicated in a public place, John Thompson, 42, 824 Bell Ave., pleaded guilty in police court today. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days in jail.

Helps Police In Gold Inquiry

MONTREAL, Feb. 1 (CP).—A representative of Quebec mining companies' high-grade committee is en route here today from Val D'Or, Que., to join in an investigation of an international ring which exchanges stolen gold for European diamonds.

The committee's representative will join RCMP, Ontario and Quebec Provincial Police and United States investigators in trying to break the case.

The racket was discovered recently when four persons were arrested in New York with $100,000 worth of gold in their possession. Their arrest resulted in an investigation here which uncovered a list of seven names of persons believed to be involved.

The stolen gold is believed to have been sold here at about $18 an ounce, then smuggled to the United States and later to France and Belgium where it brings as much as $80 an ounce or diamonds.

The high-grade committee was set up by the Quebec Metal Mining Association to help investigations of gold thefts from Quebec mines.

Dog Men To Hold Field Trials

Preston Bonnyman, president of the Ottawa Fox Hunters' Association, and F. D. Boomer, secretary, will attend a dinner given by the Kawartha group on Feb. 16. Mr. Bonnyman is expected to speak on the rules of Canadian field trials and field animal judging.

On the following day, Sunday, Feb. 17, the Peterborough club will hold field trials to determine the top dog which will win Lowe's Brothers' special trophy, presented for the first time; it must be won three times to be permanently held.

Peterborough club officials are expecting a large meet and point out that dogs do not have to be resgistered as it is an open class event. Jerry Coughlin will be field marshal, Robert Runnett field secretary, and information on entries may be had from Bud Lloyd, phone 23935.

Quebec Priest Gives Evidence At Trial

HULL, Que., Feb. 1 (CP). — A Roman Catholic priest was called as a crown witness today at the trial of Gerald Ryan, 22-year-old lumber camp cook accused of murdering his bride of two months.

The Rev. Sylvester Shuilst of Timiskaming, Que. quoted Ryan as saying "I must be awfully jealous" in a jail-cell interview after the strangulation death of Rose Ryan, 17, at Timiskaming last September.

Father Shuilst also testified Ryan asked him to have a mass said for his wife.

A policeman and a fellow worker of Ryan told the court of King's Bench jury Thursday Ryan had admitted killing his wife, whose body was found in the bathroom of their apartment.

The crown was expected to conclude its four-day case against Ryan today. It was not known whether defence witnesses would be called.

Bankers Not Worried About Crime Increase

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP)—Bankers showed no concern today over a fear expressed by police chiefs that weekend crime might increase following adoption of a five-day bank week.

Walter S. Buffam, chairman London Clearing House, said he could see little justification for the fears expressed by police chief A. E. Knight and by chiefs in other Canadian cities.

The chiefs felt firms would have to hold additional funds over the weekend and that extra protection might be needed.

A majority of firms, said Mr. Buffam, would have no difficulty at all in making up deposit slips after closing time Friday and before banks closed at 6 p.m.

With adoption of new hours February 16 banks will not open from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturdays as in the past, but will be open from 4:30 to 6 pm Fridays.

Kingston Leading Curlers For 2 Trophies

By The Canadian Press.

Kingston was the only city to emerge today with a chance of winning both of Ontario's top curling trophies—the Ontario Tankard and the Governor-General's Trophy. Oshawa, which took both trophies last year, dropped out in earlier rounds of the double rink competition.

Curling enthusiasts converge on Toronto today for the semi-finals and finals. Toronto, Oshawa and Guelph clubs played host to quarter-finals Thursday.

In tankard competition at the Toronto Granite Club Thursday, Brampton rinks skipped by J. E. McArthur and Bruce McClure, won a 38-23 victory over Owen Sound rinks skipped by Frank W. Smith and T. I. Thompson.

Kingston rinks, playing in Toronto, earned their place in the semi-finals when J. G. W. Sands and H. M. Reid beat Stan Sarjeant and A. Anderson of Orillia 27-25.

At Oshawa, R. Walton and L. E. Ross of Agincourt defeated A. J. Parkhill and Dr. J. Brock of Oshawa 28-21.

Defaulted Games

Playing for the Governor-General's Trophy at Toronto's Royal Canadian Club, Elmvale came out on top of a quarter-final game with Bala. W. Campbell and F. Ritchie defeated Gordon Ing and J. B. Burgess 29-9.

At Toronto High Park Club, H. G. Long and Dr. C. T. Mason of Hamilton Thistles earned a 34-30 win over Forest rinks skipped by J. F. Fraser and D. M. Fraser.

B. Tetro and C. Wharrie of Kingston defeated F. Stinson and J. B. Brown of Peterborough with a 26-24 score on the Oshawa club ice, putting Kingston in the semi-finals for both trophies.

In Guelph, Kitchener moved into the Governor-General semi-finals by defeating Mount Forest 34-22. T. Nowak and H. Wilson skipped for Kitchener and J. A. Collis and H. Bridle for Mount Forest.

Says Softball Ruins Players

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP).—George Case, former American League base-stealing champion while with the Washington Senators, says softball is ruining kids for baseball.

"Playing softball with an enlarged ball, with shortened base paths and on a diamond originally built for baseball is, as far as I'm concerned, sacrilegious" Case told the Chester old timers' banquet last night.

Now coaching baseball at Rutgers University, Case urged big league owners to stop paying outsized bonuses to green rookies. He said the bonuses placed a terrific burden on youngsters trying to make the grade in the majors.

"The every effort is magnified by the spotlight of publicity and in many cases these youngsters never overcome the bad press and bad fan reaction they draw early in their organized baseball careers."

Combines Victors

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 1—(ENS) — Warsaw and Burn's Bridge Combines played a return game at Young's Point last Monday and took a 3-2 win in a close contest. Play was good throughout the first period with Helen Dunford banging in the first one. However, there was no official goal judge so the goal was disallowed.

In the opening minutes of the second, the visitors staged a power drive and were able to score two quick ones, the first by Della Carlow and the second by Helen Carlow. Midway through the period Helen Carlow made it 3-0 for the Combines, with her second goal of the night.

The home team held play throughout the final frame and Betty McIlmoyle got the first goal. Margaret Dunford netted one later to complete the scoring.

Combines: Goal: Mae McMillan; defence: Joyce Tedford, Ethel McMillan; forwards: Kathaline Carlow, Della Carlow, Helen Carlow; alternates: Dora McMillan, Lois Johnston, Audrey Keating, Wilma Freeburn, Madeline Carlow.

Lakefield Loses

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 1 — The Glen Roy AC of Belleville maintained their grip on second place in the Trent Valley Hockey League, Southern Division, here by defeating Lakefield, 11-5.

The win leaves the Glen Roys two points of fthe pace being set by Trenton RCAF Flyers.

Leo Goyer and Brian Mulvihill were top point-getters for the winners, each with three goals and five assists. Timmy Williams earned two goals and one assist while Davie Jones, Cal York and Chuck Loveless got the other goals.

Cam Watson potted two of the visitors' goals, while Buck Legrow, Dean Watson and Lennie Williams also scored.

NOO MON, YURR BROOM! — Eighty-year-old George Henderson sights along his rock carefully before hurling a "runner" down the ice during competition in Manitoba's 64th bonspiel. The veteran curler, boasting a hatful of past performances, declared himself in top form for the event.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Dick Savitt bade farewell to Australia Thursday after adding new sting to the bitterness that has developed between him and the Australian tennis public.

As the towering Wimbledon champion from Orange, NJ, boarded the plane in Sydney for home with teammate Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., reporters asked Savitt if he had anything to say regarding his stay in Australia.

"I have only one statement," the tempestuous American said. "Your newspapers stink — and you won't print that."

Savitt guessed wrong. Both The Sydney Sun and Daily Mirror printed the statement. The Sun quoted Savitt as adding:

"The newspapers take the enjoyment out of an international visit."

The newspapers were highly critical of Savitt's deportment in the Australian championships here last week and in some of the tournaments preceding them.

Possibility of a heavyweight title match between champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Harry (Kid) Matthews appeared slim today. In Miami Thursday Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said he would not release Walcott from his IBC contract. "The only thing I'm interested in is Walcott's fight with Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight titleholder," he said.

Three men pleaded guilty in a New York court Thursday to charges they had conspired to fix basketball games involving the Bradley and Kentucky University teams. The Englisis brothers, Nocholas and Anthony, and Nathan (Lovey) Brown were continued in $10,000 bail until March 4 for sentencing.

The weather took the spotlight Thursday in Manitoba's 64th annual bonspiel in Winnipeg as soaring temperatures forced cancellation of afternoon draws. The mercury jumped to a record 41.2 and condensation marred ice surfaces.

Two of the great all-time hitters of baseball—the late Harry Heilmann of Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh's Paul Waner—were named Thursday in New York to Baseball's Hall of Fame, chosen by a vote of baseball writers, the outfielders became the 61st and 62nd to be enshrined at Cooperstown, NY.

Detroit Red Wings, hottest team in the National Hockey League, Thursday night slaughtered Quebec Aces of the Quebec senior loop 7-1 in an exhibition game in Quebec before 12,000 fans. The game opened a $285,000 fund campaign for the Federation of Roman Catholic Charities, Quebec city branch. Detroit agreed to play with only their transportation and other expenses paid.

Author Blames US Officials

SAIGON, Indo-China, Feb. 1 (Reuters). — Graham Greene, British Roman Catholic author, today blamed America's "cellophane curtain" for forcing him to cancel a trip to the United States.

He said he had waited unsuccessfully 19 days for a United States visa, although supported by local American diplomats and the State Department.

Probable cause for the delay, he said, was a correct news item in Time Magazine to the effect that he had been a probationary member of Britain's Communist party while an Oxford student.

His alliance with the party lasted for a few weeks in 1923, he said, and his total contributions to party coffers amounted to less than a quarter. Time itself has classed the affair as a "student prank."

He said he has visited the US six times in the last four years.

Shortly after his undergraduate days, he entered the Roman Catholic church and his since written several anti-Communist books and plays.

He has been in Indo-China on assignment for Life Magazine. His trip to the US was to have been in connection with the filming of his latest best seller, "End of the Affair."

He now plans to return to Paris and London next week.

Swiss Airliner Sets Flying Record

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 1—(Reuters).—A four-engined DC-6 airliner of the Swiss Air Line set a trans-Atlantic record by flying from Gander, Nfld., to Shannon, Ireland, in four hours, 36 minutes on the night of January 30-31, Swiss Air claimed today.

It was claimed to be the first trans-Atlantic flight by an airliner in less than five hours.

Previous record was five hours and three minutes, set by Pan-American Airways Constellation in January, 1948.

Lose Liquor Licence

NEW YORK, Feb. 1, (AP)—A big Broadway cabaret, the Latin Quarter, is due to lose its liquor licence for a week starting Monday for serving three teen-aged girls on a spree. The girls stole $18,000 in cash while baby sitting in a Nahant, Mass., home last October. They came to New York for a clothes buying spree and spent some of the money on drinks in the Latin Quarter. The girls were Roberta McCauley, 15, Eileen Jeffrey, 17, and Marilyn Curry, 16. A person must be 18 in New York to be served liquor.

Apply For Enlistment

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Feb. 1. (AP)—The United States army says 4,500 non-German European Nationals have applied for enlistment under the alien enlistment law which became effective last May. Of the total, more than 1,000 are being checked to determine their eligibility under the security clause of the law. Since last August 258 have been selected for enlistment.

Wedding Feb. 13

ROME, Feb. 1. (AP)—Gracie Fields said Thursday night she expects to marry Boris Alperovici, radio repair man, on the Isle of Capri Feb. 13.

Price Relief In Sight For Canadians

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 (CP)—There's price relief in sight for the Canadian consumer.

Pressure on prices, sparked by panic-buying and heavy stockpiling at the beginning of Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program; has eased. And there's been a noticeable outbreak in production.

Government statisticians gave an indication of the trend in the January issue of the Canadian Statistical Review.

"The recent period," says the Review, "has been one of internal adjustment, with prices and production showing a tendency to level off.

". . . Prices which a year ago were rising sharply, partly due to forces of a speculative nature, have recently shown less tendency to increase. Inventories have also shown a levelling off after large increases in the first three quarters of 1951."

But while some business men are cutting down on their stock-buying and thus easing pressure on the demands for certain goods, workers are still almost fully employed.

Incomes Rising

"Employment and incomes," added the Review, "have been rising continuously. Salaries, wages and supplementary labor income for the first 10 months of 1951 were 17 per cent above the same period in 1950.

"Retail sales have not maintained the rate of increase recorded earlier in the year; nevertheless for the 11 months of 1951, they were 11 per cent above the same period of 1950, in value terms."

This trend in easing up of pressure on prices showed up in the latter half of 1951 in wholesale prices in both Canada and the United States where they receded from peaks established earlier in the year.

In Canada, a significant trend developed when the cost-of-living index for November declined one-tenth of a point to 191.1 from the peak of 191.2 in October. The tiny decline was the first in 23 months. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100. The survey for December will come out Monday.

Rossellinis Expect Second Child In June

ROME, Feb. 1 (AP).—Ingrid Bergman said today she and her film-director husband, Roberto Rossellini, "are expecting another baby in June."

She said the expected birth of the child has not caused her to break any plans for making moving pictures.

The child will be her third. She bore Rossellini their first child, a son, Feb. 2, 1950.

She has an older daughter by her first marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Marketing Act Declared Ultra Vires

CHARLOTTETOWN, Feb. 1.—(CP)—The Federal Agricultural Products Marketing Act, passed in 1949, was declared ultra vires here Thursday by the full bench of the Prince Edward Island Supreme Court.

The court was sitting on a test case brought by the Prince Edward Island Potato Marketing Board, established under authority of the Act, against the Charlottetown firm of H. W. Willis, Inc.

The board had sought to license dealers, make levies, establish minimum prices and regulate consignment sales.

The court held that the board, being purely a provincial organization, and in no way responsible to the Parliament of Canada, cannot receive delegated powers from the Federal government.

The Federal Act confers powers on provincial governments to set up marketing boards. The court said that it is within the power of the provincial legislature to regulate transactions wholly within the province, but the present scheme is ultra vires.

All three judges, Chief Justice Than A. Campbell, Mr. Justice George J. Tweedy and Mr. Justice Mark R. MacGuigan concurred in Thursday's findings.

The case had previously been sent to the Supreme Court of Canada by the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island without judgment, but the former referred it back for decision. It had been announced that an appeal was planned to the higher court from whatever judgment was handed down here and that had influenced the PEI court's action.

Has Wide Bearing

J. Lincoln Dewar, secretary of the Prince Edward Island Federation of Agriculture, said Thursday night the judgment was "one which has a bearing not only on local marketing problems but also on a large number of other schemes now in effect in other provinces."

"For instance," he continued, "the chief Marketing Board of Ontario is operating under the Act, and has set up a central agency and marketed upwards of 13,000,000 pounds of cheese in Great Britain during the past year. The BC Interior Fruit and Vegetable Marketing Board is operating under provincial legislation identical with that of PEI and has been regulating export and inter-provincial trade in a wide variety of fruits and vegetables.

"The present decision is one of numerous set-backs which agricultural producers have received in their efforts during the past 20-odd years to gain a measure of control over the marketing of their own products . . ."

Strong Canadian Flavor About UK Theatre World

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, Feb. 1 (CP) There's a strong Canadian flavor about Britain's theatre world these days —and not only in the choice of players.

That well-known comedy, "The Happy Time," story of a French-Canadian family in Ottawa in the 1920s, has started what promises to be a long run. Oddly enough, despite the influx of Canadian entertainers into Britain, this tale of inter-war years in Canada's capital, adapted from short stories by Robert Fontaine, hasn't a Canadian in the cast.

That doesn't mean Canadians are being overlooked in new 1952 productions. The leading role in "The Same Sky," a play that won an Arts Council award of £100 last year, goes to petite, blonde Frances Hyland of Regina, one of several actresses who played the exacting role of Blanche Du Bois in the London production of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

"The Same Sky," which opened in Brighton last month and now showing in London, depicts the problems of a mixed marriage, set against the background of London's East End. Miss Hyland dyed her hair black to play the Jewish girl who falls in love with a Gentile.

Accent Trouble

"My biggest trouble was the Jewish accent," she said in an interview.

Frances had just finished a seven-week appearance with the well-known Shakespearian actor, John Gielgud, as Perdita in "A Winter's Tale".

In another new play, soon to go on tour and due to have its London first night in April, Arthur Hill of Vancouver swells the list of Canadians on stage. He is to appear as the playwright in "Winter Journey," starring such name players as Michael Redgrave, Googie Withers and Sam Wanamaker. The play was called "A Country Girl" on Broadway.

Hill, a tall, fresh-faced actor with close-cropped brown hair, spent most of 1951 in Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman."

It would be hard to say the exact number of Canadians now on the British stage. An example is "South Pacific," starring Mary Martin. This has three Canadians in the cast, one of whom, Hamilton-born Bill Nagy, will take over the comedy lead early this year.

Vancouver - born Edmund Hockridge is still on tour with "Carousel," the Rodgers-Hammerstein, musical that made a long west end run last year. Two other Canadians are also in the cast.

Port Hope Landlord Faces Attempted Murder Charge

Charge Baby Sitter With Murder In Bottle Slaying

TORONTO, Feb. 2. (CP)—Charged with the beer-bottle slaying of three-year-old Susan Kellough, baby-sitter Diane Bound, 22, will appear in county court today. The slim, freckle-faced blonde was arrested Friday shortly after the discovery of the battered body of the child in her suburban Scarborough township home. She had been tied to the four corners of her crib in a spread-eagle position and bludgeoned to death. Near the body was a note which said in part: "If I can't have children, neither can you."

Susan was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Kellough. The Kellough's younger daughter, Penny Ann, 11 months, was found asleep and unharmed beneath the cellar stairs.

Arrested At Friends'

Miss Bound was arrested at the home of friends in suburban East York. Police said her friends became suspicious because she had been drinking and they knew she was taking care of the Kellough children while the father and mother worked. Mrs. Kellough was telephoned and called her next-door neighbor to see if her children were all right.

The neighbor slipped a catch on a window and crawled inside. He found Susan lying tied up in a pool of blood. Tangled on the living-room chesterfield were papers and books. In their midst was a blood-stained beer bottle.

A neighbor said Friday was to have been Mrs. Kellough's last day of work. The couple had planned to work until they could pay for decorating two upstairs rooms.

Miss Bound, born in Timmins, is the first woman to be charged with murder in Scarborough township history.

Hint Settlement Possibility With Egypt

CAIRO, Feb. 2. (CP)—Possibility of settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian dispute sharpened today amid indications that Egypt's ambassador might return to London.

At the same time it was reported Britain would move to resume negotiations and that Egyptian guerrilla action in the Suez Canal zone was called off.

Schools throughout Egypt, except in the canal zone, Alexandria and Cairo, reopened today as conditions returned to normal after last Saturday's bloody rioting.

Egyptian newspapers said Amr Pasha, recently recalled from London, might return to his post as ambassador to Britain.

Reshuffles Cabinet

Wafd newspaper Al Misri said Premier Maher Pasha's Cabinet soon will be reshuffled and that Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador, will take preliminary steps to renew Anglo-Egyptian negotiations.

"It is not yet known if these negotiations will be between Egypt and Britain only or whether other powers will take part in them," the newspaper said.

As Maher Pasha called his cabinet together today, the newspaper reported a new attempt by King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia to mediate the bloody dispute between Egypt and Britain.

A communication from Arabia was expected to be handed to Maher Pasha today, the newspaper said. During the past month Ibn Saud proposed to the previous Egyptian government that it and Britain settle their quarrel over control of the canal zone and the Sudan. Under his plan Britain would withdraw their troops in favor of British-trained Egyptians within a year. The future of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan would be solved by the Sudanese themselves.

The reported new note from Ibn Saud was believed to be a follow-up of this plan.

Willing To Talk

Maher Pasha opened the way for negotiations with an announcement through his spokesman Friday night that he is willing to talk with the British.

Maher Pasha's spokesman said "If a reasonable basis for negotiations consistent with Egypt's national aspirations is forwarded to us, we are ready to discuss these proposals immediately."

These aspirations, as expressed in laws passed last October by the Wafd-dominated parliament, are departure of all the 50,000 British troops guarding the canal and unity of Sudan with Egypt.

7 Provinces Agree On Rates

REGINA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Substantial agreement of the freight rate equalization principle was reached Friday by representatives of seven provinces.

During a day-long conference, representatives studied equalization details and the general approach to be made to the Federal Transport Commissioner's general freight rate inquiry.

Spokesmen said "the consensus was that equalization could be worked out in Canada understandably and acceptably."

The spokesmen said "substantial unanimity was expected for the equalzation principle."

The provinces represented were Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

13 Plane Passengers Subdue Drunk Pilot

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 2 — (AP)—Thirteen irate airline passengers subdued their pilot who became drunk in flight and tied him in a seat to permit the co-pilot to make an emergency landing at Nagpur, a Civil Aeronautics spokesman reported today.

The passengers, nine of them foreigners, handed the pilot over to police after the Nagpur landing. The spokesman said his pilot's licence was suspended.

He said the flier, a hefty Australian, was enticed from the plane's control cabin,—after he permitted the plane to fall practically uncontrolled from 10,000 to 4,000 feet— on the promise of another drink."

Won't Accept Red Restrictions

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 2 (AP) —Allied negotiators today rejected a Communist proposal to restrict behind-the-line inspections during a Korean truce to three Communist and three UN ports of entry.

The Allies have proposed inspections at 12 ports of entry on each side.

Col. Don O. Darrow, senior Allied staff officer, said the whole problem still is under study. He gave no hint whether the Allies might agree to inspections at fewer than 12 points behind the Red lines.

For the second straight day, the Reds did not answer a United Nations proposal to start work immediately on the final item of the armistice agenda—recommendations to belligerent governments.

The Reds also would not name the three neutral nations they want to represent them on neutral inspection teams. The UN has chosen Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

The staff officers completed a second reading of the UN blueprint for policing an armistice and agreed on a number of minor changes.

Unidentified Planes Bomb Allied Troops

CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 2 (AP).—Unidentified planes today strafed and bombed Allied troops on the battlefront south of Kumsong, an Allied officer reported. Possibly as many as six planes made the attack.

The officer said it was not determined immediately whether the planes were Communist or Allied.

Soldiers in the area said they believed three single-engined and three twin-engined propeller-driven planes staged the raids.

The Allied officers said three members of the Korean service troops suffered minor wounds from shell fragments.

Tenant Shot In Scuffle, Long Quarrel

Neighbors Hear Row Call Police, Find Wounded Man

PORT HOPE, Feb. 2. (ENS) —A scuffle late Friday night between two elderly Port Hope men had this sequel today: William Lingard, 67, is seriously wounded in Port Hope hospital with one or two .32-calibre bullets in his abdomen and other injuries.

John Adair, 78, is in Port Hope jail, charged with attempted murder.

Adair appeared briefly in police court today and heard the charge of attempted murder read to him by Arthur Mark, justice of the peace. He was remanded in custody for a week.

Likely To Recover

Besides the abdominal bullet wounds Lingard has head lacerations. Unless he takes a decided turn for the worse he is expected to recover.

The two men live in the same house and neighbors say they have been quarrelling off and on for two years. Adair owns the house, but occupies only one room, and Lingard occupies the other rooms.

Port Hope police report that Adair had been drinking Friday night. Neighbors heard the two men quarrelling at their Cavan St. home and phoned the police.

It was reported that Adair had been brandishing a revolver.

When police arrived they were first attracted to a workshop next to the house. Lingard was sitting inside the shop, in a dazed condition, severely wounded.

The police then rushed into Adair's house but he offered no resistance. He was found sitting on the side of his bed with a .32 revolver in his hand.

He surrendered the gun to Chief C. W. Graham along with three live and two empty shells.

Adair was arrested and lodged in the cells overnight.

According to one report the men were quarrelling over Lingard's tenancy in the house.

Bomb Planted Near Hospital

ISMALIA, Egypt, Feb. 2. (Reuters)—A bomb planted by Egyptian terorrists exploded outside the British military hospital at Tel El Kebir late Friday night but did no damage.

British headquarters also reported that Egyptian guerrillas in a jeep fired on the last vehicle of a British truck convoy on the canal road south of El Ballah military installation late Friday night.

One shot smashed the windshield of the truck but nobody was hurt.

Before dawn today Egyptians hiding in the Arab town of Arashiya, part of Ismailia, shot at the barbed-wire defence line around the RAF station at Ismailia. There was no damage.

Telephone communications between British headquarters here and in Cairo, restored Friday after nearly three weeks, were disrupted again today.

Egyptian cable-cutters were believed responsible.

Eden and Schuman Agree On Arms For Germany

PARIS, Feb. 2—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France wound up talks today on the stubborn problem of what to do about arming Germany and said they were in "complete agreement."

The communique didn't say what they agreed on.

Eden, however, renewed a British promise to work "as closely as possible" with a unified six-country European army, now in the troubled process of formation.

Prime Minister Churchill gave a similar pledge in December, but reiterated Britain's refusal to join the army itself.

The problem before the two diplomats was to agree on how many guns they think Germany should have to join in western defence, and how soon she should have them. Presently projected for Germany are 12 divisions, plus naval units and an air force of 1,500 planes.

The European countries want to keep the United States from forcing what they think may be too speedy rearmament of the late enemy. But they don't want to slow things down so much it will discourage American participation in European defence or invite Russian pressure.

Eden arrived Friday to tell Schuman about the Washington talks he and Churchill had with President Truman and State Secretary Dean Acheson.

12,000 Children Cheer Royal Couple

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 2— (Reuters). — A roar of cheers from 12,000 African school children started Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on the second day of their Royal visit to Kenya today.

The children formed a kaleidoscope of color on sunlit lawns of Government House.

The Royal couple are staying with the Governor of Kenya, Sir Philip Mitchell, and Lady Mitchell until Sunday, when they leave for picturesque Sagana Lodge, 100 miles away, to spend four days. Kenya gave the lodge to Elizabeth as a wedding present.

Asian schoolgirls in white and green saris, Africans in Boy Scout and Girl Guide uniforms and Europeans in red and purple blazers formed up in ranks on the lawn to greet the Royal couple.

Lusty Cheers

Cheering became deafening as the Princess, looking cool and smiling, and wearing a pink taffeta spotted dress with full skirt and a large bow at the neckline with matching felt hat, waved from the terrace.

The Duke was wearing a single-breasted grey business suit.

The Royal couple then toured Nairobi city where, since 5 am this morning, native crowds have thronged the streets waving flags and bright streamers.

At a civic luncheon, she thanked the people of Kenya for their

UN Delegates Pelted By Eggs

PARIS, Feb. 2 (Reuters) — Delegates in the main hall of the United Nations general assembly were pelted with eggs and rotten tomatoes by a group of youths today.

The youths threw their missiles from the public galleries down on the scrambling statesmen.

They also scattered leaflets ridiculing "chattering politicians."

The leaflets were signed by the "Anarchist Federation," a group consisting largely of left bank art students.

The leaflets said people are tired of listening to the delegates talk and wanted peace and freedom— not to die for either Stalin or Truman.

"By your hyprocisy, your impotence and your cynicism, you are all war criminals," they said.

40 Arrested In Election Excitement Grips Suburb

MONTREAL, Feb. 2. (CP)—The most exciting aspect of suburban Ville St. Michel's election Friday were the speeches and statements made after the polls closed. The election result itself was almost forgotten when Pacifique Plante, a former top Montreal police official, and re-elected Mayor Charles Lefontaine issued prepared statements.

Plante charged Mayor Lafontaine with giving orders to have him held incommunicado in a Ville St. Michel police cell from 8 am Friday until the polls closed at 7 pm. "I asked the mayor to intercede and prevent a miscarriage of justice but he answered 'bring them in' to the police," Plante said.

Besides Plante, 40 other persons were detained during the day. All were released after close of the polls.

Mayor Lafontaine said that Plante was a man who wanted to be "police chief, Premier of Quebec, Prime Minister of Canada and the Pope if that was possible."

Take Legal Action

Lafontaine said he will also have legal action taken against Plante for carrying a revolver during election day in his municipality. Mayor Lafontaine is also a city councillor of Montreal.

Pacifique Plante said he had gone to the municipality as an election observer on the invitation of C. E. Bertrand, legal counsel for Adelard Boisvert, defeated mayoralty candidate.

Mr. Plante said he has not decided whether he will take legal

One Dead, 5 Missing In Coal Mine Blast

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 2 — (AP) — An explosion ripped through a coal mine near here today, leaving one miner dead and five missing.

Four miners were rescued by their companions who fought their way to safety through choking gas.

Three of the injured are in serious but not critical condition.

State police said 65 men were in No. 2 mine of the Carpentertown Coal and Coke Company when the blast let go. It was at least three hours before the injured were rescued.

Cause of the blast could not be determined immediately. Coal company spokesmen had no comment, but it was indicated it would be several hours before a rescue squad could fight its way to where the missing men are believed to be covered by debris.

What Happens Night Before

LONDON, Feb. 2—(AP)—Like to know what happens on the night before the morning after? The British Medical Association published today a handy little chart showing "the nine stages of drunkenness."

Take one large whisky, for instance, and you get a tingling feeling, says the chart published in the association's British Medical Journal.

The second drink brings a feeling of well-being. Cares and worries slip away. The next one brings "mild, pleasurable excitement."

After the fourth shot you're bursting with energy. There, if you know what's good for you, is where you oughta go home to the little woman.

With the fifth drink, you begin to get boring. Real trouble sets in after the 10th guzzle, and you begin staggering.

By time had ni-teen twenny f'get evvyshing. Losh memry. F'get all about chart.

Labor Federation Worried By Unemployment

HAMILTON, Feb. 2. (CP)—Unemployment and problems raised by immigrants trying to find work provided fertile ground for discussions today at the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL). Delegates representing an estimated 200,000 provincial workers Friday heard their president, George Burt of Windsor, describe the present jobless situation as a "national scandal." Mr. Burt, who also is the Canadian director of the United Auto Workers, said in his keynote speech that unemployment has weakened the position of unions in Canada and is responsible for the increased resistance of employers to wage demands.

The 350 delegates demanded that immigration be planned so that newcomers to Canada would have jobs and homes. They adopted a three-point resolution aimed at reducing employment.

They also heard E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, say that "anti-union" forces in Ontario are "beating the drums" for a reduction in living standards for the workers, implying it is necessary because of the defence program.

Will Be Candidate

Mr. Jolliffe said he would be a candidate for the leadership of the party at the CCF's next convention in April.

The Federation in its resolution asked for a public works program, Federal defence orders to industries operating on a reduced work week, increases of 50 per cent in unemployment insurance and payments of cash relief to jobless not receiving such insurance.

Mr. Burt said the unemployment problem is so acute that it threatens the existence of trade unions. He suggested the Federal Government give it priority over defence efforts because a man without a job "is not receptive to talk about democracy and liberty."

Suggests Trek

He declared the Federation is prepared to recommend to the Canadian Congress of Labor that it organize a national trek to Ottawa if it felt this would bring action.

One delegate, Mike Fenwick, secretary of the Oshawa Labor Council, claimed the Federal Government is "deliberately fostering unemployment" as an answer to inflation.

In later debate on immigration, Mr. Fenwick accused the Canadian Manufacturers' Association of fostering increased immigration "to flood the country with cheap labor and rob the unions of the benefits they have built up over the years."

But Larry Sefton of Hamilton warned against blaming immigrants for unemployment, which he said was the responsibility of the government. Lack of industrial planning made immigration a problem.

Wholesale Index

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)— The government's wholesale price index today stood at 3.2 per cent below a year ago and 12.4 per cent above the pre-Korean war level. The Bureau of Labor statistics reported that the index rose one-fifth of one per cent during the week ended Jan. 29, reaching 176.3 per cent of the 1926 average.

Judge's Handling Gets Trial Off To Quick Start

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2 (AP).— A soft-spoken, Southern-born judge with a firm hand on the legal tiller steered the trial of 15 Communist Party leaders off to a speedy start.

A jury of eight women and four men was chosen Friday, cutting valuable days off a trial still expected to run three or four months

The quick selection, courtroom observers agreed, was due largely to the way United States Judge William C. Mathes cut through a maze of 305 questions which defence lawyers wanted to put to the prospective jurors.

The five-man defence staff — not including Wiliam Schneiderman, alleged acting party chief who is defending himself—gave up challenging members of the panel after 47 persons were questioned. By then, defence and prosecution attorneys had agreed on the jury of 12, plus four alternates.

Judge Mathes, 52, in quiet, measured tones, asked each prospective juror:

"Can you lay aside any prejudice and sit with impartiality? If you were a defendant, would you be willing to be tried by a jury composed of people in the same frame of mind as you?

He told them constantly:

"The law holds that membership or even holding an office in the Communist Party is not a violation of the law. It all boils down to this: Would any of you jump to the conclusion the defendants are guilty just because they are members of the Communist Party?"

The defendants, all Californians, are charged with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. The maximum penalty under the Act is 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

The grand jury indictment links them with 11 national party heads convicted in a New York trial in 1949.

The prosecution will open its case Tuesday.

Transport Falls On Car, Three Killed

HAMILTON, Feb. 2 (CP) — A birthday party turned into tragedy Friday night when three members of the group were crushed to death by a transport truck that toppled over on their automobile.

Four others were taken to Hamilton general hospital. Early today their condition was described as "poor."

Killed were: Andrew Alderson, 53, Ronald Burda, 15, and Lois Hackensen. In hospital are Beverley Alderson, 16; Marvin Bevan, 16, Roy Younger, 16, the driver, and Delores Jardine. All were believed from Hamilton.

Beverley was due to celebrate her 16th birthday at a party in Burlington. Her mother was in a preceding car with other guests and did not learn of the accident until afterward.

Topples On Car

The accident occurred near Wolfe Island, two miles west of here, when a huge highway transport swerved to miss a car driven out of a sideroad, and toppled on top of the sedan carrying the party of seven.

It took more than one hour and 200 persons unloading the truck and lifting it before the last two victims were freed from the automobile, crushed down to within two feet of the road.

The driver of the truck, Maurice McArthur of St. Thomas, was unhurt. He said he pulled out to avoid the old car coming out of the sideroad.

"I shot across to avoid him," he said. "I swerved it on purpose to prevent it turning over, but one front wheel locked and she tipped."

The truck engine caught fire. The blaze was put out by Doug Swire, son of the owner of a nearby motel, who dashed out with an extinguisher.

"It was awful," he said. "I could hear the trapped people screaming, but there was nothing I could do."

Report Ickes Some Better

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—(AP) —Harold L. Ickes, 77, former Secretary of the Interior, who has been seriously ill, is "improved somewhat," his doctor said today.

Ickes returned Jan. 18 to his nearby Olney, Md., farm home after taking treatment in Washington for complications of a former arthritic ailment. His condition became worse Monday night.

Dr. Stephen Jones said he examined Ickes late Friday night and found him "improved somewhat—his general heart and general condition look better."

The physician said Friday Ickes had been weakened "to the point where he can't fight any longer."

Ickes served as Interior Secretary from 1933 to 1946.

Three Pairs Of Swans Gift For Princess

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2 (CP) — Three pairs of rare trumpeter swans may be sent to England next week—a belated gift from British Columbia to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

D. A. Munro and R. H. McKay of the Canadian Wild Life Service leave here today for Lonesome Lake, wintering ground for the swans bout 200 miles north of Vancouver.

Munro said he and McKay hope to return "early next week" with the birds, which would then be shipped overseas.

The swans, native to North America, will be sent to the Royal couple as a memento of their visit to British Columbia in October.

Decide Ryan Guilty Of Manslaughter

HULL, Que., Feb. 2 —(CP)—A Quebec court of King's Bench jury, after three hours deliberation Friday night, returned a verdict of manslaughter in the case of Gerald Ryan, 22-year-old Timiskaming, Que., lumber-camp cook charged with the September murder of his teen-aged bride.

The strapping, six-foot Ryan was accused by the crown of strangling his bride of two months, 17-year-old Rose Ryan, in their apartment above the Timiskaming lumber camp cafeteria last Sept. 15.

Ryan, who sat calmly throughout his four-day trial, went to his defence counsel, Joseph Ste. Marie of Hull., and shook hands when the verdict was announced. Mr. Justice Valmore Bienvenue told the crowded courtroom Ryan will be sentenced later.

Difficult Case

The judge told the jury that it had had a difficult case to decide and termed its decision a "sound and a fair verdict."

Conviction for manslaughter leaves Ryan liable to a sentence up to life imprisonment. Conviction for murder would have brought a mandatory death penalty.

Mr. Justice Bienvenue took more than an hour in his charge to the jury. He told the jurors not to let pity color their verdict and said that "murder—clearly proved—should not and shall not go unpunished."

Briefly the judge reviewed the case as presented by 31 crown witnesses — how Ryan and his bride of two months had quarrelled at a party on the day before the slaying; how young Rose Ryan had been choked by the accused on a previous occasion; how Ryan had admitted to two police constables that he had killed his wife and a similar confession made to a fellow worker.

He pointed out that the facts of killing were not disputed by the defence, which had called no witnesses. But the defence's case was that death had been unintentional, that Ryan had acted in a fit of rage without intent.

BOY SAVED 19—Fourteen-year-old Sheldon Muise carried two small children to safety and roused 17 other occupants of a downtown boarding house when fire swept the building. Sheldon was baby sitter when he noticed smoke coming from the room where two children were asleep. The room was filled with flames when he rescued the children, and rang the fire-alarm gong until the house was emptied. He is shown with Howard and Donna Gilard whom he rescued.

Germany Passes Schuman Plan

BONN, Feb. 2—(AP) — West Germany formally ratified the Schuman plan Friday, agreeing to share her coal and steel with five other European nations for the next 50 years.

The ratification came in a unanimous vote by the Bundesrat, the Upper House of Parliament. The Lower House, the Bundestag, approved the plan Jan. 11 by 232 to 142. Socialists, Communists and right-wing Extremists made up the opposition there.

Chancellor Konrad Adensauer, an advocate of European union, called for the ratification even while he declared many Germans doubted whether France, one of the pool partners, seriously desired real partnership with West Germany in western defence.

Adenauer spoke briefly on the tension between France and Germany over the Saar, a coal-bearing 1,000-square-mile territory linked economically to France but claimed by the Germans. He said recent French actions in the Saar had sorely shaken the confidence of wide German circles in French intentions. The Germans disapprove the appointment last week of Gilbert Grandval, French high commissioner in the Saar, as the French ambassador there.

Defence financing is another big problem between Germany and the West. Occupation authorities and the Germans disagree on the amount the Germans should contribute.

Ottawa Man Hears Brother Killed In Cairo

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. (CP)—The brother of an Ottawa man was killed in the razing of Cairo's Turf Club which took the life of Canadian Trade Commissioner J. M. Boyer a week ago today.

G. C. L. Kennedy said Friday he has received word of the death of his brother, Hugh Kennedy, 55, long-time professor at Cairo University. He asked the External Affairs Department to take up the matter but was referred to the British high commissioner's office since Prof. Kennedy was English.

Earlier Friday External Affairs Minister Pearson said Canada has protested the Boyer death to the Egyptian Government through the British Embassy. He said Canada informed Cairo that she holds Egypt fully responsible for the loss of Canadian life and property.

The Egyptian consul-general here, H. M. El-Hakeem, called at external affairs headquarters on Monday to express regrets concerning the Boyer killing.

No further word of Canadian deaths or injuries in the Cairo rioting has reached Ottawa.

Woman Loses Tram Suit Telephoto Lens Legal Trap

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2 (CP)—Mrs. Christina Berg said she was unable to lift heavy weights. The camera disagreed.

So Mrs. Berg's damage suit for injuries she said she received while boarding a street car last April 17 was dismissed Friday in British Columbia Supreme Court.

The woman, who said the street car doors closed on her, told Mr. Justice J. C. Coady she had worked 15 hours a day before the accident but since that time she has been unable to lift heavy weights.

The BC Electric Railway Co. Ltd., operators of the street car, showed movies of Mrs. Berg's property taken with the aid of a telephoto lens and Mr. Justice Manson tossed the case out of court.

They showed the small, middle-aged woman chopping wood and carrying pails of water.

Ontario Fire Marshal Gives Warning About Sweaters

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—Ontario Fire Marshal W. J. Scott Friday issued a warning against wearing brushed viscose rayon garments The material, which has been made into sweaters, is highly flammable.

In a letter to provincial fire chiefs, Mr. Scott wrote: "The dangerous viscose brushed rayon garments should not be worn and the public should be warned against their hazard."

Municipal chiefs also were advised how the fabric might be recognized, and steps which might be taken for the protection of the public.

It is a smooth, finely woven cloth with a brushed surface or nap on one side. Most clothing made of this material—sweaters are the common article—has been sold door-to-door.

Mr. Scott said that under existing legislation there is little a fire chief can do but insist that merchants—this applies only if the articles are sold in stores — place the goods on counters well removed from where the public passes or where smoking is permitted, and display a sign reading, "Highly Flammable."

Chiefs Handicapped

There are two types of brushed rayon fabric, viscose and acetate, but the latter "does not appear to involve any greater hazard than a number of other wearing apparel fabrics. . . "

Four tests by which fire inspectors may determine which is which were set out.

1. The nap on the viscose rayon feels harsher and more wiry than on the acetate cellulose rayon.

2. The nap on the viscose rayon is more easily ignited than the acetate cellulose nap.

3. Flame spreads almost as a flash on the viscose rayon nap but spreads much more slowly on the acetate cellulose.

4. The application of heat from a flame or other sources causes the acetate cellulose nap to melt and form a crust, but the more flammable viscose nap is completely consumed without fusing and forming any such crust.

Peak In Exports Thins Trade Gap

OTTAWA, Feb. 2—(CP)—Canada pushed exports to a peak $3,963,400,000 during 1951 to almost close the gap in the foreign trading account.

A detailed survey issued by the Bureau of Statistics Friday showed the record was achieved by a 13 per cent. increase in price and a 10 per cent. jump in production volume. Almost 59 per cent. of the total exports went to the United States.

Previously the bureau estimated 1951 imports at a record $4,085,200,000, leaving Canada with a relatively small deficit of $121,800,000—less than half the $250,000,000 forecast by the Trade Department earlier in the year.

This deficit is about 1.5 per cent. of the unprecedented $8,000,000,000 foreign trade in 1951.

Shipments during the year climbed by $800,000,000 from the previous high of $3,160,000,000 in 1950.

"The gain over 1950 was general in character," said the bureau, "with particularly large percentage increases to overseas countries in the second half of the year. The rise in exports of the United States was moderate by comparison, yet shipments to that country still constituted nearly 59 per cent. of total exports compared with 65 per cent in 1950."

Shipments were composed of $3,914,500,000 worth of domestic exports—goods produced in Canada—and $58,900,000 of foreign exports—goods produced for Canada in other countries and transshipped to the United States.

Will Conciliate Contract Dispute

The next step in the contract dispute between the production workers of the Canadian Raybestos Co. and management will be the setting up of a conciliation board.

Gordon L. Greenaway, conciliation officer of the department of labor, is expected to make that routine recommendation after failing to get agreement between the two parties.

The employees, members of Local 527, United Electrical Workers, are asking for a reduction of the work week from 45 to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay. They also want a "substantial wage increase," and the right to transfer from night shift to day shift, if vacancies occur in the day shift. Seniority would be the basis for transfers.

The anniversary date of the contract was Dec. 8 but it was extended by mutual agreement.

Campbellford Club Shows $675 Balance

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 2 — (ENS)—The new president of the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Protective Association, Russel Ayrhart presided at the meeting on Thursday evening.

Treasurer H. J. Taylor presented the financial report for 1951 showing receipts of $1,626.89 and disbursements of $351, leaving a balance of $675.89.

Forrest Dennis urged the club to take steps in restocking Trout Creek with trout, and the prohibiting of taking minnows from these waters. A closed season on this creek would make for good trout fishing the next year, he claimed.

The president announced that all applications for fish fry must be in by March 1.

Lloyd Taylor and Forrest Dennis were appointed to look into the matter of procuring a rifle range for the use of club members.

A very interesting and educational film, "Meet the Ducks" was shown with Mr. Bruce Grills operator.

The film showed many closeups of the different species of ducks in North America, their habits, breeding grounds and identification characteristics.

Forrest Dennis moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the club to the sponsors of the picture.

Armistice First US Insists To UN

PARIS, Feb. 2—(AP) — The United States told the United Nations today that there must be an armistice in Korea before political problems are discussed.

Discussion of these problems, the United States claimed, would only hamper the truce talks at Panmunjom. In order to prevent this, the U.S. joined with Britain and France in sponsoring a resolution postponing Korean political discussions until an armistice is reached:

American delegate Ernest A. Gross told a joint session of the U.N. politial and economic and social committees that "the United States is disturbed by the slow course of the armistice negotiations.

"Precisely because we are anxious to go forward, we desire to avoid prematurely political discussions which could postpone or complicate the conclusion of an armistice."

Union Decides On Expulsion

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2 (CP)—The British Columbia district of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Friday night rejected a move to expel members "found guilty" of promoting the Communist party line.

The executive board submitted the resolution to the final session of the union's annual convention. It read: "Any member may be charged, who consistently promotes the policy and activties toward the achievement of the program of the Communist party, any Fascist, Nazi or Trotskyite organization. . . . rather than the objectives and policies set forth in the (IWA) constitution .... if found guilty, shall be expelled."

Tony Hargrave, Vancouver delegate, said in speaking against the resolution: "If a person seeks to pervert the trade union movement, he should be tried for the things he does, not for any organization he belongs to."

action against Ville St. Michel officials.

Mr. Plante was a storm centre from the time he was named head of the Montreal morality squad and the provincial police director in 1947. The Canadian Brotherhood of Policemen protested the appointment because Plante was a police legal advisor and not a policeman.

As head of the morality squad he earned the enmity of the gamblers by a campaign to close down their houses which had operated more or less openly for years.

During the day, some 40 persons were arrested. Although some of those detained, including two candidates for alderman and the wife and sister-in-law of another were released, about 35 men were held in the town's two cells at police headquarters until polls closed.

Earlier in the day, Premier Duplessis, informed of the situation in Quebec, expressed surprise but had no comment to offer. The premier is also the province's attorney-general.

DOUGLAS ABBOTT, Minister of Finance (right), arrived in Montreal recently aboard a TCA transatlantic North Star which also brought Lord Rowallan, chief scout of the British Commonwealth, to Canada. They are shown chatting at Dorval Airport after the flight, which came by way of Santa Maria, the Azores, because of bad North Atlantic weather. Mr. Abbott returned from the London conference of Commonwealth finance ministers. Lord Rowallan is on his way to Bermuda for a trip through the Caribbean area before attending the Boy Scout Jamboree in Jamaica in March.

Quebec Oil Truck Cuts Bus In Two In Crash Driver Killed, 20 Passengers Injured

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP)—A truck driver was killed and 20 bus passengers injured Friday night when an oil truck cut a provincial transport company bus in two in a collision near Chambly, Que., some 20 miles south of here.

Truck driver, A. Beauchamp, died pinned behind the steering wheel of his heavy vehicle.

All the injured were brought to hospital here.

Andre Poitras, a passenger in the Sherbrooke-bound bus, said the vehicle skidded in avoiding an oncoming vehicle and was struck almost dead centre by the truck loaded with gasoline and travelling toward Montreal.

Quebec provincial police and passers-by aided bus passengers and gave first-aid to the injured. Witnesses said that at one time about 20 persons were lying on the highway and in a nearby field.

Students of the Eastern Pentecostal Bible College will be heard in a Special program of sacred music on Eventide Wednesday evening at 7:45 p.m. over CHEX.

Stock Market Conflict Shows Decline

By DICK BAIDEN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto's Stock Exchange indices closed with little over-all change this week but beneath an apparently calm surface lay the drama of power and conflict.

For the last few weeks the Toronto market—particularly the base-metal and western oil sections—had shown considerable power of striking out on its own.

But late Wednesday and throughout most of Thursday the strong arm of the New York Exchange reached out and added the weight that sent Toronto prices sharply lower. Toronto resisted heavy selling pressure in Wall Street only briefly.

By Thursday's close the western oil index had dropped about four points, the base metal index more than two points and the industrial index three points. Recovery Friday, however, was quick and determined. Toronto prices, particularly oils and metals, rebounded with an enthusiasm not shared by New York.

Not Unexpected

The sell-off was not unexpected as some observers pointed out that "paper value" of some stocks had increased by as much as 300 per cent. Leading interlisted issues were most affected and, generally the slowest to recover.

The rapid recovery, professionals thought, indicated a basically sound market. More generally, they thought that while New York would necessarily retain tight financial control, the week's action pointed up the growing financial stature of Canada.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange's indices showed industrials down .70 at 341.19, golds down .40 at 80.92, base metals up 2.93 at 201.82 and western oils down .12 at 137.39.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .03 at 30.31, utilities down .6 at 87.8, industrials up .3 at 227.5, combined up .1 at 181.0, papers down 10.34 at 791.89 and golds up .62 at 66.58.

In New York, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 60 cents to $101.

Says Discrimination Problem For Eskimos

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Prof. Edmund S. Carpenter of the University of Toronto, just returned from a research project among Canada's Eskimos, said Friday that racial discrimination is an economic problem in the north.

"The white man destroyed the whaling industry, there are few caribou left and now the bottom has fallen out of the fox fur market," he said in an interview.

Medical aid sent to the Eskimos was good but they were not taught to do things for themselves such as setting bones, extracting bullets and injecting penicillin.

Prof. Carpenter spent five months with the Eskimos in 1950 and six weeks on his recent trip. The natives called him the one who asks foolish questions.

WHEN THE CRUISE SHIP PRINCE GEORGE docks at Juneau, Alaska, with its snow-capped mountains close by, passengers get their first real taste of the Land of the Midnight Sun, with its interesting mementoes of the stirring Gold Rush days. The steamer sails for miles through passages walled in by such towering mountains as these and glittering glaciers.—(Canadian National Railways Photo).

TRAVEL—with Jean Stenton

Alaska, Strange Land Of Midnight Sun Lures Visitor With Beauty, Trail Of '98

Land of the midnight sun, fjords, hanging glaciers and majestic mountains, all sound like an advertisement for Norway, half way across the world. Instead, it is at Canada's back door—the Inland Passage trip north from Vancouver to Skagway, Alaska, by steamship.

Although it is half a century since the Gold Rush attracted the world's attention to the northern reaches of the Pacific Coast, there is an intriguing aura of the lusty and interesting days of the Trail of '98 which continues to fascinate the visitor. The wraiths of such figures as Sam McGee and stories of fortunes won and lost, still make Alaska the land of adventure.

The long twilight evenings have a never-ending lure which makes visitors reluctant to go to bed. Every hour brings forth fresh surprise and delight with the sea shimmering under the sunlight or silvered by the stars. The traveller is never out of sight of the mainland and islands protect the sealane from the open Pacific most of the way. The panorama of islands and capes, forests, mountain peaks, and magnificent glaciers is always enchanting.

There are many reminders of the world before the white man came. Tall totem poles; the Raven who stole the sun, moon and stars for man; the Eagle; the Wolf and the Thunder Bird stand brooding over the centuries which have drifted by.

Condensed Schedule

The best of it is that it is possible for Canadians to take this 10-day cruise of 974 miles, even if they travel from Ontario, and still do the trip in three weeks or a little less.

For nearly 40 years, CNR steamships have sailed these waters. The streamlined Prince George carries 260 pasengers and every year reveals the wonders of the Northland to hundreds of tourists from June to the end of August.

Trips ashore from the cruise ship are made at Ocean Falls, Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Alaska; Juneau, Wrangell, and Skagway. They are towns with a faint aroma of the Gold Rush days and are full of stories.

Founded By Prospector

Juneau, the capital of Alaska and a port of call, is an interesting town of 8,500. In the early 80's, two prospectors, Dick Harris and Joe Juneau, were attracted to the section by reports that traders had found gold in what is known as Gold Creek. They located several claims and made valuable discoveries. Later quartz ledges were unearthed and a company was established on the present site of the city.

It was first called Harrisburg, but later changed to Juneau in honor of the veteran prospector. The mining district nearby was given the name Harris.

Not only is the city an interesting one but there is some wonderful scenery close by which passengers usually have time to enjoy. Every tourist should visit Mendenhal Glacier, reached by car from Juneau. It is only 14 miles and easily accessible. Here you can have the thrill of walking on the glacier. Time required for this is slightly less than two hours. Another delightful trip is to Auk Lake, 13 miles distant, almost at the foot of the glacier. On calm days there is a gorgeous reflection.

Flower City

Skagway, whose Indian name means "Home of the North Wind," is known as the Flower City of Alaska. Despite its position so far north, it is famous for its dahlias 10 inches in diameter, sweet peas growing on vines 8 to 10 feet high, and pansies three inches across. It is worth spending a full day exploring here. There are several lakes within walking distance and one of the curiosities of the city is the grave of Soapy Smith, bandit who flourished during the wild days of '98 and met his end in a gun battle with the deputy sheriff.

Skagway is a splendid base for some interesting and beautiful side trips for steamer passengers. One of the best of these, which can be done in one day, is the Trail of '98 tour from Skagway to Bennett. The journey is by White Pass and Yukon train, crossing the Skagway River and ascending mile after mile along the brink of deep canyons, past roaring cataracts and great scenery.

One thousand feet below lies the site of White Pass City and the rugged trail of '98. The international boundary is marked by huge rocks and two flags. The train continues to climb until "Log Cabin" is reached at 2,916 feet. A few miles beyond lies Benett at the end of Bennett Lake. The fare, Skagway to Bennett and all expenses return, is $11.25.

Interesting Spot

The two-day Whitehorse tour is also a delightful one. It is by rail over the summit of White Pass, along Lake Bennett making the trip Skagway to Whitehorse in one day. It provides some wonderful mountain scenery and interior interest. There is a stop at Bennett for lunch. At Whitehorse there are many interesting things to see: the cabin of Sam McGee, Mounted Police Barracks, the old log church where Robert Service wrote many poems and the particularly lovely car ride to Whitehorse rapids and Miles Canyon. The return fare, including all expenses, is $30.

There is another trip of two day to West Taku Arm. It includes a train ride to Carcross at the north end of Lake Bennett where a steamer is plying on Lake Tagish. The boat goes to the most southerly point on Tagish, the end of West Taku Arm. Price return is $40.

There are two points of particular interest on the return journey to Vancouver. The first of these is Wrangell, situated at the mouth of the Stikine River. It is one of the oldest communities in southeast Alaska. Founded by the Russians in 1834 as a fur trading post, 1,500 people now live there. Totems or Indian coats of arms are numerous here. The original home of Chief Shakes is still intact and there are many ancient relics. It is a 45-minute return walk to the liner.

Another delightful memory to cherish on the way back is the Gardner Canal. It is a picturesque waterway with mountains on either side, high and rugged along the Passage. Walls are broken at intervals to disclose graciers which might be called "Fjord of Hanging Valleys". There are waterfalls leaping down from these hanging valleys and breaking against the rock walls in a beautiful spray. The canal is one to two miles wide and 80 miles long.

Skagway is the only port of call using Alaska time, which is one hour slower than Pacific coast time. The latter is followed on shipboard. Ketchikan is the port of entry for 90 per cent of the vessels going to Alaska and it is here that passengers go through simple customs formalities.

The temperature in Alaska from May to September has days pleasantly warm and the nights cool with the temperature ranging from 60-70 degrees. Spring or fall clothing will be comfortable.

Triangle Route

For those with only two weeks or 17 days, there is a shorter cruise combining rail and steamship, which the CNR has designated the "triangle route". In the latter, the traveller can come from Toronto to Prince Rupert via Jasper and take the SS Prince Rupert to Vancouver. The boat leaves at 11:15 pm Thursday and arrives at 2 pm Saturday in Vancouver. From this great port, the visitor can return by CNR flyer along the gorges of the Thompson and Fraser rivers back to Jasper, another thrilling sight. Or the procedure can be reversed with the boat leaving Vancouver at 9 pm Monday and arriving at 10 am Wednesday in Prince Rupert.

The Triangle trip is made for the ordinary budget. First class return fare Toronto to Vancouver BC, one way via Prince Rupert, meals and berth included on the steamer while at sea is only $171.05. Travelling time, Toronto to Vancouver is 3½ days, so an ordinary holidayer with only two weeks could have a most enjoyable trip and still taste a little of the beauties of the North. E. J. Ryan, agent of the CNR ticket office, George St. can be contacted for particulars.

Soviets Condemn Western Press But Use Quotes

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Feb. 2 (CP)—Soviet-bloc delegates at the United Nations condemn the Western press but quote Western newspapers continuously in attempts to prove their arguments.

Few Soviet-bloc speeches go by without at least one quotation from editorial or news pages of British, French or United States newspapers on some of the topics under discussion here.

If the Soviet delegate is trying to prove that the US is aggressive he picks some editorial in a US newspaper which he interprets as calling for stronger measures in the cold war.

When the job is to try to show that Russia is peace-loving, the Soviet delegate can find some paper in the West to quote which has stated that it does not believe Russia wants war.

Favorites For Quotation

Favorites for quotation include The New York Times, The New York Herald Tribune, The Washington Post, The Chicago Tribune, The Times of London, The Economist (London), and Le Monde (Paris).

Observers here speculate that the job of collecting items for quotation is done largely by Russian and other Soviet-bloc embassies in the countries where the newspapers originate and the clippings are sent out to the Soviet-block UN delegation.

Most of the papers quoted have been condemned individually, and all have been condenmed collectively, as "lying capitalistic tools" and "controlled." But that does not stop Soviet-bloc delegates from quoting them for their own purposes.

Once a Polish delegate quoted a story in The Toronto Daily Star about war refugees in Canada in an attempt to prove that refugees in Canada were living under bad conditions.

Holds Special Place Due To Production

CORNWALL, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Canada holds a special place in the west's defence against communism because of her production of pulp and paper, R. M. Fowler of Montreal said Friday night.

Mr. Fowler, speaking at a banquet of the Howard Smith Paper Mills Ltd.'s Cornwall plant, underlined the significance of Canada's paper products in the war of ideas against the states behind the Iron Curtain.

Canada, with a population of some 14,000,000 consumed more paper than Russia with its 300,000,000 and still managed to supply a good deal to the rest of the western world.

New Etobicoke School Latest In Designs

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP) — A new school to be erected in suburban Etobicoke township may set entirely different standards of design and construction, the Ontario Association of Architects believes.

The proposed Crestwood Public School will be located in a five-acre parkland overlooking Mimico creek valley and isolated from traffic arteries.

The classrooms will face due east to eliminate direct sunlight and a wide, overhanging roof will control the light. The east wall will be made up entirely of double-glazed windows.

The kindergarten will be heated by hot water pipes laid in the floor slab.

Adams will not be granted bail because he is also alleged to be a deserter from the Canadian Army Permanent Force.

Man Risked Life On Beaches Of Dieppe Then Surrendered It To Try And Save Friends

SARNIA, Feb. 2—(CP)—A man who offered his life on the beach at Dieppe and again in Normandy surrendered it Thursday in a vain attempt to bring help to fellow workmen at Froomfield.

Pat Thompson, 31-year-old veteran of the 11th Field Squadron, RCE, was not working with two others who lost their lives in a flash fire at the Canadian oil refinery construction job.

Official reports Friday disclosed he deliberately entered the blazing heater unit and made his way down through flame and smoke to do what he could for the men trapped inside.

The story of his heroism can never be fuly told, for those he gave his life to help also perished in the flames.

It is known, however, that moments before the blast, he was working alone on the outside platform at the top of the 65-foot atmospheric heater unit.

Whether he heard the cries of the men caught in the fire inside, or merely knew they were in need of help, is not known.

There is no doubt, however, that he entered a door at the top of the unit, climbed 25 feet down a vertical steel ladder and jumped and climbed down a further 15 feet to the blazing platform where the bricklayers had been working.

When rescue workers with extinguishers finally reached the platform from below, Thompson was lying face down on the charred planks.

Dr. Norman Gwyn Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Dr. Norman Beechy Gwyn, 77, widely known as a consultant in internal medicin, died Friday.

He was a nephew of Sir William Osler, famous Canadian surgeon, and so resembled him that a United States sculptor working on a statue of Sir William once persuaded Dr. Gwyn to pose for the hands.

He was active in editorial work for medical journals. He was born in Dundas.

George Burt Says Labor Laws Hamper Unions

HAMILTON, Feb. 2 —(CP)— George Burt Friday told the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL) that unions in the province are handicapped in their wage bargaining by Ontario labor legislation.

Mr. Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers and president of the federation, said this made long term labor contracts impractical.

It was useless to write a two-year contract with a wage reopening clause because the legislation blocked conciliation until the agreement ran out.

Thus unions have only one way to obtain wage increases without breaking the law: escalator clauses in agreement which provide for automatic increases.

Another problem was the "long delay" by conciliation boards in writing their reports. This meant that many employers could carry on for almost two years on what should have been a one-year contract, said Mr. Burt.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 2 (CP)—Lt.-Col. Robert A. What To Do With The Turner House?

The substantial white-brick house that stands on Water Street behind the library, the old Turner house, is now vacant. The city acquired the house with the site for the new city hall and it was used as the Board of Health centre until the new City Hall opened. Now the Board has been moved into the Hall. What will be done with the vacant house?

* * *

A suggestion was made at a Council meeting before Christmas that it be torn down. It is too good a house to raze just for the sake of having an open space which is not needed at present. And it has historic associations, having been built by the Reverend Mark Burnham for his son, Dr. George Burnham. Until the site is needed for an extension of the Library or of the new City Hall, the building should be left standing and kept in repair.

* * *

The Board of Health made excellent use of it, and incidentally, its staff worked hard to clean and repaint parts which had gone seedy from months of disuse. They left it in good condition. It has been suggested that the children's library might be moved into the building, to provide more space in the main library. The Library Board does not seem to think it would be a good place for the children's library. Cut up into many rooms as it is, on several floors, it would be difficult to supervise. Further, the amount of shelf space, when hallways, doors and windows are subtracted from the wall space, is no more than the present children's library affords. Another suggestion is that the building become a repository for documents, pictures, articles and furniture related to the history of Peterborough city and county. If the Historical Society were to become active, it might assume responsibility for this, and use the Turner house as its headquarters.

* * *

This is a valuable suggestion and merits consideration by the Council and particularly by members of the Historical Society and other persons interested in conserving records and Peterborough memorabilia. Perhaps that Society, after its reconstitution fourteen months ago, has waned for lack of a definite project. Here is one.

Where Was The Resemblance?

Two or three times, in the course of reading, we have come upon references to a supposed strong resemblance between the late Sir John A. Macdonald and Benjamin Disraeli. We have never paid much attention to them, for there are people who see physical resemblances in most unlikely places. But we cannot ignore this passage, quoted in the Montreal Gazette from the London World of 1879:

"Sir John A. Macdonald, the Canadian Prime Minister, who has just arrived in town is likely to create a good deal of sensation in society for reasons other than those connected with his mission. The Canadian Prime Minister supplies a likeness to Lord Beaconsfield which is almost bewildering in its exactitude.

"If Sir John, having nearly observed our Premier's dress, were to possess himself a costume of the same make, and were to walk into the House of Lords, none of the doorkeepers would think of stopping him, whilst the Marquis of Salisbury might be expected gently to press the hand of his dear friend and inquire after the gout.

"Consciously or unconsciously Sir John assists nature with a few touches of art. He wears his hair precisely as Lord Beaconsfield wears his, or rather as the Premier wore his when he was about eight years younger. His face is closely shaven, and its whole shape, color and expression are phenomenally like Lord Beaconsfield.

"Nor is the similitude confined to physical features. Sir John Macdonald has many of the social and political qualities of Lord Beaconsfield. He is witty and graceful in conversation, epigrammatic in Parliament and audacious in politics."

Since reading this we have hunted up half a dozen portraits of Sir John, and more of Disraeli, and we have searched in vain for a resemblance. The cast of features appears to us to be entirely different. Disraeli is strongly Jewish, or Eastern, in appearance; there is about his face a delicacy which is absent from the more roughly moulded features of the great Canadian statesman. Sir John is unmistakeably a member of the Anglo-Celtic peoples. Furthermore, there is about all of his pictures which we have at hand an air of cheery, witty, optimistic well-being which contrasts with Disraeli's introspective, somewhat cynical, and melancholy expression.

Perhaps we are obtuse on this matter. People who recall both Sir John and Dizzy must by this time be exceedingly few. But we would be happy indeed if some eye-witness were able to comment upon this resemblance which several people noticed when both men were alive, but which appears to have eluded the photographer and the portrait painter.

A Canadian Views Art In The Soviet Union

Probably the first Canadian painter to have visited Soviet Russia in the last fifteen years is Frederick B. Taylor, a Montreal artist. (Four of his paintings are in the recent exhibition of Quebec artists in the Public Library.) Mr. Taylor spent three weeks in the U.S.S.R. last May, member of the delegation of the Canadian - Soviet Friendship Society which went at the invitation of VOKS—the All-Union Organization for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries.

Mr. Taylor is not an avowed Communist, we understand, but has strong sympathies with Communism in Canada and abroad. (Incidentally, he is a brother of the prominent Toronto industrialist and financier E. P. Taylor.) On his tour he met leading painters, architects, composers and educationists in Russia today, and visited galleries and buildings in Leningrad, Kiev, Moscow and their vicinities. His impressions are interesting, as related in the last issue of the magazine Canadian Art.

He categorically states that "the Soviet standard of workmanship and craftsmanship in the visual arts is the highest I know of in the world today." Even if Mr. Taylor saw things Russian through pink-tinged glasses; he is neither an ignoramus nor a fool. He is a well-travelled, observant man and a competent artist. His statement should be a challenge to artists and craftsmen outside the Iron Curtain and particularly to those on this continent, who are in many ways isolationist in their art.

He explains this artistic superiority by reference. He tells of the long and intensive training which musicians, actors and dancers, 'intended' painters, sculptors, architects and others undergo, at State expense. He refers comfortably to the weeding-out of those who do not make the grade; this weeding process prevents the incapable and muddlers, according to Soviet artistic standards, from demeaning Soviet arts. The incompetent are not left free to starve as artists; they are directed to other work. In Soviet Russia, it seems, culture is as highly regarded as architecture and engineering in this country; standards must be met and diplomas acquired before a painter or musician or poet is allowed to practise. Incompetency is not permitted.

Those who make the grade are well patronized and paid, as shown by one the paragraphs on this page republished from Mr. Taylor's article. It would seem, too, that the cultural soil in Russia (artificially fertilized) leads to and demands high standards in arts and crafts.

> "In Leningrad, which I visited, a city of two million, there are ten very large 'palaces of culture' and seventy smaller ones. Each large one is used on week-days by five to six thousand people and by over twelve thousand people on Saturdays and Sundays".

Scoffers may say that the popularity of these 'palaces of culture' is due to the fact that the citizens have few other diversions open to them: no motoring, no home gardens to cultivate, no television, no soft drinks, and not enough money or privacy to have parties. That may be so, yet, surely, so many people must acquire even by familiarity and seepage, an awareness of the arts from their visits, and a standard of taste?—as a Venetian worker gets a perspective on ripe architectural beauty from daily walks along the Grand Canal.

Another remark made by Mr. Taylor indicates a source of artistic strength in Russia's practising painters:

> "The copying of paintings is widespread and a large number of skilled copyists work on commission, for the demand is very great. When a copy is especially good, the painter of the original may permit it to be inscribed an an 'authorized copy'."

Modern Russia, it seems, is back in other good centuries in this practice. It is still true that a good copy it better than a bad original. Some of our pretentious original Canadian painters are quite incapable of making a good copy of a good painting. They do not have enough skill with brush and palette.

Despite Mr. Taylor's roseate views on modern Russian art, we are not convinced that liberal capitalism produces inferior stuff and that police-state, Sovietized communism produces the best. The craftsmanship and "standard of workmanship" may be uniformly the best, but not the artistry, which is a very different thing. The only example of Soviet art reproduced in the magazine is a painting by the President of the Moscow Academy of Painting, Alexandre Gerasimov. In its black-and-white reproduction, it is the sort of thing that any accomplished nineteenth century hack could have produced. The number of square yards of canvas and the photographic faithfulness to the subjects are not criteria of art.

BIBLIOMANIA

Brown's World Of Words

I BREAK MY WORD, by Ivor Brown (Clarke, Irwin).

THIS PLEASANT LITTLE BOOK contains 127 pages, full of pleasant rambling in by-paths of the English language. But it is the seventh little book of its kind to reach us from the pen of Mr. Ivor Brown since 1942; taken together they might make one large book of nearly nine hundred pages—a formidable addition to the long list of word-books in our language. It was kind of Mr. Brown and his publishers to give us this book in installments, so to speak, for if it had come all at once it would have frightened timid readers and daunted all but the most determined reviewers. The full list, for your information, is —

A Word in your Ear	(1942)
Just Another Word	(1943)
I Give You My Word	(1945)
Say The Word	(1947)
No Idle Words	(1948)
Having The Last Word	(1950)

And the latest addition to this list, which is the cause of the present review, seems unlikely to the last, although Mr. Brown has been promising quite unnecessarily to stop for some time. But why should he stop? There are still plenty of good words left, and he deals with them in a particularly agreeable way.

* * *

THERE ARE PEOPLE who value words, and collect words, and care about words, just as there are people who care about musical sounds, or colours. There are plenty of quite musical people who do not particularly care about tone—the quality which distinguishes one instrument from another, or even a good violin from a poor one. I have known people who were quite knowledgeable about music who could not tell an oboe from a clarinet, in a gramophone recording. Even so there are people who are insensitive to shades of colour. And there are people—some of them well-read and critical people — who have no particular feeling for words. They give themselves away by chattering about the fine choice of words exhibited by a poet—Wordsworth, for example — and then using the most ill-assorted, flavourless and hackneyed words themselves. Critics are often word-shunners in this respect; they use great thumping important-sounding, deadly words like "seminal", "paradigmatic" and "dichotomy", but to read much of their writing is like making a meal of bran. They use words not as a craftsman uses fine materials, but as the cement-mixer uses sand, rocks and lime to make a hard and gritty mass.

* * *

A FEW WEEKS ago a professor at a university complained to me that young Canadians have little notion of what he called "colloquial vocabulary"; they do not choose words which go well together. They are just as likely to talk about a "chattering creek" as a "murmuring stream". I was not too much disturbed by what he said; too copious a vocabulary may give rise to a love of cliches, and "murmuring stream" is a case in point. But the professor was right in his judgement that we are not, as a nation, sensitive to the use of words; we Canadians are bad talkers, and in our daily exchanges, bad writers.

If any reader of this review cares to change his attitude toward words, let him look into these seven little books by Ivor Brown. He will find many words which are oddities, many which have undeservedly become rarities, and he will find new light on words which he has always known. Consider his remarks on "Bald", as an instance; did you know that it came from a Gaelic word meaning "white"? What, you don't care? Very well, but if by chance you did care, you would use the word more carefully hereafter, and it would have a flavour for you which it probably lacks now. Did you know that "parlour" means a talking-room, and was originally the chamber in a monastery or nunnery where the inmates might hold converse with outsiders? I like "parlour" and am sorry that it is no longer a fashionable word for the best room in the house, having been ousted by "drawing-room", which dwindled to "living-room" and in many a household simply to "the Room". My talking-room shall always be "the parlour", and I shall try to assemble there person with a due regard for congruous vocabulary.

* * *

AN INTEREST in words for their own sake is a safeguard against certain forms of silliness. Mr. Brown gives "fabulous" as a word which is misused because of ignorance. Properly the word means "fond of recounting fables or listening to fables"; hence it may also mean "mythical or legendary". "We too often we read or hear of a "fabulous film star" or a "fabulous hockey player"—meaning simply people who are, in some respect, a little better than their competitors. Nobody who loved words, and studied words, could so misuse a beautiful and useful word.

* * *

IVOR BROWN, in his seven word books, has given pleasure to hundreds of thousands of people who share his love of words, encouraging them to seek more out-of-the-way and disused words, and to use even greater care in dealing with the common words which are so often mishandled. If he has a fault, it is an eagerness to push into the foreground words of the Scottish vernacular which have no place in English and would, I firmly believe, baffle the understanding of many genuine Scots. Good and expressive they undoubtedly are, but they are not English, and used south of the Tweed they will have an affected sound. But apart from this amiable nationalist weakness, Mr. Brown is a true friend and a leader of all who delight in words, and in his seven books—may others follow—he has raised for himself a splendid monument.

* * *

FOR OUR QUOTATION this week, what better than this passage from Mr. Brown's latest book, touching upon the word "Comfortable". The common use of the adverb comfortably to mean easily can result in some surprising judgements. A medical witness went into the box at a peculiarly revolting murder-trial. The corpse had been sliced up for concealment. The doctor laid it down in giving his evidence that 'A human body could be cut up comfortably in about an hour'".

A RETURN VISIT

The big-game hunter was showing his trophies to a guest. He pointed proudly to the wonderful collection of heads around the wall and the tiger skins on the floor.

"Very interesting," muttered the guest, peering at them through his spectacles. "Perhaps you'll drop in some evening and see my butterflies."

Two Cars For A Russian Painter

(Excerpt from an article in 'Canadian Art' by Frederick B. Taylor)

IN KIEV, at a dinner given in honour of our delegation by the Ukranian Society for Cultural Relations with Foreign Countries, I met Mikhail Khmelko, a young Ukrainian painter highly regarded throughout the Soviet Union, a winner of the Stalin Prize and an Honoured Artist of the Soviet Union. Like all professional painters, he is a member of the Union of Painters and is assisted and his work facilitated by the union in many ways. His studio and living quarters are provided rent free while he pays the equivalent of about a dollar and a half per month for heating, electricity, telephone and other services. (The minimum size of painters' studios is 42 square metres: a new block of 150 of this size and larger is under construction in Moscow.) Through the union and the Shevchenko Art Institute in Kiev, he obtains all his materials and frames, has his extra large canvas stretchers made, has his paintings shipped and sold and other services performed at very little or no expense. The institute has a large staff of trained professional models whose services are available to him without charge. I heard from him, as I had from other, and as was evident in many ways, that there is a market for every good picture painted and that the monetary reward is increased in direct proportion to one's improvement in one's work. Khmelko paints monumental canvases of great occasions, both past and recent, in Russian and Ukrainian history. On some of these he spends up to two years. The very large sums he receives for them more than keep him while he is engaged upon his current work.

At the Moscow Academy of Painting I was received by the President, Alexandre Gerasimov, who is celebrated for his paintings, as well as for portraits, large historical subjects and illustrations. Another day, at his studio which he had built for himself, in reply to my questions concerning the economic status of the painter in the U.S.S.R., he referred to his studio, to his adjoining house and garden, to his two motor cars and chauffeur, to his houses in the country and other possessions. "Tell your colleagues in Canada", he said to me English, "that I own all these things, that no one can take them away from me, that I have them not because I paint for my government—for no one tells me what to paint,—I paint what I please, but because I paint for the Soviet people."

* * *

IN THIS statement, I came to understand, are to be found the cardinal facts of the philosophy, motivating force and position of the artist in Soviet society. He is a socialized human being; he consciously strives to create for his society, expressing the aspirations of that society. Canadians are frequently puzzled by Soviet works of art and do not understand the reasons which guide Soviet statesmen in their pronouncements on art and artistic form. The Soviet artists say that if you examine historical aspects of the artist's role in society you find that all works of art in the past, whether collective or individual, had their origin in a stimulus which set off the creative process in the creator's mind. They explain that before capitalism nearly all artists worked on commission and that only two or three times in history was the artist a free agent,—that was in he classical age when society was based on slavery, and in modern times during the era of liberal capitalism. In these two epochs alone could the artist freely die of starvation. At all other times he had to serve and most of the greatest works had their origin in set themes. In the U.S.S.R., art has ceased to be divided into art for art's sake and art for the market. In other words it is expected of, say, a Hugh MacLennan, that he should write in such a way that a textile worker in Montreal or a miner in British Columbia would be able to understand him and draw inspiration from him. It is at once as simple as that in theory, and as complicated and difficult as that in practice, and the artist is honoured and rewarded in direct proportion to the degree of success his work achieves from this point of view.

Lesson From Scots

(London Free Press)

It is to be hoped that the visit of the Scottish Universities debating team will recall to Canadians the value of this particular form of intellectual activity. There was a time when in Canada, and particularly in Ontario, it was stressed in the schools from the primary level. Now it seems to have declined.

Scots have long been strong on argument, so it is not surprising that their team should have scored a clean sweep over all the Canadian universities encountered — McGill, Queen's, Toronto and Western. Perhaps we need the lesson, and can profit from it. Are our students spending too much time absorbing the ideas of others, and too little in developing critical talents of their own, and the ability to analyze and confute arguments?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches. And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write; These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth, and no man shutteth; and shutteth, and no man openeth; I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.

Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee. Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown.

Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name. Letters To The Editor

FOSTER PARENTS' PLAN

Sir: A picture haunts me—the picture of a widowed mother and her small son preparing their daily meal . . . just dandelion leaves. This is one of several touching scenes reproduced in a recent field report of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, an organization of which many of your readers may not be aware. The undersigned has no connection whatever with this organization; the picture has stirred him to acquaint your readers with Plan's labour of love among the war children.

The Plan is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian, independent relief organization which has given individual help to more than 70,000 children. In its care at present are 7,000 war children of Belgium, England, France, Greece, Holland and Italy. Founded by Major John Langdon-Davies, of London, Eng., the Plan now is celebrating its 15th anniversary of service to war-stricken children.

The aim of The Plan, as its name indicates, is to have its children 'adopted' by Foster Parents. This is financial only ($180.00) a year, and payments may be made monthly, quarterly or yearly. One may 'adopt' a child for one year only, if one wishes, or, if unable to afford this amount any contribution, no matter how small, will be appreciated. A person may choose the nationality, age and sex of the child he wishes to help, and correspondence with the child, through the Plan office, is encouraged. The Canadian address is:

Foster Parents' Plan for War Children,
Box 65, Station B, Montreal, Que.

Illustrated literature will be glady sent upon request, without obligation to the recipient.

If you would learn what real joy is, become a Foster Parent, for only in giving do we receive, and only in helping others are we helped. In His name who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these," let us help these innocent victims of man's inhumanity to man. I hope that you who read this, as your circumstances permit, will let some child love you. Your dollars could do no finer thing!

Sincerely Yours,
ERNEST BARKER

IN BUTLER'S BOWLER

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

We drove through Curve Lake Indian Reservation, superintendent Al Adams and I, one cold day this week. School kids played shinny on the icy roads and some of the men worked on a new school building. The women, I supposed, hugged the heaters in their cabins.

"Too bad the natives dropped their handicraft work," I thought out loud. "They were so clever at it . . . ."

I was thinking back 20 - 25 years when Indian families used to call at summer cottages throughout the Kawarthas with basket and quill work for sale.

I could still picture a typical family canoe. The father paddling in the stern and his wife in the bow and two or three children mixed up in the mounds of bright baskets amidships. Prices were cheap then. Old clothes were generally exchanged for new baskets. There is hardly a home today that cannot produce a sweet-smelling bark-and-quill sewing basket.

"Too bad the craft has died . . ."

The superintendent snorted and stopped his car beside Cliff Whetung's store.

"Come on in here and learn something," he said.

We walked in through the kitchen and met Mrs. Whetung who said she thought that she might find a few things to show me. I followed her.

Dazzling Display

In the dining and living rooms, small tables and shelves overflowed with bright handicrafts. Quill work, Birch bark trinkets. Baskets of all sizes. Wood carvings. Dolls.

From the bottom of a cupboard Mrs. Whetung hauled several cartons bulging with tanned leather work. There was a staggering amount of it, all told, and we started to examine it bit by bit.

Leather work was the best-looking, and the most expensive, of all the work. And the raw product, native deer hides, was purchased from city fur dealers who had them tanned at a Cobourg plant.

Mrs. Hazel McCue and Mrs. Adley Muskrat came to the house just then to cut, match and sew skins. The third expert, Mrs. Amos Irons, wasn't with them that day. Fringed jackets and vests were their specialty while dress gloves, for both men and women, and mocassins, made up the bulk of their "ordinary" work. Shoulder and pouch bags are a new venture and very good looking, too. Belts and bracelets are made from scraps. Mrs. Jimmy Johnston, originally of the Christian Island Reserve, does the bead work, woodland Ojibway designs in tasteful designs.

Of split black ash baskets, there were hundreds, from clothes hamper-height to small pieces. All brightly dyed.

Quill-a[illegible] and [illegible] made up the greatest volume of craft work and came in all sizes. They gave the most scope to individual designers judging from the variety of shapes and patterns.

There was some wood carving. "But not enough," said Mrs. Whetung. "You really have to twist the men's arms to get them at it." Some of the cedar canoe carvings were collectors' items.

Pairs of dolls were a quick-selling line last summer and the women have been busy this winter replacing this popular item.

Indian Handicrafts a Lost Art?

This certainly did not look like it and from studying price tags and licking my stubby pencil, it looked as though it would take more than Five G's to buy the lot. That ain't sweet hay, brother.

I buttonholed several people on the street trying to tell them about the Indian craft revival. Most of them couldn't believe it. It's a true story and if I'm stuck with it, I can direct them to Curve Lake Reservation any day of the week to see for themselves.

Librarian Bill Graff received the news enthusiastically and should not be surprised if he will arrange a good show in the Halls of Culture in the very near future. The Chamber of Commerce in their Cleveland Sportsmen's Show display might mull over the idea to advantage.

This revival is a heartening thing. The Indians, who have never gotten a square shake, are laying the foundation for a mighty lucrative business, for themselves, and I hope that the Canadian Handicrafts Guild will get wind of it.

I also found out that seven women of the Curve Lake Homemakers have made up about $1,200 worth of flannel attire for Northern Indian hospitals. They are paid by the Department for their industry.

I also changed my mind about the women sitting around the stoves these cold winter days. Perhaps they do but you can bet their hands are very busy.

Ol'-Time Revival

HANDICRAFTS at Curve Lake Indian Reservation have become a lucrative business. Leather, basketry, bark-and-quill and carving work are shown on a table in the home of Mrs. Cliff Whetung. In fringed and beaded deerskin jackets, Mrs. Hazel McCue, Mrs. Adley Muskrat and Mrs. Whetung, Left to Right, look at a pouch bag they have just completed.

Lithuanian Woman Dentist First To Treat Reserve Indians

By NICK NICKELS

A weak point in the stoicism of the Indian has been laid bare. Their supposed indifference to pain when probed by a dentist's drill produces a cold sweat just the same as it does to you and me.

There is a deal of drilling, filling and yanking going on these days at the Curve Lake Indian Reservation. It is a novelty to the Indian School children because this is the first time a dentist has ever visited them. Heretofore, the King paid for extractions, only, for his native subjects. Fillings and other dental work was up to the individual's pocket book. And since they have no more extra money than the rest of us, work was badly neglected.

The Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Civilization and Immigration has launched a new plan. They are giving Indians free dental education and surgery and have wisely started with the children. (This was provided for in the sweeping revision of the Indian Act last year.)

On the second week of January the Government dentist arrived at the Reservation. A woman. Lithuanian Dr. Amanda Gerulaitis who has been in Canada since April of last year. Since she set up her equipment from two massive suitcases, equipment of the Canadian Army Dental Corps, Dr. Gerulaitis has never had a dull moment. By Wednesday night of this week she has done 266 fillings and made 67 extractions, adult work in the latter class. And she still has a busy week of work to go before travelling to another reservation. She does not know where it will be.

No one could have told Dr. Gerulaitis when she read about Indians in her high school days in the Lithuanian capital city of Kaunas, that she would mix with them some day. But their dental welfare, in various districts, have been her deep concern since she came to Canada last Spring. And though she is an able linguist in five languages she does not think she will ever add Indian dialects to her knowledge.

Dr. Gerulaitis was surprised that the reporter thought it was odd that she had taken up dentistry as a profession.

90 Per Cent Women Dentists

"Ninety per cent of all dentists in my country are women," she said.

She seems satisfied with her employment with the Department. Her husband, a former mathematics teacher, works at a Hamilton hospital and their 13-year old son Alvin, lives with him. Her fondest hope, of course, is that they can somehow manage to live together more.

Dr. Gerulaitis has little time to talk to nosey reporters.

There was a line up at her office door, small dark-skinned patients with wondering luminous eyes. They took their places manfully on the Army dental chair and eyed the foot pedal drill with some concern.

Their school companions grabbed them when they were through with a session and opened their mouths forceably to see what the white woman doctor had done. Never before have teeth been under such close scrutiny at Curve Lake. And there will even be fewer toothaches from now on.

The main question among the children was:

"Does it hurt much ? ? ? ?"

Decide On Spring Shrubs

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Early spring flowering shrubs add greatly to charm of the home grounds especially when the blooming dates of the chosen varieties extends the season. The length of bloom, or the amount of time the plants remain pleasing while in flower, varies with the type and with the season.

Easiest to bring in bloom are the forsythia, flowering peach, lilac, magnolia, spirea, deutzia gracilis, flowering dogwood and some of the azaleas. Because a location where light, heat and moisture can be controlled is necessary to force shrubs with roots only folk with a greenhouse should make such an attempt.

Since planting about the average home is somewhat limited, the novice gardener must limit his choice of early spring-flowering shrubs to those kinds which are likewise beautiful when not in bloom.

The old gardener suggests consideration of the Japanese andromeda, Manchu cherry, Carle's fragrant viburnum and the Korean azalea. Of course a flowering dogwood and a forsythia or two must be included.

Japanese andromeda is listed by the nurserymen as pieris japonica. It is an excellent broad-leaved evergreen covered with lustrous dark green foliage and clusters of creamy white flowers appearing in mid-April.

This delightful small shrub, attaining a height of six feet in an ideal situation, can be grown in the shade but, like many other plants, will not produce as many flowers there as in full sun.

The Manchu cherry, prunus tomentosa, is an excellent shrub for the border or as a specimen. The slightly white flowers appear in profusion before the leaves. The small scarlet edible cherries are most effective in June and July.

Carle's Viburnum is much admired for its clusters of flowers which are pink in the bud and white when open, and deliciously fragrant. An improved variety, viburnum carlcephalum, is now offered by a few nurserymen This hybrid is hardier, a little more liberal with its blooms, and disease resistant.

The Korean Azalea rhododendron mucronulatum is actually one of the very deciduous rhododendrons. Pale rosy purple flowers cover the tip growth in early-April, appearing long before the leaves. As further recommendation the foliage adds yellow and bronzy crimson to autumn coloration.

Because it blooms so early the flowers sometimes are killed by freezing weather, and it should be planted in some shaded spot where warm sun does not force the flowers to open prematurely

Plants in a southern exposure have been known to bloom during a warm spell in early March.

The dogwood's delicate blossoms bring beauty wherever the tree grows.

Gardening Questions

Q—Will hordes of dogs (as we are blessed with in our neighborhood) harm a comparatively new lawn?

A—Dogs are always harmful to a lawn, be it new or old, the female being worse than the male. Some means must be found to discourage them. A fence is the best protection, with the use of an animal repellant rope second best. This rope, impregnated with a vile smelling oil, retains its potency for a month or longer, when it must be replaced.

Q—When should tropical water lilies be planted and how deep should they be set—R. T.

A—Tender water lilies may be placed in the pool as soon as warm weather arrives. Plant in tubs or large pots and adjust their height so that they are in six or eight inches of water. Be sure the plants are in full sunshine because they will not bloom in the shade.

Eagles Beat the Hawks, 6-4 In Rugged Senior Fray To Move Ahead Of Kingston

The Eagles climbed ahead of Kingston in the OHA senior "B" group standing in Central Ontario last night when they took a 6-4 win over the Hawks in Belleville before 1,300 fans. They came from behind in the third period to yank out the verdict in a rugged and extra fast encounter. Eagles led 3-1 in the first frame but were down 4-3 going into the third. Each side drew seven penalties in the rather rough tussle.

Belleville injuries left them shy in the lineup but the Vitarelli pack lost Keith Montgomery in the second period when he drew a match misconduct penalty for slashing Red Doran, after earlier drawing two minors in the stiff stepping. Both sides bumped hard all the way and a dozen more penalties could have been handed out as they roughed it up throughout. Monty acted as "policeman" against the homesters and drew the official ire.

George Samalenko sparked the Eagles with a three-goal performance and he turned in an all-around fine display again. Dootch Vitarelli and Bert Hill were also solid citizens on the attack and Ross Nicholls turned in a whale of an effort in goal for the men of McGillis. He had a strong defence, too. Leforte shone as well in the other net of a hard, open joust, and Jones, Doran and Wardhaugh were potent all evening for the Quinte crew. The losers really roared in the second frame with three goals and no return to go ahead, but Eagles fought back for a 3-0 margin in their big third stanza. Their last goal came with seconds to go on a long shot on an empty net, the goalie having been pulled.

Vern Goyer got through real early with MacDonald's pass to sink one and cheer up the home fans. Hill got that back a bit later on a smart solo effort, going right in on Leforte. Vitarelli made it 2-1 at the halfway mark on a pass from Hill and nice finish. Samalenko added another on fine three-way combination with Wilson and Richlark, the latter feeding the puck up. Penalties for minor offences went to Greenlaw, MacDonald, Vitarelli, Moher and Fennell.

Hawks Drive

It was all Belleville in the middle heat, with Eagles' penalties hurting plenty. While Moher drew two minors and Wardhaugh and Day one each, Montgomery sat it out twice and then got his match penalty for slashing Doran, though the latter wasn't hurt. Nicholls also got one—served by Hill—for cutting at Day as he crowded him roughly in the crease. Jones and Doran teamed up for two close-in goals in the first half of the frame, and Reeves added one in the dying minutes with a hard angle shot, rounding defence.

Eagles fought back hard in the third and had a good margin on play for a time, though it was nip-and-tuck in the late stages. Barrett drew the only penalty of the heat. Samalenko tied it up early on a pass from Brabin, and then Sammy put the visitors in front on a fine solo thrust to fool Leforte completely as he sank the rubber. While Belleville battled bitterly and tested Nicholls often from there in, the Eagles erected a stiff defence and back-checked their heads off, and with the goalie out in the final half minute, Stewart took Vitarelli's pass and lofted the insurance marker into the empty cage to clinch matters. Teams.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Munroe and Fennell; centre, F. Mortimer; wings, Stewart and Greenlaw; alternates, Hill, Vitarelli, Berwick, Samalenko, Wilson, Brabin, Montgomery and Richlark.

Neill's And CGE Get Wins In Girls' Frays

Pressed in the final minutes by the Lindsay lasses, Neill's squeezed out Friday night a rough 37-25 victory to remain undefeated in the girls' city basketball league at the YWCA. In another fairly close encounter, the CGE crew whittled out a 28-16 win over Normal School girls.

Although Neill's led throughout in the second game, the Lindsay girls made the last few minutes hot as they drew closer. The play became rougher and rougher until time was called to tell the girls to cool down and play basketball. Lois Cullis, of Lindsay, received a blow on the neck in one scramble.

Joan Dunk, Pauline Stewart, S. DeWarga and Wilma Byers led Neill's to a 21-12 first half total as Neill's controlled play at both ends of the court. M. Vanstone, B. Green, Shirley Algar and Shirley Meath kept Lindsay in the game.

More Even

Lindsay finally began to click better in the second half and began to hold Neill's even on the play. Mary Owen led the Lindsay offensive, backed by Ruth Beard, Shirley Meath and M. Vanstone.

But the first half lead was enough for Neill's who still outscored Lindsay in the second helf, Pauline Stewart and Joan Dunk again the leaders. Pauline Stewart easily topped the scoring with 14 points followed closely by teammate Dunk with 11. Marj Owen had eight for Lindsay.

CGE also built up a healthy lead in the first half of the first game, thanks to a fine shooting display by Dorothy Jackson who netted four baskets. The factory lasses took a 12-5 score at the half over Normals, led by Betty Scollard.

The CGE continued their first half pace in the second, this time with Jackson receiving help from Barbara Luther, Madge Jones and Luella Lee. Betty Orsborn and B. Waddington led Normals in a losing cause. Dorothy Jackson, playing her best game this season, topped the scorers with 12 points, edging out Barbara Luther for the honors by two points. Orsborn and Waddington each had six points for Normals.

Lineups:

First game—CGE (28): Jackson 12, J. Luther, B. Luther 10, Jones 4, Batley, Lee 2.

Normals (16): Orsborn 6, Waddington 6, Wallace, Scollard 4, Todd, McCullock, Merrett, Jeremy.

Second game — Neill's (37): Dunk 11, Stewart 14, Poast 2, Wasson 2, DeWarga 4, Byers 4.

Lindsay (25): Beard 2, Copp, Owen 8, Meath 4, Cullis, Vanstone 6, Green 2, Algar 3.

100F Juniors Earn Win Over Hawklets

Oddfellows defeated Belleville 5-2 Friday night at Civic Arena before the season's largest junior hockey crowd. It was the fifth win in eight starts since Jan. 6, with one game a tie. Over 800 were on deck to see it.

It was a thrilling two-way struggle from the start to finish as the two keen rivals matched wits in every kind of going and the better team won out, on the play. A strong third-period rally enabled Oddfellows to earn the verdict after two hectic frames of close-checking but fast play. The Godfrey lads whistled three flying discs past Barclay in the finale; two from the stick of Kevin Heffernan, who also tallied in the second, and one by Kenny Floyd, just returned to action since his wrist fracture of Dec.

A Swell Effort

Red Wasson came up with an outstanding performance in the local net, possibly his most effective of the season as he stopped many screened shots and difficult drives from all angles, particularly in the latter stages when Links were shorthanded. In the opposing cage, Barclay was scarcely less brilliant as Oddfellows peppered him with hot rubber with little success in the first half.

Hawks took an edge in the first period when Jacklin took Gilmour's forward toss at the right blue line, sailed in and fired a 15-footer past Wasson as Hawks had a one-man advantage. Ab Buckton put his team on even terms early in the second when he banged in a hot one from Floyd and Jensen, as Links swarmed around Barclay like flies around a butter dish, and the crowd hopped to its feet. Bill Cook's boys flew back to againt take the wheel as Jacklin and Lalonde combined, the former potting as he zig-zagged in fast to draw Wasson and give the sorrel-top no chance. The Twist line came to the rescue seconds later, with Wilson in the stew box when Heffernan snared a pass in front of the net from Coyle and whipped it into the twine before Barclay could move.

Shoot The Works

The final chapter saw every Oddfellow giving his best as teamwork and co-operation again paid off. Early in the play Heffernan took a pas from Army Armstrong, flew in and drilled a beauty high into the right corner from 20 feet out and more paint came off the seats as the crowd went wild with the deadlock broken. Three minutes later, Red Robinson sped down his wing, drove a hard one at Barclay and nimble Ken Floyd sank the rebound on perfect timing from 10 feet out. Twist, Coyle and Heffernan combined seconds later, as Hawks began to tire slightly under the terrific pressure, and the latter whisked a beautiful backhander to the right side as he flew past Barclay. Meanwhile Wasson robbed Mason, Lalonde, De Gray, Doran, Therrien, Jacklin, Gilmour and their mates on every thrust, in a glittering display. His buddies backchecked well too, and gave him good protection on many close calls. It was a rugged tilt with 12 penalties evenly divided.

Assumption Victors

KEENE, Feb. 2 — (ENS). — Assumption midgets downed Keene 5-3 here on Thursday. Ray Clancy led the winners with three goals, aided once by Joe Burns and Jack Fitzgerald. M. O'Brien and J. Fitzgerald got the others, with S. Carey having an assist. Keene's goals were by J. McCarthy, F. Whalen, and D. Brockwell, as P. Elmhirst helped on two. Keene drew six of the eight penalties. Teams:

Assumption — E. Fitzgerald, Carey, M. O'Toole, Sullivan, J. Fitzgerald, Clancy, Burns, M. O'Brien, V. O'Brien, Barker, Thomas.

Keene — Colby, Shelton, Whalen, J. Shearer, Joe Steele, Jack Steele, Scriver, McCarthy, Renwick, Lang, Brockwell, Elmhirst, Edwards, D. Shearer, R. Fitzgerald, Hope.

SCARED 'EM OFF—There'll probably be only eight starters in today's Santa Anita Maturity at the Santa Anita Park, Arcadia, Cal., mostly because C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint (above), the 1951 "horse of the year," has scared off some of the competition. As a result, the purse drops from last year's record $205,700 to about $173,370, still enough to buy a lot of oats. Exercise boy Jimmy Rich is pictured in the saddle.

Another tag team pro grappling match headlines the Brock Arena mat card next Tuesday evening. The explosive action of the last tangle made a rematch a "must" for the many wrestling fans of the city and district. The villainous pair of Lord Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia, two judo slashers, will go against popular Pat Flanagan and the hard-headed colored Bobo Brazil. Latter promises to butt his rivals into submission this time, and it should make for a real "hey rube" rough-house. Jim (Bull) Wright, a newcomer, tackles Zorra the French Tarzan in the semi-final, while Steve Stanlee faces Stan Mayslack in the prelim. bout. Quite a card.

Viscount Alexander, always keenly interested in sports, has tossed a bombshell into the Olympic ranks, writes Baz O'Meara, when he declared the Games should be made open events for amateurs and pros. He labels Russians as pros. "because in a communist state every adult is employed by the State; an athlete is as much a professional as a school teacher, or a doctor, or a commissar." He also said the Games has ceased to be really amateur, and while he welcomed the entry of Russia into the Olympics, he insisted the fact of professionalism must be realized. The Viscount is a former athlete, as well as an outstanding army leader, and he is an intelligent realist.

Amateurs? Ha, Ha, Ha!

Baz O'Meara remarks: "You can look back to some of our hockey teams and wonder how amateur some of the players were. You know they were paid for playing so-called amateur hockey here. Jimmy Foster, for instance, goaled for England when they won the hockey Olympics. He was the starry goalie of Moncton Hawks, later with St. John, and in the English league where they don't pay off in crumpets and compliments. Nor did Moncton quest for civic crests when they won the Allan Cup." Getting down to brass tactics, hardly a Canuck hockeyist on the last several Olympics teams could be termed a simon-pure amateur, and no doubt this is true of Olympic athletes from many other countries.

OMHA has announced the draw for juvenile, midget and bantam "C" series. Peterborough is in the "A" brackets, but there are a lot of "C" district clubs. The Tweed - Madoc - Bancroft juvenile winner goes against Brighton or Wellington after Feb. 9, while it's Havelock vs. Stirling with Lakefield getting a second round bye. Bancroft midgets have a first round bye, and the Madoc-Stirling-Tweed winner must be announced by Feb. 9. Also, it's Norwood vs. Campbellford. In bantam, Campbellford meets Tweed, as Stirling goes against Wellington; Otonabee Wolves having a bye to the second round. A flock of teams in all three "C" divisions, and they'll all be in action in a week or two. PMHA playdown rounds should be announced any day.

Those Eagles And Petes

Eagles play Petes at 8.30 in Civic Arena on Monday night, an OHA senior "B" fixture. Such an announcement is enough to assure a big crowd of fans on deck. The old ice enemies outdraw other games in their all-local jousts as all the hockey fans in the city try to take in these memorable melees. Indeed they come from Omemee and Lindsay, too, where these teams used to operate — as well as from the surrounding area. Never a dull moment when the Vitarelli pack tangles with the Ellis outfit. Eagles won two of their last three games against the Petes, though the latter had an edge on them in earlier season clashes, so they'll really tear into each other this time in a desperate attempt to dump the other side. A swell tilt.

* * * * * *

Local OHA teams made a clean sweep of it last night, second weekend grand slam of the puck season for them. Oddfellows looked right impressive in knocking off the Quinte Hawklets 5-2 here last eve to continue to climb the junior "B" ladder. Lindsay comes here next Wednesday for the Links' last home game of the schedule. Eagles pulled ahead of Kingston in the senior "B" scramble by grabbing off a neat 6-4 win o'er the Hawks in Bella Villa, and they now tackle Petes here Monday. Down in Kingston last gloaming, the Petes poured it on plenty to whitewash the K's 7-0 and take over top spot in the group in a nifty showing. Standing now has Petes with 26 points, Belleville 24, Eagles 19, and Kingston 17. Nice work.

PCVS Divides With SPS In Hoop Play

Collegiate basketball games in the next two or three years will be interesting from all indications in the bantam cage game between PCVS and St. Peter's Friday night at the Collegiate.

The Saints, although small, had their passing and breaking down better than the Garnet and Grey to edge out a 29-24 win. These teams will be moving up the ladder against each other in the next few seasons and should provide exciting inter-city collegiate competition.

To the fans who watched both games the bantam was more interesting than the seniors. Gord Johnson's Garnet and Grey eked out another senior "B" win over the Saints 32-26.

Johnny Lynch's bantam Saints were slow to catch fire and fell behind in the first half when PCVS' Brian Bell enjoyed scoring moments from in close to lead the Garnet and Grey to a 12-7 half score.

But the double colors faltered in the second half on the 13th point and the Saints started to move with Terry Killen showing the way. They worked the score up to 13-10 and, before PCVS knew what was happening, went ahead. The Saints from there in managed to stay ahead, at times by only one basket, and staved off a last-minute rally by PCVS.

Killen, with a variety of scoring plays, his speciality cutting in from the side for an off-the-backboard score, was the Saints' spark-plug, scoring 17 points. Grant Simmons was good rebounding at both backboards and scored six points for the St. Peter's High cause.

For the Bev Goulding-coached bantams the game was their best showing this year. All newcomers to the sport, they began to break, pass and shoot better than in previous appearances.

Brian Bell rebounded well throughout the game at both ends of the court to score eight points. Druery also was exceptional on rebounds while Dick Brown led the march up the court with some fine ball-handling.

No Real Drive

The senior game lacked the drive and spirit which the bantams showed. In spite of more experience they missed many chances, on both sides, to score even from close in and under the basket.

The Garnet and Grey led throughout and were never seriously threatened by the Saints, always holding a six- to eight-point lead. The first quarter ended in a low-scoring (4-3) display, then began to pick up in the second for a half score of 17-14.

Both teams slumped again in the third which ended 24-18 and then played on even terms eight-all in the final. The Saints would have been closer in the scoring but failed on breaks in the final session.

Frank Farley, St. Peter's, topped the scorers with 10 points, mostly coming from well within the keyhole area. Jack Richardson, the Saints' best, tallied only seven points while John Jones, before leaving with five personal fouls, picked up six points.

PCVS' top scorers were again Sandy Dewar and Norm Hayward each with eight points, while Sanders, Frise and Lipset each notched four.

Lineups:

Bantam Game—SPS (29): Killen 17, Martin, Hynes, Legros 2, Smith 3, Simmons 6, Crowley, Cairns, O'Connell, Philcox, Ferren 1.

PCVS (24): Bell 8, R. Brown 4, Goldie, McKinney, Montgomery 2, Hollingsworth, Parry, Allin 5, Seymour 1, Brown, Sparrow, Druery 4.

Senior game—SPS (26): Fitzpatrick 1, O'Leary 2, Taylor, Kirkley, Richardson 7, Jones 6, Hickey, Farley 10.

PCVS (32): Dewar 8, Sanders 4, Frise 4, Ash 1, Hayward 8, Facendi, Adams 1, Graham, Bell 2, Lipsett 4.

Petes Blank the K's, 7-0 To Take Over Lead In Senior "B" Puck Race

KINGSTON, Feb. 2. — Peterborough's high-flying Petes racked up a 7-0 win over the Kingston S and A squad before a crowd of 1,449 at the Memorial Centre last night in a senior "B" OHA fixture. The large crowd in attendance was given little to cheer about as the systematic Petes gave a great display of forechecking and passing that completely baffled the hard-trying locals. The game was marred by the unfortunate injury to Cliff Aitken in the second period when he was charged from behind by Arnie Dugan and sent crashing to the ice. He received three stitches over the left eye and a badly injured right shoulder. Dugan was given a five-minute penalty by Referee Louis Lecompte for injuring the player through charging.

Led The Petes

Chum Fryia, with three goals and an assist, was by far the best man on the ice and he was closely followed by Jake Wade with a single marker and a pair of assists, and Arnie Dugan with a one and two score.

The game opened at a fast clip and in the early part of the first period both netminders were called upon to make some remarkable saves. Dave Latimer drew a tripping penalty but nothing much developed while the visitors had the man advantage. Dugan was chase for elbowing and the Petes held their own for the next two minutes.

At 12:06 Gus Leonard took a pass from Steele to give the Petes their ultimate winning goal. When Sam Mulholland was banished for charging, the Petes brought their power-play into operation and it paid off when Gus Leonard slid a pass to Jake Wade at the blue line and the latter screened one home to complete the initial period scoring.

Added It Up

Fred Garvey opened the scoring early in the middle session when he tallied on a pass from Wade at 2:45. The locals came close on many occasions and were both outlucked and outguessed around the Peterborough citadel where Harding was making sure the red light was not going to blink behind him. Chum Fryia brought the visitors' total to four with Dugan assisting and, shortly after, Dugan got his five-minute penalty. With the odd man advantage Coach Stan Scrutton brought five forwards into action in an effort to cut the margin but the Petes put up a stonewall defence and prevented any scoring.

The Petes started with a tight defensive display in the final chapter much to the chagrin of the local fans and they were content to sit back and wait for the breaks which they were sure to come if the S & A crew were to get on the scoresheet. At 7:17 Dugan scored on a neat effort with Fryia assisting. Fryia and Dugan got together again with the former assisting while in another 30 seconds, Fryia went in alone to beat Don Anderson for the visitor's seventh marker.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and E. Leonard; centre, Dugan; wings, Fryia and Mason; subs, G. Leonard, West, Steele, Garvey, Collins, Floyd, Wade, Horton.

Kingston S and A: Goal, Anderson; defence, Sweetman and Goodfellow; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; subs, MacGregor, Catlin, Mulholland, Bruce, Larmer, Tinkess, Latimer, Bender.

Referee, Louis Lecompte; linesman, Bill Reason.

Patrick Confident Boston Will Begin To Click In NHL

By CRAIG SWAYZE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The man who faces two of the toughest teams in the National Hockey League this weekend was quite confident when asked Friday night what he thought of his club's chances, both in their next pair of games and over the remainder of the schedule. Lynn Patrick, coach of the fourth-place Boston Bruins who hold down a slim one-point margin over New York Rangers, felt his team could weather the approaching storm. Pausing on the threshold of a weekend which moves them against the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs and third-place Montreal Canadiens, Lynn had no qualms in what the future held for his struggling bunch.

Still conscious of the fact that many called his club to end up deep down in the six-city circuit, Patrick told sports writers that he "sincerely meant it" when he said his team would be near the top when the chips fell in March.

"We've made a lot of changes," he continued, "some of them have worked out right and some of them haven't gone quite as well as I thought they would. But every time you make changes you have to work the new ones into the system. It practically means starting from scratch."

Good Prospects

"But," said Patrick, "all the changes we've made have been the right ones. We've got some good kids coming along, but we've been forced to look at the present as well as the future. We're not making any money in Boston. That meant we had to get help. We dealt off players to get it."

With the Bruins moving into Toronto tonight and entertaining Montreal Sunday, the team stands two chances of increasing its scant lead over New York who plays a single game against the Red Wings in Detroit on Sunday. Although the Blueshirts have displayed amazing resurgence against the league leaders, Boston's sudden climb to winning ways may well carry them through to a four-point weekend.

In playing host to the Bruins tonight and moving on into Chicago for another one of those Sunday afternoon games against the Black Hawks, Toronto Maple Leafs can increase their single-point margin over the Montrealers.

The Canadiens, with Maurice Richard back in the fold, play at home to Detroit tonight and then meet the Bruins in a Sunday evening fixture at Boston.

Rookie From Galt Fills In For Hawks

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (AP).—Ken Wharram, an 18-year-old rookie centre from Galt, will play for Chicago Black Hawks against Toronto Maple Leafs in Chicago Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Under National Hockey League rules, Wharram is permitted to play three games with the Hawks before losing his amateur status. In the Hawks' affiliate club at Galt, Wharram scored a record 104 points on 32 goals and 72 assists in 40 games.

Kingston Wins Two Trophies At Curling Meet

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP).—Ontario's top curling honors — the Ontario Tankard and Governor-General's Trophy—have gone to Kingston.

Curlers from that city carried off the laurels in the final rounds of the tankard bonspiel Friday, marking the sixth time a double win has been scored in the tankard's 78-year history. It was Kingston's first tankard victory.

Both consolation awards — the Burden and Globe and Mail trophies—also were won by a single club, Toronto Granite.

J. G. W. Sands and H. W. Reid skipped the two winning Kingston rinks, defeating Charles Haskett and R. E. Miller of London, Ont., 28-23 in the final game for the tankard. The Governor-General's Trophy went to B. C. Tetro and C. Wharrie for their 29-27 victory over Elmvale's Fred Ritchie and W. Campbell.

The tankard final was marked by some brilliant shots by Reid who cut Miller out of several good counts. On the 15th end, Miller was counting three when Reid came down to get shot and London skip couldn't dislodge it.

Toronto Granites' Gordon Campbell and L. G. Doner skipped their rinks to a 29-23 victory over C. Asmussen and Joe Stark of Kitchener-Waterloo Granite for the Burden Trophy.

The Globe and Mail Trophy, consolation award for the Governor-General's event was carried off by W. S. Tomensen and Dr. A. W. Matthews in a 29-21 win over Orillia rinks skipped by W. B. Stephenson and J. B. Merkley.

Expectation Played Big Part In Religion Of Jewish Race

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Saint Luke in his Gospel (3:15) says of the preaching of John the Baptist and the beginning of the ministry of Jesus that "the people were in expectation."

Who were those who were in expectation? And what were they expecting? The marvel, considering the times and all that had been happening, was that anybody should have been expecting anything.

The period between the Old and the New Testaments, of about 400 years, had been marked by bitter persecution and cruelty that might well have seem incredible had not we in our own time witnessed the destruction of millions of men, women, and children, and the horrors of war and concentration camps.

It was the period of the decline of Persia and of the Grecian conquest of the world by Alexander the Great, with the establishment of Alexandria, a city that was to play an important part in the early Christian history.

Jewish leaders fought valiantly to maintain the purity and integrity of their life and religion, against the intense effort of Grecian conquerers to prevent and corrupt the worship of the Temple.

Thanks to them, the prophetic hope of a coming Messiah remained strong and vital.

It took various forms and expressions among different ones of the "people in expectation."

Its crudest and most material form was in those who sought political freedom from Rome; in others this hope took the higher form of zeal for the restoration of the kingdom of Israel.

Prophetic and inspired souls, like Simeon and Anna, "Looking for the consolation of Israel" (Luke 2:25), had the vision to see in a new-born babe a King and a Savior.

Impulsive, ambitious young men heard the call and followed the young man, Jesus, with evident hope of place and preferment in the kingdom He was about to establish—to find themselves transported into a spiritual enterprise vaster than they had imagined.

With these were sincere and devout souls, less impulsive, cautious in committing themselves to anything new, who, impressed as they observed Jesus and listened to Him, were moved to inquiry.

Of these Nicodemus was the type (John 3). It was nothing to his discredit that he came by night. His inquiry was no less sincere, and, once convinced, he became a courageous and devout believer, acting in the full light of day when it meant danger to do so.

It is to expectant souls, now as then, that there comes the realization and the blessing.

REV. ARNOLD MATHEWS, minister of George St. Church, will begin this Sunday a series of doctrinal sermons on "What the United Church of Canada Teachers." The subject Sunday morning is "God." Subsequent sermons, which will continue throughout Lent, will deal with the church's teaching on "Jesus Christ," "The Holy Spirit," "The Church," "The Holy Scriptures," "Man's Sin and Man's Salvation," "Christian Life and Conduct," "The Ministry and the Sacraments" and "The Life Everlasting."

HONORARY MEMBER

J. E. Girven, works manager of the CGE, was made an honorary member of the Peterborough Lions Club recently. Mr. Girven offered his resignation to the club, because he felt he could not continue to be an active working member due to his busy schedule as works manager. The club refused the resignation and made him an honorary member.

FIRE ESCAPE FALLS

Collapse of a fire escape into the lane off Hunter St. between the Bank of Toronto and the old Regent Theatre building was fortunately timed. Neither the milkman or garbage truck, who use that rear entrance to George St. stores was beneath it. The iron stairs were said to be a means of emergency exit from second and third floor apartments.

"WE'RE LEARNING TO SWIM," say the tiny tots every Saturday at the YWCA where Canada's first and only junior synchronized swimming club holds weekly practices. Four-year-old Janice Crary (top left photo) is the youngest club member and requires help from mother, Mrs. Isobel Crary, a senior club performer. A new feature in Peterborough's internationally known group are the twins (top right photo), Geraldine and Marjorie Vinette, shown practising the backstroke for some water pattern. Swimming is not new for the girls but correct synchronized swimming styles are. Mrs. Norma Douglas (second from left, lower left photo) a senior competitor, holds Harriett Moldaver, seven, in position to show other club members, Jane Castle, Mary Russell and Marilyn Hewitt (left to right) just how it should be done. Mrs. Pansy Forbes (at lower right), internationally known for her work with the senior girls, has undertaken the younger girls' coaching also.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Library Experiment

The Peterborough Public Library has come to the aid of youngsters living in the west-end section of the city. A supplementary library is being opened in Prince of Wales School Wednesday by Miss Lillian Wesley, boys' and girls' department librarian, and Mrs. J. Henderson of the branch library. Approximately 450 books have been sent up to the school, for circulation among the students of Grades 3 to 8. Previously the children in this section of the city were handicapped by being so far from both the main and branch libraries.

New Canadians Learn English Pay No Fees

No complaint has been heard in Peterborough—either from the public or trustees—about the cost of financing classes for new Canadians.

Some 60 students are now receiving instruction at night school classes in PCVS. And in a few weeks time a fourth class will likely be added.

It doesn't cost the new Canadians a cent for this instruction. They don't even pay the usual night school fees.

"We feel this is a service to the community," said B. Wesley Switzer, night school supervisor. "By giving this instruction we hope to make these people better citizens."

Toronto Story

But it's a different story in Toronto.

Toronto board of education officials are complaining that educating the new Canadians is costing the Toronto taxpayers too much money. In 1951 the cost was $68,000.

Dr. C. C. Goldring, director of education, suggested that these classes be abandoned unless the federal government chips in with a larger share of the expenses.

After all, argue Toronto board members, the federal government is responsible for citizenship; it brings these new Canadians into the country and so should pay a larger share of the expense of educating them in Canadian citizenship.

At present the federal government contributes not more than $3 per pupil for textbooks. As there are 6,000 enrolled in Toronto classes this brings the federal grant up to an estimated $17,000. Toronto taxpayers foot the rest of the bill.

There is, however, a $1 tuition fee charged in Toronto, and there have been some protests about this being too high.

In Peterborough there is no tuition fee.

Cost Is $300

The Department of Education pays 50 per cent of the salaries of night school instructors. Old text books are borrowed for the three classes from public schools. In all, it is estimated, the Peterborough taxpayers have to met a bill of only $300 during the 20 week course.

A couple of years ago when the [illegible] was found for the [illegible] easier than now—because of a large number of immigrants—an additional course was run through the summer months.

Basic English is taught to beginners and they gradually increase their vocabulary from 850 words (basic English level) to the Grade IV level of 1,500 words. They also are taught civics, geography, and Canadian citizenship.

Local Car Driver Injured As Auto Crashes Head-on With Transport

Walter W. Head Has Head, Chest Injuries; Vehicles Collide On Highway 7 Inside East City Limits

Injured in a head-on collision on Otonabee St., Friday night, Walter W. Head, 54, 609 Gilmour St., is in Civic hospital with head and chest injuries. His condition was reported as satisfactory by hospital officials today. The accident occurred at 9:45 pm. when the car Head was driving collided with a transport just east of Short St., on the city side of Highway 7. Douglas G. Dunn, RR 1 Billings Bridge, near Ottawa, told police he was driving east along Otonabee St.

Just as he passed over Locks bridge, he saw an approaching car swing to the south side of the road as if to turn south on a side-street.

Instead, Dunn said the car straightened up and came toward the truck. The two vehicles collided head-on on the south side of the street.

Front Wrecked

The entire front end of the Head car was wrecked. The fenders were rolled back and twisted as if a giant can opener had been used on them.

When the transport driver got out of his truck, he said Head was slumped unconscious over the twisted steering wheel.

When city police arrived, Head was standing beside his car, but bleeding from head and face injuries and he complained of pains in his chest. He was taken to hospital in the police cruiser.

The accident occurred near Police Chief John Thompson's home and Chief Thompson was one of the first to arrive on the scene. After notifying the police station of the accident, Chief Thompson directed traffic until constable W. A. Scott arrived to investigate the crash.

The driver of another transport travelling right behind Dunn confirmed his story that he was almost stopped when the impact took place.

The radiator, bumper, fenders and headlights of the transport were damaged.

Utilities Use Night Hydro To Heat Plant

If you, too, were in the electrical business, you'd probably heat your house or office with neither coal or oil, but with off-peak power.

That is the method adopted by the Utilities Commission for their new office building at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets.

It was Ross Dobbin's idea, coupled with a stand by gas furnace, just in case it might be needed.

Electric power peaks, as most laymen know by this time, occur in the daytime when industrial, commercial and domestic users swing in together on the Commission's stock of kilowatts, which they buy from the Hydro.

Comes night and bed time, and most of the switches throughout the city are turned off. So, the Commission has a stock of off-peak power on its hands, usable too, because settlement with the Hydro hinges on those daytime peaks.

When the Commission was scanning plans for the office building they are going to call their own one of these days, they approved this heating system that must surely be the furnace man's dream.

A capacious metal water tank in a corner of the basement will be heated at night by electricity. Hooked up with it is an electric pump to circulate the hot water through the radiators upstairs. If wintry weather and radiation exhausts the stored thermal units in the tank, there is always the handy switch, and gas heater, if needed. Incidentally the gas, like the electricity, both stock wares of the Commission, is at basic cost.

A conjecturable flaw in that system is the possibility, maybe probability, that they won't need a furnaceman.

Two Cars Collide $200 Damage Done

More than $200 damage was caused Friday when two cars collided at Townsend and Stewart Sts.

Mrs. E. A. MacArthur, 369 Armstrong Dr., told Constable Sherman Keliele that she was driving east on Townsend and as she approached Stewart an unidentified car swung around the corner and forced her to swerve south.

She struck a parked car owned by Harold Bannon, 283 Townsend St., causing $60 damage to the vehicle. The MacArthur vehicle received $150 to the front end.

Mrs. MacArthur was driving with a temporary permit.

10 Play Groups Enter Drama Festival

A large and interesting bill-of-fare has been provided for the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival being held for the first time in Peterborough the week of February 25. Four full-length plays and six one-acters are due for Festival presentation by 10 play groups.

Troupes range from the established Ottawa Little Theatre (which replaced the Ottawa Drama League), to the Robertson Davies' vehicle of Shakespeare, Peterborough's Little Theatre, and ambitious newcomers like the Kemptville "Play For Fun Group," which is doing Terence Rattigan's "The Browning Version."

Brockville's Theatre Guild has the stellar spot, Saturday night. It is closing the Festival with J. M. Synge's "Playboy Of The Western World."

The schedule of plays, as announced by Col. R. J. Bolton of Peterborough, Festival chairman, is: Tuesday, February 26—"The Merry Wives of Windsor" (Peterborough Little Theatre); Wednesday — "A Marriage Proposal," Chekhov (Trenton Drama Club); "Boy With A Cart," Christopher Fry (Peterborough Normal School); Ring Scene from "Merchant of Venice" (Peterborough Blue Triangle Players); Thursday —"The Enchanted," Jean Giraudoux (Saturday Players of the Ottawa Little Theatre); Friday—"Candida," Shaw (Ottawa Little Theatre); Saturday matinee, March 1, "Marriage Proposal," Chekhov (Kemptville Agricultural School Community Players); "Voice of the People," Robertson Davies (Belleville Theatre Guild); "Browning Version," Rattigan (Kemptville Play for Fun Group); Saturday evening — "Playboy of the Western World," Synge (Brockville Theatre Guild).

How Adjudicator Pierre Le Fevre, now critically in western Canada, will like Eastern Ontario; accent in the English of "Merry Wives", the Irish of "Playboy," and the French nuance of "The Enchanted" remains to be heard. Tickets for individual plays or season's tickets are available through teachers of the city schools.

City Will Await Fluorine Results

The question of adding fluorine salts to the city's water supply won't be brought up for some time. At least not by the Department of Health.

Reports that Oshawa is seriously considering trying this experiment has again brought up this question of the pros and cons of the benefit of fluorine for dental health.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, said today that it is still too early to assess the value of fluorine. He explained that until more findings are available the Peterborough Department of Health will not take any action in this regard.

Several cities in United States have been experimenting with fluorine, but Brantford is the only city in Ontario where this experiment has been carried out. In Brantford it was decided to make it a 10-year experiment. At the end of five years, the city was satisfied that there had been a sufficient degree of success to continue adding fluorine to the city's water supply.

Joan Fletcher Wins $133 For Suggestion

A girl in the personnel department of the CGE, Joan Fletcher came up with a suggestion in recording absentees that won her an award of $133. Her suggested record card made the operation simpler and more flexible, and most important from the money standpoint, saved considerable time.

Herman LaPlante of the shipping department suggested that the size of lumber for certain skids be changed. That idea won him $75.

Other awards were, A. Laton, $30; J. Leckie, $32; Reg Tapp, $21; Ed. Rynan $20; and several other smaller awards.

Peterborough Water Babies Practising Hard At Synchronized Swimming

By DON GRANT

Splash! Splash! Splash! Four-, five- and six-year-old girls jump into the deep end of the YWCA swimming pool and the stage is set for a performance by Canada's first junior girls' synchronized swimming club. Internationally known for their competition and appearances in the United States and Canada, the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club has ventured into a new field, teaching synchronized swimming to girls from four to 13 years old.

Not only is the junior club the first of its kind in Canada but is the only one in Canada. In fact there is only one other in North America, that in Miami, Florida.

Although organized only five months ago, the Pansy Forbes-coached club has rapidly outgrown the Miami club which also specializes in teaching ordinary and synchronized swimming to youngsters. Synchronized swimming, a new sport in the past 20 years, is similar in many respects to ballet; all the strokes and movements in the water are done to music.

Mrs. Forbes, who is a recognized synchronized swimming authority, explained that the Miami club has only a small membership, while the Peterborough offshoot has a full membership of 20.

"Although there is an increasing demand from other girls to join, the YWCA regulations forbid a larger group," said Mrs. Forbes.

To see the young ladies jump in unhesitatingly startles the casual observer. But they bounce to the top with no fuss and begin their slow movements through the water.

Most Could Swin

Most of the girls could swim before the club was formed. The majority of girls swallowed their first mouthfulls of water in outdoor classes under Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. Isobel Crary, an ornamental swimmer. Others have received instruction under Audrey Hustwitt, who was swimming instructor last year at the YWCA.

The youngest lass is Mrs. Crary's daughter, a blonde four-year-old, who has been swimming for almost a year under the coaching of her mother, treasurer of the senior ornamental club. Janice has no fear of water, dives from the one-metre board and swims like a fish.

Janice had to work hard to acquire one essential for synchronized swimming: endurance in the water. All the girls have to develop this and except for the younger girls, such as Janice, they all can swim 15 times around the pool. Little Janice plods through 240 feet, then she has to retire.

Janice's swimming mate is five-year-old Margaret Murduff, a YWCA swimming class product. Like Janice, swimming comes to her as naturally as to a duck and she is an ideal partner in routines with Janice.

But a brilliant future is predicted for Peterborough's first

TEMPER TANTRUMS or displays of temper are quite natural in pre-school children. These are caused by various things. The child is learning new skills and meeting unfamiliar situations. Frequently he attempts to balance building blocks in making a house or to do something he cannot accomplish. His disappointment is overwhelming and he 'flies of fthe handle'. The simplest thing is to leave him alone or put him in his own room. His storm usually subsides very quickly when he finds he is getting no attention.

For Parents Only

What About Fits Of Temper How Can They Be Handled?

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Herbert has a frightful temper! I'm at my wits end to know what to do with him! His father just laughs when he throws a tantrum. He walks away leaving me to handle him, saying, "That boy gets his disposition from your side of the family! What can you expect of a red-haired child?"

Herbert's mother has some grounds for complaint. It is no fun to be the parent of a violently angry child. His tendency to temper tantrums is not something he is born with, like the color of his hair. But these explosions are very upsetting for a mother and often exhausting for a child. Father would not find them so amusing if he was taking a fair share of the responsibility of raising Herbert.

Many pre-school children between the ages of one and four or five display temper from time to time. There are various reasons for this. Temper is a form of anger and anger is a violent emotion, usually arising from an inner sense of frustration.

The child is learning so many new skills and meeting [illegible] familiar situations. Frequently he attempts to balance building blocks in making a house with scraps of wood or to do something which he cannot accomplish. His disappointment is overwhelming and he "flies off the handle."

Sometimes his temper tantrum comes from a sense of insecurity. Mother does not carry out a regular routine. He doesn't know what to expect from hour to hour.

One day, after the noon meal, she lets him play with his blocks while she chats with several friends on the phone. The very next day when mother is weary, she puts him to bed. "You must rest," she orders—and then wonders why he is so rebellious.

The sick child and the very tired child are more likely to have temper tantrums than the healthy, rested youngster. Extreme touchiness is often a warning that the child is not feeling well.

Toward the end of the day, a small thing may cause a storm in the child's small world because he is exhausted with strenuous play or a late bedtime the night before. Skipping his afternoon quiet time by himself may produce a cranky youngster. No reasonable parent expects his child to be in a happy mood with a merry smile the whole day long.

Once in a while a temper tantrum is a bid for attention at an inconvenient time for the parent. Occasionally a bright youngster uses this method to get his own way. He knows quite well that mother is at a disadvantage in controlling him when there is company or they are out in public. Mother doesn't want to be conspicuous and she is eager that other grownups admire her well-behaved child. A threat of a temper tantrum is sometimes used as "a big stick" to get his own way.

A parent should remind himself that most children grow out of temper tantrums. If they are not too frequent, better not worry about them. But if a child has several fits of anger in a day, try to find the underlying cause and remedy it.

A very little thing may help overcome temper tantrums. Quietly offer a little assistance if a child is getting discouraged and cross about something he is failing to accomplish. Examine his routine and see if it is a happy medium between a too strict one and no schedule at all. The child who is ailing should be taken to a doctor. If he is worn out, more time for rest is imperative.

Never let a child get his own way by throwing a temper tantrum. Even if it is embarrassing, firmness from the beginning "pays off." Don't meet anger with anger. If mother gets mad too, what is the child learning from her example?

A child swiftly discovers that there is no point in having a temper scene, if he has no audience. Sometimes the simplest thing for mother to do, is to leave the room. If he is left alone he will soon subside. If necessary she can pick up her angry child and carry him to his own room. He can come out when his storm is over.

Woolcott once described a man, "His huff arrived and he departed with it." Ybarra told of an acquaintance "who owned and operated a ferocious temper." No parents want their child to grow into an uncontrolled adult. That is why it is so important to deal wisely with a child's temper bouts.

PCVS Lasses Split In Two Cage Tilts

PCVS Garnet and Grey lasses divided their third successive Friday night basketball doubleheader when the seniors won 28-13 and the juniors lost 23-21 in Cobourg.

For the senior lasses the win was the third straight, with two other wins over Port Hope. For the junior girls the loss was the third straight but they were edged out of a win by the time clock.

Down eight points with three minutes to go, the Garnet and Grey juniors burst into the scoring, led by Maizie Shearer. If the game had lasted a minute longer the final verdict would have been in favor of PCVS; they were outplaying Cobourg High with ease.

But the Cobourg High girls rested back upon an early game lead. They took a 6-2 lead in the first quarter, extended it to 12-6 at the half, and 18-12 at the three-quarter mark. From there the PCVS girls took over, but time ran out before they could go ahead.

Newcomers to basketball this year, the PCVS juniors began to act like basketball players in this game as passing plays featuring Maizie Shearer, Bernice Callan, and Margaret Patterson worked. [illegible] totalled eight points and Callan seven.

Although the guard line was checking well, the Cobourg girls were getting more than their share of the rebounds. Jane Buckland and Millie Hayward were stalwarts with the checking. Noreen Hart and Gladys Oliver each counted six points for Cobourg.

Easy Victory

Audrey Hustwitt's senior Garnet and Grey girls easily picked up their third win. They had an easier time with Cobourg than they did with Port Hope in their first two games.

They took a 14-7 score in the first half as Marg Clark rolled up a nine-point total, the other points going to Shirley Frost. Marg Clark continued her pace in the second half with help from Janet Frederick, Betty Thomson, Betty Jones and Shirley Frost to again outscore Cobourg 14-6.

With a brilliant close-in display Marg Clark walked off with the top scoring honors with 13 points. Second place went to Cobourg's Maradon with six points. Janet Frederick and Shirley Frost were other PCVS standouts with their shooting from the keyhole area.

Despite a broken finger, Maureen Fletcher led the guard line which was too strong for the Lakeshore lasses. Fletcher's performance was aided by steady checking by Nancy Rowell and Betty Wilkinson.

The lineups:

Junior Game

Cobourg 23—Boyle 3, Despell 4, Hart 6, Oliver 6, McGuire 4, Lawless, Hogan, Barr, Craig, Burleigh, McKenzie.

PCVS 21—Dobson 2, Patterson, Raddon 2, Callan 7, Shearer 8, Hughson 2, Hayward, Bradburn, Buckland, Bertram, Rose Steele.

Senior Game

BRUCE HUMPER CHOSEN

Bruce Humber, chosen to coach Canada's Olympic track and field team at Helsinki, Friday in Victoria, BC, expressed determination to justify the confidence placed in him. "It's a tremendous thrill," he said, when informed of the Canadian Olympic Committee's decision in Ottawa Thursday night.

Robinson Delays Bout Again, Back Too Sore

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP). — Carl (Bobo) Olson and Rocky Graziano will have to wait a while longer before they get a crack at middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

George Gainford, Robinson's manager, called off scheduled title bouts with Olson and Graziano Friday. Gainford said Robinson is suffering from an aching back and will be out of action indefinitely.

"Ray will go through with those fights but not until his back injury heals," Gainford said. "It's painful and he can hardly straighten up. We don't know when the pain will heal.

"We definitely will go through with the Olson fight in San Francisco before we do anything else, and that includes exhibitions. The bouts are just indefinitely postponed."

In San Francisco, promoter William Kyne was a bit peeved. "These postponements are just too expensive and I'm fed up with them," Kyne said. He said he may take action against Robinson if he doesn't appear against Olson.

Abe J. Greene, NBA commissioner, said if the California Boxing Commission should take some action in the Robinson case the NBA "would follow through."

Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission would also back up any decision by the California authorities.

It was the third postponement of the Robinson-Olson fight.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, Robinson's physician, said the champ was suffering from a "lumbo sacral sprain"—a sprain of a muscle in the lower part of the back.

Montreal Rinks Win In Finals

QUEBEC, Feb. 2 (CP).—Two Montreal rinks with a chance to capture major awards of Quebec's 39th International Bonspiel, came through with final-round victories Friday night.

The week-long tournament with a list of 120 rinks, ended today with semi-finals and finals in nine other competitions.

A Montreal rink skipped by E. L. Gallagher won the Chateau International Trophy with an easy 14-6 victory over O. Samson's foursome of Quebec Jacques Cartier. The win marked the second time Gallagher has piloted a rink to the award in four years.

Ira McEwen's Montreal Thistle rink won the Holt-Renfrew International Trophy when he edged a Quebec foursome, skipped by Dr. A. D. Beaudin, 11-10, in a close game.

Alf Muth of Quebec Victoria won the Omega International when he outlasted a fast-closing Fredericton team, skipped by Ralph Limerick, 11-9. The New Brunswickers almost upset the Quebecers when he scored four stones in the last end.

A newcomer to the bonspiel, Mac Anapini led his Copper Cliff, Ont., rink to the first victory in the International Gold Cup competition, with a 10-8 win over Gaston Amyot of Quebec Jacques Cartier, in a see-saw game.

Last night's games left the race for the grand aggregate award—going to the rink winning the most games—wide open. Muth leads with seven rinks and one loss. Gallagher follows with seven wins and two losses, but has a possibility of two more wins as he continues in another competition. Muth is eliminated from further play.

Invite Donations

Grover Cleveland Alexander, a baseball immortal who spent the last years of his life in virtual obscurity in St. Paul, Nebr., was described Friday as "even more forsaken in death."

His remains lie in an almost unmarked grave, the St. Paul Phonograph, weekly newspaper, reported.

The newspaper invited donations to a fund to give the fabulous pitcher, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, 'a 'fitting resting place."

Alexander died 15 months ago in a rented room in a private home in St. Paul at the age of 63. In nearly 20 years in baseball, he chalked up pitching records that still stand. In 1916 alone he pitched 16 shutouts. He won 373 of 696 games he pitched for the Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cards.

A motion picture based on his life is being produced.

SCORES ONE POINT

Canada scored one victory in the slalom race at Voss, Norway, Friday, marking the opening of the annual Holmenkollen Ski Festival. Rosemary Schutz, Montreal, won the women's event in one minute, 43.1 seconds. Behind her was Rhoda Wurtele Eaves, Montreal, in 1:44.6.

DICKIE MOORE, the upright Habitant in the left of this winter scene, might be hollering "yoo-hoo Charlie" to the prostrate Rayner. Dangerous Dick set up Maurice Richard on this play, the evening's one scoring thrust. The cluster of Rangers is an indication of the closeness of their backchecking, futile in this case only.

Norwood Captures Win Over Hastings

HASTINGS, Feb. 2— (ENS). — Hastings intermediates dropped another toughie last night in the TVL as Norwood came out on the top of a 9-7 score, before a large crowd, and again it was the first period that beat them as Norwood outscored them 6-2 in that frame. It was heavy going on ice that got progressively worse, but in spite of it, both teams played fast, rugged hockey.

Morow and Herrington were the top goal-getters for Hastings with two apiece, while Isaac back in his old spot on defence looked like the best man on the ice. Payne, Robinson and Whitnell looked best up front for Norwood, with Tompkins the mainstay in defence. Both goalies were kept busy and turned in good chores.

With 15 seconds to go, Connie Peck pulled Red Hill out of the net and threw six forwards on the attack, but Norwood held fast.

Hastings — Goal, Hill; defence, Isaac and Taylor; centre Stevenson; wings, Herrington and Morrow; alternates, Colby, Huard, Jeffs, Blacke, White, Peterson, Parsons.

Ted Williams rolled a neat cross of 815 and single of 334 Thursday night to capture both honors in the Playfair Mercantile League. G. Doherty placed second among men with a fine 729 (313). Other good scores were R. Lee 724 (279), M. O'Donnell 679 (276), B. Murray 653 (283) and J. Stark 643 (266). Marnie McNulty led the ladies with 609 while Marg. Rogers was close behind with 604.

Seven points were chalked up by Kesco over Ovaltine and Austin's over Combines. The remaining teams won split decisions of 5 and 2. Harrison's won high pinnage for the evening with 3144.

Knox still leads the loop with 113 points, followed closely by Austin with 108, Kesco 104, Harrison's 101, Mustangs 94, Grant & Loucks 86, J. J. Turner 79, Pet. Canoe 74, Cherney's 73, A & P 71, Co-Op 69, Pet. Express 68, Turner's 62, Loblaw's 59, UCO 58, Combines 41, Dom. Store 33, and Ovaltine with 25.

WINS TWO-MILE RUN

Don Scott McEwen, former Ottawa track star, Friday night won the two-mile run in the Milwaukee Journal games in Milwaukee to establish a meet record. The 22-year-old athlete, now a member of the University of Michigan track team, ran away from the five-man field to finish in 9:15.7.

Marlboros Clip Kitchener 6-1 To Keep Their First-Place Lead

By The Canadian Press.

Three Junior A Ontario Hockey Association games Friday night failed to jar Toronto Marlboros in their first-place spot, but a couple of ties lower down in the standings were broken.

Marlboros kept their six-point lead over their nearest contender in the race—Guelph Biltmores — by defeating Kitchener Greenshirts 6-1 at Kitchener. The Dukes now have 65 points for the season.

Biltmores managed to break a tie for second place by taking a 4-1 decision from Oshawa Generals at Guelph that had no affect on the Oshawa club's tail-end spot in the league.

Flyers worked hard at Barrie to break their seventh-place tie with St. Catharines Teepees and staved off the visitors in the third period long enough to preserve a 2-1 victory. Flyers now enjoy seventh place exclusively.

Win Clear Title

In the Senior A loop of the OHA Brantford Redmen won a clear title to third place when they defeated Hamilton Tigers 2-1. Tigers pulled their goalie in the last minute of play but even with three face-offs in the Brantford end, they couldn't shove the puck past Brantford's Gill Woodall.

The league-leading Stratford Indians suffered a 4-2 set-back on home ice at the hands of Owen Sound Mercury's. The game resulted in a shoulder injury for Billy Flick, Stratford right winger, that may keep him out of action until the play-offs.

The win shoved Mercs into fourth place.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen had little trouble blanking the host Sarnia Sailors 10-0.

In the Kitchener game, Wally Maxwell was top scorer for Marlboros with two goals. Danny Poland, Eric Nesterenko, Parker MacDonald and Gus Karrys earned singletons. Jack Novak scored Kitchener's only goal.

Harry Howell, Ken Laufman, Danny Blair and Billy McCreary scored for Biltmores at Guelph. Fred Etcher scored Oshawa's lone tally.

Click For Barrie

Ron Stewart of Barrie and Paul Emms scored for Barrie in the game at St. Catharines. Teepees' single goal was scored by Pierre Pilote.

At Brantford, Hamilton's goalie Harvey Bennett stopped 43 shots but Don Oberholtzer and Billy Russell of Brantford managed to get one each past him. Johnny Conick was Hamilton's goal-getter.

Owen Sound Mercurys scored their four goals all in the second period at Stratford and Stratford got in their two in the third. Scoring for Mercs were Buck Forslund, two, Mike Buckcheski and Ab Grant. Mickey Roth and Jack White scored for Stratford.

Dutchmen scorers at the Sarnia shutout were Don Bauer and Ed Stankiewicz with two each and Mike Dzuira, Bobby Schnurr, Maurice Levesque, Billy Mitchell, Doug Verity and Jim Purnfuss.

Omemee Arena Holds Open House

Premier Leslie M. Frost dropped the first puck Friday night to open the "Open House" at Omemee Arena. About 1,000 residents of the village and district were on hand to watch a full evening of hockey provided by local talent.

Purpose of the "Open House" was to acquaint the populace with the activities that go on in the arena.

The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, director of ceremonies, said that there were enough hockey players in the village to make up 12 hockey teams. But they need the full support of loyal hockey fans at the box office.

L. W. (Mac) McKenzie, arena manager, said that at some games box office receipts were not more than $5. So the arena committee under the chairmanship of Reeve Harry Deyell are starting on a campaign to popularize the game.

$100 In Prizes

Local merchants chipped in with draw prizes valued at $100 in all. The lucky draws plus nearly three hours of hockey, community singing and neighborly chitchat among fans made up a full evening of entertainment.

Premier Frost was in top form. He arrived fifteen minutes before the program was scheduled to commence and stationed himself at the box office. While there he shook hands and gave an airy greeting to everybody that entered the arena.

Later he told the cheering villagers that it was a great pleasure for him to be back once again in Omemee. He said he could well remember the opening of the arena 17 years before.

He complimented Reeve Deyell and the arena staff, Mr. Zufelt and Mr. McKenzie on their work in promoting hockey among the youth of the village.

Community Centre

"Throughout the 17 years this arena has been a fine community centre," he said.

Premier Frost also recalled that the reeve of the village when the arena was erected was the late Wilbert Moncrieff. And he paid tribute to Mr. Moncrieff's efforts in pushing the project ahead.

After posing for photographers Mr. Frost dropped the puck and the first of two games of furious shinny, played by Squirts and Pee-Wees, got underway. Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, who has also been in politics, courteously escorted Mr. Frost to the centre of the ice for the puck-dropping ceremony. Then he escorted the Premier back when the photographers were through.

He also refereed the first two games.

Mayor Waddell

Mayor Hugh Waddell, Peterborough, brought the greetings of city council and Peterborough residents to the village. He faced off the second game.

Arena Manager McKenzie estimates that there are more than 190 eligible hockey players in the district between the Pee-Wee stage (under 10 years) and Intermediate "B" (no age limit).

Three of the Hyland children who live on George St., Omemee, won draw prizes. Lorraine Hyland won the much-prized half-ton of coal; Ralph Hyland won five pounds of butter; and Jean Hyland won $5 in cash.

Other prize-winners were: Roger Price, cash and merchandise credits; Mrs. Lorne Middleton, cash; Harold Mitchell, motor oil; Mrs. Wilson Ellis, dishes and a garbage container; Joan Fox, fruit cake; Bill Mitchell, 25 pounds of flour; Frances Lucas, clothing; Helen Smith, merchandise; Mrs. Gerald Nelson, merchandise; Judy Cornwall, lotion; Thomas A. McConnell, roasting pan; Mrs. Francis Williamson, motor oil; John Smith, merchandise; Mrs. Lorne English, electric iron and basket of groceries; Mrs. Clem Parks, billfold and pen; Walter Byers, bologna; Marilynne Green, thermos flask; and other lucky winners included Gerald Nelson, John Pogue, Nancy Robinson, and Garfield Whitney.

The jovial crowd got a good laugh out of two of the draws—Don Hicks and Doug Givens won the two home permanent sets.

Paper Questions Importance Of Seaway Plan

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (CP)—The New York Times today raised the question whether the St. Lawrence seaway is more important than other projects in which the United States is interested.

In an editorial, The Times noted that Canada, after waiting since 1941 for Congress to approve the project, now has served notice that she will build the seaway alone and rely on the province of Ontario and some US agency to proceed with the proposed hydro-electric plant.

"In spite of all the government reports, all the surveys and all the hearings held by Congressional committees it is still not clear whether the seaway is as economically necessary as its advocates think it is," the editorial said.

No Doubt

"There is less doubt about the [illegible] electric plant. This state's shortage of electric power during the recent war should not be forgotten."

It is a question whether the seaway is more important than US commitments to Europe, the development of the atomic bomb or carrying out implications of the US plan for aiding under-developed countries, The Times said, observing that "our financial economic resources are not inexhaustible."

The most sensible approach, the newspaper said, is that stated in a Senate minority report:

"'It is not simply a question of whether a project is useful. It is, in the last analysis, a question of whether it is more useful than some other project.'"

Five-Day Hearing Into Estate Ends

TORONTO, Feb. 2 —(CP)—A five-day hearing into the estate of the late publisher of The Toronto Daily Star, Joseph Atkinson, concluded Friday.

A. S. Marriott, senior master of the Ontario Supreme Court, will report to the Ontario Court of Appeal, which directed that the review be made. The Appellate Court asked further particulars of $375,000 charged against the estate by the National Trust Company for services as its executor.

The bill was appealed by the public trustee, Armand Racine, on the grounds it was excessive. Mr. Marriott ruled Friday that questions concerning the salaries of Mr. Atkinson and the men who operate the paper were not relevant and therefore inadmissible as evidence.

Reject Plea For Help

WINDSOR, Feb. 2 —(CP)—The provincial government's official rejection of Windsor's plea for relief aid was received Friday by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume. In a letter, Welfare Minister Goodfellow stated that Ontario "could not assume any responsibility for the payment of allowances supplementary to those now being paid by the Federal government through unemployment insurance."

Spend Largest Amount

TORONTO, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Health Minister Phillips said Friday that the Ontario government is spending the largest amount in its history for health purposes. In a special message issued in connection with National Health Week, he estimated provincial health spending amounts to $40,000,000 a year or almost $9 for every man, woman and child in Ontario.

Kenya People Praised Developing Country

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 2 (AP) —Princess Elizabeth praised today the men and women "of all races" who took East Africa away from wild animal herds and turned Nairobi into what she called "a great centre of commerce and finance" in the dark continent.

She spoke at a civic luncheon on the second day of a week-long stopover here before she sails on the rest of a five-month tour to Asiatic and "down-under" parts of the Commonwealth.

The Princess said "vast human and social problems" still confront residents of Kenya colony of which Nairobi is the capital.

When her father was born about the turn of the century, Elizabeth said, Nairobi "was a savage place, the home of innumerable wild animals and uninhabited except for occasional bands of nomadic herdsmen. Now it is a city."

Need Financial Support

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—Walter Jackson of London, Ont., declared Friday that the province should give financial support to agricultural exhibitions. Mr. Jackson, president of the International Associations of Fairs and Exhibitions, told the annual meeting of the Ontario Cattle Breeders' Association that exhibitions have done a tremendous job in promoting government programs.

Suicide Verdict

MILDMAY, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP)—A coroner's jury found Friday that George Whittacker met death by suicide when he died Jan. 26 while in a Mildmay jail cell from a .22 calibre rifle bullet shortly after he had been arrested. The jury attached no blame to police chief Clayton Lobsinger for the jail cell shooting, but recommended all prisoners be searched in future.

Purchase Freighter

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (CP)—The Isbrandtsen Line has purchased the 10,660-ton cargo-freighter, Noonday, to replace the Flying Enterprise, a New York ship broker announced Friday. Capt. Kurt Carlsen won fame for his vain efforts to get the Flying Enterprise to Falmouth, England last month.

Ask 32-Hour Week

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2 (CP) — British Columbia's biggest union decided Friday to try for a 32-hour work week in 1952 contracts with the same take-home pay as for the current 40 hours. Basic wage now is $1.29½ an hour. The BC district of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) also reaffirmed support of the CCF party.

2 Halifax Ballet Dancers Thrill Montreal Audience

By MAX McMAHON

MONTREAL, Feb. 2—(CP)—Montreal theatregoers today are talking in glowing terms of two young ballet dancers from Halifax who for the last two nights have thrilled them with their superb dancing.

In the second Montreal performance of the Canadian National Ballet Company Friday night, the fiery and passionate Pas de Deux from Don Quixote as danced by Jury Gotshalks and Irene Apine was interrupted time and again as their flashing movements brought thunderous applause.

Thursday night, the same tumultuous acclaim was given their portrayal of the Nutecracker Prince and the Sugar Plum Fairy —acclaim for Miss Apine's delicate dancing and for Mr. Gotshalk's seeming effortless leaps and spins.

Friday night they were called for several solo encores.

Dancing with a brilliance that was breathtaking, the young couple brought to a bare stage all the heat and passion associated with Spain.

Born In Latvia

Both were born in Riga, Latvia, where they studied in national theatre ballet companies and both have been in Canada only a few years. In Halifax, Mr. Gotshalks was director of the Conservatory Ballet School and Miss Apine was ballerina and choreographer with the Halifax Ballet Guild.

Celia Franca, director of the Canadian National Ballet Company, brought the audience to its feet with her performance of Swanhilda in Coppelia.

In her portrayal of the doll that is brought to life, her mechanical yet beautifully graceful movements brought gasps of astonishment from her audience.

Then, when she danced the part of a young girl in love she showed the mastery of the dance that brought forth gales of laughter Sadler's Wells Company of England to form the Canadian National Ballet Company less than a year ago. Company members were recruited by her from Canadian communities from coast to coast.

The depth of feeling she put into her portrayals made one realize why Dame Ninette de Valois, director of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, called her "probably the finest dramatic dancer 'Wells' ever had."

Does Comedy Well

Grant Strate, of Cardston, Alta., brought forth gales folaughter for the hilarious comedy he put into his portrayal of Dr. Coppelius the toy maker who brings the doll to life.

Probably the most remarkable group performance was the Polovetsian dances from Prince Igor.

Set in an armed Tartar camp, the dancers portraying the tribesmen and their women danced with a frenzy that made their gaudy costumes seem like splashes of flame against the sombre mountain background.

Their magnificent energy was offset by the slow and sensuous movements of the slave girls, dressed in filmy pastel Oriental costumes.

The Etude by Tchaikovsky and the Ballet Composite — Brahms variations on a theme by Hayden —beautifully and delicately danced, completed the program.

Aid Fire Victims

PICTON, Feb. 2 (CP)—Farmers in the Bethesda district are planning a shower and various donations in aid of the family of Bert Carter whose home, 10 miles north of here, was destroyed by fire Thursday. The Carters have eight children.

Consistent Winners

ROSETOWN, Sask., — (CP) — Bidding and making a little slam at bridge isn't unusual. But Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cracknell bid and made five little slams in a row at a bridge tournament here.

Home Building "Unrestricted"

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters said Friday the Federal government has no restrictions on credit and materials for home-building.

He was commenting on a Toronto report Thursday quoting Premier Frost as saying Ontario's housing problems can only be solved by the Federal government freeing restrictions on credit and building materials.

Mr. Winters said that, despite large demand for building materials for other uses, there appear to be enough materials on hand for a "substantial" building program. The facilities of the National Housing Act continued available on the basis that down-payment requirements were about 20 per cent of the cost of a house. Joint loans were available to the full extent that lending institutions operating under the act would participate.

Warkworth Guild Meets

WARKWORTH, Feb. 2 (ENS). —The Guild of St. John's Anglican church was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Mowat. The president, Mrs. Meneilley presided and Mrs. E. Huycke, the secretary, gave the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Marvin Bailey moved that the same officers remain in office as those who held office in year 1951. This motion was seconded by Mrs. Hunter and was accepted by the members.

Cinderella Of '52 Attends Ball And Wins Spring Ensemble

Cinderella of the fairy tale could not have attended a nicer ball than that held Friday night by the Peterborough Y's Men's Club—their fourth annual Cinderella Ball at the Club Aragon. And the Y's men play the part of the fairy godmother in a more material way, though they don't guarantee a Prince Charming to call the following day and offer a kingdom to the girl who can wear the Cinderella slipper.

Miss Viola Foster is the Cinderella of 1952 and was a very delighted girl when her name was drawn by Mayor Hugh Waddell. She told the crowd she comes from Halifax, Nova Scotia, but there's no doubt she truly likes Peterborough, especially now. The smartly styled wool suit and the newest spring fashion hat given her by the club were even in her size and looked very becoming when she tried them on.

President Joe Barnard welcomed Miss Foster as she came up on the bandstand and Bob Miller and Joe Watson of the committee in charge of the Ball also officiated in the presentation, while Miss Ann Lewis assisted by modelling the ensemble. Cinderella's escort for the evening was Mr. Roy Gilchrist and he was given a small gift.

There was also a consolation prize for the losers and Miss Marg. Thompson was the winner, receiving a cosmetic kit.

Miniature slippers were given to each lady as she entered the hall and four of these had lucky numbers entitling the finder to a prize. Mrs. Joe Rogow, Miss Mary Wannamaker, Mrs. Bun Henry and Mrs. Jack Brady received the gifts. Souvenir match books were the favors for the gentlemen.

Giant-sized silvered slipper outlines glittered in the lights on the bandstand and in the background was the "golden coach" from which Cinderella alighted after she had dressed in the gift ensemble.

Members of the Y's Men's Club and their ladies attending the Ball were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Watson, Mr. Ray Brown, Mr. Robert Miller, Mr. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Gillespie, Mr. Ernie Darling and Miss Elaine Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Stan. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Selkirk, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McFarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Horwood, Mr. and Mrs. G. Garton, Mr. and Mrs. Cec Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richardson.

Their guests were:

Miss Lorraine Barnett and Mr. Gary Chambers, Miss Elinor Harrington and Mr. Freddie Fitzgerald, Miss Lois Jones and Mr. Al. Beavis, Miss Phil Alexander and Mr. Ken Faggetter, Miss Connie McGlynn and Mr. Murray Styles, Miss M. Macillroy and Mr. F. Marsh of Belleville, Miss Eleen Holland and Mr. George Collins, Miss Lillian Glaum and Mr. Les Payne, Miss Jessie Aeron and Mr. D. Miss Helen Cook Heads New Club In Belmont Twp.

HAVELOCK, Feb. 2 (ENS). — The Devotional and Handicrafts Club of Rush Point community is a new organization, sponsored by the Sunday school of the White church, which has been organized to meet the need of Christian fellowship not only among the young people but those of more mature years. It is the outcome of much thought and planning by Mrs. Cora Curtis who saw the need for such an organization in that district and which will be carried on under her leadership.

A meeting was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Barton with an attendance of 46 persons which gives evidence of the popularity of the project. The following officers were elected:

Honorary president, Mrs. Cora Curtis; president, Miss Helen Cook; vice-president, Miss Veletta Embleton; secretary - treasurer, Miss Betty Cook; pianists, Miss Joan Seeney and Miss Barbara Pollock. Devotional leaders, Mrs. Earl Pollock and Mrs. Reginald Barton.

It was decided to hold the meetings every two weeks, the next meeting being on February 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Newton.

The president, Miss Helen Cook, opened the devotional period with a call to worship, followed by the singing of a hymn. A poem was read by Miss Joan Seeney, the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. R. Barton and Mrs. Curtis offered pray . A girls' quartette comprising four Cook sisters, Helen, Dorothy, Betty and Frances sang "It is No Secret" to guitar accompaniment by Marie Newton. A reading was given by Mrs. Earl Pollock and prayer by the Rev. R. G. Newman, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison brought the devotional period to a close.

Mrs. Curtis is giving instruction in various handicrafts, divided into different groups according to choice. Three of these groups were started for knitting, crocheting and shellcraft. In view for the future tuition are doll making, clay modelling and leather work.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Barton for opening their home for the meeting by Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Earl Pollock. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Hamilton Woman Directs Plumbing Firm

HAMILTON (CP). — Mary Goodram, brown-eyed and 36, is boss of a million-dollar plumbing business—but not particularly because she knows about plumbing.

"I like working with figures," says the president of Goodram Brothers Limited. "And I enjoy the competition of bidding for contracts and the sense of satisfaction that comes from doing a good job."

Miss Goodram had 15 years' experience in the business before she took over the helm two years ago on the death of her father, William Goodram.

From a small office on the company's second floor she keeps in touch with between 60 and 100 employees, most of them men.

"Sometimes I work in the office until midnight," she said. "And I take the work home with me four or five nights a week."

Attending to business this way doesn't leave much time for anything else. But it's paying off. In the last nine months Goodram Brothers has rolled up a volume of more than $1,000,000, highest since it was founded 43 years ago by William Goodram.

Associated with Miss Goodram are an uncle, Frederick Goodram who is vice-president, and secretary-treasurer James B. Boyter. The three comprise the board of directors with Miss Goodram controlling the majority of stock.

The firm will tackle any kind of plumbing and heating job. Miss Goodram has the final say in buying materials, must cope with shortages and fluctuating prices.

Says her uncle: "She's a smart girl and she was well educated in the business by her father. She is doing very well."

Folk Schools Explained Revelation To Art Assoc.

The folk school movement was discussed at the Women's Art Association studio meeting Friday afternoon by Mrs. Elizabeth Banigan Day, a young woman who has attended numerous folk schools in Canada and United States.

To many of her audience it was a revelation, for, if they thought about them at all, they formed various concepts of a "folk school" one of which pictured it as it was described by Mrs. Day. She said the term is misleading but is used for lack of a better one, though in some places it is called "rural life conference," "community life" and the like. Her definition of a folk school was "A specialized form of adult education in which a group of people study and live together and strive to develop a better Canadian culture." The word "folk" is used in its original sense to mean "people."

The purpose of a folk school is to try to make people 18 to 80 years of age aware of the part they can play in community building and to release latent talents in order to bring about greater personal development. Mrs. Day observed that amazing things happened to the groups after they had discussed controversial subjects in these schools. He said they have been a success to all students who were in sympathy with the purpose and really tried to get something out of the lectures, handicraft and folk dancing lessons and more particularly the art of living a week or two with other people, sharing the work and pleasures. Most folk schools are residential for the period as this "living together" emphasizes the purpose.

The movement is fairly new in Ontario and is being pushed forward by an enthusiast John Madson who comes from Denmark, the country of its origin. Folk schools started in Denmark in 1844 and were for a nationalistic purpose which has been greatly successful. Danish culture and the Danish language have been upheld through the years and by improvement of the individual there has been improvement in the nation. The country is an example of co-operation and the ability to get along with fellow men, Mrs. Day pointed out.

"Farm Forums are a vital medium of influence in this country not realized by us city slickers," the speaker remarked. She said Citizen's Forums, in the cities could be just as alive and progressive. As in the folk schools, forum members learn to do things, to look up, forward and ahead on subjects discussed. "They learn there are more facets to this business of living than they realized and learn to walk happily on the pathway."

It was suggested that the Art Association members would do well to look into the possibilities of the folk school movement and also of the forums. Mrs. Day remarked that schools are usually held because it is realized there is a need for something to bring about co-operation and pointed out as example Manitoba which gained much economically by overcoming the despondent feeling of the people.

President Mrs. N. D. Seaton presided for the meeting and expressed appreciation to the speaker. Mrs. Day was formerly Miss Elizabeth Banigan of Toronto, and last fall married Mr. E. J. Day of Mount Brecken Farm, Watford, whom she had first met at a folk school in Lambton County.

City Young People Holding Services Start 'Youth Week'

Christian Youth Week is to be celebrated February 3rd to 9th. Formerly it was called CGIT Week but this year the YPU and Tuxis organizations are having special services too, hence the change in name.

In Peterborough each CGIT group has made special plans for the week, the Murray St. group being the first to celebrate at a mother and daughter banquet tonight when Miss Jean Mailing, of St. Thomas, who organized them while in this city, is to be speaker.

Young people are invited to the special CGIT church service being held Sunday evening at Knox Church with Mrs. J. K. West, of St. Thomas, the speaker. Mrs. West is the wife of a Presbyterian minister. It is expected she will stay to attend the supper meeting of the Girls' Council on Monday.

The Young People's Supper Club of George St. Church will mark the beginning of the week with a special meeting at the parsonage Sunday afternoon at four forty five o'clock.

A YPU city-wide service is being held at Murray St. Church Sunday evening with the Rev. Henry Cotton, of St. Andrew's Church, the speaker. An interesting fireside meeting is to follow.

Noted Flier Visits Factory

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, Feb. 2 —(AP)—Mme. Jacqueline Auriol, daughter-in-law of the president of France and holder of the world's aircraft speed record for women, put in a little helicopter time Friday.

Mme. Auriol, who flew a British Vampire jet 510 miles an hour in May, 1951, stopped in for a visit a the Bell Aircraft Corporation. She earned her helicopter pilot's licence here more than a year ago.

The noted woman flier arrived in the United States three weeks ago for plastic surgery. She was severely injured in 1949 when her plane crashed.

She has undergone plastic surgery in a sucessful effort to restore her face. Today, the only sign of a series of operations is a small adhesive patch on her nose, where doctors recently grafted a piece of bone.

Change Your Usual Cake Into A Valentine Day Special

In just two steps you can change an everyday cake into a Valentine's Day special. Add cranberry topping and watch eyes brighten when you bring your Cranberry Valentine to the table.

So easy-to-make . . . so good to eat. But this is all you have to do.

First . . . bake a spice cake (packaged mix does a beautiful job) in a heart-shaped pan. Or bake it in a square pan, and when cool, cut around a large heart-shaped pattern into as large a heart as possible.

Now the topping . . . cover the spice cake with a confectioners' sugar icing. Outline the heart top with drained crushed pineapple and fill the centre with cranberry sauce.

CRANBERRY PINEAPPLE HEART CAKE

1 recipe packaged spice cake mix
1 recipe confectioners' sugar frosting
1 small can crushed pineapple, drained
1 pound can whole cranberry sauce, drained

Bake spice cake in heart-shaped pan according to directions on package. Drain juice from crushed pineapple for liquid in making confectioners' sugar frosting. Frost spice cake.

Border heart cake with crushed pineapple (drained) and fill centre with drained whole cranberry sauce.

NOTE: Crushed pineapple and whole cranberry sauce may be mixed together for topping, if desired.

CRANBERRY HEART CAKE

two-thirds cup shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup milk
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
Canned jellied cranberry sauce, crushed whipped cream, sweetened, tinted pink

Cream shortening thoroughly, gradually adding sugar. When light and fluffy, add well-beaten egg yolks. Sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt, and add alternately with the milk, a little of each at a time. Beat well; add flavoring and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 2 greased heart-shaped layer pans in moderately hot oven, 375 degress F., about 25 minutes.

When cool, spread cranberry sauce between the layers. Just before serving, cover with slightly sweetened whipped cream, tinted pink.

DOROTHY DIX

Usually Find Pampered Boy Is Unsatisfactory Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: Does a spoiled child ever grow up? I think in our case my husband's folks won't give him a chance. He is the favorite in his family, and his brothers and sisters say their parents always favored him. The other children in his family are permitted to live their own lives without constant supervision, but we are not. We must submit all our plans to his parents for their ok. If there is a difference of opinion on what should be done, their ideas are the ones carried out. Whenever my husband gets into any kind of trouble he goes to his parents. They are always buying things for him, and until lately bought all his clothes. His folks don't have too much money and really should be saving for a rainy day. My husband says he'll take care of them, but I don't see how he can when he can't even care for his own family now.

ALTHEA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's difficult sometimes to draw the line between a devoted son and a dependent one; if you know you're married to a man of the latter type, you have snagged just about as poor a matrimonial risk as there is. A grown man who still enjoys being babied by his parents to the point where he seeks their attention at the risk of neglecting his wife and children will certainly never be the mainstay of his own household.

He Has a Chance

If the condition is a superficial, rather than a fundamental one, there's a chance that hubby may be jolted out of it by some circumstance that will awaken his latent sense of responsibility. It is, after all, nothing more than a desire to shirk responsibility that makes a man cling to his mother's apron strings long after they should have been cut. The inability to make decisions without parental sanction is further evidence of the complete childishness of a mother-dominated son. If your husband could see himself in this guise of spineless jellyfish, unable to plan his own life, to resist the gifts lavished on him by parents who themselves need the money, he might brace up and achieve at least some semblance of manhood.

A woman usually knows quite well before marriage if her husband has been pampered by doting parents and is unlikely to get over it. With characteristic feminine optimism regarding reform, she is sure he'll change after marriage. Of course he doesn't. By the time the little woman realizes this, it's too late to do much of anything except accept the situation.

Moving away might solve part of the problem, but it is a most difficult step to effect. Sonny simply cannot be budged by anything less than a tidal wave from the close proximity of mother and dad.

Reasoning is likewise futile, and threats avail nothing. If you gradually assume all responsibility for the home yourself (except for financial support), your husband may one day realize he is losing his position as head of the family, and come down to earth.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I go to high school and am very much in love with a boy I've known four years. He is a football hero and is very popular, while I'm not. I'm not particularly attractive, and though I know I'm young, I really do care for him. It isn't just the fact that he's a hero, either, because I knew him before he played football.

T. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My dear child, you are in love with your football hero and so, I'll wager, are 50% of the other girls in your school. The big, handsome, popular guys in high school are always the object of adulation from scores of schoolmates, usually freshmen or sophomores. If you can hero-worship without expecting a return, continue to adore him, but the chances of his ever even noticing you're in school are very slim. Every school has its glamour boy, with a consequent trail of broken dreams among the younger girls. Like the measles, this is a passing phase and by the time you finish school, you'll wonder what you ever saw in your football hero.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Can a person love twice, or is marriage for companionship likely to be successful? I'm a widow of 50 with a good job and my own money. I have met a widower the same age who thinks a lot of me but I can't love him as I did my husband. He can't save money, spends it foolishly, but says after we're married we'll save. I don't want to give my job up. He likes to drink a lot and doesn't go to church. My friends think I should get married.

LIZZIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: For heaven's sake, Lizzie, don't take advice from friends, no matter how helpful they seem to be. You are apparently very reluctant to marry your widower—and rightfully so, I think. He probably will save money after marriage—but it will be your money, not his. He has nothing to recommend him as a matrimonial risk for you. You are happy and content now; stay that way, at least until you meet someone worthier of you. Marriage for companionship is possible and can be a very fine thing, but you must first be assured that the man you have in mind will be a good companion. There is so much incompatibility already between you and your friend, which will get worse after marriage, as it always does, that I strongly urge you to give up wedding plans—at least until you are more convinced of a good future.

Parisiennes Like Costume Jewelry In New Trend

PARIS (Reuters) Parisiennes who have never worn costume jewelry before have suddenly become conscious of the smart effect of its concentrated glitter on dark winter clothes.

Pearls and rhinestones set the keynote, supplemented by endless variations of sparkling crystal and colored glass— a kaledoscope of ornate clips, necklaces and earrings.

Couturier Jacques Fath favors large rhinestone arrows piercing the shoulder of a black sweater.

Newest trends feature blatantly imitation stones set like real jewelry with silver settings, invisible prongs and skilful jewel cuts and planing. Using colors to play up the season's couture shades, emerald, sapphire and ruby are duplicated in inexpensive glass. Aqua-marine, amethyst and amber stones are both used and extensively imitated. Bronze and gunmetal pearls are smart with the new dark greys and the range of brown tones.

Pearls Popular

Pearls continue to be popular, necklaces ranging from one to eight strands. Color combinations include various shades of the same hue, or feature contrasting tones. Bronze and amber pearls are effectively intertwined with white ones, or may be interspaced with bits of clear crystal.

Such objects as champagne corks, gambling chips and nuts have gate-crashed the jewelry scene, especially on chunky collars or charm bracelets.

Finally, there is the latest thing in finger nails—which are slip covered for evening wear with gold filagree frames, highlighted with twinkling diamond chips.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I didn't expect a personal reply—it was a pleasant surprise, for I know you must be a busy person...we often have scalloped potatoes and ham—both smoked and fresh. It is a favourite at our house with the ham and potatoes is scalloped tomatoes and apples covered with brown sugar and cinnamon with a biscuit topping cooked in the oven with an oven meal is another favourite. Also canned peaches or cherries cooked under a white cake batter and served with the juice thickened and used as a sauce.

Frequently I make what my recipe calls a "batter pudding" during the winter. This has several variations but the general idea is a batter cooked in a sauce and then served upside down.

The batter is similar to cake without eggs and can be white, chocolate, butterscotch (with brown sugar) or spice with nuts or raisins, and is dropped into the sauce made of cocoa, sugar and warm water or brown sugar, margarine and warm water. It is interesting and inexpensive if the quota of fruits and other protective foods have been filled for the the day and something is needed to fill hungry growing children.

Were your children always hungry? Our nine-year-old seems to have a cavity like the Christmas stocking the mouse ate the toe out of. Our twelve-year-old daughter can eat a huge dinner and in 20 minutes be hungry, and what makes me green with envy, they eat and eat and stay like string beans and it seems if I look at and smell a cake or pie I gain another pound . . . thanks for the chart and your interesting articles. Jill D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Yes—my children are always hungry. They have been famished ever since they started going to kindergarten. Only last night, and they are now 17 and 19, I watched with amazement, both of them reach behind them from the dinner table to a bowl of fruit and eat a banana, after they had had beef stew with dumplings, carrot, celery, onion and a generous portion of salad, a large bowl of apricots and 4 oatmeal date squares each and a 10-ounce glass of milk. Pete's the prize bean-pole, weighing about 170 lbs. but with a height of 6 ft. 2 in.

Because your idea of serving a batter pudding over canned fruit, and using the juice for a sauce is such a practical one I thought I would outline it in detail here, for those who would like to copy you.

Peach or Plum or Cherry Batter Pudding

(Other fruits such as pineapple or raspberry or apricot may be used, but the three I mention in the caption are most common on our fruit shelves.)

Batter: 2 cups sifted cake or all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 unbeaten egg, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, measure, and sift with baking powder and salt 3 times. Cream shortening well and cream in the sugar well, then beat in the egg until all is smooth and airy. Sift the flour mixture over, alternately with the milk and vanilla, a small amount of each at a time .Have ready in buttered baking dish the canned fruit drained from the syrup. Pour batter over. Bake at 350° deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes. Serve with Fruit Juice Sauce: Make this up to 1 cup by adding boiling water. Bring to boil. Stir into it 2½ tablespoons cornstarch mixed with ¼ cup sugar and shake of salt. Stir until thick. Cook 15 min. over boiling water. If desired add vanilla or grated lemon rind and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Serve hot.

What's Right?

You are writing a letter to a friend who is ill.

WRONG: Fill the letter full of the troubles of all your mutual friends.

RIGHT: Tell only the cheerful news you know.

Believe TV Adds Friction UK Families

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—What is television doing to Britain?

There has been much written about the effect of TV on family life in the United States. Now comes a report on what the home set is doing to English viewers. Among other things, TV apparently is adding to friction between English husbands and wives.

The London Sunday Express surveyed TV habits and found that married couples can have fights over the set if their tastes differ. The reason: If the husband doesn't like the entertainment, he has to retire to the kitchen to read or work.

TV apparently has caught on in England, and 2,000,000 viewers are expected to be added to the audience this year. The Express reported that TV already has revolutionized home life, broken lifetime habits and proved "a more powerful drug than the radio or cinema."

Destroys Conversation

The Express said TV is 'destroying conversation; cutting people off from their friends; sending thousands of children late to bed because they have been allowed to sit up for the evening programs."

On the credit side, British TV "encourages manual hobbies by televised demonstrations; stimulates the average housewife by cookery series; awakens interest in party politics by screened discussions."

The BBC discovered after a survey that of every 100 viewers:

86 Reduce radio listening; 63 reduce movie going; 49 play fewer indoor games; 46 read less; 35 cut down theatre-going; 22 see less of their old friends; 14 garden less; 11 take fewer trips to the country and nine cut down on golf, cricket, tennis and football.

synchronized swimming twins. Considered a natural for competition, the junior club boasts of Geraldine and Marjorie Vinette, the 13-year-olds.

The twins have been coached by Mrs. Forbes since they took their first stroke at the Lions' swimming pool seven years ago at Riverside along the Otonabee.

"I'm expecting great things of those youngsters," said Mrs. Forbes. "They're the first twins we've had in synchronized swimming and will be excellent for duo competitions."

Aiming At Olympics

Mrs. Forbes' attention is not on any single swimmer or group for she's aiming at the top synchronized swimming club in North America and possibly Olympic material if that sport is entered in the games in 1956.

"The plan is to teach the girls synchronized swimming early so when they're in their early 'teens, they'll be ready for international competition," she explained. "They should be excellent swimmers and performers by that time."

A second purpose behind the club is to supply material for the senior club, similar to baseball, football, hockey and other systems. When the girls enter collegiate, they become eligible for senior club competition.

But the climb up the grade will be difficult, for just learning to swim is hard enough for some people, let alone swimming to music.

Mrs. Forbes believes in a ballet period before the girls even enter the pool. This trains the young girls in poise and position both used while in the water.

When they gradually pick up that part of the program, they begin to use these actions in the water. They learn sculling, the hesitation crawl and the rhythmic backstroke as well as four skills, the somersault, the back dolphin, the bicycle and the shark, all used in the patterns done to music.

Mrs. Forbes believes the first girls will be ready for novice competition in two years, but whether they will compete then will depend upon the decision of the Mothers Auxiliary, the governing body.

The young lasses will definitely make their first apeparance in June at the water pageant. From there they hope to move into competition and bring Peterborough more international honors.

3 More Tigers Sign

The Detroit Tigers announced Friday they had signed first baseman Don Kolloway, second baseman Al Federoff and utility infielder Neil Berry to 1952 contracts. The Tigers thus passed the halfway mark in signing up their spring training squad. They have 17 of the 32 players under contract.

Remanded One Week

COBOURG, Feb. 2—(ENS)—Ronald Cartier of Camp Borden, age 23, was remanded until Feb. 8 when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter Friday on a charge of false pretenses. It is alleged that he obtained a sum in excess of $25 in a car deal from Alex Rutherford of Colborne. Bail was set at $3,000. The accused was arrested by Corporal L. Lyle of Brighton provincial police.

A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR BUILDING PURPOSES.

WHEREAS it is expedient to Borrow for the purchase of a School Site and the Erection of a School a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) upon the credit of the Board to issue Debentures therefor bearing interest at the rate of Four and One-half per cent (4½%) per annum payable (semi-) annually and to provide for discount and the expenses incidental to negotiation and sale of such Debentures;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to make the principal period of twenty years next after the date of issue of such Debentures, of such amounts respectively that, with the interest in respect of the Debt, the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in each year shall be, as nearly as possible, the same: subject to the statutory proviso that each instalment of principal may be for an even $100.00, $50.0, or $1,000.00 or multiple thereof, and, that notwithstanding anything herein contained, the annual instalments or principal and interest may differ in amount sufficiently to admit thereof;

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Board, according to the last revised assessment roll thereof is $4,133,455.00.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debenture debt of the Corporation, exclusive of local improvement debts secured by special rates or assessments, is $118,300.00.

AND WHEREAS by By-law Number 18 as amended of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board of the City of Peterborough at paragraph five, it was provided as follows:

3. The Debentures shall be payable as to both principal and interest in lawful money of Canada and may be made payable at such place or places in Canada as shall be designated thereon.

4. The said Debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by by-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer, and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

6. The said Debentures may contain a clause providing for the registration thereof pursuant to Section 336 of the Municipal Act.

7. Pending the sale of the Debentures, the Chairman of the Board and the Secretary-Treasurer may raise for the purposes aforesaid by way of loan on such Debentures any sum or sums of money not exceeding in all the sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and may hypothecate such Debentures for such loan.

8. The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem the said Debentures either in whole or in part on any date prior to maturity at the places where and in the moneys in which the said Debentures are expressed to be payable, upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption. Agreement Reached

DETROIT, Feb. 2 (CP) — A union-company agreement was reached Friday in a dispute which made 14,000 automobile workers idle last week. Ken Norris, president of Local 212, the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO), said Friday that a threatened strike of 18,000 Briggs Manufacturing Company workers has been averted by the agreement. He would give no details of the settlement.

George St. United Church Reports Successful Year

The many departments of George Street United Church reported on their various activities members, on Friday evening, under the chairmanship of Rev. Arnold A. Mathews.

The meeting was opened with the use of a hymn, scripture and prayer, followed by a reading of the names of the members of the congregation who had died during the past year.

A report by the clerk of the session, P. M. McCarrell, showed an increase of 56 in membership, with a total now of 1,660. There were 65 baptisms, 52 marriages, 40 burials, 52 new members by profession of faith, 70 new members received by transfer, 20 removals by death, and 46 removals by certificate.

Stan Gilmore, chairman of the board of stewards, gave a summary of the year's work stressing the value of contributions by weekly envelopes, and the pleasant state of the finances as of the end of the year.

The treasurer, W. Jones, presented the statement of finances. This report was very encouraging in that the board of stewards finished the year with a favorable balance; the gross receipts for that body were $19,703, and disbursements $17,023, leaving a credit balance for the year of approximately $2,500. Ordinary collections by envelope and loose were considerably better than a year ago.

G. D. Carlisle of the Trustee board presented their report showing total assets including cash, bonds and property to be $266,405 with liabilities nil. One of the highlights of their work was the laying of a new carpet on the aisles of the church.

What Causes Freaks Of Nature Long Matter Of Speculation

Written for The Canadian Press By PERCY GHENT

Alive when found in an Ontario stream, a young water snake with two perfectly formed heads, died when placed in a tank at the biology buildings of the University of Toronto.

An X-ray examination by the writer revealed that they long spine and scores of ribs were normal. The two heads were perched at the tips of the twin necks, also perfect and symmetrical, which made a "Y" pattern.

How often these freaks of nature occur and what causes them has long been a matter of speculation but with no definite answer.

In the case of two-headed fishes usually tiny trout discovered in fish hatcheries, it has been suggested that dropping trays of fish eggs a few inches on a stone slab, deliberate violence to kill weaklings, might be a factor.

Still preserved in one hatchery, is a three-headed fingerling trout. At a government aquarium in Washington, DC, a two-headed turtle of adult growth lived for years, and probably still lives.

Atomic scientists who have given rainbow trout varying heavy dosages of X-ray to study the physical effects of radiation, have descendants of the original irradiated fish to the fifth generation. Many of the progeny died, however, others were undersized or deformed, but no two-headed specimens have been reported.

Two of the Siamese trout from a hatchery in Calgary, "Happy" and "Slap-Happy," lived for two or three years. They swam, not in the vertical but in the horizontal plane.

Winter Quarters

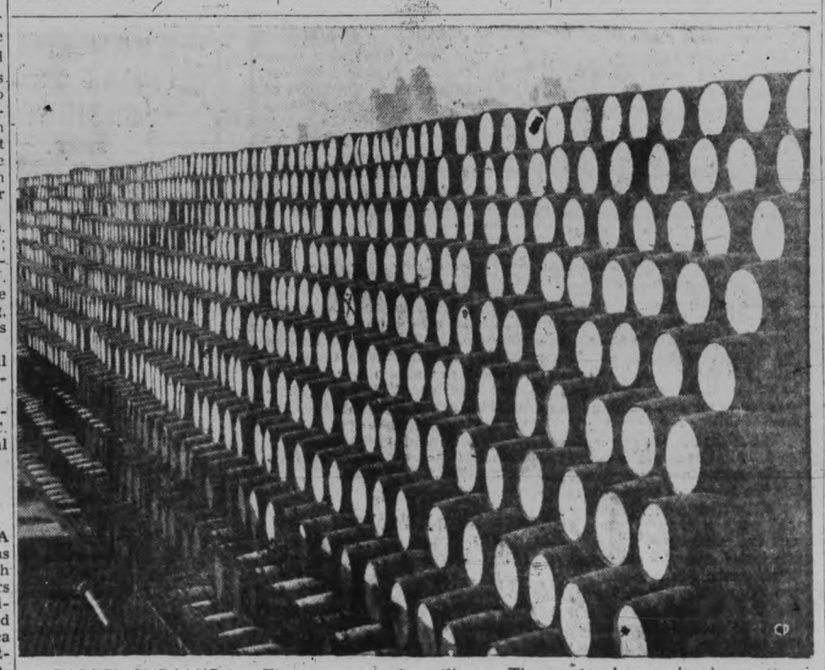
On a winter day, the question sometimes comes, where is all the life of field and woodland that was so evident short weeks ago? A lot of it is still with us, but in warm quarters and out of sight.

That big, paper hornets' nest still clinging to a branch of some old apple tree can be investigated without fear of stings on a winter day. It is completely deserted, the wasps have found some warm corner under a convenient roof. Garter and other small snakes are huddled together deep within a pile of rocks.

Bats, sometimes in their thousands, will fly hundreds of miles to find some roomy cavern for a sleeping place. Five thousand were discovered in a cavern one winter day, north of Lake Superior.

Snails and slugs find refuge under close-packed leaf mould. Some beetles burrow in the ground below the frost line. Many species of insects await the return of spring in all the comfort of cocoons.

Birds and mammals that remain at large during winter's rigors wear warmer garments of nature's making. Bird plumage becomes denser and more intricately interlocked than at any other time of year. Grouse grow protective fringes on their toes; they serve, like the long, stiff hairs that in winter adorn the feet of varying hares, as efficient "snowshoes" for safe, rapid travel on crusted snow. Either by thick scales or a coating of waxy resin, the buds of trees and shrubs are adequately protected against biting chill.



BARREL PYRAMID — This pyramid of 9,837 barrels lies on Windsor's waterfront after import from Detroit by Windsor distillers. The sun makes a pleasing pattern on the barrels, each of which will be used to age 40 imperial gallons of Canadian whisky.

Industry Needs Leaders Engineers Told

Unless Canadian industry takes more interest in developing qualified leaders, business failures in this country will reach alarming proportions.

A Toronto psychologist with 10 years' experience in ironing out labor management problems in industries across Canada made this prediction Friday night.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Dr. Herbert Moore termed the lack of qualified industrial leaders, "the toughest problem confronting Canadian industry today."

Dr. Moore warned that the "death-rate of industries in Canada is reaching alarming proportions" and he said the root of the problem is "the inefficiency of industrial leaders."

"There are plenty of brains in Canada. From the standpoint of mental calibre, we do not have to take our hats off to anyone."

Spend More Money

However, Dr. Moore said that Canadians were not measuring up to their counterparts in Britain and the United States, because "both countries are spending much more money on developing training programs in co-operation with universities."

"The future of industry depends on the calibre of its leadership. It hurts me to see young Canadians having to give way to Yanks and men from the United Kingdom because they are better qualified to take over positions of leadership."

Scoring the "narrow concentrated type of training" technical men receive, Dr. Moore said, "in plant administration, technical difficulties are only a small part of the headaches."

Dr. Moore said that in Canada even more than the United States, the men who are managing our largest industries have to be more and more, administration, sales, and personnel minded, and less and less technical minded.

He said that after examining three applicants for a responsible position recently, he found a man with a Grade 12 education "showed much more in leadership promise than two engineers."

In choosing leaders, Dr. Moore said management first has to know what to expect in those whom they place in responsible positions, and secondly, they have to devise methods of bringing them up to this standard.

27 Qualities

Dr. Moore then listed 27 qualities to look for in selecting employees who can be placed in different levels of responsibility. Dependability, ability to get along with people, anticipating the public's wants and needs and finding ways to satisfy these desires, organizing ability, thoroughness, administrative talents, fairness and honesty were a few of the qualities Dr. Moore mentioned.

The speaker said he was strictly "on the fence as far as unions are concerned," but he criticized the power unions often wield in industry. "Frequently, the stewards are calling the shots and determining production more than the foremen."

Dr. Moore said that leadership begins at the lowest level, and that it is extremely important to select and train the right men for foremen and managers.

Foremen as a group are always "behind the eight ball," Dr. Moore said because they are interpreting management to workers and frequently most union grievances are against foremen. When this happens, he said the question arises as to whether the foreman is doing his job or is in effect "falling down on the job."

Scores Seniority

He branded the seniority system advocated by most unions for promotions in industry as "a disastrous method" and insisted that leaders should be made to prove themselves.

An executive's preoccupation with achieving success can result in his being a driver instead of a leader. Leadership is not driving people, it's building people, Dr. Moore said.

Although the list of qualifications which he cited as being desirable in a leader, may sound formidable, Dr. Moore said that anyone aspiring to leadership in industry should take as their goal, the characteristics of the leaders in American industry today.

Dr. Moore was introduced by Roy T. Bogle and thanked by H. R. Sills.

HOUSE NO. 1039—No frills, no "playfulness" of design that will quickly become tiresome—but a good honest home that offers maximum accommodation and comfort for its cost. But mind you, we do not mean that the exterior lacks character or charm. Far from it! The point is that those qualities have been achieved through bold handling and good proportions instead of through fussiness. Built for a suburb, this house has been planned to take advantage of the garden. Notice the big dining room bay window and the covered terrace off the living room. Can you imagine the thrill of furnishing this large living room. It is well proportioned and the doors, windows, fireplace and book shelves are so arranged that the furniture will seem to just naturally "fit in." Study the other rooms, too. You will see that this same characteristic applies all through the house. There is ample wall space in every room. Exclusive of garage, this house contains about 25,400 cubic feet. When Using Plywood In Sub-Flooring

QUESTION: Is plywood suitable for use as sub-flooring in home building?

ANSWER: Plywood sub-flooring is approved by the National Building Code provided it is not less than 5/8" thick, or 1/2" thick when the top flooring to be used is not less than 3/4" in thickness. Plywood sub-flooring should be nailed to the joists with 2 1/2" common nails, approximately 6" apart at all edges and 10" apart at interior joists, with the panels laid lengthwise across the joists.

Best Room Exposures

QUESTION: What is generally considered the best exposure for living room, the dining room and the kitchen?

ANSWER: With certain exceptions, the living room is usually best oriented to face south or west—the dining room south, west or east—and the kitchen north or east.

When To Paint?

QUESTION: My wife thinks I should spend a couple days of my summer holidays in August painting the house—please help me out and tell her painting is better done when it is a little cooler!

ANSWER: Glad to!—there are definite advantages (not personal) in painting in the late spring or early fall. No matter when painting is done paint should not be applied when the air is damp, for if there is any moisture in the wood the paint will be apt to blister. Temperature should not be lower than 50 degrees or higher than 80, and the ideal time is when it is between 60 and 70 degrees.

Concrete Slab Floors

QUESTION: Will a concrete slab floor laid directly on the ground in the early spring be initially harder to heat than if laid in the warmer months . . . or doesn't this make any difference?

ANSWER: While concrete floors laid on the ground during the early spring are apt to be initially colder than slabs laid during the summer and early fall, after a year or two the difference in temperature of the ground under the slab will be negligible. Heat loss through slab floors is primarily through the edges.

Lining Laundry Chute

QUESTION: What material would you suggest for lining a laundry chute?

ANSWER: An easy method is to use a long tube of heavy canvas. Anchored at top and bottom this provides a snag-proof slide installed in a matter of minutes.

Removing Hard Putty

QUESTION: What's the answer to removing hard putty from around broken window glass without having to shatter everything into small pieces, and incidentally badly gouging the sash.

ANSWER: Try using a hot soldering iron. Applied to the hardened putty of a window sash it will cause the putty to pull away from both the sash and glass, eliminating the need for a knife or chisel, and damage to the sash.

Faulty Mortar Joints

QUESTION: The brick work on one end wall of our house was poorly laid and there are a number of mortar cracks which we believe is the reason for the wall becoming damp in spots. Can you suggest a method of remedying this?

ANSWER: Properly constructed brick walls are remarkably free of costly repair and maintenance—but the repair of a wall that has developed leaks through poor initial workmanship is often difficult and expensive. Faulty mortar joints may be remedied in three ways: (1) by cutting out and repointing all mortar joints, (2) the application of cement grout or cement-water paints to the joints or to the entire wall surface and (3) the use of transparent waterproofer.

When mortar cracks and openings are small, a two-coat application of cement-sand grout brushed vigorously into the mortar joints will provide an effective, inexpensive waterproofing method. A typical recommended mixture consists of equal parts, by volume, of portland cement and dry sand passing a No. 30 sieve, with 1/4 part of cement replaced by limestone flour, powdered flint, or fine hydrated lime. The joints should be thoroughly wetted before applying the grout and a template may be used to help keep the surface of the masonry units free of the grout.

Will Study Court Ruling

TORONTO, Feb. 2 (CP)—C. D. Graham, Ontario's deputy minister of agriculture, said Friday that that his department will study the effect of a Prince Edward Island Supreme Court ruling Thursday which declared the Federal Agriculture Products Marketing Act of 1949 ultra vires of parliament.

J. F. Perkin, chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board, said that in Ontario all marketing is confined to [illegible]. Only two of the 16 marketing programs could be affected, that of the Ontario Cheese Producers and the Ontario Bean Growers. Only these are disposed of under the federal act.

"All the federal act sought to do was give the provincial marketing schemes the right to operate interprovincially," said Mr. Perkin. "We will have to go into the matter thoroughly as far as Ontario is concerned but I imagine that the issue will go to the Supreme Court.

Unwillingly Involved

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Rutland, England, Feb. 2 (CP)—Three United States Sabre jets seeking to draw Canadian fighter pilots into a friendly test of strength became unwillingly involved Friday in a ceremonial flypast. The British minister earlier inspected a guard of honor under Flt. Lt. G. H. Nichols of Sarnia.

Leniency Pleas Stay Sentence

LINDSAY, Feb. 2 (ENS)—Two young men from Belleville put up an impassioned plea for leniency in police court here Friday morning. The two, Desmond Burton and Douglas Fox, were found guilty last week of stealing a $140 diamond ring from a local jeweller.

"There are fellows who are given a break, then they laugh at the court when they leave," commented Magistrate E. A. Gee. "I don't think the crown attorney will consent to suspension of sentence."

Crown attorney L. W. Jordan said that the punishment should be exemplary and he could not consent to suspended sentence. "They are both liable to seven years," said the crown. "A man who has a previous record could get ten years."

Both men broke down and Burton cried aloud: "Just give me another chance. I promise to go straight," pleaded Burton. "My wife is sick in Belleville. She's expecting another child the middle of February. Please give me another chance. Who'll take care of her and my daughter? I promise not to get into trouble again."

Fox also pleaded for clemency. His father and mother both were in court and spoke on his behalf. The crown asked for a further remand until he received word from the Belleville police. The two will appear again on Monday.

Morris will have the title of special assistant to the attorney-general.

President Truman promised what he called continued drastic action against any wrong-doers in the government late last year in the wake of the scandals that rocked the internal revenue bureau.

UN Refuses To Reconsider 13 Applications

PARIS, Feb. 2 — (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly Friday threw out a Soviet resolution asking the Security Council to reconsider the membership aplication of 13 countries.

This reversed a decision of the political committee.

The vote was 22 in favor and 21 against with 16 abstentions. The resolution, which also called on the Security Council to take up Libya's application, was defeated because it did not obtain the required two-thirds majority in the Assembly.

The vote was a sharp rebuff to the Soviet delegate. The United States a week ago had been unable to win a majority in the political committe to slap down a Soviet proposal for omnibus consideration of pending membership applications. That had been the first defeat the US had suffered on a major Soviet-sponsored issue in the political committee.

Disapprove Resolution

The American opposition was not to the terms of the resolution itself, which merely called for reconsideration of the membership applications, but to the explanation of it given by Soviet delegate Jakob Malik. He had said the purpose of the resolution was "to ensure that all applicants be admitted simultaneously."

US delegate Ernest Gross denounced this as a "holdup," insisting that applications should be considered on their individual merit.

The countries mentioned in the Soviet resolution were Albania, Mongolia, Bulgaria, Romania, and Hungary, all Soviet satellites; and also Finland, Italy, Portugal, Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon and Nepal.

Hamilton Worried About Unemployment

HAMILTON, Feb. 2 (CP) — Hamilton city council, concerned over the immigration and unemployment situation, will interview ministers in Ottawa and elsewhere to try and find a solution.

This was what controller Sam Lawrence told 400 delegates of the Ontario Federation of Labor when they met for their ninth annual conference here Friday.

Immigration and unemployment are among the most important of some 70 resolutions that the conference will discuss.

15 Jaycees Speak In Series

Fifteen speakers were heard Thursday night in the fourth of a public speaking series being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The theme, announced by Chairman Al Tingley, was "let yourself go." Or, in other words, "speak what's on your mind."

This brought considerable diversity. Steve Evans told of his paternal vigil while waiting for his wife to be delivered of a baby. Doug Vaisey took the prosaic subject of "an inspection of the abattoir." And Joe Merino chose a subject that lies close to the heart of every chairman: the annoyance of interruptions during meetings.

Other speakers were Gerry O'Neil, Gerry Grady, Ron Balaam, Ralph Hutchison, Harry Beresford, Ken Billings, Sherman Killen, Vern Slocum, Stan Thomas Les Groombridge, Grenvile Lathangue, and Tony Burns.

All speakers were given three minutes.

Campaign For Funds For Needy Children

OTTAWA (CP).—During February and March the undenominational Unitarian Service Committee of Canada will conduct a country-wide campaign for funds to continue its work among the needy children of Europe.

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director has issued a statement appealing to Canadians to contribute to the call to help these children. They are the babies of the immediate post-war years now approaching the 10-14 year old stage, "perhaps the most crucial stage of their lives."

"No one needs guidance and loving care and understanding as much as these confused little people timidly standing on the threshold of a teen-age world," said Dr. Hitschmanova.

UK Libel Laws Likely To Be Eased

LONDON, Feb. 2—(Reuters)—Parliament Friday took the first step to amend Britain's rigid libel laws so that newspapers may avoid costly court actions if they publish apologies for alleged defamation.

Lawyer Harold Lever, a Labor member, made the proposal in a bill which has government backing and has a good prospect of becoming law.

The Commons gave it unopposed second reading, signifying approval in principle. It now will be examined in detail in committee.

Lever said the present law of defamations is "a playground for rogues." It fosters the "very real mischief of blackmail and extortion" and obstructs the "casting of light into dark places" for the public benefit.

Under his plan, a published correction and apology will be sufficient compensation for unintentional defamation, provided the apology is accepted.

If the offer is not accepted, it would still be a defence in court to say it was made as soon as possible after the complaint.

At present, an offer to publish an apology is no defence. A newspaper has to prove that publication either had no defamatory meaning, was justified or privileged.

A defendant must accompany his offer of apology by an affidavit showing how the words in question were published without intent to defame and without negligence.

A defence of negligence—a slip of the pen, for instance—would not be valid.

The new bill would protect authors from "gold-digging" libel actions by the sudden appearance of people who identify themselves with a fictional character in a novel. It would be impossible to sue in such a case.

Under the bill, a defence of Fair Comment would succeed even if some words were proved to be untrue, provided they did not materially injure the complaint's reputation.

A newspaper publishing a reader's letter, proved to be malicious, could claim fair comment if it could show it did not realize it contained malice.

The bill would class all broadcast defamatory statements as libel. At present spontaneous broadcasts can provide material only for slander actions.

Review Year's Work At Warkworth Church

WARKWORTH, Feb. 2 (ENS) Annual congregational meeting of St. Paul's United church was held Monday evening in the Sunday school room. The pastor, the Rev. H. G. Lester, opened the meeting. The secretary, Clarence D. Boyce, read the minutes of the previous meeting and they were adopted.

All reports showed a successful year financially with satisfactory progress by the congregation and affiliated organizations.

The WMS reported a total membership of 28 with an average attendance of 24 throughout the year. Mrs. A. M. Smale reported that the Auxiliary had sent $300 to missions during the year.

The Young People's Union was reported by Mrs. F. Lowe, showing a membership of 20 with their meetings held weekly. Their receipts were $20.58 with a gift to missions of $20.58 during the year.

The Sunday school reported Sunday school was held on 47 Sundays with an average attendance of 67. The receipts during the year were $206 and they gave $25 to missions.

Norham group of the WA reported eleven meetings held during the year 1951 and 16 members. Total receipts were $160.24, showing a balance on hand at the beginning of the new year of $37.07.

Warkworth group of the WA held 10 meetings during the year 1951. The total receipts were $178.44 with a balance on hand at Jan. 1 of $141.49.

A. M. Smale gave the treasurer's report for the church. The total receipts for the year for local purposes was $4,140.01; of this amount $2,032 was received from envelopes and donations and $231 in loose collections, and the anniversary thank-offering was $1,733. The report showed a balance on hand at the beginning of the new year of $600.69.

Glenn Hancock was made a steward. The following are the names of the stewards who were elected for term of four years: W. G. Allen, J. H. Buttars and Donald Knight. These are in addition to the nine other stewards who were serving in office.

Total number of families on the circuit is 277. The number of people under pastoral oversight is 970.

It was mentioned in the meeting that St. Paul's Church will be holding their centennial of their congregation this year.

A highlight of the evening came when Mr. W. Grant Allen read an address to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smale, expressing the appreciation of the congregation to Mr. Smale for his efficient service as treasurer of the church for the past 35 years and the presentation of a chair and stool to match was made by Mrs. J. E. Edgar and Messrs. Owen Clark and H. V. Evans as a tribute to his long faithful and efficient service as treasurer of the church. Glenn Hancock was appointed by the congregation as his successor to office.

Teacher Rewrites Bible Storm Of Protest Roused

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

TEL AVIV, Feb. 2—(AP)—A storm of protest has broken out here over an Israeli teacher who took it upon himself to rewrite the Old Testament.

In his streamlined version the teacher, M. Segal, omitted four of the 10 commandments and left in little about God. He also has touched up the original Biblical grammar.

The storm broke when Segal had his "new" Bible printed and sold in two sections — one for kindergarten children, the other for older readers.

Newspapers branded the enterprise as a sacrilege and indignant citizens asked whether it was part of a Communist plot. There was even a heated session in the Knesset (parliament) about the book.

Many suggested it should be banned, but Education Minister Ben-Zion Dinaburg replied that although Segal's opus would not be admitted as a textbook in Israel's schools; there was no legal basis for its prohibition.

The book was not pornographic, he said, nor did it endanger the security of the state.

Being Forgotten

What prompted Segal to rewrite the Bible?

In his introduction he said something had to be done to make the good book popular. It was in danger of being forgotten in Israel.

Actually, all Israeli schools use the Bible, not only as a religious work, but as a text on Jewish history.

Segal also claimed that originally the Bible was only a book dealing with the history of man. All that is religious was added later.

The Commandments deleted in Segal's version are those referring to the relationship between God and man. He also saw fit to discard the Commandment: "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

The dance around the golden calf and the smashing of the tablets on Sinai are deleted. The 10 plagues are mentioned, but Segal says God had nothing to do with them.

In some parts of Segal's work God appears briefly, but apparently only for the sake of art.

Kidd, beginners.

A joint young people's group with the Norwood young people's group has been started. A mission band has also been started in the community.

J. S. Kidd read the treasurer's report of the church with the books showing a good balance.

Church officers were all reinstated: Honorary elder, Wm. Forsyth; elders, John Kidd, Hayden Jones; stewards, George Barr, Hayden Jones, Dave McCoy, Charlie McMillan, John Kidd, J. Blakely, W. Girven, H. Harnden. The ushers appointed are D. McCoy, H. Jones, Chas. McMillan. Auditors, Chas. McMillan, D. McCoy; secretary-treasurer, John Kidd; envelope steward, Hayden Jones; pianist, Mrs. J. Gallagher; assistant, Mr. H. Girven. Mrs. J. Kidd appointed caretaker.

After the meeting, the ladies served lunch and a pleasant half-hour was spent.

Protect Teen-Agers

CALGARY (CP).—Recommendations that no girl under 18 be allowed to accept jobs as counter girls, waitresses or hotel chambermaids without written permission of her parents was passed by the Alberta Council on Child and Family Welfare here. Mrs. Harold Riley, president of the Council, said temptations for teen-agers today were greater than ever before.

Morganston WA Buys Chairs For School

WARKWORTH, Feb. 2 (ENS). —The Morganston Women's Association met in the Sunday school rooms Thursday with a dinner served at noon, after which the regular meeting was held.

The president, Mrs. Harrison George, opened the meeting with a worship service. The scripture reading was given by Eunice Turney, and lesson thoughts by Mrs. Glenn Clarke; paper by Mrs. Gerald Philp.

Mrs. Gerald Philp, the secretary, gave the minutes and conducted the roll call. A card signed by the members of the WA was sent to Mrs. H. Reynolds, a member who is ill in Western hospital, Toronto.

It was moved by Mrs. Percy Moore and seconded by Mrs. Donald Massey, that the WA buy kindergarten chairs for the SS room.

Mrs. John Davidson was convener for the following program: reading by Mrs. Donald Massey; solo by Eunice Turney; reading by Mrs. Clifford Harrington.

Lower Prices Not Passed On

SPRINGBANK, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP)—Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, charged Friday that farmers are getting lower prices for beef and hogs and these are not being passed on to consumers.

"The farmer doesn't like to take the brunt of these falling off in prices without the consumer getting some benefit," said Mr. McCubbin at his farm here, some 25 miles west of London.

Mr. McCubbin, emphasizing that he was speaking as a cattle raiser, said he didn't know whether the packers or retail outlets were responsible for not reducing prices, which he said should follow if the farmers were being paid less.

In the last five or six months hog prices paid the farmer have dropped 12 cents a pound dressed, he said. In the last two months beef prices to the farmer have declined five or six cents a pound on hoof, or 10 or 12 cents dressed.

It "didn't add up" that the farmers had been receiving less for their beef and hogs and no corresponding reduction has "as yet" been passed on to the public.

Youth Service Features Mission Week

MILLBROOK, Feb. 2 (ENS)— The special youth service of the preaching mission being held in the various churches of Millbrook and district all this week, took place in St. Andrew's church Thursday evening. The Rev. A. M. Butler, in welcoming the large congregation, stated that the ministerial association was delighted with the response there had been to the mission all week.

In his address which was especially for the young people present, the Rev. Gerald Gregson, spoke on "What constitutes a Christian?"

He said there were four things necessary. First, one must be reconciled to God. Repentance was needed. It was necessary also to receive God's son because when this was done, one was also accepted as God's son. One must be reborn and restored. Mr. Gregson illustrated all his points with stories from his wide experience as a minister and as senior padre in the Royal Air Force during the last war.

He said it was true that to become a Christian some things had to be given up, but so much more was gained they would not be missed. Only Christians were fully and joyously alive.

The special music was a young people's mixed quartette comprising Yvonne Richards, Anne Dawson, Fraser Carr and Donald Spicer who sang "He Lives".

Prayers were offered by the Rev. A. A. Chote; the Rev. A. M. Butler and the Rev. W. H. Heustin gave the scripture reading.

About 60 of the young people, present for the general service, remained for sing-songs, games and refreshments in the Sunday school rooms afterwards. As well as the local young people some from Cavan, from the Christian Business Youth group and the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship were present. Don Spicer was at the piano for part of the sing-song and then the Peterborough group took over under the leadership of Harold Swanson.

Miss Ellen Kent and Mrs. G. P. MacKay assisted the local young people in serving refreshments.

A special service in St. Thomas' parish hall on Wednesday afternoon when the Rev. G. W. Gregson spoke to school children was also well attended.

2-Year-Old Case Re-Opened; Lay Murder Charge

WELLAND, Feb. 4. (CP)—A two-year-old murder case with "fantastic" implications has been re-opened with the laying of a murder charge against 34-year-old Lloyd Frank Cross, former Welland resident. Police said Sunday that Cross was charged in the bludgeon-slaying of Sam Delibasich, whose frozen body was found by rabbit hunters in a field three miles north of Welland Dec. 17, 1949. The 47-year-old Welland taxi-driver, whose death started a flood of rumors about a feud in his native Yugoslavia which killed his brother, had been missing a week before being found.

Cross was arraigned today on a charge of murder before Justice of Peace J. D. Watt in Welland county jail and remanded for one week.

Before reaching half across the continent to nail Cross in Brockville, NB, police sifted through a web of such reports. Their findings were not disclosed, but inspecor Charles Wood, who helped bring him back, said Sunday it "shapes up as being a fantastic case."

He added that another arrest will be made in a few days and that this man also will be charged with murder.

Vendetta Rumors

Rumors of a Yugoslavian vendetta were tangled with reports that Delibasich was accustomed to carry a large sum in his wallet. The wallet was missing when his body was found but a number of bills and some change were in his pocket.

At the time Yugoslav-Canadians here shook their heads over the robbery and read a sinister motive into the slaying. Delibasich was said to have dabbled in international politics. His brother was an ex-Chetnik who fought Marshal Tito's Communist partisans in the old country during the war.

Persons who knew Delibasich said he helped anti-Communist Yugoslavs to find haven in Canada and that he had the names of four of the six men who dragged his brother from a Belgrade apartment in 1945 and beat him until he died.

Police, then working on the robbery motive, were inclined to scout the political revenge theory. They found a "good" fingerprint on Delibasich's car and two bottle openers, though the taxi-driver was described as a non-drinkar.

But they were told by residents of Yugoslav origin that "a lot of bad men have come to Canada from Yugoslavia since the war."

Police have not said what led them to reopen the case but it was reported that a person, who overheard a conversation recently about the killing got in touch with police.

It was said that the person who overheard the conversation mentioned certain details to police who thereby were convinced of the authenticity of the conversation.

Provincial police were informed and Cross was traced to Brookville where he was living with his British war bride and their three children.

Creek Floods 6 Families Rescued On Raft

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP).—Sixty residents fled their home early today to escape raging waters of suburban Highland Creek which flooded its valley, overturning sheds and automobiles in its path.

Two men and a boy used a five-foot raft to rescue six families as the ice-clogged creek swept over its banks.

Jim and Robert McManus waded neck-deep through ice floes to push the raft to two families. Jack Strachan, 12, paddled the tipsy craft to four more.

The sudden flood was attributed to a combination of rains and thaw. At Dunberton, 12 miles east of Toronto, 90 pupils were sent home from public school as three inches of water filled two basement rooms, backing up sewage and drains.

Closer to Toronto, hundreds of basements and garages were flooded in North York and York township. Telephone service between Malton and Weston was washed out when seepage from the February thaw put one of the two cables out of commission.

Storms Batter Many States

By The Associated Press.

Three storms which brought the Unted States a wide variety of weather during the weekend converged today, bringing high winds and rain for New England.

One had whipped up a blizzard in the central Rockies Saturday that took three lives, and blanketed the centre of the country with rain, light snow and freezing drizzle as it moved east.

A second sucked dust thousands of feet into the air over much of Texas before settling it with rain, and moved on over Arkansas into Tennessee.

A third, with winds ranging up to 75 miles an hour, lashed the Atlantic coast.

The result was rain over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys, southern and eastern Great Lakes region, and most of the middle and North Atlantic States.

$750,000 Fire At Meat Plant

HAMILTON, Feb. 4 (CP) — Damage unofficially estimated at nearly $750,000 was caused here Saturday by a four-hour blaze that swept through top floors of the four-storey Essex Packers plant.

One of the worst fires in the city in recent years, it caused the loss of hundreds of carcasses of beef, hogs, calves and lambs as well as cured meats, lard and margarine.

No one was injured in the blaze which broke out about 4 p.m. and gained considerable headway in the sprawling plant before firemen arrived. At times flames shot 50 to 60 feet in the air. A huge spiral of smoke, visible for miles, attracted hundreds of spectators.

J. Yarem, company manager, said damage might run from $250,000 to $1,500,000. He said he believed the fire started in the smoke house, broke out on the roof and spread across the top floor of the building to the killing floors, which were gutted.

Officials held an emergency meeting Sunday to decide on future operations. The plant employs some 275 people.

Truce Delegates Say Some Headway Noted For First Time

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 4.—(AP) — The United Nations and Communists today moved nearer agreement on plans for exchanging war prisoners as truce negotiators scheduled a full-dress session Wednesday to start work on the final section of a Korean armistice.

"I think we can get together and write the rest of the agreement" on prisoner exchange, said Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby. "For the first time, I think we are in a position to settle the nuts and bolts of the situation."

Staff officers drafting truce supervision plans made no measurable headway. They still must iron out differences over troop rotation, neutral inspection and definitions of coastal waters. UN spokesmen have described the differences as minor. The staff officers are not debating the key truce supervision issues—whether the Reds have the right to build and repair North Korean military airfields.

3-Way Conference

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy proposed Jan. 31 that negotiations on three sections of the truce be conducted simultaneously to speed agreement on an armistice.

In accepting his suggestion the Reds agreed to provide a detailed working draft. They are expected to propose withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea—a pet Communist project—and a high-level political conference to settle the whole Korean question.

Winnie Judd Escapes Again

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4 (AP).—The search for Winnie Ruth Judd, red-haired trunk murderess of 21 years ago, today spread throughout Arizona with police admitting they were baffled by her fifth disappearance.

"We have no clues," Sheriff L. C. Boies said.

Winnie Ruth, 48, dubbed the "tiger woman" after she killed two women and dismembered their bodies in 1931, has eluded capture since escaping from the State Hospital for the Insane Saturday night.

Her latest break was well planned, apparently with outside help. She used a 48-foot rope made from clothing and restraining harnesses to climb to the ground from the window of a third story tower. She had picked the lock of the door leading to the tower while other patients watched television in a darkened second floor ward.

To get out of the hospital grounds Winnie had to scale a nine-foot fence topped by three strands of barbed wire.

Japanese Negotiate Treaty At Formosa

TOKYO, Feb. 4—(Reuters)—Japanese diplomats will go to Formosa this week to negotiate a treaty with the Chinese Nationalist government, a Foreign Office source said today.

The source stated the resulting pact would be best described as a "treaty of political peace and trade relations," rather than an actual "peace treaty."

The Japanese government had already completed a draft of this treaty. The negotiations should be concluded by the end of this month, the source said.

Egyptian Premier Seeks Good Atmosphere For Talks

CAIRO, Feb. 4 (CP)—Premier Aly Maher Pasha declared today he is trying to create a "healthy atmosphere" in order to reach a better understanding with the powers of the free world.

He added that Egypt will give consideration to joining the Middle-East defence command proposed by Britain, Turkey, France and the United States.

In an exclusive interview, the premier, who took over after the Cairo riots of Jan. 26, said:

"It is my wish that a healthy atmosphere for a better understanding prevail between Egypt and all the powers of the free world. The Middle East command and the inter-Arab security pact will be matters for discussions with the Egyptian national front. Both these questions will naturally be in the framework of the charter of the UN."

The national front is a bloc of all Egyptian political parties but one. Maher Pasha is trying to bring them together in support of his independent government.

An Egyptian newspaper said today the bloc should be organized on a defensive basis, should conform with the UN charter, and should "respect" Egypt's claim for British evacuation of the Suez canal zone and sovereignty over the Sudan.

In London, The Sunday Chronicle reported that King Farouk would be commander-in-chief of the command under one proposal being considered by Britain.

Maher Pasha said the foremost economic policy of his government is to lower the cost of living, which he regards as a major cause of Egyptian discontent.

Maher Pasha declared responsibility for the anti-British riots would be pinned on the guilty and some will be court martialed.

"I will not hesitate to declare to the public where the responsibility for Saturday's tragic rioting lies once invesigations now being conducted are completed," he said. "Certain categories of cases will be referred to military courts and I can assure the public that no leniency will be shown toward persons whose guilt can be proved."

LADIES' BONSPIEL OFFICIAL SCOREKEEPER Herb Martin did some fast handtalking today at the opening of the three-day Warne Trophy 'spiel. Three of the many visiting players listening to him with great humor are skips Mrs. R. B. Card, of Kingston, Mrs. Elwood Northey of Lakefield, and Mrs. A. E. Brodie of Beaverton. Thirty-two rinks are entered in the event.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Royal Couple Plan To Watch For Rhinoceros

NYERI, Kenya, Feb. 4 (Reuters) — The Duke of Edinburgh, astride a borrowed pony, will play in a polo match at the local club this afternoon.

Princess Elizabeth will drive to the Nyeri Polo Club with him to watch the match.

The Royal pair, making a four-month round-the-world Commonwealth tour, are stopping over here at their hunting lodge.

This morning they explored the 10-acre estate which surrounds their lodge, given to them by the colony as a wedding present.

Almost from their doorstep they could view the highest peak in the colony, 17,000-foot Mount Kenya. Then they wandered along the Sagana river, which winds through their preserve and is stocked with brook trout for the Royal table.

The Prince and Princess will leave the lodge Tuesday to spend the night in the treetops—"Treetops" log hotel, built 35 feet up in the main fork of a giant tree.

Watch Rhinoceros

"Treetops" started 20 years ago as a single board nailed across the branches; now cocktails and dinner are served while the guests watch rhinoceros fighting in the moonlight below.

As the more interesting big game are only likely to visit the drinking pool below "Treetops" at full moon, "artificial moonlight" may be prepared for the Royal party's visit.

A large lamp giving diffused light is placed behind the trees where normally the moon rises. This light is supplied by electric current from a silent motor more than a mile away to prevent frightening the game.

UK Scientists May Be Barred

LONDON, Feb. 4 (CP)—British atomic scientists may soon be barred from visiting certain parts of Canadian plants, the Daily Express suggests today.

The Express gives this account: The United States recently decided to pass certain atomic secrets to Canada on the understanding they would not be communicated to any other country. Before accepting this commitment, Canada consulted Britain and was advised to go ahead in the interests of Commonwealth defence.

"In clinching the deal," says the Express, "US security authorities had to remember that some of the worst atom leaks occurred in Canada."

The newspaper refers specifically to Dr. Allan Nunn May, who worked at Montreal and Chalk River, and was imprisoned for betraying secrets to officials of the Russian Embassy in Ottawa.

Lioness Bites Woman's Leg In Tussle Over Purse

BRANTFORD, Feb. 4. (CP)—Mrs. Herman Smith, 43, was bitten on the leg by a 250-pound lioness Sunday in a tussle over a plastic purse. The lioness was being shown off by her trainer, Kenneth Hill, in a downtown office. The lioness, witnesses said, knocked an ash tray and a telephone around with her paws, then displayed an interest in Mrs. Smith's dark plastic purse. Mr. Hill said the lioness liked to chew rubber. Mrs. Smith grabbed the purse and started out. The lioness grabbed the purse. Mrs. Smith jerked it away. The lioness seized the woman's leg in her mouth.

Several men in the group tugged at the animal, and struck it with a chain by which Hill had led it into the garage office. Finally the lioness let go, and Mrs. Smith fainted.

"It was terrifying," she said. "I was afraid the smell of blood would send the lion mad. They were still tugging and pulling on her when she let go. Then I fainted."

Thought It Joke

A doctor, called from the garage office, thought some one was kidding him, checked with the office of another firm, and was informed that such must be the case. A second call from the hospital brought him at full speed. Mrs. Smith's wounds required 70 stitches and it took three hours to do the job.

Herman Smith clung to the lioness' paws while the animal held his wife.

"The lion hung on for what seemed like hours," he said. "I'm bruised from head to foot."

Hill brought the animal to Brantford from his animal farm near Scotland. It had ridden loose in the rear seat of his car while he and a friend Phil Goring, rode in the front. After the attack, he led the animal quietly out to the car and took it home.

Child 3 Dies In Fire Mother Fights For Life

PICTON, Feb. 4 — (CP). — A 21-year-old mother, whose three-year-old son was burned to death Saturday night after flames from an exploding gasoline lantern enveloped him, fought desperately in hospital here today for her own life.

Mrs. Edward Peeling was severely burned about her arms and legs when she snatched her son Sidney from a high chair, rushed outside and rolled him on the ground to extinguish flames burning his clothes.

After herding her four other children—all under six years—to safety, she staggered a mile over rough fields to the home of Sam Ryckman who took her to hospital. Her husband was in Picton at the time.

The lantern burst into flames as Mrs. Peeling was filling it. The home, four miles east of here, was saved when a neighbor put out the flames which were eating at the curtains and flooring.

Snatch Girl 18 Under Train

MOUNT ALBERT, Ont., Feb. 4 (CP).—While a long freight train thundered past, pounding wreckage of a small truck jammed against its side, Eleanor Lynas, 17, and Martin Kelvin, 20, early Sunday fought to save the lives of two companions.

When the crash occurred, Jecqueline Lynas, 18, was hurled so close to the train that the wheels passed over the fingers of her right hand. Marilyn King, 15, fourth passenger in the truck, was thrown beneath the truck.

Kelvin, who was tossed clear, pried part of the truck off Marilyn while Eleanor crawled from the wreckage of the car, close to the train, and dragged her unconscious sister to safety.

Jecqueline was taken to hospital at Toronto with a mangled right hand and other injuries. The other three escaped with bruises and cuts.

Mount Albert is 35 miles north of Toronto.

Says Germany Rejected Peace Offer From Stalin

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 4 (AP)—A former German official told a war crimes court today Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop turned down a peace offer from Stalin in 1942 when he heard he would have to deal with a Jew.

Franz Rademacher—one of the last Germans to stand trial as a major war criminal—said Stalin had inquired through his Swedish embassy whether Von Ribbentrop would discuss peace terms through a Russian diplomat named Alexandrov.

Von Ribbentrop then asked Rademacher, in charge of the foreign ministry's Jewish affairs department, whether Alexandrov was a Jew.

Rademacher said when he told Von Ribbentrop Alexandrov was Jewish, the foreign minister decided to ignore the offer.

Rademacher is charged with complicity in the murder of 1,500 Jews in Nazi-occupied Yugoslavia in October, 1941, and with deporting 100,000 Jews into eastern concentration camps.

A 127-page indictment accused him on three counts of murder in association with others, aiding and abetting murder, and aiding and abetting the deportation of Jews into slavery.

The last two charges refer to the deportation to the Auschwitz concentration camp of at least 108,000 Jews from France, Belgium and Holland, and about 80,000 from Bulgaria and Romania.

Rademacher has been working as a magazine writer in Bonn since the war.

Coast Guard Rocket Gives Men Bearings After Gruelling 24 Hours

Water Reached Freighter's Fuel Supplies Causing Power To Fail; Vessel Wallowed Helplessly In Bad Storm

MOOREHEAD CITY, NC, Feb. 4. (AP)—The 26 crew members of the Panamanian freighter Miget leaped safely ashore before dawn today as hurricane-whipped winds broke their 2,600-ton ship in two. A Coast Guard rocket, fired by a beach party searching the shoreline of Portsmouth Island, drew an answering blinker light from the stranded freighter about 2 am. That exchange of messages above the Atlantic's roar was sufficient to give the Miget's crew their bearings. All came over the small freighter's side and walked in.

The captain and his 25 men, worn by the all-night battle, were taken to an abandoned Coast Guard station on the barren island. All were soaked and sleepy.

Water reached the freighter's fuel supplies Sunday. Soon all power failed. The Miget wallowed helplessly in one of the worst winter southeasters in years along this coast.

Turned Back

In the night the Miget and a coast guard PBY plane exchanged flare signals. But coast guard boats attempting to reach the freighter were turned back by heavy seas.

The Diesel-propelled Miget went ashore 20 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras. The coast guard this morning dispatched boats to Portsmouth Island to transfer the crew across Okracoke Inlet to Okracoke Island.

A howling storm moving up from the south helped this famed graveyard of ships claim its latest victimm. The Miget, bound from Baltimore to Morehead City, bucked the storm and found herself in trouble. The Miget called for help, saying she was losing headway and taking water in her fuel.

The coast guard reported the vessel aground on a sand bar about three-quarters of a mile off Portsmouth Island, the southernmost in a string of barren reefs forming this section of the outer banks.

Winds of near-hurricane force (75 miles an hour) whipped the waters off Hatteras throughout the night. The western flank of the storm brushed the outer banks and was expected to hit the Virginia coast about 6 am today.

Family Gets Shock

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 4. — (AP)—The O. A. Sawyer family was having a leisurely Sunday breakfast. "I ran the burglars off Saturday night," piped up Jana Lynn, 5. "Uh-huh," said Sawyer. "But they won't come back because I told them if they do you will spank them. They asked me where our money was but I said we are all broke down now," she added. "Yeah?" her father asked, now wide awake. Mrs. Sawyer found her purse rifled and a screen off Jana's window.

Begin Inquiry Into Shooting In Antarctica

PORT STANLEY, Falkland Islands, Feb. 4 — (Reuters) —Sir Miles Clifford, Governor-General of the Falkland Islands, was due at Hope Bay, Antarctica, today to investigate the Anglo-Argentine shooting incident.

A British party was attempting to land supplies at Hope Bay last Friday when an Argentine group fired over the Briton's heads, forcing them to return to their ship, the John Biscoe.

Hope Bay is at the northern tip of Graham Land, part of the Falkland Islands dependencies which have long been disputed between Britain and Argentina.

The British landing party intended to re-establish a survey base destroyed by fire about three years ago.

Forced To Withdraw

The Argentinians were there already, supported by a transport ship and a tanker. According to reports, the Argentine party brought forward machine guns and fired over the heads of the party. When this failed to drive off the Britons, a larger contingent moved in and the British force withdrew when an officer with cocked pistol repeated his demand.

(A protest was lodged at the Argentine foreign office in Buenos Aires. Reports said the Argentinian explanation admitted the men who fired the shots had exceeded their instructions.)

The episode was the latest difference of opinion in a long dispute between Britain and the Argentina, who (with Chile) has been claiming the Falkland Islands since they became a British crown colony in 1833.

She had also repeatedly laid claim to the Falkland Islands dependencies.

Harold Ickes Dies At 77

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Death came quietly at dusk Sunday to Harold L. Ickes, 77, the new dealer whose sharp wit and blunt speech stormed for two decades across the United States scene.

Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon," died at 6.25 pm EST in a coma after an 11-week illness following complication of an old arthritic condition.

Virtually an unknown in 1932 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt apointed him Secretary of the Interior, Ickes had become one of the most turbulent figures in politics by 1946, when he resigned in a huff.

"A unique figure in American public life is lost to the nation," President Truman commented Sunday night, adding:

"He was withal a true patriot and a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled."

STRATFORD, Feb. 4—(CP)—Billy Flick, high scoring right-winger with Stratford Indians, was scheduled to undergo surgery in London's Victoria Hospital today.

Flick, one of the reasons Indians have already clinched first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League, was injured Friday night in a game with Owen Sound Mercurys.

He will be out of action for at least six weeks. The team's physician announced a screw will be inserted in his right shoulder to remedy a separation.

Labor Federation Endorses CCF As Political Arm

HAMILTON, Feb. 4. (CP)—The CCF was re-endorsed on Saturday as the "political arm" of the Ontario Federation of Labor (CIO-CCL). The Federation's annual convention also: 1. Unanimously criticized compulsory arbitration as "unworkable, undemocratic and a dangerous threat to the institution of free bargaining." 2. Pledged its support to Local 200, United Auto Workers of America (CIO-CCL) in its effort to gain reinstatement of 32 Windsor workers of the Ford Company of Canada, fired after wildcat walkouts.

Still fresh in the minds of the 300-odd delegates was the CCF setback in the Nov. 22 Ontario election when only two candidates were elected to the 90-seat House. But with the exception of a few Labor-Progressives the convention voted almost solidly to back the party.

George Burt, Windsor, who was uanimously re-elected federation president, took note of the CCF defeat in his keynote speech Friday. He said the federation should indicate "we are not affected by the Nov. 22 defeat to a point where we are going to go cap in hand to the government and give up the idea of electing our own people in the provincial legislature."

Opposed Policies

On Saturday, William Rutherford, UAW delegate from Local 22, Oshawa, said the CCF lost 114,000 votes in the election because the workers opposed the CCF policies and didn't vote.

Arthur Williams, assistant director of the United Mine Workers in Canada, challenged Mr. Rutherford's remarks. He said "he prefers either we support the only other party in opposition to the Conservatives or Liberals — the Communist party—or take no action."

In the debate on compulsory arbitration delegates insisted that it hadn't worked in other countries in which it had been tried. Boris Mather, Toronto, Communication Workers' Union, said his union had just signed a good contract with Northern Electric Company.

"We got that contract because the company knows we can strike," he said. "If they knew we were prohibited from striking, they wouldn't have given us anything."

The case of the 32 men at Ford has been placed before an arbitrator. But one of those dismissed, a delegate here, said the men had little chance of winning back their jobs.

"SKYRAY" ON THE WAY—This is the Navy's new jet fighter, the Douglas F4D "Skyray," just unveiled as one of four new jet plans soon to be sent to Navy and Marine Air combat units. John F. Floberg, assistant secretary of the Navy for Air, said the new jets are expected to be superior to Russia's famed MIG-15 jet.

US Has Planes Superior To Migs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4. (AP)—Secretary of Defence Robert Lovett testified today that the United States now has better fighter aircraft than Russian MIGs.

He indicated, however, it may take some time to equal and pass Soviet aircraft production.

Lovett engaged in an exchange with Senators over relative Russian and US air strength during a Congressional hearing on the proposed $52,100,000,000 military budget for 1952-53.

Lovett said that after the Second World War the US "went to sleep" on its defences while Russia pushed ahead.

Asked if the Russians' MIG-15 is "better than any aircraft we can send" to Korea, Lovett replied that the United States has better aircraft "in test." He said the F-86 is "a superior plane" although it weighs about one-third more than a MIG and has a slower climb.

Ford, Union Try Again To End Dispute

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP)—Representatives of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) and Ford officials met today with Labor Minister Daley in a renewed effort to settle the wage-contract dispute at the Ford Motor Company plant in Windsor.

The talks were recessed last Friday after 3½ days of negotiations. Mr. Daley said then "some progress" had been made.

A strike, set by the union to start Jan. 27, was deferred when the minister requested the parties to meet with him in another effort to settle the long-standing dispute.

The dispute has been deadlocked for months on some 23 contract items, mainly "fringe" or economic-points.

Oils, Base Metals Weaken On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 4 — (CP). — Steadily weakening support today eased early afternoon stock market prices from opening gains.

Industrials, western oils, base metals and secondary golds opened higher in continuation of Saturday's upswing, but faltered during the first hour.

Trading was active as a wide list of speculative western oils, selected base metals and penny golds showed large turnovers. Industrial dealings were confined to leading issues, but volume for the first three hours reached 2,247,000 shares.

Refining oils and retail stores formed industrials' strongest sections with a majority of fractional advances. Papers, liquors, textiles and manufacturing companies held gains and losses in balance, but agricultures and constructions weakened, while steels, foods and miscellaneous issues dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders weakened sharply. Consolidated Smelters, however, was a standout exception as it traded at about $41.50 following a five-for-one split. Today's price represents a gain of $5 a share on the old stock which closed Saturday at $202.50. Golden Manitou, International Nickel, and Quemont slipped.

Western oils eased. Ajax Petroleum, Anglo-Canadian, Home Oil, Security Free and Western Homestead showed declines ranging from pennies to about 25 cents.

Senior golds dipped as Dome, Giant Yellowknife, and Hollinger declined fractions. Secondary issues showed little trend.

Beef And Hog Shipments Reduced To US

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP)—Shipments of Canadian beef and hogs to the United States have been sharply curtailed in recent months because domestic producers can now get higher prices at home, an agricultural spokesman said Sunday night.

This reversal of the historic price pattern—prices in the US have usually been higher—came about in the last two months. Not only has it brought about a big slowdown in Canadian shipments across the border but in some instances a reversal of the ordinary flow which saw US beef shipped into Canada.

A number of eastern Canadian cities, notably Toronto and Ottawa, recently received shipments of American beef cattle because of the higher Canadian price. But it seemed to make little difference in the consumer market with beef remaining stable at about a $1 a pound retail, the spokesman said.

Caused Reversal

Early this year beef prices on the Winnipeg market were $1.75 a hundredweight higher than at Chicago. Even late last year the Canadian price was $1 better than the American. This, the spokesman said, caused the reversal.

Canada, which has allowed her beef and pork to be shipped to the United States for several years, sends mostly feeder cattle —youngsteers which are fattened in the United States for the American market. She also sends some finished beef—cattle which need no fattening—and some processed beef which is ready for the retail counters.

Britain To Close Consulate At Canton

LONDON, Feb. 4 — (AP). — Britain announced today she has ordered the closure of one of her four remaining consulates in Communist China.

A Foreign Office spokesman told a press conference that Consul-General J. P. Coghill is being withdrawn "because there are not sufficient British subjects left in the Canton district where he is stationed and because he is overdue for leave.

The spokesman said Coghill now is waiting a visa from Communist Chinese authorities to leave the country.

Closure of the Canton post leaves Britain with consulates at Shanghai, Tientsin, and Peiping.

The spokesman said only 12 British subjects — mainly businessmen—remain in the Canton area.

He stressed no political reasons caused the British move.

Ask UN To Take Up Question Of Tunisia

PARIS, Feb. 4 (AP) — The Asian-Arab countries announced today they will demand that the United Nations Security Council take up the question of Tunisia.

Ahmad Shukairy of Syria, assistant secretary-general of the Arab League, said the step had been decided upon because of continued unrest in France's great North African protectorate.

Isolated incidents of sabotage were reported today in dispatches from Tunis, but there was no indication of a renewal of the large-scale riots which cost 50 lives last month.

Children Rouse Family As Fumes Fill House

LINDSAY, Feb. 4. —(ENS)—Cries of two children awoke their parents and prevented possible asphyxiation of a Lindsay family of four Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLaren both attempted to reach the telephone, but only the husband did so.

He telephoned a doctor, who arrived to find both children sick and that Mrs. McLaren had collapsed on her way to the phone. In trying to reach the telephone, Mr. McLaren fell and cut his head on a sewing machine.

Neighbors Milton Endicott and Douglas Grayson helped air the house. By noon Saturday, Billy McLaren, 5, was able to go out and play, but his two-year-old sister, Barbara, was still sick.

Slick Operators Grabbing British Dollars

By SYDNEY CAMPBELL

LONDON, Feb. 4 (Reuters) — Slick continental operators are snatching thousands of dollars from under Britain's nose with a complex system of trafficking in silver between London and New York.

And the British government, seriously short of dollars, can do nothing about it because the deals are legal.

The trafficking can be carried out in any sterling area product—from wool or coffee to diamonds and rubber—but the main trading at the moment is in silver.

The continental middlemen buy the metal in London for the sterling equivalent of 99 cents an ounce and resell it in New York at 87¼ cents. They can afford to take this initial loss because the next stages of the deal pays them a 17 per cent profit.

Once they've got their dollars they sell them — again in New York—for so-called "cheap sterling" at less than $2.40 per pound, instead of the official British rate of $2.80.

Take Rake-Off

They take this rake-off, and the British Treasury stands by helpless as it watches its silver being sold for dollars it will never get.

Another racket is to use the dollars to buy goods to sell in the sterling area for which the sterling countries will not allot dollars—such as nylons or autos—and which, therefore, command a high price.

One day recently some continental merchants offered to sell in New York 500,000 ounces of silver, worth about $450,000—all of it bought in London.

They do not break any law of their own countries. In fact, some continental nations with too much sterling encourage the business.

The US State Department and International Monetary Fund have promised to do what they could to stop the trafficking.

Tighten UN Program Against Aggression

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Feb. 4 — (CP) — The sixth United Nations General Assembly produced machinery for further efforts toward an East-West agreement on control of atomic energy and tightened the UN program against aggression.

These perhaps were the only major constructive achievements of the three-month meeting, most Western delegates agreed privately as the hard-fought session moved towards it windup expected Tuesday.

The failure of Russia to win Assembly denunciation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was seen as a gain for the West, which stood united on top issues.

However, American leadership among the Western powers proved shaky on the issues of new members, where a large number of US allies appeared to favor a deal with Russia, and on the question of condemnation of Russia for failure to live up to her 1945 treaty of friendship with Nationalist China.

Membership Deal

On the membership issue, the Russians offered to admit Italy, Finland, Portugal, the Republic of Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon, Nepal and Libya if the Western majority would approve the application of Albania, Outer Mongolia, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary.

Against US opposition, so many delegations were willing to accept the five Iron-Curtain countries in order to admit Italy that this item was approved in the committee 21 votes to 12 with 25 abstentions. In the full Assembly, however, it was defeated because it did not get the required two-thrids vote. The Assembly vote was 22 to 21, with 16 abstentions.

The Nationalist Chinese resolution declaring Russia failed to carry out the 1945 treaty of friendship between the Soviet Union and Chiang Kai-shek was approved by the political committee and the general assembly although almost half of the UN members abstained.

This Chinese complaint was overshadowed by Russian charges that the US was preparing aggression in Southeast Asia and assisting "Kuomintang" (Nationalist) troops in Burma. The US denied these charges, and, jointly with France and Britain, served notice on Russia that any Communist aggression in Southeast Asia would be put before the UN for urgent consideration.

Nationalism Surge

The surge of nationalism in the Middle East has reflected in the assembly's work by the swing of many Arab countries to a neutral position on many east-west problems where previously they were solidly behind the west.

Middle-East programs are expected to hit the assembly with full force at the next session in the fall. Arab efforts to bring them up at the sixth session largely were shunted aside.

Hopes for a move towards an east-west agreement on many issues was hit by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia who said on his departure that the assembly produced only measures for aggressive war on the Soviet Union.

But western delegates foresaw a possible change in Soviet policy as the military strength of the west approaches that of Russia and her satellites.

Seized Initiative

The west seized the initiative at the beginning for a census of world armaments, including atomic weapons, with full inspection and verification of such a count.

Vishinsky laughted at the proposals but it soon died as he saw the reaction of other delegates, many of whom appealed to the big powers to settle their outstanding issues.

A 10-day secret meeting by the big four did not produce an agreement on anything except a disarmament commission. However, some delegates hopefully said it meant getting the atomic control question off dead centre. The commission expected to get to work on actual propaganda soon in New York.

700 Enjoy Ice Carnival In Campbellford Arena

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 4 — (ENS).—The crowd of more than 700 persons who nearly filled the Community Arena here on Friday night for the ice carnival sponsored by the local Rotary Club were loud in their praises of the members of the Quinte Skating Club of Belleville who provided most of the entertainment.

The carnival featured 15 performers of the Quinte club, who thrilled the crowd with their exhibitions of fancy skating. Waltz numbers predominated on the program and the skaters displayed precision timing and ability in the tricky steps and formations on the silver blades.

The crowd particularly enjoyed from the antics of two unidentified clowns, who had spectators roaring with laughter at their antics.

Little ten-year-old Jacqueline Woodcock of Middleton Park, drew round after round of applause from the spectators with her single number "Penguin at the Waldorf."

A formation ten-step by Lillian Sprackett, Georgia Scott, Olivia Weese, Jack Dickens, Duane Warren and Gordon Davies was also a crowd-pleaser.

Kids Races

A number of skating races for school children were held, and members of the local Rotary Club, who sponsored the show, had a real job on their hands when it came to sorting out the winners and keeping the racers on the proper course. Results of the races are as follows:

Girls up to 10 years—1 Sharon Hennessy, age 9; Anne Boyd, age 9.

Boys up to 10 years: David Dooher, 9; Billy LaBrash, 8.

Girls 10 to 12: Sandra McDonald 12; Peggy Noble, 12.

Boys 10 to 12: Bobby Dunk 12; Allan Copperthwaite, 12.

Girls 12 to 14: Helen Holmes, 12; Shirley Merritt, 12.

Boys 12 to 14—Jeff White, 13; David Lockwood, 12.

Girls 14 to 16: no entries.

Boys 14 to 16: Jason Field, 15; Len Wilson, 14.

Each winner was presented with a prize.

Hockey Game

A hockey game between two teams of the town league added to the thrills of the crowd when Legion and Seymour East played to a scoreless tie. Both goal tenders earned their shutouts.

Members of the Rotary Club are so well pleased with the success of the affair that they are already planning to hold another such evening before the season is over. Approximately $150 was realized as clear profit for the club on Friday evening. The money is used in the support of the Midget and Bantam OHA hockey teams which the club sponsors.

Make The Zones Law

Zoning of Peterborough is absolutely necessary to the carrying out of any city plan. Peterborough has an admirable Plan, drawn up by Dr. E. G. Faludi and his consultants. The Plan includes zoning proposals. These have been studied and a by-law has been drawn up but never presented. It is time that it was. The City Plan, devised with great skill and at considerable cost, is virtually wasted until zoning laws are made. Until they are, property owners, city officials and the Planning Committee itself are in an uneasy, equivocal position. If the proposed by-laws, studied afresh and redrafted, had been law, the perplexities and disgruntlement over the projected bread company factory on Rogers street might not have occurred. The City Plan was completed in 1947, nearly five years ago. It should be taken firmly in hand, decisions should be made, and the zones declared legal and binding.

* * *

We understand that a revision of the by-laws, as drafted several years ago, is gradually being undertaken. Certainly it is gradual. Both property-owners and all other people who want to see Peterborough grow in an orderly way, in keeping with a good and even gracious future, are anxious that the uncertainties be ended. Already the effects of an inoperative zoning plan have been felt to the city's hardship. Hundreds of new houses have been built in the last five years, streets have been opened, whole housing blocks have been created. Some of them more or less conform with the Plan. Others grossly transgress it. For instance, insufficient allowance has been made for recreation areas and parks—breathing places—in both the northwest and southwest developments. The Planning Committee has had oversight of the growth but its own failure to present zoning by-laws has hampered both its decisions and its ability to supervise.

* * *

The Plan is so old now and the zoning proposals in it outdated by events, that before zoning by-laws are passed, the people must again be made familiar with the Plan in its broad outline and in its details which affect their own property. It is safe to say that a third of the adults in Peterborough now know nothing at all about the City Plan. Interest must be revived, and none, especially home owners, left in ignorance of the proposals. Public meetings and displays must be held in the various wards, forums for discussion provided and opportunities given to question planning officials. When the populace is again aware of both the immediate and the long-term plans, the final draft of the zoning by-laws should be ready for the legally-required presentation to property-owners and for the action of the City Council.

* * *

One of the reasons put forward for the delay in executing the zoning by-laws is the difficulty of notifying each property-owning taxpayer of the proposals, as required by Provincial statute. The difficulty is not insurmountable. Every voter is reached by mail before the civic elections. Every tax-payer can be so informed about the by-law. The press might carry a comprehensive summary; adequate digests of the by-law could be posted on bill-boards and posts. There are several ways to effectively publicize the by-laws, and the cost would not be exorbitant. This matter should not become an excuse for further delaying the legal zoning of the city.

Odds Against A Joint Seaway Project

Despite the urgent pleas of President Truman and other Administration spokesmen, as well as some from non-partisan sources, it appears that there is little chance of the St. Lawrence seaway project winning the approval of the United States Congress. Indeed it may be said that there is little chance of the proposal reaching Congress for decision one way or the other. Senator Tom Connally of Texas reacted immediately to the President's appeal by restating his opposition to the seaway, and as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, he is almost certainly in a position to block a Senate vote.

In one way, it seems odd to find Senator Connally in the position of refusing to co-operate with a friendly power in an international project which has all the appearance of being beneficial, on the whole, to both nations concerned. He is a confirmed internationalist and a believer in the necessity of Western unity for defence. He has been one of the strongest supporters of the aid-to-Europe measures, a close collaborator with the late Senator Vandenburg in the U.S. bipartisan foreign policy, and was loyal to the Administration during the recent "secession" movement in the South.

However, Senator Connally is against the seaway, because it will be built on foreign territory. There is no record of objection from him to the acquisition of sites and the building or maintenance of American bases on foreign territory, in Britain and Canada, or against proposals to do so elsewhere. But the seaway is different. He is "very much opposed to it and my people are opposed to it."

There can be little doubt that Senator Connally was quite right when he said that his people—the people of Texas—are opposed to the seaway. Not all of them, of course; it isn't likely that the people of the Panhandle, tucked up between New Mexico and Oklahoma, are much concerned one way or the other. It isn't likely that the people of the western spur that ends a little past El Paso give it a thought. But his people of Galveston are undoubtedly against it, along with his people from Port Arthur, Freeport, Port Lavaca, Rockport, Port Aransas and Corpus Christi, and there are some very important figures among these people. There is a feeling in these Gulf of Mexico ports that the seaway would cut into their trade.

Unless there is a surprising reversal of attitude, therefore, the shelving of the proposal seems assured. That means that, if all parties keep their word, the seaway preliminaries will be undertaken by Canada, alone, some time this year.

The Natural Colour Of Butter

Dairy farmers meeting in Montreal asked the Government to raise the floor price on butter to 63 cents a pound. As if to grease this request they large-heartedly said that they had no objection to colour being added to margarine "other than the natural yellow colour associated with butter."

"The natural yellow colour indeed!" huffs the strong-minded Calgary Herald, which can punch phrases with the best. "There may be three or four weeks in the Spring when really colourful butter is produced, but ninety per cent of the time that natural colour is artificially produced and if the farmers put the anaemic-looking product on the market, there would be squawks all across the country."

The dairy farmers have had their way buttered for them too long now. For decades they were able to ban the margarine industry from this country until public opinion and legal decision wisely overthrew the butter dictatorship. Then the embattled farmers took their woes to the provincial politicians, who ran interference for them by legislating against colored margarine and even against inter-provincial trade in the competitive product.

While the Herald is on the subject of colour which the dairy industry puts in butter, we add a bit about the water they put in milk. A new brand of milk is being distributed in Ontario; a kind with two per cent. butter-fat instead of the standard 3.5 p.c. butter-fat. To compensate for the weaker product vitamins are being added, as vitamins are added to margarine. Since most margarine contains some milk product and this new skimmed liquid also contains milk, is it not fair to require that it be differently coloured—say blue or black—to distinguish it from milk, as margarine must be distinguished from butter?

A Weekly London Times

We have received, and examined with interest the first copy of a Weekly Review, published by The Times of London; it is described as a review of "current British opinion as it is seen from Printing House Square". It may be had in a regular or an air-mail edition. We liked the copy we saw very much, and we think that many people in Canada will wish to see this paper regularly.

They will have to be patient people, however. Papers from England take about a month to get to Canada by surface mail, by which time they are interesting as history and as samples of good contemporary prose, but pretty well useless as newspapers. The air-mail editions are expensive, and unless the subscriber lives near one of Canada's large air ports, he does not receive them very quickly; usually about a week elapses before he gets his overseas paper.

In this office we take several British papers because we like them and enjoy seeing what they have said about things which happened a few weeks ago. But we cannot pretend that they are especially useful to us as sources of day-to-day opinion. Until the mail services, air and land, are better, we expect that this condition will persist.

NOTES AND COMMENT

It's the halter, not the altar, which makes bridal couples apprehensive.

Winnipeg Little Theatre last Wednesday made "a clean sweep" of the Manitoba regional festival, we read. Clean with Medea.

In Lindsay the other day escaping steam was mistaken for a fire in a convent. No comment—that's a matter for the ecclesiastical authorities and the Lindsay fire department to iron out.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

IT IS with deep regret that I have to record the death recently of Canon Fellowes at the age of 81. One year ago I informed my readers that he had just completed his great task of editing in twenty volumes the complete works of William Byrd, the great Tudor composer. It is pleasant to think that he at least rounded off his life work of restoring to his own country and to the world so much of the beauty and grandeur of Elizabethan music. This great period of music had somehow lain neglected for some three hundred years. To be sure there were a few odd anthems and partsongs that had survived the general oblivion, though there was scarcely one that had not been tampered with by zealous editors. Not only the music but also the words were altered: a typical example of this being the charming little madrigal of Edwards "in going to my naked bed" being amended to "In going to my lonely bed" to suit the squeamish tastes of Victorian England.

✧ ✧ ✧

CANON FELLOWES was quiet, unassuming and urbane, with a fund of quiet humour. He looked the part of a Minor Canon, and nobody would have suspected without prior knowledge that he was a leading authority on Tudor music. To all appearances his life has been eminently happy. He succeeded in all that he set out to do and his work has achieved general recognition. Added to that there are other men to carry on his great work. I have still heard it said, however, that madrigals are far more fun to sing than to listen to, implying that they are not much fun to listen to at all. I feel like saying to these people that they should go and have their ears tested. Of course it is more fun to sing madrigals than to listen to them, just as it is more fun to stumble through Beethoven's sonatas than to hear them played on the gramophone by Schnabel. All the same I enjoy hearing Schnabel play them. Likewise I seize every opportunity (and they are none too many) of hearing madrigals sung. Admittedly I do not get all that I might out of listening if the madrigal is unfamiliar: great music does not yield all its secrets at the first hearing. The words, which are the key to the music may not come through owing to the fact that each voice is singing different syllables in varying rhythms at the same time. Not that this difficulty is peculiar to the English madrigal school; it is to be found in Bach, Palestrina, Brahms, Britten and what have you, and is only totally absent in the school of Sankey and Moody. I leave you to judge whether the last-mentioned type of music is more fun to sing than to listen to.

✧ ✧ ✧

A READER WOULD LIKE to know how music is printed. In some cases so would I! Let me be frank; I have never actually seen music being printed, but I can give some idea of how it is done. In 1525 Pierre Hautin stamped punches on metal plates, which he finished off with hand-engraving, a method that is still universally in use, though the first "pull" is nowadays transferred to a lithographic stone, from which all subsequent copies are taken. Printing from metal type is also used, especially for large editions. This is a very complicated business to set up, and requires a compositor specially trained for the work. The fount for average use consists of about 400 pieces. The type is too costly to bear the pressure of the printing press, so after the proof the music is worked off from electrotypes or stereotypes. Of recent years the camera has come into increasing use. If, for example, it is decided to issue a reprint, all that is necessary is a printed copy of the work.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE YET to discover a cheap and effective method of duplicating music in the home. To start off one must have a very steady hand and a true eye to rule the lines. Then, if one is using the stencil method, great skill is needed to avoid tearing the stencil when writing the notes on the lines. I have seen good photostatic copies, but the equipment is far too expensive for the average person. Those whose business it is to type and duplicate for business firms and organizations are chary of doing music, as it is more trouble than it is worth. Surely, in these days of gadgets and inventions there must be some easy and convenient process.

✧ ✧ ✧

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS have undergone a number of changes since Beethoven's day: in fact there are hardly any that have not undergone some modification or improvement. Pianos are bigger and better, with iron frames (instead of wooden ones) and a larger compass. The tone is much louder and more brilliant. On the other hand the action is heavier, and the glissando octaves which were possible in Beethoven's day are not practicable on modern pianos. It is said, too, that the tone of the old pianos was sweeter. The general trend has been towards greater brilliance of tone. The violin family is changing over to metal strings, though the design established by the violin-makers of Cremona in the seventeenth century has not been improved upon. Even in this twentieth century the name of Stradivarius (c. 1644-1737) is synonymous with perfection in violin tone. Strangely enough the tail-pin of the violoncello was invented around 1860 as an aid to the celebrated cellist Servais, when he was too weak to hold the instrument between his knees, as was the custom of those days. This innovation also made it possible (and ladylike into the bargain) for the cello to be played by women, who took full advantage of the opportunity.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BIGGEST ADVANCE in instrument design was made in the brass instruments with the invention of valves. In Beethoven's day the brass instruments could play only the notes of the harmonic series, eked out in the case of the horn by the stopped notes obtained by inserting the fist in the bell. These stopped notes are of a muffled quality and do not blend evenly with the unstopped notes. By means of the valves it was possible to play a chromatic scale of even quality. As a result of this invention the scope of the brass section in the orchestra was enormously extended. The only regular member of the orchestra of the brass section to remain unaltered is the trombone, which is substantially the same as it was in the sixteenth century, when it was known as the sackbut. Wind instruments have undergone many changes.

✧ ✧ ✧

STRANGELY enough comparatively few new instruments have been invented since Beethoven's day, the tendency being to improve and modify existing instruments. The saxophone, of course, must be mentioned. In more recent years a number of electronic instruments have been invented. There are those with a keyboard, such as the Hammond organ, and there is also the "Ondes Martenot", much favoured by modern French composers. On the whole, the electronic instruments have not up to the present justified the high hopes that were aroused at the outset. Who knows, though, that in a couple of hundred years' time they may have developed so spectacularly that all the present-day instruments may be banished to glass cases in museums?

Rise Of Canadian Dollar A Lesson To U.S.

(JACKSONVILLE FLORIDA TIMES-UNION)

THE GREAT American dollar, that pre-eminent symbol of financial solidarity since the British pound first became shaky after World War I, is no longer supreme in the world's money markets. Its position is shared, penny for penny, by the Canadian dollar.

Up to 15 months ago, the Canadian dollar was pegged at 90 cents to the American dollar, meaning that nine U.S. dollars would buy ten of the Canadian variety. When the Canadian government decided that conditions were ripe to turn its dollars loose on the open market, they gradually climbed to parity with Uncle Sam's currency.

Aside from slightly hurt pride that its dollar does not now hold top rank in splendid isolation, the U.S. need not be overly concerned at the present. Although it will have to pay higher prices for Canadian goods, Canada in turn will be enabled to buy more American commodities. At dollar parity, a natural balance will be achieved.

However, there are ominous signs that the Canadian dollar may climb still higher and demand a premium over the American dollar. Many international financiers are betting that will happen.

The results for the U.S. would be bad. This country would have to pay heavily, because of its discounted currency, for such Canadian items as newsprint, oil, grain and metals.

Furthermore, the enhanced convertibility of Canadian dollars would attract foreign investors in increasing numbers. Money that might have gone into U.S. factories, mines or oil wells would be spent in Canada. Already foreign capital has contributed greatly to Canadian prosperity.

Americans should examine very carefully the rise of the Canadian dollar. There is a lesson to be learned, a lesson that has a direct bearing on the future of this nation.

A major reason why the international money market has accepted the Canadian dollar as the full equal of the American, is that Canada is operating with a treasury surplus while the U.S. treasury is suffering a huge deficit. Also, Canada is reducing its national debt, while the U.S. debt is soaring to an all-time high.

An inferior currency has proved the economic downfall of many a nation in the past. The U.S. must insist upon businesslike administration in its national government, lest its dollar actually suffer in comparison to those of other nations and American enterprises be forced to operate at a decided disadvantage in world trade.

Bible Message

O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought afar off....

Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me....

How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sum of them!

If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand: when I awake, I am still with thee. (Ps. 139:1, 2, 7-10, 17, 18.)

A Wisecrack That Kicked Back

(Montreal Star)

When the U.S. defence procurement agencies turned down the offer of Canadian-made aluminum in the fall of 1950, Mr. Stuart Symington in his final rejection remarked blandly "Just because you want to buy a book, doesn't mean you have to join the book-of-the-month club." Readers will be interested to learn that Mr. Symington has since taken out his membership.

He was offered, more than a year ago, 200,000 metric tons of Canadian aluminum at 16½ cents a pound. When he refused it—preferring to set up new high-cost plants under heavy government subsidy—the Aluminum Company of Canada sold the metal to the British. What happened since then is set forth by Dewey Anderson in a pamphlet "Aluminum for Defence and Prosperity,"—

"How belatedly the Defence Production Administration has begun to search for immediate supplies of aluminum that could have been obtained earlier, is illustrated in the 'loan' arranged with Great Britain announced Nov. 23, 1951. Britain has agreed to cancel some previous orders placed with the Aluminum Company of Canada so that the United States can import over a five-month period an estimated 22,045,000 pounds of aluminum.

"This is not necessarily a net gain by that amount, however, for it was expected that in order to meet the heavier demand of the British order for 1952, Alcan would have had to reduce deliveries to the United States."

This is not the whole result of Mr. Symington's wisecrack about the book-of-the-month club. The British, in releasing part of the aluminum they bought, stipulated that [illegible] American steel which, like aluminum, is in very short supply. Mr. Symington's decision has therefore had the double effect of depriving his country not only of aluminum which it badly needed, but also of steel.

Nor should it be forgotten that the 1950 decision was made when the ink was hardly dry on a document which established as Canadian-American policy the economic integration of the continent's defence industries.

Canada placed orders in the United States last year for $300 millions of military equipment. It was expected that American agencies would place equivalent orders in Canada. They haven't.

Finds Building Contracts Down Slightly

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canadian building contracts were down slightly in January from the corresponding month of last year.

MacLean Building Reports, Ltd. puts the first-month figure at $151,324,300, a decline of $7,726,600, but adds:

"Because the impact of winter on the industry varies greatly from year to year, this drop of nearly five per cent is not considered a trend indicator for construction volume in the year ahead."

January of 1951, for instance, was very high, nearly trebling the January figures of 1950. It started off a 12-month which reached a total of $2,295,499,600, more than 50 per cent higher than 1950.

Work Drops Sharply

In January of this year, industrial work was off sharply and commercial work also declined. Engineering awards, boosted by $32,000,000 for the Edmonton-to-Vancouver oil pipe line, jumped. Housing, though down, slightly in the Maritimes, was up elsewhere.

January figures by classifications were:

Residential $20,007,000, up $4,000,000; commercial $24,243,300, down $13,800,000; industrial $6,23,500, down $60,600,000; engineering $100,870,500, up $62,700,000.

And by areas:

Maritimes $7,091,000, up $600,000; Quebec $14,629,000, down $1,700,000; Ontario $33,393,400, down $31,300,000; West $96,210,900, up $24,600,000.

Freedom for Cows

There's a new day on the way for "bossy." The most recent in a series of booklets on agriculture by the Canadian Bank of Commerce talks about a "loafing barn" where dairy cattle are allowed to run loose, and a special "milking parlor."

Professor L. G. Heimpel, former head of the Agricultural Engineering department at Macdonald College, points out the new "loafing barn" has six areas:

A "milking parlor" where cattle are brought for milking; a milk house for storing milk; a lounging area for cattle, with no stalls; a feeding area where cattle can go and gett heir own feed; space for freshening cows and young calves; and an area for young stock.

And loafing barns do not require heating thus allowing for cheaper construction.

Four Flee Fire Live In 20 Below

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 4 (AP)—Four servicemen fled almost naked from their burning barracks in the Alaska wilderness and survived 36 hours in 20 below zero weather and a 50-mile gale.

Recovering from their ordeal at the Ladd air force base, they told of huddling together in an unheated shack under their tattered blankets and scraps of canvas until rescue came. A helicopter saw their signal for help in the trampled snow.

"I'm probably the only man who ever tramped an SOS in the snow with his bare feet," said Cpl. Delroy Cady.

"We didn't have enough clothes to make us decent, let alone warm," Cpl. Royce Henry added.

Their companions were Cpl. Hazel George and Sgt. Everett Lapierre. None of the men suffered ill effects.

They were manning an air force aerial gunnery range installation in an isolated area north of Fairbanks when their stove exploded, setting the wooden building aflame. They leaped from their bunks and fled outside, but only Henry managed to grab an armful of clothing.

Four-Man Calgary Squad Helps Youngsters Obey Law

CALGARY—(CP)—In Calgary these days a teen-ager is apt to greet a policeman with "hiyah Roy", or "How 'ya doing, Bob".

A changed attitude toward police officers in the minds of teen-aged boys and girls has come about since the formation in the Calgary police department of a special four-man squad to deal exclusively with the problems of youth.

The squad was set up jointly by civic and provincial authorities to combat juvenile delinquency by creating in young people a healthy regard for the law.

The squad works from 6 pm to 2 am. On the team are detectives Jack Davies, Roy McNabb, George Morehouse and Bob Down.

All are men of several years' experience in the department and have had long contact with young people through boys' town and other youth groups.

Visit Many Places

Sometimes the juvenile officers visit almost every place where young people congregate.

It soon became apparent that they did not consider arrest and punishment as their primary function. Rather they made it their aim to advise and try to prevent young people getting into difficulty.

On one typical night there were basketball games and dances at two Calgary high schools. The four officers visited the schools together.

Many of the students came up to them, exchange pleasantries and discusesd the latest in sports and school events.

Firm but Reasonable

When the officers were called upon to put an official foot down, as in the case of a youth found with an empty whisky bottle in his car, they made every effort to be reasonable and understanding.

They cautioned him that he was breaking the law and that on future occasions he would not be dealt with so leniently. His name was recorded and he was allowed to go.

On other occasions, firmer action has been necessary. Downtown pool halls were crowded with juveniles until the squad went into action. The officers ordered proprietors to put up signs instructing children and boys under 18 to keep out. Then they cleared the premises of juveniles.

Poolrooms are still patrolled nightly, but it is only rarely that officers find anyone under 18 present.

Adults who are found supplying liquor to juveniles are charged immediately, since they are expected to know the law.

This constant "preventive patrol", as the officers term it, is expected to make young people think twice before drinking at dances or in their cars, or breaking the law in other ways.

"This is the first time anyone has ever given sole attention to young people", one of the officers said. "With the knowledge that someone is checking on them at all times they won't be so likely to disregard the law".

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 4—The University of Michigan's second experiment in the effects of atomic energy on engine fuels, scheduled for Sunday night, has been postponed indefinitely. Dr. Frank O'Leary Dies Suddenly TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP)—Dr. Frank O'Leary, 61, died suddenly early Sunday after a heart seizure. He was one of Toronto's best-known medical men. Dr. O'Leary, born in Orillia, had been prominent in several welfare groups. He was chief gynaecologist at St. Michael's hospital from 1947-50 and a lecturer at the University of Toronto.

"In sheer weight of goodness," a friend said "he was hard to surpass. He was the kindest-hearted man in the city."

From 1945 to 1951 Dr. O'Leary was chief of the hospital's department of obstretrics and gynaecology. He retired to private practice last September and was succeeded by Dr. William Noonan.

On Aug. 9, at Riverdale Isolation Hospital, he officiated at a birth unique in the annals of Canadian medicine. A young, polio-stricken mother, Mrs. Williams of Peterborough, was removed from an iron lung for 30 seconds while Dr. O'Leary delivered a six-pound baby girl.

A colleague estimates that over the past three decades Dr. O'Leary brought at least 3,000 children into the world. "And that's probably a very conservative guess," he said.

Use Electric Vest To Keep King Warm

LONDON, Feb. 4 (Reuters) — The King, still recovering from his lung operation, is wearing an electrically heated vest to safeguard him from the cold, the Sunday Express of London said Sunday.

The vest, powered by a small battery, is made of lightweight khaki silk.

According to the Express, the vest forced the King—a stickler in matters of dress—to break a rule of fashion last Wednesday when he went to see the Broadway hit, South Pacific.

The garment made too big a bulge for him to wear a normal evening topcoat. So he was forced to wear a tweed topcoat over his evening dress.

The King also has a pair of electrically heated shoes to wear when shooting game. He cannot walk far and does his shooting from an open station wagon.

Fix Pulp Prices

"Now I've caught up with Grandma!"

Grandma was one of those unforgettable characters you read about. And every time I think of her, I remember one of her favourite sayings: "Early sow — Early mow".

Many years have passed since Grandma died. But just the other day something happened to remind me of that old motto of hers.

I was working over my budget, trying not to admit what the figures told me: My savings had slipped. At this rate, it was a cinch that some of the things I'd started to save for would have to wait. Suddenly I remembered "Early sow . . ."

"Old-fashioned stuff!" I told myself. Then I got to thinking. "Maybe it is tough to save today. But it's still important . . . still my only hope of getting some of the things I want most.

"Well, at least I'm keeping up my life insurance payments," I thought. "That's a way of saving which combines protection for my family as well. And maybe if I make an extra effort to put more money aside I'll reach my goals sooner.

"So here goes! I'll try again. I'll find some new ways to economize. Somehow I'm sure I can manage to be more thrifty."

And you know — it's a funny thing! The moment I made that decision, I realized that Grandma's idea was not old-fashioned. I've just caught up with her now!

LIFE INSURANCE works for you these other ways:

Every dollar you set aside in life insurance — or in savings of any kind — works to check inflation, thus protecting the value of all your money.

Your life insurance helps to improve your living standards too! A large part of each dollar you pay in premiums is invested for you in ways that help provide new homes, schools, highways, power plants, oil pipelines and other vital projects throughout the nation.

Today nearly five million thrifty Canadians are providing security for their families — and promoting progress in their own and other communities — by their ownership of life insurance!

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Well, sir—and you, madam—there should be a super puck attraction awaiting you this e'en in Civic Arena. It is an OHA senior "B" fixture betwixt these local enemies of the ice lanes, Eagles and Petes. The latter presently nestle on the top rung with 26 points after playing 21 games over the past three months. Belleville is next with 24 points for 23 games, while Eagles are climbing the loop ladder fast with 19 for 21, as Kingston sits in the cellar with 17 for the same number of games as Eagles and Petes. Schedule has a bit less than four weeks to go, and every team is shooting the works now, so tonight's tilt should be a dandy.

* * * * * *

Sure, they shot the works before, but all players are in the pink of condition now and know what to expect from rival puckists. The Eagles are no longer looked upon as a soft touch since they started rebuilding. In fact, they beat the Petes in two of their last three meetings. Naturally, the Ellis outfit will be trying hard to smear 'em and get sweet revenge in this encounter, whilst the Vitarelli pack will be striving their utmost to rub it in with another win o'er their city rivals. No love lost at all and some nifty, fast hockey is a certainty when it's Eagles vs. Petes. Don't pass it up.

Lacrossers On The Ice

A good-sized crowd thoroughly enjoyed a hockey exhibition in Port Hope on Saturday night. Red Creighton took down the Petes' Timbermen—the Mann Cup lacrosse champs—for a tussle with Port Hope Redmen of the intermediate lakeshore league. Of course, Ike Hildebrand and Don Ashbee weren't available on account of AHL action, while Bob Thorpe and Dootch Vitarelli were absentees this game. Also, Nit O'Hearn, but he's starting work here this week and will be in goal for them in future exhibitions. Timbermen seek more frays with district teams, Cobourg, TVL all-stars, or some such. And they're willing to play the junior Oddfellows a bentfit for Joe Rochetta. Or take part in a PMHA Night, if requested.

* * * * * *

The puck-playing lacrossers came from behind to tie the Ports 6-6 and may stage a repeat performance, as the crowd loved it. They had Rock Bailey in goal; a defence of Red Creighton, Moon Wootton, Mick Magee and Bill Killingbeck; and forwards included Arn Dugan, Curly Mason, Gary Robinson, Russ Slater, Joe Whitnall, Ross Powless and Em Creighton. Ald. Doug Miller went along to introduce players and say a few words as well as help in the transportation. A pretty potent hockey squad can be iced from the gutted-stick champs. Any district team interested in an exhibition might arrange one by phoning Red Creighton at 5663, if and when he's at home.

OLA Backs CLA O'er B.C.

Executive of the OLA has declined to leave the Canadian Lacrosse Association and join independent forces with the B.C. association. The latter has kicked ever since the last Mann Cup series and would pull away from the CLA if Ontario would do likewise. However, the CLA will continue to rule lacrosse in Canada this year. Annual OLA meeting will be held in Toronto on April 19. All last year's senior squads are expected back, with Owen Sound and Orillia considered as possibilities, too. Orillia now has a fine new arena. Big Merv McKenzie of Hamilton, high-scoring defenceman—who helped Petes in the Canadian final—was voted most valuable player by the OLA to take that trophy.

* * * * * *

Bev Goulding's junior PCVS backeteers came through nicely in Oshawa on Saturday to beat the Irish 66-51 and sweep that first OABA playdown round by 27 points. Team turned in a whale of an effort after their exams, and Dave Langhorne led the scoring parade with 19 points. Their next provincial series will be Feb. 16-23. At the Collegiate the same night, Gord McIntyre's strategy on defensive tactics paid off for Marines, who trimmed Trenton Flyers 74-58 to grab the lead again in the Eastern Ontario hoop loop. But Belleville can end the schedule in a tie with them by beating Picton, probably the toss of a coin then settling it for choice of floors in group playoffs. Dibben was top man for Marines with 18 points.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Lacrosse Association has turned down a suggestion that it break from the Canadian body and it's quite happy with the way things are being run.

The suggested break came from the Inter-City Box Lacrosse Commission in Vancouver and got a flat "no" from all delegates at an OLA meeting in Toronto Saturday.

The British Columbia group asked that the Ontario body sever all ties with the Canadian Lacrosse Association and conduct its own Mann Cup series—the Canadian championships for senior teams.

The west coast group, which is independent of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association, objected to several points in the Canadian constitution that raised a rhubarb last year when Vancouver Combines and Peterborough Petes clashed for the Dominion title.

Howie Meeker announced Sunday in Galt that he will retire from professional hockey with Toronto Maple Leafs at the close of this season. Next winter he hopes to coach Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in the Ontario Hockey Association circuit.

The district attorney's office in New York is investigating a $25,000 shortage from Brooklyn Dodgers' ticket sales during the 1951 baseball season. Chief assistant district attorney Edward Silver said the shortage was reported to him Tuesday by Dodger president Walter O'Malley.

Elwin (Peacher) Roe, acclaimed as one of the best National League southpaw pitchers since Carl Hubbell, has signed his 1952 contract with the Dodgers at possibly the biggest salary ever paid a Brooklyn pitcher. It was believed around $30,000.

The Canadian Sports Advisory Council made up of some 25 heads of sports-governing bodies in Canada, Saturday in Ottawa approved in principle the setting up of national coaching schools to cover all sports activities across Canada.

Marines Take Cage Win From Trenton

Strategy paid off for the Marines Saturday night in their cage game with the Trenton Flyers and today they're riding again, for about the fifth time this season atop the Bay of Quinte section of the Eastern Ontario intermediate league.

Marines tripped up the Flyers for the fourth time this year with a 74-58 victory in the PCVS Collegiate gym. These two points give them a two-point lead over Belleville Glen Roys who have one game to play, that with Picton on Tuesday night.

Unless the winless Athletics edge Glen Roys, a first-place tie between Roys and Marines will complete the league schedule on Wednesdday morning.

If the schedule ends in a tie, the verdict will be decided by a flip of the coin on Tuesday night, this by telephone. The winner will have two of the best-of-three games on its home floor. This ruling has brought a round of protests from Peterborough.

Coach Objects

"I don't think that method's sound—a lot depends upon the flip of that coin, I believe a sudden-death game would be fairer, or better a decision by the total points in the four games played between the Glens and the Marines," Coach McIntyre said, adding that at an earlier meeting this season, the teams agreed to break the tie by the toss method, but Marines weren't represented.

Back to Saturday night's game, the Marines tried methods of strategy and both were sucessful. They switched the game from the small YMCA gym to the large Collegiate floor where Trenton's taller players would not have such an advantage as in the "Y." They ran the Flyers throughout and their better conditioning resulted in a substantial scoring increase in the final quarter. Then the Flyers were dead tired.

Again, Marines used mostly young players, followed up by a quintet of veterans. Dibben, Thompson, Trimm and McPherson, using a man-to-man defence and a quick break, first took the floor and ran the Flyers ragged. Then the veterans, the Stewart brothers, Burns, Smith, and Gillespie, switched the defnece to zone and the offence to their slow, methodical play.

Flynn Bewildered

The Marines alternated the two styles and the Flyers could never quite get used to one before the change was made again. This resulted in Marines holding the lead throughout the game.

Trenton enjoyed a brief moment of holding play in the third quarter when Watson, Eckley and Allen brought the Flyers closer to Marines with set shots. They had difficulty breaking Marines' zone defence.

Bill Trimm was the standout for Marines with an exception performance on the offence and defence. With long looping shots, he totalled 10 points and then checked Trenton's Dube to a standstill in the final half.

Dube, a small tricky player, three times tricked the Marines in the first half by snatching the ball away. He also whipped in 15 points in that half. Immediately Trimm was sentto check him and he was held to six points.

Hugh Dibben and Neil Thompson were quick to take advantage of the tired Flyers in the last five minutes by breaking fast with passes from Trimm and Doug McPherson. These plays helped Dibben to total 18 points and Thompson 14.

Lineups:

Marines (74)—Trimm 10, Dadson, Dibben 18, Thompson 14, Burns 7, J. Stewart 8, A. Stewart 9, McPherson 4, Smith 6, Gillespie.

Trenton (58) — Watson 9, Dube 21, Eckley 12, Stadel, Allen 10, Campbell 6, Zick, Erickson.

Curling News

Our lady curlers arrived home from the Seigniory Club, Quebec, early this morning.

After playing all week in the Quebec City bonspiel, Dr. Ralph Clark's rink came through to win the Seagram Trophy. Details are lacking at the moment. Other members of his rink were V. Selkirk, Dr. Morgan, and Z. Levine.

A number of men's rinks from our club are competing in the British Consols competition today at Lindsay.

There will be no curling for the men this evening. The ladies have taken over the rink for their bonspiel.

The winning skips on Saturday afternoon were: A. Ingram, F. Patterson, J. W. McDermid, and C. Giroux; and at night, E. Lowes and F. Stenson.

We are pleased to report that two popular members, Dr. M. McCartney and A. Aitkenhead, continue to show improvement.

Junior PCVS Cagers Win Over Oshawa, 66-51 To Get First OABA Series

The Garnet and Grey juniors from PCVS hurdled the first jump of the Ontario basketball playdowns Saturday when they grounded the Flying Irish from Oshawa for the second time in a week 66-51. A week ago the Bev Goulding charges, who entered Ontario play just for practice for the COSSA trials, whipped the Irish 65-53 in the first game of the points-to-count series. Coupling that game with Saturday night's, PCVS won the round by 27 points, 131-104.

Later this month the Garnet-Grey quintet will move into the second round against the Eastern Ontario winners from the Kingston district. Games will be played against the winner, yet to be announced, on February 16 and 23.

Good Shooting

Goulding's cagers won the game mostly through an amazing accuracy in their shooting, both long and short. Although they shot less than usually or than they should have, they recorded almost 50 per cent successful; tops in any man's league.

The PCVS troupe tossed the ball 59 times at the basket and the ball dropped through no less than 27 times. Meanwhile the Flying Irish were shooting like fiends but were off the mark, netting only 22 in 89 shots for a 25 per cent mark.

Another deciding factor in play was the mid-game switch from man-to-man attack to a zone defence. This caused the Irish to change tactics suddenly but took some time to become accustomed to it, allowing PCVS to rack up no less than 26 points in the third quarter.

This was the first time this season that the Garnet and Grey had used the zone system. In all previous games they have relied upon the old man-to-man, and with some success.

After the game, coach Bev Goulding said: "The boys were really hot in the first and third quarters. They were shooting whenever they had an opening—and the ball wasn't even touching the hoop. It was one of those nights you dream about, especially amazing after the exams."

The Garnet and Grey didn't lose any time grabbing the lead and quickly totalled a 19-9 first quarter score. But the Irish flew back in the second quarter, PCVS' poorest, to tie the score 28-all at the half. Then PCVS broke loose again to score 26 points against Oshawa's eight. PCVS coasted in the fourth.

Led The Snipers

Dave Langhorne, one of the shortest men on the floor, came into his own for the first time this season. Deadly throughout the game he totalled 19 points. His display seemed to threaten the others, Lionel Hempstead, Don Ash and Murray Grafstein, who each had 10 points.

Bryan Young, who had been sick for two days, and Grafstein, who had only 15 minutes off from work all day, played outstanding games defensively. They grabbed more than their share of rebounds off the defensive backboard.

Barrie, the Flying Irish's top scorer, was held to only 15 poitns, while other top scorers for Oshawa were: Booth 11, Corse 10 and Mackness eight.

The Irish had trouble with the zone defence and were held off, resulting in steady shooting, especially in the fourth when they had 25 shots. But in most cases they were well off the target, similar to a week ago at the Collegiate gym.

"After that layoff during the examinations, I figured we'd take a pasting," said Mr. Goulding, "but the boys really came through and I'm proud of them."

Lineups:

PCVS (66)—Brown, Cranfield 7, Langhorne 19, Young 4, Ash 10, Grafstein 10, Hempstead 10, Hendry 6.

Oshawa (51)—Mroczek 2, Armstead 8, Booth 11, Hill 3, Lambert, Corse 10, Harris 15, Mackness 8, Bradley.

Suggests Brazil Use His Head

Pat Flanagan and his partner Bobo Brazil are figuring out new tactics to use against Lord Layton and Lou Pitoscia in Tuesday's tag team match at the Brock. Maybe if Pat can persuade Bobo to use his head more, they can offset the judo slashes of Layton and Pitoscia. They will have little difficulty racking up a win if they do.

Zorra

Jim (the Bull) Wright, a newcomer will test Zorra in the semi-final. Wright, a rugged grappler, is highly rated in mat circles.

Steve Stanlee hooks up with Stan Mayslack in the opener. The card is well-balanced and will undoubtedly draw a large crowd of local and district mat devotees.

Havelock Losers To Belleville 10-4

HAVELOCK, Feb. 4 (ENS) — Havelock went down to defeat on Saturday night by a score of 10 to 4, in a TVL hockey game when they played Belleville Glen Roy here. It was a hard-fought game and soft ice hampered play throughout. Star players on the Belleville team were B. Mulvihill with four goals and three assists, Cousins and Lovelace with two goals and two assists each, and Jones with two goals.

Havelock's star player for the game was Willshaw with two goals and one assist. Berwick and Reid scored one each.

Lineup:

Havelock—Bradley, goal; Berardi and Pace, defence; Reid, centre; Willshaw and Crowder, wings; alternates, Eakins, Caravaggie, McIndoo, Laing, Hamilton, Berwick, Anderson and Wilson.

Rickey Tries Powder To Improve Field

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP). — Branch Rickey, general manager of Pittsburgh Pirates, is going to try a new scientific soil powder on the Pirates' infield this summer in hopes of having fewer games postponed by wet weather.

The powder is krilium, a synthetic resin which transforms the structure of soil.

Krilium enables the soil to hold 30 per cent more water without becoming muddy. It keeps the mud from sticking as badly to spikes and shoes. It makes the soil dry out much faster.

It is said to make base sliding easier and balls are said to take fewer strange bounces.

G. Denny, groundkeeper of Dayton Indians, where it has been tried is quoted as saying that the cancellation of a single game will about cover the cost of treating the field for a season.

BIG STADIUMS

Some modern sports stadiums dwarf the ancient coliseum in Rome, which was estimated to hold 87,000 people.

Robert Abbott Appointed OGA President

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP)—The Ontario Golf Association indicated Saturday it intends to enforce strictly in its tournaments the new rule for delaying a match.

Phil Farley of Toronto, runner-up for the 1951 Canadian amateur championship, told the association's annual meeting the new rule, arising out of a world rules standardization conference in Britain last May, provides for penalties that the previous regulation lacked.

He said a penalty of two strokes in medal play, loss of hole in match play and disqualification for repeated offence now will be imposed in tournament competition on any player causing undue delay.

Retiring president G. F. Stevens of Toronto told the meeting that the association has been trying in the last three or four years with limited resources to lay a sound foundation in its junior development program. He said the program will be expanded this year.

Stevens was answering Harold Beddoe of Hamilton who said that the $387 spent in 1951 for junior development was too low.

Not Overlooking Juniors

W. T. Hamilton of Toronto, RCGA secretary-treasurer, said the Royal Canadian Golf Association is not overlooking the development of juniors.

It has been concentrating on the Toronto area and now hoped to have Toronto education authorities approve golf clinics as part of the high school physical training classes.

If it was successful in Toronto it was hoped to introduce it in schools throughout Ontario and in other provinces.

A financial report on OGA operations for 1952 showed a loss of $707 from revenue of $6,722 and expenditures of $7,430. Surplus at Nov. 30, 1951 was $7,244.

Tournament dates announced for 1952 were: Ontario Open, July 3-4, Weston Golf Club, Toronto; Ontario Amateur, Aug. 7-8-9, Cataraqui Golf Club, Kingston; Ontario junior championship qualifying rounds, July 2 for all districts except London which will hold its qualifying round July 7; Ontario junior championship final, July 11, London Highland Club; International team matches between Ontario and District of Columbia, July 29, Toronto Mississaugua Golf Club; Ontario Parent and Child tournament, Aug. 27-28, Toronto Golf Club.

Robert Abbott, 65, of Peterborough was appointed OGA president for 1952. Other officers include:

B. F. Kearns of Kitchener, third vice-president; H. W. Davis of Kingston, a governor; representing the Northern Ontario Golf Association, George T. Honer of Kirkland Lake.

New directors include A. S. Mitchell, Guelph.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Those expert viewers of the sport scene who record such things recently voted to decide who was the "greatest woman Canadian athlete of 1951."

We may be quibbling, but we believe that while the selection was perfect, the term used is incorrect. The greatest athlete of the year, of either sex, is always a question to debate. But if this ballotting was intended, as no doubt it was, to designate the competitor who provided the most thrilling and spectacular success of the year, there wasn't much doubt about the award.

The honor of becoming Canada's Girl Athlete of Distinction in 1951 went, and quite rightly, to a snub-nosed freckled bit of a girl, 17 years old and weighing 108 pounds, who undoubtedly rated listing as Canada's most dramatic single figure of 1951.

This was Marlene Stewart, a poker-faced bundle of golfing dynamite from abscure Fonthill, Ont., who captured the Canadian Ladies Close and Open championships at Montreal's rolling Laval-sur-le Lac links.

Marlene might go down in golfing history as the Little Girl Who Played Like a Woman. For here she was, only 17 years old, a mere slip of a girl who had never faced such crowds, nor such competitors before, pitted against some of America's best.

Let us paint in a bit of the background to a Canadian girl athlete's finest performance of the year. Marlene, the Mighty Mite, in achieving the first "double win" by a Canadian woman since Toronto's Ada McKenzie turned the trick in 1934, eliminated Marjorie Rowe and Mae Murray, two topnotch US players in the opening rounds of match play. That set the stage for a gruelling 36-hole final against Grace Lenezyk, two-time Canadian open champion and one of the best women amateurs on the continent.

Wee Marlene held a shaky one-up lead at the 35th on the tricky back nine at Laval, and headed for the final hole with the knowledge that her powerful opponent was getting stronger, having erased a one-time three-up margin. The chips were down. This was it. And wee Marlene met the challenge. She hunched her slim shoulders and boomed a tee-shot right down the middle. Grace Lenezyk duplicated the feat. They both made the green in three. Marlene stroked her 18-foot putt within inches of the cup, while Miss Lenezyk missed her 15-footer and conceded Marlene the match.

Youth marches on, in sport, as it always has done, but more decisively than ever. In Canada a 17 year old girl becomes the top athlete of the year. Across the line, by coincidence, another girl still in her teens is named the United States girl athlete of distinction for 1951. Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, the second youngest player ever to win the United States national tennis championship, blazed her way to this honor 12 days before she became 17 years old.

There seems to be an interesting moral in this continued upsurge of youth in sport. It means, we think, that the kids are getting into sports competition at earlier ages than ever before, and there's nothing wrong with that. It means, broadly, that instead of a nation of onlookers, we're becoming a nation of participants, which is a great deal better for both moral and physical well-being.

Bruins Get Tie and Win At Weekend, Chicago Trips Leafs 3-1

By The Canadian Press

Although five games went by the National Hockey League boards during the weekend, only Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins managed to better their positions in league standings. The league-leading Wings ran true to form in tying Canadiens 2-2 Saturday at Montreal and rallying for a 4-3 victory over New York Rangers at home Sunday. The Bruins provided their surprise with a 1-1 Saturday deadlock against the Maple Leafs at Toronto and a 1-0 victory over Montreal Sunday in Boston.

Detroit's three points moved them back into a five-game lead over Toronto who were able to pick up but a single point on their weekend play. After the 1-1 tie with the Bruins at home, the Leafs bowed 3-1 to the tail-end Black Hawks in a Sunday afternoon game at Chicago.

Boston, with the Toronto tie and the win over Montreal, pulled two full games up on fifth-place New York who failed to gain.

At Toronto, it was Johnny Peirson who opened the scoring at 8:53 of the second period on passes from Red Sullivan and Jack McIntyre. Tod Sloan got the equalizer at 2:03 of the final session when he tipped Sexsmith's passout towards the Boston cage. The puck hit Jim Henry, bounced once and then trickled beneath his pads for the goal.

Trade Punches

Gus Mortson, Leaf defenceman, collected four penalties, one of them for a tangle with Boston rookie Leo Labine which threatened wholesale warfare as players of both clubs joined in a general shoving match.

Ted Lindsay and Freddie Glover gave Detroit a 2-0 second period lead at Montreal Saturday. The Canadiens then poured on the steam with Dickie Moore getting their first counter at 7:37 of the final session and Billy Reay evening the count with less than three minutes remaining.

George Gee was the Sunday afternoon matinee idol at Chicago, rapping in two goals in the Black Hawks' 3-1 win over Toronto. He broke a 1-1 first period deadlock and then lifted the puck into an empty net late in the third session to put the game on ice.

Max Bentley scored the Leafs' lone marker to give them a brief lead, but rookie Fred Hucul tied it up minutes later.

Crowd of 11,335

A crowd of 11,335 turned out to watch the afternoon clash. The Hawks have been trying day games to beat the stay-at-home television attractions.

Big Ed Sandford banged in Boston's lone goal to provide the edge for Bruins' 1-0 victory over Canadiens Sunday night. Dunc Fisher and Bill Quackenbush received assists on the second-period marker.

Jim Henry registered his fourth shutout of the season.

Ted Lindsay scored with 19 seconds left Sunday night for Detroit's home victory over the hapless New York Rangers. It was a point-blank drive which didn't give Chuck Rayner a chance.

Herb Dickenson and Wally Hergesheimer gave New York a 2-0 lead before Gordie Howe and Fred Glover evened it up midway through the second session. Steve Kraftcheck gave the Rangers the lead once again, but Red Kelly tied the game at 13:14 of the final.

No games are scheduled tonight, Chicago is at Boston Tuesday and New York is in Toronto Wednesday night.

Stack Injures Knee In Norway

OSLO, Feb. 4 (CP). — Frank Stack of Winnipeg, one of Canada's all-time speed-skating greats may be forced out of the Olympics due to an injury. The 46-year-old skater said he has torn a cartilage in his left knee and hasn't skated in more than a week.

Stack told The Canadian Press in a telephone interview that he injured the knee while practicing at Lilehammer about 40 miles north of Oslo, with other members of the Canadian team.

At Oslo manager Thorney Pickering said the four-time Canadian champion will be examined by a doctor when he arrives here. He is expected late this week.

Believed to be one of the oldest competitors in the sixth Olympiad Stack is entered in the 500 and 1,500-metre races. He confidently expected to win points for Canada just as he did in 1932, 1948 games.

"I never felt better in my life until this happened," Stack said. "I've been skating better than in 1948," when he tied for sixth place in the 500 metres at St. Moritz with a time of 43.6 seconds, just one-half second off the winner's mark.

"We'll do everything possible for Frank," Pickering said. "It would be a shame if he could not compete in his third Olympics, and we are certainly not giving up hope... He is one of the greatest competitors in the games."

Campbell Heads Council

Defence Projects To Boost Metals Industries In 1952

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—(CP)—Canada, in the midst of the greatest industrial expansion boom in history, is expected to increase public and private investment in 1952 to a record $5,000,000,000.

A detailed survey of government and industrial plans for investment in new machinery, equipment, plants and housing during the year has been undertaken by the trade department.

The official estimate will be tabled by Trade Minister Howe when parliament reopens Feb. 28.

The big investment emphasis during 1952 is expected to be concentrated in defence and defence-supporting industries, such as in the fields of strategic metals. Experts believe strong support in these fields will help overcome some weakening in such other categories of investment as housing and light industry, including textile manufacturing.

The expected climb to the $5,000,000-mark will mean a $400,000,000 increase over the $4,600,000,000 invested during the previous peak year of 1951.

But the increase—$400,000,000—likely will be only about one-half the $800,000,000-jump recorded during 1951 when the investment boom climbed to $4,600,000,000 from $3,800,000,000.

Peacetime Record

Adding some stimulus to the general picture is the expected increase in the federal government's defence budget of $300,000,000 to a peacetime record of $2,000,000,000 from $1,700,000,000 during the 1951-52 fiscal year.

However, experts estimate that defence projects provide only about 10 per cent of the total investment and industrial expansion. The big increases are likely to come from aluminum, steel and other metal industries, expanding to meet civilian as well as rearmament needs.

In regard to housing, financial organizations which have money for mortgages are finding higher interest rates in other investment fields. Increasing local taxes coupled with rising construction prices are tending to make some prospective home-owners postpone their building plans, the experts said.

Light manufacturing industries, such as textiles, refrigerators and washing machines, are just not getting the business of previous years, and their expansion plans are not expected to be heavy this year.

Other commercial building is being frustrated by a lack of materials such as steel, and by the government's deferred depreciation program. This restricts some industries from depreciation allowances for taxation purposes for four years.

On the whole, however, the experts feel that the general investment picture is bright, making for increased economic stimulus during 1952.

Man Jailed 15 Days In Wire Theft

Copper Lead Wire Stolen From Utilities

Arthur Raymond McGrath, 586 King George St., was sentenced to 15 days in county jail Friday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, for stealing a quantity of copper and lead insulated wire from Peterborough Utilities Commission.

McGrath and his brother, James Leslie McGrath, 846 St. Mary's St., were charged with stealing the wire on January 15. The original charge alleged that the wire was valued at more than $25.

When the two brothers were arraigned on the charge crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said that it had since been learned that James Leslie McGrath had nothing to do with the theft.

Charge Withdrawn

Both men were charged jointly and elected summary trial. When James McGrath pleaded not guilty, the charge against him was withdrawn.

His brother pleaded guilty, and said the testimony of constable Douglas Farthing who arrested him was true.

Constable Farthing said that McGrath was arrested on Simcoe St., near the utilities office as he was scraping the windshield of a car in which his brother was sitting.

In the back seat there was a 51 pound roll of copper wire, and 96 pounds of lead insulated wire.

An official of the Utilities Commission, James Turnbull, said that he had not seen the wire, but from prices he quoted for the two different types of scrap wire, Magistrate Philp said the value as stated in the charge should be reduced to less than $25.

The night watchman at the Utilities Commission gas works on Simcoe St., notified police shortly after midnight January 15, that a man was stealing wire from the office.

Constable Farthing said that the night watchman reported that McGrath, a former employee of the commission, had entered the washroom of the building and when he found him there, McGrath said he had come to get some wire. Constable Farthing said McGrath advised the watchman not to say anything about it.

The watchman had told him that McGrath picked up the two difefrent kinds of wire, and threw them over the fence at the rear of the gas works yard. Then, McGrath loaded it into the car.

McGrath had recently finished a two years suspended sentence for a theft conviction in 1949.

He said he had not been working when he stole the wire but was now, and said he had a wife and three children.

Mr. Bradshaw said he was leaving the matter of sentence entirely up to Magistrate Philp, and merely produced the record of McGrath's previous conviction.

The Air Smells Like Spring, But Water In Sidewalk Puddles Still Very Icy

While you're trying to smell the first breath of spring in this February thaw don't drown in the slush.

City streets everywhere except downtown where most of the sidewalks have been scraped bare, are covered by pools of water surrounded by slush.

Underneath the water there are still patches of ice that can easily send the unwary sprawling. Citizens who walk to work in the morning took a good deal longer than usual.

Most of them were wearing low rubbers and the soon found that pools were too deep to navigate safely. They had to be circumvented someway.

Sunday strollers also had their hazards. While the sun was shining many cars were being driven about the city. Many of the drivers didn't bother to drive around the many puddles on the roads, but plowed on through them and sent curtains of spray flying toward the sidewalks and unhappy pedestrians.

Ah, Spring!

32 Ladies' Rinks Start To Curl In 3-Day Bonspiel

Ten Ontario curling clubs sent 32 rinks into the annual three-day Warne Trophy ladies' bonspiel here today. Mrs. L. E. Woolley of Toronto Granites, recent winner of the Ontario Ladies' Tankard, and defending champion of this 'spiel, was scheduled to open this afternoon against Mr. J. McDonald's rink from Brantford.

Mrs. Thomas Doughty, Peterborough club president, welcomed the visitors, and Mrs. G. A. Wood announced competition rules. The gaily costumed curlers drew an early gallery as play commenced. It is an elimination bonspiel, losers dropping back to the second and third competitions, with prizes for the top two rinks in each event. The morning draw results:-

Minister Blasts Phoney Religion

WINNIPEG, Feb. 4 (CP). — The Rev. H. G. Tolton of King Memorial Church in a sermon Sunday warned Toronto citizens against the "kind of religious demonstration we had in Winnipeg a short time ago."

He spoke of a "faith healing" mission conducted by Rev. A. C. Valdez of Phoenix, Ariz., and said "This is the sort of thing which will be going on in Toronto shortly."

The minister made no direct reference to two members of his church, Mr. and Mrs. Gavin McCullough, charged with murder in the slaying of their seven-year-old foster child, Martha Louise.

Testimony was given at McCullough's preliminary hearing that the couple attended the Valdez meetings and were impressed. McCullough was committed for trial. His wife is in a psychopathic ward.

Mr. Tolton said "phoney religions" produce the most disastrous results in the lives of people. They prey on gullible and trusting people.

"It stirs them up to such an emotional pitch that one wonders if, in some cases, they can be held responsible for their actions."

Drivers Charged After Accidents

Charges have been laid against two drivers involved in weekend traffic accidents in the city.

Roger H. Noyes, 465 Rogers St., was charged with failing to stop at a stop sign after an accident at Park and Chamberlain St., early Saturday morning.

Noyes was driving east on Chamberlain St., and in making a left hand turn to go north on Park St., was in collision with a car driven by David S. Martin, 438 Edison Ave.

Martin was travelling south on Park St. Both cars were damaged slightly.

A witness to a hit-run accident on Park St., near McDonnel Saturday night gave police the licence number of a car which clipped the front fender of a parked car owned by A. E. Gorman, 405 London St.

The car was registered in the name of H. R. Hewitt, 223 Prince St. Hewitt admitted driving on Park St., about the time the accident is said to have taken place, when police called at his home later. He was told he would be charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Splashed Windshield

A passing car which splattered his windshield with muddy water was blamed by Percy Dyer, 631 Lundy's Lane for a rear-end collision on Lansdowne St., near Aylmer Saturday noon.

Dyer was driving east on Lansdowne St., when he said a westbound car threw a spray of dirty water on his windshield and before it cleared, he collided with the rear of a car driven by Albert Teece, 225 Prince St., who had stopped at Aylmer St. before making a left-hand turn.

Both cars were damaged slightly.

Two other accidents reported Saturday resulted in only minor damage to the vehicles involved.

Dives Into Ice Hole Fisherman Drowns

BEAVERTON, Feb. 4—(CP)—James Harrold, 36, of Toronto, was drowned Sunday in ice-covered Lake Simcoe after he stripped off his clothes in a fishing shanty and dived into a fishing hole.

Police said he and five other Toronto men were in a party that split to fish in two shanties. Harrold was reported to have gone to the other hut and said: "Wouldn't you be surprised if I came through the fishing hole rather than a fish?"

He then returned to his shanty, removed his clothing and dived in. The three-foot-wide hole had been cut through almost a foot of ice. His body was not recovered. He leaves his widow and two children.

Shipping Insurance For China Reduced

The rate for local voyages between Canton, Hong Kong, Kowloon and Macao was cut from 3 to 1½ per cent.

Unemployment Highest In District Since War

Unemployment reached a new post-war high in the Peterborough district in January when the Peterborough National Employment office reported more than 2,000 men and women drawing unemployment insurance. According to figures released today by the office, at the end of January there were 2,007 people from the city and district on the insurance plan. This record high comes only six months after the record low was reached in July, only 500 drawing money.

Since July the number of unemployed has been increasing monthly.

Unemployed in the city is about the same as last year when 1,093 out of the total 1,456 on claim were from the city. This year there were five less than a year ago.

Unemployed in the district which includes Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough counties and parts of Durham and Northumberland counties accounted for the increase. Last year these unemployed people were only one-third the number of city claims last year but numbered 919 this year at the end of January. This was an increase of 554.

The unemployment office has 2,122 people from the city and district registered as looking for work as compared with only 1,551 last year.

March Usual Peak

Usually the peak time for unemployment is in March for the Peterborough district. In previous years the March unemployed have totalled almost 1,800.

Lack of sales has caused a slowdown in several Peterborough companies. This was first noticed in September and gradually became worse until mid-December, since then the conditions have remained about the same.

In some cases the factories have laid off some help while others have started working four-day weeks or shorter working days. These people have applied for the short time claim payments.

The increase in the district is caused by the layoffs in Oshawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor. Local people working in these plants have returned to their homes in small towns throughout the Peterborough area and are waiting until working conditions are better.

In several small towns such as Havelock, Campbellford and West Guildford the small companies have switched to short weeks, shorter days or laid off their help.

The increase during January was also caused by the supplementary claims which become available by special legislation two years ago during the period from January 1 to April 1.

Under this amendment the people who do seasonal work or in some cases have withdrawn all the money they are entitled to can draw money during the three-month period.

HARBINGER OF SPRING

An odorous harbinger of spring — a skunk — was seen Sunday by a city couple while driving on Highway 28 near Fraserville. The woods pussy was ambling along the road, half asleep, they said. Utilities Wants Loan Of $300,000

Utilities Commission is asking city council to borrow $300,000 for them, probably at midsummer, to pay for enlargement of the filtration plant.

It is understood that the work will not be begun until early fall. Probably, the debentures will be issued about the end of June. However, the finance committee of the council has not yet made any decision on that point.

Utilities Commission have plans for increasing the capacity of their filter plant by three million gallons a day.

Man's Burned Body Found In Lonely Cabin

ENGLEHART, Ont., Feb. 4 (CP).—A man's badly burned body, believed to be that of Gerald Thompson, 65, was found during the weekend in a cabin 12 miles northeast of Englehart.

Lack of tracks in the snow outside the shack led police to believe the fire occurred some time before a recent snow storm.

Out Of Fuel Local Pilot Lands On Pond

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP). — A Peterborough pilot made an emergency landing on Toronto's Grenadier Pond Saturday. Before he took off, two other light aircraft had landed on the pond.

Ken Wyatt, River Rd. S., was flying to Toronto from Peterborough. Because his light plane was fitted with skis, he couldn't land on snow-bare Centre Island airport.

Had Wheels

As he sought another field, he noticed fuel had run short, and he touched down on Grenadier Pond in High Park. Al Warren, 31 Lansdowne St., who had flown his plane with Wyatt, had landed at the Island field; he had wheels.

With four gallons of gas in a spare tank, Warren went to Wyatt's rescue, and landed on the pond. A passing pilot saw their plight, and landed beside them. He gave them gas to carry on.

The third pilot, Arnold Eversfield, who flies for a Toronto air service, told them there was enough snow at Barker Field for Wyatt's skis.

In the afternoon the two Peterborough men took off, leaving Warren's plane at Barker Field. By the time they arrived at Oshawa, night was falling, and they left Wyatt's plane there, returning by bus to their homes.

100 Jr. Farmers Come For 'Spiel

One hundred Junior Farmers of Ontario are taking possession of Peterborough curling rink, Charlotte St., Thursday, for their second annual bonspiel.

Latest entry this morning was a rink of four girls from the Grafton section of Northumberland county.

Don't let anybody say: "It was not like that in the olden days," for there used to be a time when Keene, Millbrook, Lakefield and Norwood all had curling clubs, including farmers from their neighborhoods.

Frank C. Paterson and his assistant, R. E. Bell, of the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, made a few passes this morning at details of the draw, and then decided to unload it on to Ira Moore, of the Curling Club.

The entry list appeared to be closed this morning with one rink from Durham, and the Grafton girls from Northumberland. That was the last minute surprise of the preliminary stage.

Two Extra Rinks

Over the weekend two extra rinks were reported coming from South Simcoe, boosting their representation to four, and Victoria's two may be increased to four or five.

Peterborough's three entries are Otonabee Juniors of the Keene Curling Club, which has been flourishing with good ice this winter. It is expected that the skips will be Everett McFarlane, William Nelson and Bill Miller.

T. R. Hilliard, of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Junior Farmers, is expected here for this bonspiel. The first one was held at Lindsay last winter, with eight entries.

"We expect close to 100 Juniors here for the first draw Thursday morning," Mr. Bell said this afternoon. "Canada Packers are providing buffet luncheon at 8.30 pm."

County representations are as follows: Durham, Grey, Bruce, Lanark, Waterloo and Ontario (county), one rink each; two from Northumberland; four or five from Victoria; three from Peterborough; two from Carleton; two from Renfrew; four from South Simcoe.

39 Cows, 85 Hogs, 215 Hens Burned In $30,000 Fire As Douro Barn Destroyed

Cause of Blaze Unknown On Farm 5 Miles From City On Warsaw Road; "Fair" Amount of Insurance Carried

Between $25,000 and $30,000 damage was done Sunday night when fire destroyed a barn on the 300-acre farm of Roland Bradfield in Douro township. Thirty-nine head of cattle, 85 hogs and 215 hens burned, as well as a new wagon, a manure spreader, and other farm equipment. The Bradfields saved a team of horses, nine cows and their tractor.

Mr. Bradfield said he didn't know what caused the fire. None of his family smokes, and the wiring in the barn was new two years ago. He said he had a "fair" amount of insurance on the barn.

The Bradfield farm is located on the east side of the Warsaw road on Lot 3, concession 8, Douro. It is five miles from the city.

Went To Barn

Mr. Bradfield said he and his wife came home from church about 9 pm. After being in the house for a short while, he went to the barn and turned out the lights in the hen house.

Not long after he returned to the house, his wife, who was in the kitchen, cried out: "The barn's burning."

Mr. Bradfield looked to the barn, south of the farm house, and saw flames leaping to "quite a height" above the barn. An east wind was blowing and there was a slight drizzle of rain.

He rushed to the barn, let out the team of horses, drove out the tractor, and led nine cattle to safety. Forty-five of the 130 hogs he kept were also let out of the blazing barn.

By the time it was discovered, the fire had such a grip on the barn that Mr. Bradfield and his son were unable to save a new wagon, the manure spreader, a hammer mill and a feed mixer and motor. A new 100-foot drive belt was also burned.

Feed, Grain Burned

The winter's feed for the livestock, a considerable quantity of oats and wheat, burned with the rest. Two mows of hay in the barn and a strawstack in the yard with about 35 loads of straw also burned.

A small log building at one end of the barn, which was to be converted into a new pig pen, was destroyed, and only 20 feet of the Bradfield's silo is left standing.

The barn was remodelled in 1923, when it was given a new roof and new sheeting. Lately, part of the roofing was replaced by aluminum sheeting.

Mr. Bradfield said that the east wind kept the heat of the fire from the house, 100 yards north of the barn. The present thaw had kept everything wet, and sparks from the fire fizzed out when they hit the house.

City Building $238,000 For First Month

Building permits issued in January totalled $238,000 in new property as compared with $73,607 during the first month of last year. That's starting off 1952 with a 300 per cent increase, a margin that is likely to shrink fast when the year opens out into the construction season. The Clapper store on George St. which is being built by Dit Clapper and associates accounts for $130,000 or half the value of the January permits.

The details of last month's permits as announced at the office of City Engineer Chalmers are: no garages, first blank month in a long time; 11 dwellings $90,850; 16 miscellaneous $147,150; total 27 permits for $238,000.

Figures for January 1951 were: one garage $15; two dwellings $16,000; 25 miscellaneous $57,592; total 28 permits amounting to $73,607.

The Clapper building is on the west side of George St., south of the Cherney building at King St.

Minor Mutiny In Armed Forces Over New Pay Split For Soldiers

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Feb. 4. (CP)—There is a minor mutiny going on in Canada's armed forces—an argument over the rights of man that has gone straight up to the desk of Defence Minister Claxton.

The upshot may be a cancellation of plans to split the married servicemen's cheque in two, one cheque for himself, one for his wife. The army, at least, has recommended that Mr. Claxton cancel them. The air force is boiling, too.

Barrack-room lawyers right up to the top ranks have blossomed forth with a magnificent array of arguments why this proposed assignment is an indignity, an imposition, an error, and even an invitation to irresponsible women to try to get hitched to unsuspecting young men in uniform.

As some stories go, there are many wives who don't like the new system.

It will interfere with family budgeting servicemen say.

It will cause far more trouble from wives throwing money around than the troubles the forces now get from soldiers not supporting their wives—the main reason given for the change.

Plead For Money

It will reduce—so the stories go—some men to the indignity of pleading with their wives for cash because out of their own portion must come pension, income tax and other forced deductions.

The arguments are endless. They are believed to have been amassed in one eloquent and moving document for presentation to Mr. Claxton with the army's blessings.

The air force is seething with indignation too. The navy isn't so much affected because it has had a modified assignment plan in effect for some time and is, in fact, suspected of being the original force for change in this drama. Married troops overseas make automatic assignments, too, now.

The new assignments would vary according to rank and there are four different categories for each rank. A sergeant living in an apartment or house and having children would find $141 of his $231 a month going to the wife. If they have no children the little woman would get $126. They're living in married quarters provided by the forces and if they have children the split would be roughly $70-120; if they have no children $55-145.

The change is slated to go into effect March 1 for officers, later for non-officers—unless the minister acts.

SILENCE IS A VIRTUE, not usually attributed to politicians, but India's prime minister, Pandit Nehru, is being opposed by a silent candidate in the Indian general elections. The candidate, who hopes to represent Allahabad, is bearded Prabhu Dutt Brahmachapi, above, a Hindu who has taken an oath never to speak as a means of self purification. His lieutenants speak for him at election rallies.

Redhead, Stolen Car Found, Police Seek Abductor

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 4 (AP).—Pretty Marie Ruth Shelton was threatened with death by a gunman in United States Army uniform before he abandoned her in a stolen car, she told investigators today.

The red-haired 18-year-old daughter of an army sergeant said her abductor fled with her for an hour through the snowy countryside Sunday night after forcing out her two soldier escorts at pistol point.

He warned her: "Don't move out of this car or you'll die," then vanished on foot, she said.

Paralyzed with fright, the victim huddled on the front seat of the stolen sedan until morning, she said.

When it was light, she walked in the cold to a main road and asked for help. Military police rescued her at Niederdorffelden, about 20 miles from the Frankfurt suburg of Fechenheim, where she was seized at 7:30 pm Sunday.

Her stepfather, Master Sgt. F. B. Burns of Hot Springs, Va., said the girl was "perfectly all right" despite her terrifying experience.

Thousands of American military police and more than 100,000 German police meanwhile continued the search for her abductor.

Maori Customs Snarl Planning For Royal Tour

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, NZ—(CP)—The Maori welcome to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh is causing plenty of trouble to Royal tour planners.

Such problems as whether the Princess might be a trespasser on a tribal marae (meeting place), and an aleged slight to the Maori "King" are causing headaches to those in charge of arrangements.

Princess Elizabeth has expressed a wish to attend church in Rotorua, centre of New Zealand's thermal regions, and the obvious church is the picturesque Maori church of St. Faith's on the shores of Lake Rotorua. The church, however, stands in the tribal marae, and Maori custom dictates that no one should cross the marae until they have been formally welcomed.

Day Late

The official welcome, which will be a most spectacular function, is not scheduled until the day after the Princess would attend church, so that if she approached St. Faith's by the normal route she would risk offending Maori susceptibilities.

The church vestry has held long and anxious conferences. One suggestion was that the Royal party should be taken to church by canoe from a point further along the lake and so avoid stepping across the marae. But even this solution is fraught with difficulties and would require care. The lake shore at this point is dotted with boiling pools and steam vents, used by the Maoris for washing and cooking, and the route would have to be well marked.

Tribal Anger

Meanwhile the tribes which acknowledge King Koroki as their leader are angry that only one official welcome, at Rotorua, has been included in the program. They want the Princess to attend a reception at the Maori "King's" headquarters at Ngaruawahia further north.

The King movement originated during the Maori wars against the Europeans last century. A number of tribes banded togethr under a single leader, not entirely against the British, but with the idea of giving the race unity to achieve the strength that the British obviously obtained by the same method.

Although the supporters of the "King" fought against the British during the wars, they have for long been loyal supporters of the British Crown and it is this very loyalty which makes them eager to demonstrate their allegiance by extending a welcome of their own.

The present "King" is in direct line of descent from the original leader chosen last century. Under the driving force of a relative, Princess Te Puea, headquarters has been created at Ngaruawahia, where a model village and a fine King's house have some of the best examples of Maori carving and other crafts.

The Royal tour itinerary passes within a stone's throw of the "King's" headquarters. The Maoris feel that the visitors would be far more interested in seeing this example of the renewed vigor of the native race than in stopping at several rather featureless small European towns in the same region at which the Princess will call. Maoris of the area are threatening to boycott the Rotorua reception, planned as a national welcome by the Maoris.

DENIES McCARTHY CHARGE — Dr. Philleo Nash, former lecturer on social anthropology at the University of Toronto, has denied charges made by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) in the United States Senate that he had "constant contact with the Communist underground in Washington." Dr. Nash called it a "contemptible lie." His former colleagues at the univeristy and at the Royal Ontario Museum—where he was an archeologist from 1937 to 1941—said it was obvious Dr. Nash, an outsoken man, had got "under McCarthy's skin." Now a presidential adviser on problems of racial and religious minorities, Dr. Nash handled much of the publicity work during President Truman's re-election in 1948.

Killer Gets $40,000 For Beating In Jail

DES MOINES, Feb. 4 (AP) — Tommy Ellis, 19, who is serving a 50-year prison term for the murder of an 85-year-old woman, Saturday won a $40,000 judgment against the estate of the late Polk county sheriff, Howard C. Reppert of Des Moines.

An all-woman jury returned a verdict giving the youth the full sum for which he had sued.

Ellis contended that the late sheriff was negligent in not providing him protection from other prisoners in the Polk county jail. Ellis claimed he was severely beaten by other prisoners while serving time on a minor juvenile charge in 1948.

The suit was filed in the boy's behalf by his father, Riley Ellis. The father claimed the jail beating caused his son to develop a mental condition which led to the robbery slaying of Mrs. Flora Bryan, 85, in 1950.

Tarzan Women Found In Japan

TOKYO, Feb. 4 — (Reuters).—Two naked "Tarzan" women have been discovered living on grass and roots in a desolate forest on Kyoshu Island, Japan's southernmost territory.

A doctor said today that he has seen them and that there was little to distinguish them from animals.

They appeared to be girls of about 15 or 17 years. He said they were greatly under-developed, with flat breasts and knees bent by tree-climbing.

When clothes were put on them they tore them off again with their teeth.

The doctor said the girls communicated with one another by uttering strange sounds which had a basis in local dialect.

So far no one has come forward to explain the mystery.

100 Bishops Deported, Jailed By Reds

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 4 — (Reuters) — About 100 Roman Catholic bishops have been jailed, deported or exiled by a dozen Communist countries, the Vatican's 1952 Pontifical Yearbook showed today.

Some of the bishops may have been killed, the Yearbook said but it is difficult to obtain detailed information from behind the Iron Curtain.

Communist China heads the list of recent persecutions against the church. A cardinal and three archbishops are among prelates said to have been "impeded" in carrying out their functions.

The Yearbook gives the following figures:

China: 44 bishops jailed, expelled impeded.

Albania: Only one biship free; the fate of the other six unknown.

Czechoslovakiai: Three bishops jailed and three others—including Archbishop Joseph Beran of Prague— deported from their bishoprics to another place in the country.

Danzig: One bishop impeded.

Estonia: One bishop deported.

Long List.

Latvia: One bishop impeded.

Lithuania: Three bishops impeded, two jailed and one deported.

Poland: One bishop jailed, one deported and one impeded.

Romania: All 10 bishops removed from their posts, nine jailed and one impeded.

Yugoslavia: One jailed and four impeded (including Achbishop Stepinac of Zagreb).

Aussie Switchboard Girl Weds Rich Pakistan Prince

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 4.—(Reuters)—A Pakistani prince, heir to one of the world's largest fortunes, will take his 18-year-old Australian switchboard operator bride home next week for a lavish, jewel-studded second wedding ceremony.

Prince Mohammed Mubarik Abbassi of Bahawalpur has promised his Cinderella bride, Yvonne Margaret Martin, a Moslem wedding "fitting for my princess."

They were married Saturday in a 20-minute registry office ceremony here. The second wedding will be more lavish and the wife will take the name of Princess Jasmin.

The Prince, whose father goes hunting on silver-draped elephants and uses jewel-studded rifles, came to Australia in 1948 to study agriculture. He met his wife six months ago when he joined the staff of the Pakistan high commissioner's office where she was employed as a swifchboard operator.

His father, the Ameer of Bahawalpur, rules over 2,000,000 people. He has an estimated income of $3,000,000 a year and his hobby is collecting precious jewels and stones.

The couple will probably live in a house near the glittering Sadiq-Gahir palace, now used only for state occasions.

Greek Woman Is Trying To SpreadKnowledge

TORONTO, Feb. 4 (CP). — Georgia Tarsouli, a tiny, dark-haired woman from Athens, Greece, believes that people don't know enough about other countries.

For her part, she is trying to find out about this country and spread a little knowledge here about Greece.

Miss Tarsouli is in Toronto on a UNESCO fellowship to study the practical use of radio here in adult education. She has just completed a four-month course on theoretical study in Indiana.

She says the UNESCO Fellowships are a fine method of breaking down the barrier of ignorance between countries. Specialists in many fields may learn new methods and ideas in other countries and apply them in their homelands for the benefit of their own people.

In Greece, she was in charge of women's programs for the government radio service and was editor of the Greek Boy Scouts magazine. She has published a book of Greek folk songs and three books of folk tales for children.

Murray St. Girls Give Banquet For Mothers

"Be yours the torch—to hold it high" was the line chosen for Canadian Girls in Training of Murray St. Church as theme of their annual mother and daughter banquet which was held Saturday evening. Leader Miss Marion Pogue's selection from the poem "In Flanders' Fields" was also used by speaker Miss Jean Mailing. "Stand fast in the faith using the torch as the symbol of carrying that faith from one generation to another," she said. The girls had prepared a table favor for each guest symbolizing the torch.

Fitting the theme to living a Christian life, Miss Mailing warned the girls of things that might dim their torch. First was "criticism of other people." She pointed out "Jesus taught us to be humble and never cast a stone if there is a fault in our own lives," and asked, "who then can criticize another person?"

"Impatience" was listed secondly as a trait that will dim the torch. Miss Mailing emphasized being happy and joyful and showing an example to others of the happiness to be found in living according to their religion.

"Overcome these difficulties by prayer," the speaker advised. "Prayer is a power line to God which you should plug in every day of the week." She suggested starting the day with prayer rather than leaving it until bedtime and said "See if you don't have a better day that way." She also admonished the girls to follow their CGIT principles—"Cherish health, seek truth—through the Bible and the church, and serve others."

In thank Miss Mailing, Alice Pilling told her "We have missed the enthusiasm of your leadership." It was the speaker who organized this CGIT group while living in Peterborough. She returned to her home in St. Thomas three years ago. Pat Weston referred to the first meeting under Miss Mailing in her introduction.

As souvenir of the banquet, Miss Mailing gave each guest a printed card with verses bearing out the theme of her suggestions for holding the torch high.

This banquet was given through the girls' own efforts. They worked at bazaar tables and sold Christmas cards in the fall to earn money for the catering done by the Mary C. Haddow Mission Circle. Appreciation of this fact was expressed by Mrs. H. Wells in her response to the toast to the mothers proposed by Nancy McNabb.

A fine tribute to the church was paid by Barbara Malsch as she proposed the toast. Mrs. Ivan Morgan replied asking that the girls "give the church a larger place in their lives."

Entertainment was provided in a vocal solo by Anne Gordon of Trinity group, a piano selection by Betty Lapp of the Murray St. group and Miss Blanche Quinn led a sing song. They were thanked by Jocelyn Arnott.

Miss Arnott will leave the city with her parents this month to live in Kingston and a farewell address was made to her by Jean Lasenby and a gift presented by Gail Middleton.

Audrey Silvester, president of Murray St. group, was chairman for the banquet. She introduced the head table guests including Mrs. J. K. West of St. Thomas who was here to speak at the city-wide CGIT service in Knox Church Sunday evening marking the opening of "Christian Youth Week."

Marriage Bureau Booming Handled 7,000 Enquiries

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON — (CP). — A marriage society in North London that charges a yearly fee of 10 guineas for introducing would-be suitors is doing so well it has started a news sheet on marriage problems.

Founded in 1946, the society has had more than 7,000 inquiries resulting in almost 200 marriages and several engagements.

During this time it has gained comprehensive knowledge of the problems uppermost in the minds of most would-be husbands and wives.

To help those too shy—or too busy—to discuss all the aspects of marriage in which they are interested, Rev. R. W. Griffiths, a member of the management committee, has written two issues of a news bulletin on foremost marriage problems.

The paper, given free to members, has listed the strict rules on mixed marriages laid down by the Roman Catholic Church. It also gives advice on reading matter about marital problems.

Griffiths advises that wives should know their husbands' incomes and be informed of all expenses. "Then she will realize that it is impossible to get more than a pint out of a pint pot." After earning a salary, many women today find it hard to adjust their outlook to financial dependence.

The Glamor Angle

In general, the society finds that men are more capricious than women in their choice of a marriage partner. "Many men want film-star types and will not take anything else," said Mayo Wyngate, psychologist and co-founder of the society.

"Men don't seem to realize that film-star types don't come to marriage societies, they get too many chances without that."

About one in five applications to join the society are accepted. Clients must answer a questionnaire and then be interviewed by the psychologist, who assesses their temperament.

"It would be difficult to find a man with the qualifications laid down by some women," said the secretary. "Many women still hold the 'knight in white armor' idea."

Men of all ages are on the society's books, but with a few special exceptions, women must be "under 30."

Meat Packers Told WomenSuspicious Of Packaging

MONTREAL, Feb. 4 (CP). — Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Oakville, national president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, told Canadian meat packers what women in Canada think of them.

Mrs. Walton said consumers are suspicious of odd-weight packages and resented them. She said it is about time names of grades of meat are standardized and that people should be told the whole story behind meat-packing.

She blamed the meat-packers for high prices and said the consumer wondered how much she was paying for the fancy wrappings on products such as bacon.

"Stop wrapping bacon in red-striped cellophane, and then the customers wouldn't feel you were trying to hide something from them," she said.

Mrs. Walton told the meat packers that as long as they continue to dress up their products they will bet hought of as "bad bogeymen."

She suggested two public relations jobs she felt the meat packing industry could well afford to do. One was to acquaint customers with the reason why the prices of meat is so high, and the second was to use some form of easily-understood annual report so consumers wouldn't believe packers were makintremendous profits.

Fashion Flashes

NEW TECHNIQUES in weaving and mixtures have resulted in handsome new silk suitings. For instance, one mill has created a worsted - like material out of tightly woven cocoa brown slik intermingled with black yarn. This has been used for a number of handsome suits readied for spring.

✧ ✧ ✧

COMMON SENSE is the keynote of the new swim and beach fashions, with beauty and utility rather than the bizarre prevailing. But for that different note that has to appear somewhere or other, there are jackets and toss-over coats of terry towelling dyed in brilliant colors and closing with large, rhinestone — studded or all-rhinestone buttons.

✧ ✧ ✧

PRETTY TOPPING for dark furs is the hat in a pale shade with a bit o' glitter. Pale blue, pink or beige satin is used for a rocker-like pillbox with a high curving peak in front. It is covered with a nose veil that is dusted with tiny glitter beads.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT A RUN for gray silk taffeta! It appears in dresses in every price range, most of them fine backgrounds for pretty, colorful accessories. Pale gray silk taffeta is used for a smart day-time dress with molded top and full skirt. Three single-breasted buttons are used for the bodice closing, and three double-rows fasten the skirt below the waist. At one shoulder a stiff red and white silk taffeta bow is pulled through the fabric, butterfly-fashion.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE DEMAND for cashmere coats in other than the usual dark or drab colors, is responsible for a beautiful line of new cashmere coats in such colors as minosa yellow, light cocoa brown, pink and a handsome, bright orange-toned red. The coats are both long and short and are ideal for travel and resort wear.

Meaning Of Faith Illustrated At CGIT Service

Executive of the Girls' Council of the CGIT movement here took charge of the evening service at Knox United Church Sunday in a city-wide celebration of the beginning of Christian Youth Week. (Until this year the first week of February was celebrated as CGIT week). Only a small part of the proceedings was taken by the minister, the Rev. H. G. Douglas, and the girls presented as the speaker Mrs. J. K. West of St. Thomas.

Mrs. West, in dealing with the theme for this week: "Stand fast in the faith," asked "What is faith?" then stated "Faith is belief in God, a trust in God."

In an effort to understand the meaning of faith and in order that girls having faith might stand firmly, Mrs. West asked them to go along four roads. She took the audience, in imagination, walking with the Apostle Paul along the road to Damascus and they became aware they must be "followers of the Christ who called Paul."

On the second journey, as they walked toward Amayas, the girls realized the necessity of a prayer life. The third road led from Jerusalem to Pericho, a road of service. Mrs. West challenged her youthful congregation to serve at home, in the church, in the community and in the world. On the final trek, footsteps were turned toward Jerusalem as the Savior did, "This is a life of sacrifice for others."

By following these roadways Mrs. West assured the Canadian Girls in Training they would have no difficulty standing fast in their faith.

Miss Ruth Hendren, president of the Council, and member of Mark St. group, introduced and thanked the speaker and also gave the call to worship. Anne Gordon of Trinity group read the scripture lesson and Lou Ann Kempt of Knox led in prayer.

Music for the occasion was by the junior choir of Knox church, under the leadership of Mrs. Ross Williamson. Anne and Murray Manders played the marimba.

Ushers in the church were June Osborne, Lola Kempt, Donna Beverley MacDougall, Joan Dunn and Grace Sarginson.

After the service the Knox leaders were hostesses for a social hour during which the girls met their special speaker.

Fine Music Heard At SA Temple Sunday Musicale

Choir leaders and choir members from the various city churches are making up a good part of the large audience at Sunday afternoon musicales at the Salvation Army Peterborough Temple. Those who enjoy fine music are looking forward more and more to the first Sunday of the month when the Temple band and songsters present a special program with guest artists.

Prominent men are invited to be chairmen and on Sunday, the honor was given to new Mayor Hugh Waddell, making it one of his first such appearances since inauguration. Mayor Waddell took time to describe an incident of Salvation Army work which had been carried out for him last year while an alderman.

Mrs. Dorothy Goldie, soprano, was the guest soloist. She rendered beautifully "The Shepherd's Psalm" to piano accompaniment by Mr. Charles Allen, and sang "Alleluia". (Mozart) and "The Lord's My Shepherd" with "Little Prayer I love" accompanied by Mr. Allen.

The Temple Songsters, directed by Mr. Ben Smith, sang "Sun of My Soul" in one of the original arrangements. At the January musicale they presented this hymn in the modern arrangement by Fred Waring which is extremely difficult and hasn't been attempted by any other choir in the city. The Songsters were very well received by the local audience and they were also highly complimented when they sang the Waring version at Massey Hall in Toronto last fall.

A trombone quintette was featured pleasingly by Bandmaster Gerald Routley in one of the musicale selections by his band. A stirring festival march was titled "The Canadian," and the band accompanied the audience singing the opening and closing hymns, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Take the Name of Jesus With You."

Find Cake Names Often Confusing

LONDON (CP)—It's high time the bakers of Britain got together and made life more simple for the customer, says the trade paper, Baker and Confectioner.

Within as little as a 20-mile distance, such things as "a maid of honor" can mean anything from an almond-flavored tart to a cup-shaped cake complete with icing and glace cherry. And a "bun loaf" ranges from a glorified currant bun to a heavily-spiced fruit loaf.

Swiss buns, they say, almost yodel with freedom and every baker seems to have a different idea on the make-up of the Banbury cake.

Trade suggestion is a cake-naming board that would set definite recipes for each name. "After all," said the paper, "for a butcher a sausage is a sausage from Land's End to John O' Groats."

Romance Brings Title To Aussie Able Seaman

AUCKLAND, NZ (CP).—Able Seaman Desmond Thompson of Auckland will soon become a Dutch Baron as a result of a romance that started with "pen pal" correspondence.

A shipmate of Thompson aboard a New Zealand frigate serving off Korea wrote to a magazine seeking pen pals, and Thompson was one of the seamen who soon entered into regular correspondence with a girl in Australia.

The girl was a Dutch immigrant Miss Helen Coops. After months of correspondence she and Thompson became engaged, and they were married at Perth, Australia, when he returned from service in Korea.

Only after the marriage did Thompson learn his bride was heiress to an ancient Dutch Barony. Under Netherlands customs, if the eldest child of a titled family is a girl, she may pass the title to her husband when she is 21 provided the family agrees. Mrs. Thompson is 21 in February and her family is anxious that the title be passed on.

The Barony consists of two major houses, the house of Keppel and the house of Battenburg, a branch of the same house as that to which the Duke of Edinburgh belongs. One of Mrs. Thompson's uncles, a naval captain, is bringing the title transfer papers to Auckland for signature after her birthday.

At present the couple are living in a caravan in Auckland while looking for a house. Thompson plans to leave the sea when his term in the navy expires and take up farming. Meanwhile their caravan flies the Dutch flag and bears the Keppel coat of arms on the wall.

Mrs. Thompson's father was a naval captain and while his wife and daughter were in a concentration camp in Java during the war, he served in the Pacific with the Dutch forces, at one stage in company with the New Zealand cruiser Leander in which able-seaman Thompson was ser[illegible] ing. Mrs. Thompson's grandfather is admiral W. Kamp, of Holland. The young couple have decided to carry on the family tradition and send any sons they may have to the naval academy in Holland.

DOROTHY DIX

NastyTemperCanOnlyLead To Lonely Life In Future

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very hateful disposition and would like to know how to correct it. I'm sarcastic and seem unable to avoid making remarks that to me seem funny, but which I know are hurting someone's feelings. I am 20 years old, and very fond of a man 26. At present, he likes me, but I know he'll change as soon as he realizes what sort of temper I have. I want people to like me, but seem to repel them instead.

FAY

ANSWER: You're on the road to success as long as you realize your shortcomings so well. A sarcastic tongue can be controlled very easily, once you make up your mind that it is a liability rather than an asset. I often wonder why so many people consider cutting remarks the very acme of humor. There are many roads you can take towards a sunny disposition; the one I am about to suggest seems to me the shortest.

Make an appointment with your pastor; explain your difficulty to him and ask for a recommended list of books on improving one's disposition. There are many spiritual volumes which, if carefully read and followed, are bound to give you a different outlook on life, and a subsequent change in your attitude towards other people.

Ask For Prayers

Ask him, also, to suggest a few special prayers that you can say for humility and a better understanding of your fellow men.

A good disposition is the most priceless gift a person can possess. Fortunately, unlike so many other gifts of nature, it can be acquired. The first step in its attainment is one you have already taken—a realization of one's shortcomings and an earnest desire to conquer them. The suggestions I have made will help, but are only the second step. The final step is to put others before yourself; think of their needs and their feelings. This can be most easily accomplished by undertaking some form of charitable or welfare work. By doing good for others, you'll soon lose the smallness of spirit that is responsible for your present mean disposition. If, for instance, you take on a job of entertaining sick children in a local hospital for a few days a week, you can't go among them with a long face, or a sarcastic tongue. The good humor you must have for these youngsters will stay with you long after you leave the hospital. After a while you'll find it very hard to think of a sarcastic quip, and harder still to say one.

The task ahead of you isn't easy, but believe me, Fay, it is the most worthwhile thing you've ever done. No one loves a meantempered woman, and if you continue with your present disposition you have a long and lonely future ahead of you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20 years old and have been in love for the past two years. My boy friend and I were going steady last year but he always broke appointments, the last one on my birthday. Then he asked me to wait six months while he made up his mind what he wanted to do. I consented but after a while decided he never would be reliable and gave up. I went with a boy in service for a while but all the time kept thinking of the first boy. I still care for him but don't want to be hurt again. How can I go about winning him back?

BLACKIE

ANSWER: You may feel unhappy now but surely you know in your heart you will never find happiness with such an irresponsible fellow. You are foolish to feel there will never be anyone else for you.

Why not continue going with the boy in service, but keep on a friendly basis? At 20 you have time to wait for marriage. Many women are attracted to the type of man your first sweetheart is. Perhaps it's the element of suspense that adds spice to the relationship, but it usually ends up in heartbreak for the woman. A man you can depend on makes the best husband—and that's for sure!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18, and for six months have gone steady with a 22-year-old boy. Then he went away and never wrote to me. Later I found out he got married after he left here. I am still a little heartbroken over him because he knew this girl while he was going with me and never told me he cared for her.

ROBERTA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Yon aren't really heartbroken, Roberta, your feelings and pride are hurt, that's all. What's a major tragedy to-day will pass into the realm of minor disappointments tomorrow. For an 18-year-old, the world is full of fine boys.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Onion Rolls With Yeast Are Delicious

QUESTION: I was wondering if you had the recipe for "onion rolls" made with yeast. I tasted them in the———store and they were delicious . . Doris D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your request strained my resources. I have only one recipe for onion rolls with yeast, and am not familiar with the product of the store you mention. These are delicious too and I hope you like them.

Onion Rolls (a yeast mixture)

Beat in bowl with rotary beater, electric or hand, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup soft shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs. Stir in ¾ cup cooked onion and onion water (prepared by boiling ½ cup chopped Spanish onion in 1 cup boiling water until tender, changing the water after it has boiled for the first 5 minutes—measure by putting in cooked onion in measuring cup and fill to ¾ mark with second cooking water). Crumble into this mixture, while it is all still warmed by addition of hot onion and water, 2 compressed yeast cakes, and stir until dissolved. Beat in with a wooden spoon 4 cups sifted bread flour, and when well mixed, shape into a ball, cover with dampened cloth and let rise until doubled in bulk. Then shape into round rolls, or Parkerhouse Rolls, or crescents or horns, sprinkle with onion salt, place on greased baking sheet, cover and let rise until doubled. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 12 to 15 minutes. Rolls may be brushed with butter before sprinkling with onion salt if desired.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I read your column every day and enjoy it; helps out a lot with meal planning . . . would you please print recipe for rolled cabbage leaves using ground beef or hamburg and rice. Also one for potato dumplings or turnover of some kind. Some of the ingredients are mashed potato, cheese with something else, all put in a pastry, made in a triangle and cooking in boiling water . . . Mrs. Ronald B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have sent the calorie charts by mail.

Cabbage Rolls (Kol Dolmer or Golumki)

One pound ground beef, ½ lb. ground lean pork, 1 cup raw rice, 1 teaspoon each sugar and salt, 1 chopped onion ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 small cabbage, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup milk or cream or sour cream. If possible have the butcher grind the beef and pork together, and mix this with the onion, salt, sugar and pepper. Boil the rice in plenty of salted water until about half tender. Drain and add to meat mix. Wilt the separated cabbage leaves by letting them stand, covered, in boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain them. Put a heaping tablespoon of the mixture on each wilted cabbage leaf and roll into cylinders, tucking the edges of the cabbage leaf in to make it a well-tucked roll from which meat does not escape. Put rolls in greased baking dish, open side down. Dot with butter. Add 1 cup hot water. Cover. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes, then pour over them the heated milk or cream or sour cream and continue baking for a least one-half hour longer. The Polish people pass sour cream at table with these. They are a delicious dish.

Potato and Meat Turnovers

Make your best pastry and cut it into 5-inch squares when rolled out. Mix together equal quantities of ground leftover beef or pork or raw sausage meat or hamburg, cooked potato dice, chopped processed cheese and meat gravy. Season quite generously with salt and pepper. Add 1 tablespoon grated raw onion or 1 teaspoon onion salt. If onion salt is used reduce the amount of common salt added. Put a heaping tablespoon of this mixture on the squares of dough, dampen edges, fold over to make triangles, seal edges carefully. Make a ½-inch gash in top. I bake these, but they may be cooked on top of boiling water, covered, for about 25 minutes. If to be baked bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 20 to 25 minutes. To improve the appearance for special occasions brush tops with beaten egg about 5 minutes before baking time is finished.

The above are wonderful meat stretchers and very savoury when you have about three vegetables to serve with them.

3 Drunks Fined

Three men were convicted of drunk charges in police court Saturday. Each was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

John McIlwaine, 535 King George St., and John Crellin, RR 3, Peterborough, pleaded guilty. Roy Ellis, RR 10, Peterborough, pleaded not guilty and was convicted on the evidence of constable Harold Andrew and patrol sergeant Claire McGillen.

Investigate Orgy Before Voting

ABBEVILLE, La., Feb 4 (AP). —A drunken two-day sex orgy in a Louisiana "bullpen" to influence prospective voters in a state primary comes under official investigation today.

For years in this southwest Louisiana Cajun country, "bullpen" parties have been held in some communities shortly before election.

Prospective voters are herded together and showered with free liquor and free women, then made to vote for the "right candidate."

Five men will appear in court today to tell what they know about the orgy that took place in adjoining Vermilion parish two days before the Jan. 15 state Democratic primary.

The Lafayette Advertiser quoted Stanley Pearson, co-chairman of the Citizens for Better Government Committee, as saying a bullpen guard gave him this account of the affair:

"Man and wife, street bums, drunkards and prostitutes were being entertained with whiskey, wine-sauce piquantes, gumbo, tubs of beer, cigarettes, string bands and dancing in cramped quarters.

"The party ended about 6 am election day when the groups were taken away, supposedly to the polls."

Former Residents Produce Book

The miscellaneous row of books on the display table at the public library gave casual place Saturday to a volume bearing the name of two former Peterborough students.

It was entitled "The Changing Commonwealth", being the proceedings of the fourth unofficial Commonwealth Relations Conference held at Bigwin Inn, Ontario, Sept. 8-18, 1949.

And it is further identified as having been edited by Fred H. Soward, Director of International Studies at the University of British Columbia, with a foreword by Robert M. Fowler, chairman of the Conference, and president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

They are both graduates of Peterborough Collegiate Institute, and have risen to prominence in Canadian affairs during the last ten years. Mr. Fowler is a son of the late E. Bruce Fowler, is president of the association of pulp and paper companies, and might be facetiously mentioned as the Mr. Newsprint of this country.

Too Young To Drink Youth Fined $10

Arrested in a Reid Street lunch counter early Saturday morning, Carl Carey, 18, RR 8, Peterborough, pleaded guilty in police court Saturday to drinking while under the age of 21.

He was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, and pleaded not guilty to a second charge of careless driving. Today, Carey was granted a further adjournment until February 11.

Carey is said to have left his car double parked, on Reid Street, while he went into the restaurant. Keith Hickson, King Street, Omemee, was pulling out from a parking place to go north on Reid Street, and an approaching car, driven by Ansel Woodcock, 266 Romaine Street, could not get around the Carey car and slid into Hickson's car.

Constables Harold Andrew and Don Mackay investigated.

Not Scuffling—Accused Magistrate Skeptical

An ex-merchant navy man's denial that he was not scuffling with a man on George St., January 28 failed to impress Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

Edward Reynolds, 128 St. Paul St., Belleville, pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge but he took exception to constable Jack Wilson's testimony that he was struggling with another man when arrested on January 28.

Constable Wilson said that Reynolds was in a very drunken condition and had stopped a stranger to beg a dime for a beer.

When the man refused, constable Wilson said Reynolds and the man became involved in a scuffle and as a result Reynolds was arrested.

Reynolds pointed out that he has been in jail a week and asked to be allowed to be on his way.

Magistrate Philp said he could either pay a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs or spend another seven days in jail.

Seven Warships Sail For Naval Manoeuvres

LARNACA, Cyprus, Feb. 4 — (Reuters) — Seven British warships sailed from this port—about 260 miles from the trouble-torn Suez Canal — this morning for what was described by naval sources as "short exercises off the island."

The ships were the 13,190-ton carrier Ocean, the 5,770-ton cruiser Euryalus, and the destroyers Agincourt, Chivalrous, Jutland, Aisne, and Corunna.

They arrived from Malta last week and have been standing by since.

Bottle Not His Man Fined $10

Despite his claim that he was not certain there was liquor in the bottle he was tipping to his lips when arrested, Anthony Petticrew of Hastings was found guilty today, of having liquor in a place other than his residence

In fining Petticrew $10 and $2.50 costs Magistrate W. R. Philp said that the Liquor Control Act is contrary to many principles of common and criminal law

"Even if you had been told it was ginger ale, you still would have been guilty under the Liquor Control Act, if the rest of the evidence had been the same and it turned out to be liquor," said Magistrate Philp.

Petticrew said he had a pretty good idea what was in the bottle but he hadn't tasted it and it was still wrapped in brown paper when he tipped it to his lips in the washroom of a Brock St. hotel January 26.

However, he declined crown attorney John A. Bradshaw's suggestion to sample some of the liquid from the bottle which was produced in court.

Bottle Not His

First, Petticrew, who defended himself, based his defence on the fact that the bottle was not his. Mr. Bradshaw said he was prepared to admit the bottle belonged to another man, and Petticrew developed the theory that he was not guilty of breaking the law, because "the officers had done such a good job of preventing crime".

After the Magistrate explained that he was guilty because he was caught with a bottle in his hand which later turned out to be liquor, Petticrew suggested that constable Ted Stephen and patrol Sergeant Gordon Trennum were also violating the law, when they took possession of the bottle in bringing it to the police station.

After Petticrew was found guilty of the charge, Mr. Bradshaw said he would be offering no evidence on a second charge against Petticrew of consuming liquor in a place other than his residence.

Police Hold Pair In Confidence Game

MONTREAL, Feb. 4 (CP) — Quebec provincial police said today they are holding two men, and seeking three others, in connection with confidence games.

A spokesman said the quintette was believed responsible for fleecing an unidentified United States concert artist of $18,000 some weeks ago. The singer, police said, complained that he had paid the money for a brick covered with gold plating.

Provincial police said they suspected the gang of swindling several other people.

The artist bought the brick believing he could double his $18,000 by selling it in the States. En route to the "buyer," the gang said police were following and threw the brick away.

Moths Hoopsters Lead Local Loop By 8 Points

With three wins over Dave Addyman's Crickets, the Moths, captained by Barney Dundas, consolidated Saturday their first place position in the Lillico Trophy basketball play at the YMCA. They have an eight-point lead over the Crickets and Ken Kingston's Spiders.

The Moths swept the three-game series with scores of 15-6, 15-5 and 15-7. Meanwhile the Spiders won two, 15-6 and 15-12, from the last-place Bugs, captained by Don McTavish. The Bugs won the third 16-14.

In the other series the Lloyd Ash-led Mosquitoes moved into third place, one point ahead of the George Batley-captained Grasshoppers with wins of 15-10 and 15-13. The Grasshoppers won the third game 15-8.

Arab Demagogue Fans Hate Of Britain By New State

By STAN SWINTON

TRIPOLI — (AP) — An Arab spellbinder named Beshir Bey Sadawi professes friendship for the West but harangues Libyans with bitter attacks on Britons, Americans and Frenchmen.

Sadawi believes his National Congress Party will sweep newly independent Libya's first national election Feb. 19 and take over the government.

His opposition comes from the non-party administration of pro-western Prime Minister Mahomoud Bey Huntassen, assailed by Sadawi as "a British puppet government."

The West has a major stake in the outcome.

Mushrooming Wheelus Field, US air base outside Tripoli, is the biggest American installation in Africa. From its newly lengthened runways bombers could range over Russia.

Britain has land forces based here. France has a small base in Fezzan Oasis, gateway to equatorial Africa.

Sadawi sings one tune to Western newspapermen and another to Arab audiences. The latter often have heard him demand that Libya sweep out Western influence.

Foreign aid plays even a bigger role in Libya than did the foreign oil royalties in Iran. There Premier Mossadegh expelled Britain in the heat of nationalism although it brought virtual bankruptcy upon Iran.

Sadawi has shown strong signs that he wants to do the same thing here even if Libya reverts to a medieval land of hungry nomads.

Like Mossadegh, he fans the population — more than ninetenths of the 1,340,000 people are illiterate—with violent verbal attacks on foreigners.

The best estimate here is that Sadawi will make a strong showing in the election, but probably will fall just short of a majority.

Russia-US Clash Over Reports

PARIS, Feb. 4 — (Reuters)— Russia clashed with the United States today at the first meeting of the new United Nations Commission set up to hammer out agreement on ways and means of atomic disarmament.

The clash came over the question of news reporting at the commission's future meetings.

US delegate Ernest Gross supported a Dutch suggestion that most of the sessions should be closed to the press. Britain and France joined him.

Russia's Jakob Malik said the meetings should be open. He contended that if the meetings were closed, US delegates would give slanted reports of what happened.

The commission solved the problem by leaving the matter up to the discretion of members.

The new commission is made up of the 11 members of the Security Council—the big five Chile, Brazil Greece, the Netherlands, Pakistan, Turkey and Canada.

Joao Carlos Muniz of Brazil was elected chairman for February. Muniz called on members to submit a first report by June 1, then adjourned the meeting.

The commission will reconvene in New York later this month.

Mountie Named To Canadian Olympic Team

REGINA, Feb. 4 —(CP)—A Mountie will paddle for Canada at the Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland, next summer.

Jim Nickel, 21, a serious young man at present training in Regina for service with the RCMP, was named last summer with his partner, Bill Brigden, 35, to represent Canada in the 10,000-metre double-blade tandem.

Canada's Olympic paddling team is expected to have a membership of eight.

Constable Nickel, a native of Winnipeg, said that he had qualified in three events but was allowed to enter only one.

The duo will race in a special 24-foot-long kayak imported from Sweden.

Since the summer of 1949 Nickel and Brigden have teamed up in paddle events and have won steadily.

Nickel played football in Winnipeg during high school, played hockey for the Winnipeg Black Hawks and spent two months with the Moose Jaw Canucks in the 1949-50 season.

He joined the RCMP last November with special permission from the commissioner to take leave of absence after his training in order to train or and attend the games.

Plans call for the constable to fly to Helsinki July 10. He will have about 20 days in which to train in Finland. His event will be run off July 28.

The federal government has agreed to pay his way from Montreal to the games and back, and will assume his living expenses.

HIGH FLIERS—Pretty Suzanne Morrow, left, Canadian champion, and Dick Button, 1951 World's champion from the United States, cut some fancy figures while training at Garmisch, Germany, for the Winter Olympics to be held in Oslo, Feb. 14-25. Button was a gold medal winner in the 1948 Olympics in London.

Old Country Soccer Scores

LONDON, Feb. 4 — (Reuters). —Chilean-born George Robledo pounded in two goals Saturday to lead hard-hitting Newcastle to a crushing 3-0 victory over favored Tottenham Hotspurs in British soccer's fourth round for the Association Cup.

Playing on a field mired in mud Newcastle — out to repeat last year's Cup win—unleashed all its power to shatter Tottenham's defence before 70,000 roaring fans.

Throughout the game, players slithered helplessly in the mud, and the ball frequently stopped dead after travelling little more than a yard.

The biggest upset came when the Third Division's Leyton Orient knocked over Birmingham 1-0. Orient scored its goal against the Second Division team in the first half and spent the rest of the game beating off Birmingham's powerful attacks.

In other Cup matches Portsmouth romped over Notts County 3-1, Arsenal crushed Barnsley 4-0, and Chelsea defeated Tranmere Rovers 4-0.

Two of the 16 Cup games had to be postponed because of poor grounds.

In league games Lincoln increased its lead in Division Three Northern by blanking Chester 1-0. Lincoln has 44 points, Stockport 39, and Carlisle, which fought to a 0-0 tie with Mansfield 37.

Plymouth still leads the Southern section of Division Three with 44 points, but Brighton crept closer to the number one spot by edging Gillingham 3-2. Brighton has 42 points and Millwall, which pounded Torquay 5-2, has 39.

In Division A of the Scottish League, Hibernians, the top team, defeated Celtic 3-1 to bring its points up to 36. Second-place Hearts, with 31 points, had its game postponed.

West Point Cadets Want Cheaters Out

WEST POINT, Feb. 4 (AP). — A statement in the West Point Alumni Magazine says "The vast majority" of the 2,400 cadets at the military academy would resign in protest if any of the 90 ousted for cheating last summer were "allowed to remain in the corps."

Cadet D. C. Ahearn, of Winthrop, Mass., who prepared the statement, said the information was obtained in a poll of students.

The cadets were ousted for violating the academy's honor system by cheating at examinations. Many were football players.

Ken Wharram Makes Impression On Hawks

CHICAGO, Feb. 4 (AP).—Kenny Wharram, 18-year-old scorer from Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, played the first of three tryout games with Chicago Black Hawks against Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday afternoon.

He did not score, but his skating, stick handling and all-around ice deportment caused president Bill Tobin of the Black Hawks to say:

"The boy impresses me very much and next season he will be used on a line with Pete Conacher, who is a team mate of his at Galt."

Conacher received a three-game trial — the maximum allowed in order to preserve amateur status.

Robert Abbott Praised As OGA Prexy

Under a two-column heading: "Choice of Abbott Golfdom's Gain," sports editor Jim Vipond wrote this morning in the Toronto Globe and Mail:

"We didn't ask the gentleman his age, but he did mention playing his first game of golf in 1899, which indicates he has probably replaced enough turf in 54 years of following through to sod a greater part of the Peterborough Golf Club's fairways.

"That also adds up to a large amount of exercise and undoubtedly accounted for the well-preserved appearance of 'young' Bob Abbott as he took over the presidency of the Ontario Golf Association at the Royal York Saturday afternoon.

Moved Here in '20

"An American who moved to Canada in 1920 and has made his home in Peterborough ever since, Bob Abbott brings to Ontario's top executive golf job a half-century of experience that includes winning his letter at Yale as a freshman, later captaining the Bulldog fairway Varsity and winning the United States intercollegiate championship. That all happened before this century was eight years old.

"Still an active golfer, he qualified for Canadian Seniors international team last summer, but withdrew due to pressure of business. He has won the Peterborough Club championships 12 times and has been runner-up four times.

"A successful businessman as well as a successful golfer, Bob Abbott will do a job for Canada's golfing province in 1952."

Germans Fear Outbreak At Oslo Games

FRANKFURT, Feb. 4 (AP)—Members of West Germany's Olympic team are not expecting a hearty welcome either by the Norwegian public or by many of their competitors at the winter games in Oslo starting Feb. 14.

Most of them look forward to Norway in a rather pessimistic mood.

An idea of what the German athletes may expect in Norway was given by Dr. Karl Ritter Von Halt, president of the West German National Olympic Committee.

"We must be aware of the fact that many Norwegians still dislike the Germans and the smallest incident may cause a disaster," he told reporters.

He feared that especially in hockey something may occur which in its final effect may crush Germany's sports reputation, still in the building stage.

All players were told individually to avoid any trouble. They were ordered to accept without objection all referee rulings.

Volunteer Force Recruited For Britain's Home Defence

By EDWIN S. JOHNSTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP) — A modern, streamlined version of Britain's famous home guard which stood as a bulwark against the threat of invasion in the Second World War, will soon be on the march again Authority to remuster the force was granted last December by an act of parliament.

The initial call has already gone out to prospective volunteers. But for the time being candidates are required to register only pending final agreement on the conditions of service. Actual employment is not expected to start until April and training a month or two later.

Officials in charge of recruiting are aiming at an operational target of 900,000 men, about half the number mustered in the last war. The new army, however, will have a distinct advantage over the 1939-45 edition which began basic trafing with pikes, staves and broomsticks

Officials in charge of recruiting are aiming at an operational target of 900,000 men, about half the number mustered in the last war. The new army, however, wil have a distinct advantage over the 1939-45 edition which began basic training with pikes staves and broomsticks

Modern weapons and equipment will be available immediately to members of the revived force after enrolment and courses of specialized instruction will be given, including the scientific aspects of atomic warfare.

Any man between the ages of 18 and 65 map apply for service, but registration will not involve any obligation on the individual to enrol nor commit the army to accept him Men subject to service with the reserve forces will be acepted only if they are not marked down for a full-time job with the services in event of war.

Engagement or enrolment will be for two years but may be terminated at any time by giving one month's notice. Training, to be confined to evenings and weekends, will be on the basis of no pay but consideration is being given to payment of nominal out-of-pocket expenses.

No home guardsman will be required to serve in any overseas theatre of operations and volunteers will be assigned to units as near as possible to their homes or places of employment.

Eastern Areas First

Battalions are to be brought to full effective strength as speedily as possible in the more vulnerable eastern areas of the country to facilitate the program of specialized training. Elsewhere, small organizational units, with a nucleus of 50 men or so, will be set up Three cadres will be entrusted with building up formations and preparing plans for quick deployment in emergency.

In the larger cities where the demands of civil defence are heaviest, the size of the home guard force will be curtailed and small detachments that operated in remote areas in the last war will not be raised again.

The tasks of the reconstituted force will be somewhat different to those of the last war said Maj.-Gen. E. O. Herbert, director of the territorial army and cadet forces.

The old home guard had been mobilized to meet the possiblity of a large-scale seaborne invasion. The threat today, however, might take the form of an airborne attack against naval or offensive air bases. There was also the possibility of sporadic raids by small parties of saboteurs.

To meet such attacks, Gen. Herbert said, home guardsmen would have to stand ready to play a rehearsed part, operate quickly in deep defensive belts, know how to harry the enemy and be able to shoot straight.

Prime Minister Churchill gave it his own picturesque version: "Our country should suggest to the mind of the paratrooper the back of a hedgehog rather than the paunch of a rabbit".

GEN DEAN IN PRISON CAMP—These are pictures of Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, the former commander of the 24th Division who was captured by the Reds in August, 1950, in his prison camp at Pyongyang, North Korea. At left, he keeps in trim by shadow boxing, and, at right, he relaxes by playing Korean chess with a Red guard. Taken by a Communist photographer, these pictures show Dean apparently has recovered from an injury which for months prevented him from raising his arm.

Six Children Keep Actor On His Toes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4 (AP)—In an era when four children are considered a big family, the Stephen McNallys are an oddity. They have six.

I dropped in at their home to see what it's like to rear a big family in movieland. I found out that it's no different from anywhere else—six youngsters mean a full house.

Mrs. McNally, a slim, attractive woman, introduced me to Pat, 4, a charmer even in hair curlers. Stephen, 6, plugged me with his space gun and fended off the fisticuffs of Terence, 3. Absent were Horace, 10, and Rita, 8, who were in school, and Julie, 18 months, who was doing whatever 18-month-olds do.

"When we first married, we thought we would like to have a big family," explained Mrs. McNally. "And I must say that the children have seemed to bring us luck. With each new child, Steve's career has taken a turn for the better."

The dark-haired actor joined us and agreed to what his wife had said. He said his acting career had constantly moved forward from the time they were married, when he was appearing on Broadway in "Johnny Belinda," The sole exception was after he ended 3½ years at MGM.

Stuck With Movies

"I didn't have a job for 13 months," he called. "But that was my own doing. I didn't have an agent, and I didn't know whether I wanted to return to the stage or stick to pictures."

He threw in his lot with the movies and landed a contract at Warners. He was then Horace McNally, and the studio wanted a name-change. So he borrowed from his second son the name of Stephen, which actually had been a nickname he and his wife had used for each other during their courtship.

Mrs. McNally manages her family with the help of a nurse, a part-time day worker and sometimes a cook. "I'm doing the cooking now," she explained. "We have trouble keeping cooks for long. They don't seem to like working where there are six children."

McNally indicated that even his actor's salary has trouble keeping up with the kids' needs.

McNally studies his lines at home, but not without some difficulty. "I try to find a quiet place away from everybody," he said, "but the kids are clever. They can ferret me out."

New Zealand Undertakes Huge Pulp, Paper Project

By ERIC BENTON

WELLINGTON, NZ, Feb 4—(AP)—Two United States firms will help set up the largest industry in New Zealand.

It's a £30,000,000 paper and pulp project which will get under way soon to exploit what is said to be the world's largest man-made forest.

The combine of two American and one Australian firms that won the cutting rights plans to produce 60,000 tons of newsprint a year by 1955. New Zealand requirements, now drawn largely from Canada, are 30,000 tons. Most of the surplus will go to Australia.

Kraft pulp production is planned at the rate of 40,000 tons a year. New Zealand uses 10,000 tons, leaving 30,00 tons for export. In addition, 40,000,000 board-feet of timber is planned for use in New Zealand and Australia.

In the depression of the early 1930s, unemployed New Zealanders planted acre upon acre of pine trees, in the centre of the north island of New Zealand. Today there is a forest of 250,000 acres.

The pinus insignis and Douglas fir trees there grow five times as fast as the chief pulp-producing species of eastern Canada and seven times as fast as those in Scandinavia.

The forest was planted on government-owned land. Twenty years later the government faced the problem of doing something useful with the trees.

The previous Socialist government had ideas of a vast state-controlled industry, but the present National government handed most of the business over to private enterprise. It offered the cutting rights to tenderers all over the world.

The successful tender was a combine of New Zealand and American interests. The combine comprised the Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corporation and the Raymond Company Limited, largest building construction firm in New Zealand.

The combine will spend £15,000,000 on integrated sawmills, newsprint, and paper-making plants. The capital needed will come from the New Zealand government. Private New Zealand investors, and Australian newspaper interests.

The government also will spend £15,000,000 in public works to serve the mills, including an overseas port.

A labor force of 1,500 up will be needed for the enterprise.

Nazism Not Dead

Anti-Democratic Groups Gaining Some Headway

By DANIEL DE LUCE

FRANKFURT, Feb. 4—(AP)—The monstrous thing called Nazism is not dead.

On the lunatic fringe of German politics, would-be Fuehrers are crying shrilly for attention. In the disbanded ranks of the Wehrmacht, die-hard militarists are trying the gild their reputations and get back their places in the sun.

Among former Hitler youth, eastern refugees and the economically depressed—their numbers are in millions—grievances and doubts expose many as possible dupes for false prophets.

This is a sorry background. But in 1952, the third year of the West German Republic, a democracy bred in defeat and reared under the occupation appears far stronger than its enemies.

It depends entirely for its future on a people who followed Hitler to catastrophe just seven years ago.

Have They Learned Lesson

Have they learned their lesson?

The West German Republic has 48,000,000 citizens. Thirty million of them were affiliated in some way with Nazi organizations which stretched into every corner of German life.

Four million of them belonged to the National Socialist party. Nearly 2,000,000 stood trial after the war.

Most voters are former Nazis. Most of the German military force to be raised for the common defence of Europe has a Nazi past.

But western statesmen now are counting on Germany to become an equal partner in their community of nations. So they draw the line between former Nazis—the mass of the people who are actively or passively loyal to the new republic—and the fanatics who go by the name of Neo-Nazis and plot to bring Nazism back to power.

Former Nazis outnumber Neo-Nazis 100 to 1.

Attract Voters

The brazen mouthpiece of unregenerate Nazism is a little movement entitled Socialist Reich Party. (SRP) it has 50,000 regular members. It's leader, Otto Remer, was jailed for political slander.

Last year in the elections in Lower Saxony, a state hit hard by the final allied dismantling of German industry, the Socialist Reich Party attracted 367,000 voters—11 per cent of the total.

Besides the SRP, the hard core of Nazism has adopted such cover names as the German Reich Party, the German Rightist Party, the Fatherland Union and the National Rightists. They claim Nazism failed only because of "a stab in the back".

This hard core appears impossible to reform.

Nationalism is astir in Germany and it must be reckoned with. The question is whether former Nazis have learned that national interests must conform to European insterests. Only a renegade few are echoing Mein Kampf.

Omemee Vestry Meets

OMEMEE, Feb. 4—(ENS)—The annual vestry meeting of Christ Anglican Church was held in the church basement on Monday evening, the Rev. Charles Richmond presiding. Mrs. A. W. Stephenson was appointed clerk.

During the year 1951 there were seven baptisms, three burials and one marriage. At present there are 19 in the confirmation class in the three parishes. Seven are from Christ Church.

Satisfaction was expressed that the memorial tower is completed and paid for, and a new oil furnace and water heater installed in the rectory.

Officers appointed were: rector's warden, W. J. Reeds; lay delegate, A. W. Stephenson; sidesmen, V. Jones, H. Bent, J. Woods, Tom Stephenson, Ronald Smith, Leonard James; advisory board, the rector, the wardens, Mrs. S. Nurse, Mrs. H. Laidley, Mrs. A. W. Stephenson and James Magee; treasurer, W. J. Reeds.

Reports from all organizations showed increased revenue over the previous year. References were made to the centenary of Synod this year, to the MSCC overdraft, and to the section on religious education of the Hope report.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served by the Guild.

Sharp Criticism

Radio Tower Collapses, Three Killed

3 Airmen Also Died When Plane Hit Tower Earlier

CARMAN, Man., Feb. 5. (CP) —Six men plunged to their deaths here Monday — three repairmen in the collapse of a radio station's damaged tower and three airmen who died when their plane hit the tower earlier in the day.

Three air force personnel—an R.C.A.F. staff pilot and two R.A.F. student navigators—died at noon when a Beechcraft aircraft struck the 570-foot transmitting tower of radio station CBW, plummetted to earth and burned.

Around midnight, the badly-damaged tower shivered momentarily and broke apart. It carried the three workers in its plunge to the ground. All were killed.

The pilot of the twin-engined palne was identified as F.O. Charles Chow-leong, 20, of Lethbridge. Names of the R.A.F. students were withheld pending notification of next-of-kin. The three repairmen were identified as Ronnie Erickson, about 20, of Tyndal, Man., Walter Burtnyk, 28, of Winnipeg, and J. A. Dyck, of Grunthal, Man.

The three carried to their death with the tower were employed by the Dominion Bridge Company to repair guy wires on the structure broken by the impact of the plane.

Bent 80 Feet From Top

The tower itself was bent 80 feet from the top, the broken section swaying as much as 30 feet off centre. The workers were hastily making repairs in the light of a powerful searchlight.

The men reached the top section of the tower by climbing a narrow staircase inside the steel girders. Two were working at the bent section, about 500 feet above ground. The other was at the 250-foot level.

Suddenly a strong wind struck the tower. It shook violently and the bent section started to sway, then hurtled to the ground. The two workers were trapped inside.

The motion of the collapsing top section caused the complete tower to waver.

Girders snapped as it broke up and started its death plunge. Some 30 spectators watching the repair operations dashed for cover.

The bodies of the three men, crushed and broken, later were removed.

CBC officials in Winnipeg studio headquarters for the station, said the power was shut off the tower so the men could climb and start repairs. When it collapsed it struck the earth about 600 feet from transmitting buildings. Four persons were inside at the time.

The station is on the outskirts of Carman, 50 miles south of Winnipeg.

CBW official in Winnipeg said crash of the tower was a "terrible situation" and only "by a streak of luck did it miss the transmit-

Young Latvian Escapes Soviet Embassy

Dashes Down Street With 3 Russ Envoys Hanging Onto Coat Tails

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, Feb. 5—(Reuters)—A 25-year-old Latvian fled from the Soviet Embassy here today after two Russian diplomats had tried to hold him back by his coat tails.

The Latvian raced through fashionable Villagatan street shouting "I am being chased."

The two diplomats ran after him and a Soviet Embassy motor car parked in front of the Embassy also gave chase.

The Latvian, described as a lumberjack, finally whipped round a corner and into a small engineering workshop.

The foreman took him into the office and called the police.

Finally Leave

The Embassy car and the two diplomats remained outside the workshop gates but withdrew when a police car arrived.

The Latvian, whose name the police refused to disclose, told them he had been working in the forests at Uddeholm, West Central Sweden, and came down to Stockholm at the end of last week.

He met another Latvian at the station who offered to find him lodgings. The "lodgings" proved to be the Soviet Embassy. He did not realize it until he was inside. Then, he was attacked by five men. They told him they would take him to Stockholm airport for sending to the Soviet Union.

Fought Free

He drew a knife. They seized it and slit the linings of his pockets, saying they were searching for "secret messages." But the Latvian fought himself free and ran.

Latvia is one of the little Baltic Republics which Russia has incorporated. Russian Embassies regard Latvians now as Russian citizens who should be sent back to Russia when found west of the iron curtain.

Report Blaze Breaks Out In Basement

Seven Stores Suffer Heavy Damage, Investigation Ordered

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 5. (ENS) — Seven Belleville families were forced to flee in their night attire shortly after midnight when a $50,000 fire broke out in the basement of a four-storey store-apartment building in the downtown district. Firemen and police managed to rouse all 28 people in the seven families and nobody was injured.

The fire started in a storeroom in the basement of Wotten's ladies' wear. From there the flames spread throughout the entire basement, part of it owned by Francis' home furnishings.

In a couple of places flames broke through into the ground floor of the building but they were soon smothered. Chief Gerald Vance said that apart from these two outbreaks the fire was confined to the basement.

Begin Investigation

Cause of the outbreak has not been determined. An officer from the Ontario Fire Marshal's office will arrive today to begin an investigation.

It was the third serious downtown blaze in this city of 16,000 within the last four years.

The stock in the basement shared by Wotten's and Francis' home furnishings was ruined. But seven other adjoining stores and offices suffered heavy smoke damage.

They were a Loblaw groceteria, Bill Naps' barber and confectionery store, Charles L. Hyde, plumbing and fixtures; William Oliphant, electrical contractors; Janet's ladies' wear; Ashley's Furs (on the second floor above Wotten's); and a rent control office, also on the second floor.

One of the hardest hit businesses is Ashley Furs. A large stock of valuable furs were covered with the oily black smoke from the blaze two storeys below.

The first alarm was sounded at 12:31 a.m. but as soon as Chief Vance arrived he saw that it was a serious fire and turned in the general alarm.

Firemen played seven lines of hose on the basement where the fire began and Chief Vance has high praise for the way his men sealed it off from spreading.

An hour and a half after firemen arrived the blaze was under control.

Girl's Kidnapper U.S. Private, Hunt Pressed

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP)—U.S. army agents struggled futilely today to follow the cold trail of a soldier wanted in connection with the one-hour sadistic abduction of red-haired Mamie Ruth Shelton, 18-year-old American high school senior.

The army identified the soldier as Pte. Eugene F. Walters, 28, who went absent without leave Saturday night with a .45-calibre automatic pistol and a jeep from a field artillery battery at Hanau, 24 hours before Miss Shelton was kidnapped.

A military source said two leads had petered out but the search was being pressed throughout West Germany with the co-operation of thousands of German police.

Miss Shelton and her two sergeant escorts, who were robbed on the road from Hanau to Frankfurt of their car and more than $70 by her abductor, said he wore an army uniform, spoke good English and brandished a .45.

Left In Wood

The step-daughter of Master Sgt. Franklin B. Burns of Hot Springs, Va., was abandoned by her kidnapper in a lonely wood after he had molested her. He did not, however, criminally assault her.

An army source said she told investigators she was ordered to undress while the gunman sat beside her for half an hour in the stalled car. Then he fled on foot across the snowy field, warning her not to leave the car or he would kill her.

Britons Told To Work Harder

LONDON, Feb. 5—(CP)—The London Daily Mirror today told British workers that they aren't working hard enough.

The Mirror, a moderately leftist picture paper that sells 4,000,000 copies a day, said that aside from France, Britain is the only country in Western Europe trying to recover economically while working a five-day week. Germans and Japanese are working harder than Englishmen, it said.

"Even in the United States, which has far higher standards of living than we have, they are working a damned sight harder," said an article spread over the whole front page.

Cabinet In Session Prior To NATO Meet

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 (CP)—The cabinet went into session today on the eve of External Affairs Minister Pearson's departure for an important meeting of the North Atlantic Council.

Issues to be discussed at the NATO meeting, probably including increased Canadian military aid for Europe, were believed on the cabinet agenda along with other matters related to the new seession of parliament, opening in little more than three weeks.

Mr. Pearson, chairman of the NATO council, will fly to London Wednesday for a round of discussions there about the agenda and issues due to be taken up at Lisbon starting Feb. 16.

Monday Defence Minister Claxton will take off for the same meeting. With him will be diplomatic and military advisers.

Living Costs Set Record Food Prices Soar Again

OTTAWA, Feb. 5. (CP)—Led by scattered increases in food prices, Canada's cost-of-living index pushed upward two-fifths of a point in December to the highest point of all time. The two-fifths rise compared with November's drop of one-tenth of a point—the first slide in 23 months. It brought the index up to a peak of 191.5 at Jan. 2 from 191.1 at Dec. 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported. The index is based on 1935-39 price equalling 100.

Price rises for meat, vegetables, dairy products, coal and some other everyday items sparked the December increase. They outweighed small declines in the price of eggs, fats, women's wear and a few other items.

Meanwhile, wholesale prices continued to drop. The bureau's wholesale price index—also based on 1935-39 equalling 100—dropped to 283.8 at Jan. 4 from 284.2 at Dec. 28 and continued to decline to 279.3 at Jan. 26.

Food Prices

It was lower food prices which provided the impetus for the November drop in the general index. But increased prices in the food group in the last month of 1951 pushed that sub-index to a near-record 250.0, seven-tenths of a point higher than the 249.3 at which it stood Dec. 1.

The fuel and light sub-group increased two-fifths of a point to a peak of 151.2 from 150.8 under the spark of higher prices for coal in a number of Western cities. Home furnishing prices and those for miscellaneous items also were up and pushed the home furnishings and services group up a point to a high of 201.1 from 200.6.

Canadians paid more in December for health care, as well.

The clothing group declined under pressure of a drop in prices for women's wear. This overbalanced increases for men's work boots and wool piece goods and eased this sub-index one-fifth of a point to 215.3 from its peak of 215.5.

Rents were not surveyed by the bureau and the rent sub-index remained unchanged at its peak of 144.8.

Threaten Truck Strike

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 — (CP) — An Ontario-wide truckers' strike will be called unless some transport firms staop delivering freight to Taggart Service, Ltd., William Mills, of Toronto, truck-union officer, said today.

Adenauer Denies New Demands

BONN, Germany, Feb. 5 (AP) —West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer denied today that he had threatened to keep West Germany out of the European army and to refuse an Allied "peace contract" until German demands for the Saar and for membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were granted.

The Chancellor was reported to have made those threats at a private caucus of his Christian Democratic Party here Monday night.

The latest wrangle over Germany's demands came as the Western Big Three—Britain, France and the United States—were reported preparing to give Adenauer a virtual ultimatum to speed up the lagging talks on the West German peace contract.

A government communique issued today said the report of the Adenauer statement "is wrong."

The communique added that Adenauer had reported on the foreign political situation and referred to difficulties which have arisen in negotiations in the last few weeks.

The earlier report of Adenauer's remarks already had touched off an angry statement in Paris by French foreign office sources, who said the Bonn government "regularly bigger demands" might keep Germany out of the family of West European nations.

Torontonians Worry Themselves To Death

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Torontonians are worrying themselves to death, Health Department statistics indicated today.

The eight deaths last month from stomach ulcers was an increase of 800 per cent over the single death in January, 1950.

The number of suicides incresaed more than 300 per cent over January, 1951, when there were four such deaths as compared to 13 for the same period this year.

No Relief In Sight

Screws Turned Tighter On Austerity For Britains

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP) — The harsh screws of still more austere living turned tighter on the British people today.

A Conservative government order cutting deeply into steel supplies for makers of goods for British consumption took effect. It meant at once fewer knives, forks, bicycles, motorcycles, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, electric heaters, office furniture, TV receivers, radio sets and many similar items.

This was part of the rigorous program outlined by the government last week to save £150,000,000 a year in imports from abroad while cutting home use of vital materials close to the bone. Three months earlier the government cut imports £350,000,000 a year.

Together with expanded export sales drives, the economy plans are meant to halt the swift rush toward bankruptcy down which Britain and the whole sterling area sped in the last six months of 1951.

Because of the steel cuts thousands of workers—the Ministry of Labor didn't know yet exactly how many—are getting the only part-time work. Some managements warned Labor Minister Duncan Sandys they may have to close down altogether.

The Ministry of Food sideswiped the housewives' purse again. It said prices of rationed foods, including butter, cheese, bacon and sugar, will be raised about one cent a pound to meet rising costs of imports.

Another of the government's domestic economies started a part-time strike by 2,700 coal miners in Wales. They refused all Saturday work in the pits—for which they are paid overtime —"until the Tories restore the cuts in the health service."

The Welsh miners were protesting the imposition of charges for some of Britain's state-run medical and dental services.

British Make Egypt New Peace Offer

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 5 (AP)—A British peace offer to Egypt was reported today. It included British evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone, a plebiscite for the disputed Sudan and an Arab security pact as a basis for Middle East defence.

The peace formula was reported by the newspaper Al Misri, organ of the Wafdist party which launched the Egyptian campaign last October to get the British out of Egypt and the Sudan.

Al Misri said London had handed the formula, suggested as a basis for new Anglo-Egyptian talks, to Iraqi Premier Nuri El Said. Nuri El Said, like King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, has been trying to mediate the conflict between Britain and Egypt.

The paper gave no hint of the source of its information, latest in a series of reported conciliatory moves which have blossomed since disastrous fire riots here 10 days ago brought replacement of Wafdist Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha's government by an independent cabinet headed by Aly Maher Pasha.

Receives Proposals

The new Premier told Egyptian reporters Monday night, however, he had received details of some mediation proposals from Iraqi Minister Naguib Al Rawi.

Al Misri said the six points of the proposal were:

1. British evacuation of the Canal Zone at a date to be agreed upon.

2. Such evacuation to take place only after a return of security and tranquility to the Canal Zone area to insure security of the withdrawal.

3. British military installations in the Canal Zone to remain for use in case of a threat to the security of the canal.

4. Britain and Egypt to agree on means for maintenance and protection of these bases and military air fields in the Canal Zone. Britain would provide arms and technical training for the Egyptian forces.

5. An agreement on Middle East defence in case of aggression. An Arab security pact would be the basis for Middle East defence.

6. A plebiscite to decide the future of the Sudan, with Britain and Egypt agreeing not to use any pressure on the Sudanese regarding their choice of future government and Britain agreeing not to put any obstacles to the Sudan's free choice of the form of future relations with Egypt.

Truman Decides To Let Name Stand

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman today decided to let his name remain on the ballot in the New Hampshire primary election as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The White House made public a letter in which the President said he had yielded to the request of chairman Frank McKinney of the Democratic National Committee and "many good Democrats in New Hampshire," who are "of the opinion that my name should be left on the ballot."

Primaries — miniature elections in which political party members select candidates to the national presidential nominating convention—are held in about one-third of the states. Candidates generally indicate who they will support for the presidential nomination if they are chosen to go to the convention. In this way, primaries are small-scale popularity polls which often indicate who has the best chance of being chosen presidential nominee.

Only last Thursday Truman had said he would have his name taken off the March 11 New Hampshire ballot. He said such presidential primaries don't mean anything at convention time.

Racing Car Struck By Train

OTTAWA, Feb. 5. (CP)—Two Ottawa men and a 16-year-old boy were killed Monday night when their automobile, racing along a road bordering a railway track, suddenly turned into the path of a speeding passenger train at a level crossing in the west end of the city.

Albert Finn, 22, driver of the car, died en route to hospital. William A. Hutchings, 20, and Gerard Roger, 16, were killed instantly.

Witnesses said the old-model sedan Finn was driving raced along Scott Street bordering the track on which the Canadian Pacific passenger train from Toronto was approaching Ottawa at high speed.

At Parkdale Avenue, the car turned suddenly directly into the path of the speeding locomotive.

The car, carried more than 100 feet along the track, was demolished.

German War Criminal Wilhelm Ossenbach Freed By Canadian Gov't

OTTAWA, Feb. 5. (CP)—For the first time, Canada has quietly slashed the sentence and released one of three German war criminals held prisoner in her name, it was learned today. He is Wilhelm Ossenbach who was sentenced in April, 1946, to serve 15 years in prison in connection with the shooting of a Canadian prisoner of war, a crime for which a German sergeant was hanged. His release leaves just two men, Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer and Leading Seaman Johann Neitz, in German prisons and under Canada's ultimate control. Appeals for the release of both of them have been lodged with Ottawa a number of times.

The Ossenbach case sets a precedent for Canada in early release of war criminals. Six weeks passed between the time Cabinet approved the release and notice to that effect was given parliament in brief summaries of a welter of orders-in-council.

Ossenbach was freed from Werl Prison, in Germany, last October, a few weeks after Meyer was moved there from Canada. Cabinet passed an Order-in-Council Oct. 3.

Clemency

On Nov. 13 brief summaries of all October's Orders-in-Council, about 500 in all, were tabled in Parliament and the summary in this case said: "Clemency in the case of Wilhelm Ossenbach, a German soldier confined to prison at Werl, Germany."

It apparently escaped attention at the time.

The release came to light when a reporter made inquiries at defence headquarters about the Neitz case because Justice Minister Garson recently promised in Germany to look into it.

A spokesman said the Defence Department felt its responsibilities in the Ossenbach release were met with tabling of the Order-in-Council summary. No further publicity was considered necessary.

Ossenbach was a memebr of the German Home Guard in March, 1945, when an injured Canadian airman was brought into the headquarters where he was working. He was ordered to help a sergeant put the airman in a car and to take him away. In a nearby wood, in Ossenbach's presence, the sergeant killed the Canadian.

A long series of petitions was made in Ossenbach's behalf. Defence Minister Claxton finally recommended that he be released on the grounds that he had served sufficient time for a crime in which he had only done what he was ordered to do.

GLASGOW, Feb. 5. (AP) — Plans for a visit by Princess Elizabeth to a Buddhist shrine in Ceylon were criticized by the Free Church of Scotland today.

War Danger Less, Eden Says

LONDON, Feb. 5 — (CP). — Fireign Secretary Anthony Eden said today there is now less fear of an immediate war.

Opening a two-day full dress debate on foreign affairs and on his and Prime Minister Winston Churchill's visit to America, Eden gave the House of Commons these four reasons for better feeling about the outlook in the world:

1—"There is the growing strength of the western nations which, though relatively modest in conventional arms, becomes more evident every month."

2—"The recent Assembly of the United Nations which, though marred by sharp and wordy differences, was on the whole less violent in controversy."

3—The "remarkable progress" towards a European defence community, which aims to include German units.

4—"And perhaps, most important," recent steps to widen and reinforce the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Despite Britain's disputes in the Middle and Far East, Eden said "we must not forget the progress, unspectacular but steady which I think has been realized."

Eden said U.S. Secretary Dean Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman would meet with him here February 13 as a prelude to the February 16 meeting in Lisbon of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council.

Two Monkeys Have Wild Weekend Party

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 (CP)—Two monkeys in the University of Montreal's animal house staged a wild weekend party after one broke loose and freed a companion. Several other monkeys failed to take advantage of the fact that the first simian unlocked the doors of their cages.

The two monkeys ate all the candy and biscuits they could find, littered the laboratories with torn papers and dumped cartons of paper cups, partly-dismantled a two-way mirror system used in observing them and broke window blinds by swinging on them.

Pearson Being Boosted For Presidency Of U.N.

PARIS, Feb. 5 — (CP) —External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson of Canada is being boosted privately by various delegations today as president of the next regular session of the United Nations General Assembly, scheduled for next Fall.

A spokesman for the Canadian delegation told reporters he understands Pearson is willing to allow his name to go forward for the post if there is a general desire in the assembly for his presidency.

The only other candidate being mentioned for the post is Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, chairman of the economic committee during the session which ended today.

However, Prince Wan has indicated he would be interested in the presidency of a possible special assembly session to be called in the spring on the Korean problem if an armistice is signed.

Pearson has been urged by various delegations for the last three years to stand as president. Today's comment by the Canadian delegate was the first indication that he would be willing to stand.

The Canadian minister was mentioned just before the opening of the present session as a dark-horse candidate but declined to run because attendance at the assembly sessions in Paris would have kept him away from his duties in Ottawa too long. However, the next assembly session in New York would allow him to keep in close touch with Ottawa.

Report Babies Sell For $5,000

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 (CP) — Two men, one a United States lawyer, today were charged in court with abduction.

Police said two further arrests will be made later in connection with their investigation of a racket of selling babies to United States families.

Herman Buller, 31, described by police as an American citizen who came here from North Carolina several years ago, and Bill Dotkov, 34, were charged.

Police said warrants were issued for the arrest of a Montreal doctor and at least one other person in connection with the racket. They said the group netted as much as $5,000 each for babies sold in the U.S. A few "sales" were made to Canadian residents.

Police hinted that they were helped by three mothers. However, they said the investigation was made difficult by the unwillingness of unmarried mothers to give information and the lack of registration of babies at birth which made tracing them almost impossible.

Dorothy Dix Estate Worth $2,316,938

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Meriwether Gilmer —better known to newspaper readers as Dorothy Dix—left an estate valued at $2,316,398, an inventory in Civil District Court showed Monday.

Stocks totalled $1,784,761 and bonds $299,754. The remainder of the estate was in defence bonds, bank accounts, real estate and jewellery.

Mrs. Gilmer died Dec. 16 after writing her advice column for 50 years.

Counterfeit Ring Smashed By U.S. Agents

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP) — A multi-million-dollar international counterfeit ring, described as one of the biggest in United States history, was smashed Monday by Secret Service agents.

More than $2,200,000 in bogus $10 and $20 bills were produced by the ring in the last four years, said Harry D. Anheier, chief of the Secret Service in Chicago.

Five men were seized and further arrests are expected, Anheier said. He disclosed that the phony $10 and $20 bills have turned up in cities throughout the United States, as well as in London, Paris, Rome and in other parts of the world.

Anheier said that approximately $1,400,000 in counterfeit money has been circulated by the gang.

Federal agents also are investigating evidence that the gang may have been responsible for the counterfeiting of more than $1,000,000 in Cities Service Company bonds. The F.B.I. last Nov. 6 arrested three New York men in connection with the sale of $25,000 in fake bonds for $7,125.

Own Plant

Two of the five men caught in Chicago are owners of a west side printing plant which was raided by the agents. They said the phony bills were printed in the plant, the Sferas Printing Company, owned by James Sferas, 36, and his brother, Samuel, 34. The agents seized a press and other equipment.

Also arrested was William Skally, 41, described by agents as an ex-convict and the top plotter and sales manager of the ring. They said he was seized after he accepted $3,500 in marked bills from an undercover agent in return for $50,000 in bogus $10 and $20 bills.

Two others are held, Anheier said, and a third man is sought in Chicago. One man is John Drake, 29, a taxicab driver, identified by agents as the seller of $3,500 in bogus bills. The fifth man held was not identified.

Anheier said the ring's activities were bigger than those of Count Victor Lustig, the international swindler whose gang manufactured more than $1,000,000 in phony federal reserve notes prior to 1939.

Blind Pensions To Be Continued

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 (CP)—Pensions to the blind will continue uninterrupted pending the working out of agreements between the federal government and the provinces for sharing the cost of the payments, health department officials said today.

Previously, it has been reported that there would be no federal contributions to blind pensions in those provinces which have not signed agreements. Legislation passed at the last session of parliament provides that the Dominion pay 75 per cent of $40-a-month blind pensions and the provinces the remainder.

However, there will be no federal contribution to old-age assistance for persons aged 65 to 69 pending the signing of cost-sharing agreements, though the agreements may be made retroactive. Monday, the department announced the signing of agreements with British Columbia, on Alberta, Saskatchewan and Quebec.

Urge Strip Cropping

TORONTO, Feb. 5. (CP)— Plowing across the slope is not enough to conserve Ontario's soil resources, the 42nd annual meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association was told Monday. Prof. N. R. Richards of the soils department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph said in an address that farmers should use other conservation measures such as strip cropping in conjunction with contour plowing.

CREEK ON RAMPAGE—Sixty residents fled their homes Monday to escape raging waters of Toronto's suburban Highland Creek which flooded its valley, overturning sheds and automobiles in its path. Depth of the water is shown by an abandoned automobile nearly submerged in the path of the flooding creek. The sudden flood was attributed to a combination of rains and thaw. Six families were rescued by two men and a boy using a home-made raft.

Truce Talks At Standstill

TOKYO, Feb. 5—(AP)—The United Nations Command today cautioned against expecting quick agreement on a Korean armistice.

Tokyo headquarters described Communist truce tactics as "operation quagmire."

"Recent minor compromises" at Panmunjom, the U.N. Command said, fit "the Communist see-saw of progress." They don't necessarily involve any change in "their main program of bargaining inertia."

The Command said Red negotiators "have agreed to none of the really major points of dispute. They have instead conceded in points of theory or in instances where their concessions actually cost them nothing."

The U.N views were expressed in an "unofficial information bulletin" containing material selected from "Voice of the United Nations Command" broadcasts to Korea.

The bulletin was released after Tuesday's negotiating sesssions at Panmunjom adjourned. So little progress was made that Allied spokesmen indicated there was no need for the customary briefing session to the press.

$9,208 Damages To School Boy

OTTAWA, Feb. 5. (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today awarded $9,208 damages to the family of a 12-year-old Ontario boy burned in lighting a stove at his school.

The award was made to Willis E. Gray and his son Charles and against the trustees of Leeds and Lansdowne and Mrs. Hazel McGonegal, teacher at the Legge School. The high court dismissed an appeal by the defendants from a similar Ontario Supreme Court award.

The boy was burned severely in June, 1947, while lighting a gasoline stove to heat pupils' lunches. The Grays sued on the contention the teacher had failed to exercise proper supervision over the youngster after telling him to light the stove.

F-51 Mustang pilots reported large fires and explosions were set off by their 500-pound bombs and flaming rockets. One of the centres was northeast of Sinmak and the other east of Namchonjom. Both are less than 50 air miles northwest of the truce-talk site at Panmunjom.

The ground front was relatively quiet.

Behind their own lines Allied engineers reopened the Pukhan River railway bridge after blowing it up 15 months ago. It restores a vital alternate rail route between the Seoul area and Pusan, main supply port in southeast Korea.

Korean Issues Discussed Later

PARIS, Feb. 5 AP).—The sixth general assembly of the United Nations adjourned today after voting a final overwhelming approval of the western plan to postpone discussion of Korean political issues under an armistice.

President Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico banged the gavel at 2:14 p.m. (8:14 a.m. EST) after receiving tributes from Secretary-General Trygve Lie and many leading delegates for his handling of the three months' session.

The Assembly also expressed gratitude to the French people for their hospitality.

The Western victory was the final major act of the sixth Assembly session, which began last Nov. 6.

Today's vote was 51 in favor, five against and two abstentions.

It marked a triumph for the position taken by the United States, Britain and France that any U.N. discussion of Korea now could hamper the progress of truce talks at Panmunjom. By its vote, the Assembly repudiated the Russian view that the U.N. should take over the talks.

Early Morning Fire Costs Woman Life

DETROIT, Feb. 5 — (CP) — A spectacular early morning blaze today cost the life of a 33-year-old woman who was alone in her house.

Mrs. Green's husband, John, who had been spending the evening with friends, drove up to the blazing house as firemen carried his wife's body through the front door.

Cause of the fire was unknown. Damage to the 10-room colonial house was estimated at $25,000.

ting building and take more lives".

It was believed the men were working to secure a new guy wire to the weakened top portion of the tower. Danger from high winds smashing the structure—built in September, 1948—was said to be reason for the repairs being undertaken.

CBC officials said the tower was one of the highest man-made structure on the prairies. The station will be off the air until a new tower or temporary replacement is erected.

Dick Punshon, chief operator at the station, said he was near the base of the tower when it collapsed.

"Nobody thought there was any immediate danger", he said. "But everyone knew the job was dangerous.

Dived Under Truck

"The men were going to put on a temporary guy wire on the section which was bent over by the plane crash.

"The top broke off fairly slowly, then gathered speed. The rest of the tower staggered for a split second and it too began to crash over before the top section reached the ground.

"In that split second I dived under a truck. There were sections of the tower scattered all over the ground.

"We were all afraid that a high wind would damage the tower before the guy could be fastened. We broke in the middle of a news broadcast in order to save time.

"If it had fallen 600 feet closer the transmitting building and everyone in it would have been crushed".

Big Observatory Left To Burn

MELBOURNE, Feb. 5. (Reuters)—Australia's Mount Stromlo Observatory, containing some of the world's finest astronomical instruments, was abandoned to forest fires today—the latest victim of a month of fires across the southern tip of the continent.

The fire started in lowland grazing country, then ripped across the tinder-dry grass scrub into the pine forest of Mount Stromlo. In two hours it reached the $1,000,000 observatory compound and its 10 houses and two hostels.

Interior Minister Kent Hughes ordered the firefighters to retire. Smoke and heat held them at the foot of the mountain.

The observatory contained a 40-inch telescope, radar gear, quartz clock and time signalling equipment for navigation.

North America Must Help Asia-Woodward

QUEBEC, Feb. 5 (CP)—Stanley Woodward, United States ambassador to Canada, said today that "any thought of a Gibraltar in North America is hopeless."

Canada and the United States, he said, must use their resources to help their allies in Europe and Asia.

"We cannot retreat to isolationism," he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Women's Canadian Club.

"We have a special responsibility here in North America. We alone have escaped the direct ravages of two great wars. To escape the possibility of a third one, which would see our own soil attacked we must bend our every effort.

Must Make Sacrifices

"We must make the necessary sacrifices willingly. Then we shall arrive at that position of strength which will make any possible attack fruitless."

He referred to the various steps taken by Canada and the United States to help peoples of Europe and Asia. The steps were taken because "we know that peace and freedom thrive where men do not have to scramble in the rubble for bread."

"The United States was born of revolution. Americans understand the yearning of hungry, oppressed people for better living standards, more opportunities, and a greater measure of human dignity.

"Thus, we realize, that in addition to containing the Soviet threat by increasing our strengths, we must continue with our program of social and economic aid. What we have done thus far is just a beginning. . .

"Helping our partners is not a waste, as some would allege. There is determination in Europe to go forward. Our allies have said to us, in effect, we are resolved to build our strengths—economic, political and military. We are conscious that only through unity can we find security and peace. But we need help."

Electric Strike Ends In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5 (CP)— A crippling electric strike in this capital city of 3,000,000 people ended Monday night after shutting off electric power and water supplies for 10 hours.

Six thousand striking employees of the Canadian-owned Mexican Light and Power Co. returned to work after the labor ministry outlawed the strike. The strikers were protesting the recent rescinding of a 15-per-cent provisional wage increase given 18 months ago.

All power was off, and pumps of the city water system stopped, from noon until after 10 p.m. Elevators halted and offices in tall buildings closed. Street cars stopped.

Auto headlights were the only street illumination. Dining was by candlelight. Newspapers used standby private electric plants.

The labor ministry order gave the strikers 24 hours to return to work or lose severance and seniority rights. The ministry also authorized the hiring of strikebreakers. President Miguel Aleman has promised new conciliation talks.

Prices Drop Sharply On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP). — Steadily weakening support today dropped stock market prices sharply in early afternoon dealings.

Papers, utilities, constructions, liquors and refining oils led industrials lower with a wide list of fractional declines. Steels and foods held gains and losses in balance but manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues weakened steadily. Textiles strengthened in irregular trading.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains about three to one. Anglo-Canadian, Calvan Consolidated, Canada Southern Oil, Gridoil, Pacific Petroleum, National Petroleum, and Trans Empire posted losses ranging to about 75 cents.

Base metals eased. Ascot, East Sullivan, Eureka, International Nickel, Mindamar, Osisko, Quemont, Steep Rock, Normetal and Tungsten dipped slowly.

Senior golds sagged as Lake Shore, Malartic, McIntyre, and Teck Hughes slipped. Secondary issues traded lower.

Cobourg Merchants Petition For Monday Store-Closing

COBOURG, Feb. 5 — (ENS) — Fourteen merchants of Cobourg, dealing in groceries, fruits and meats, had their names on a petition which was presented to council last night, asking that stores selling this merchandise be closed all day Monday in each week, except where a legal holiday occurred in that week.

Council took the usual procedure of instructing the clerk to check the names on the petition and attend to the legal details, preparatory to bringing in the necessary bylaw.

The merchants ask that the stores close at 6 p.m. Saturday and remain closed until 7.00 a.m. on Tuesday. The merchants also request that, with the exception of dairies selling milk, butter and cream, no stores which handle items sold by grocery, meat and fruit stores be allowed to sell these items during the day of closing.

A letter from a large chain store expressed opposition to the Monday closing on the grounds that proper food service could not be rendered to the public by closing on that day.

The company said it had found by experience that Wednesday half holiday was the better choice. There should be no interruption of more than 24 hours of food service. While in some centres a number of stores closed on days other than standard, there were still others which did not and the public had some choice in the matter. In the holiday months of June, July, August and September 100 per cent of the people returned on Sunday to empty larders which they replenished on Monday. The produce grower would also view with alarm an arrangement which would mean a 48-hour delay in marketing his produce, particularly in the ripening season, the letter pointed out.

To Hold Tag Day

Permission was granted the YWCA to hold a tag day on April 26. Requests for grants from the Salvation Army and the Public Library were referred to the finance committee. The Public Library, which receives $1,000, is asking $200 more this year. Permission was granted the Cobourg Kilties Band and Legion for a joint concert in the opera house March 14. Two requests from residents in regard to drainage were referred to the streets committee.

The mayor and clerk were authorized to sign the necessary papers terminating the agreement between Cobourg, the C.N.R. and the Ont. Car Ferry Company in regard to the ferry dock rental.

The town engineer was authorized to call for tenders for the construction of a 72-inch storm sewer to extend 700 feet, running from east of Cottesmore Ave., to service the ordnance depot. The fire, water and light committee was given permission to buy a hose and other equipment for the new fire truck.

It was announced that a testimonial dinner would be given on Thursday evening to Jim Campbell, who has retired as fire chief after many years of service.

Escapee Had Inside Help

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5. (AP) —Officials today investigated the possibility that trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd may have escaped from the Arizona State hospital for insane with inside help.

The development came after Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital superintendent, tested the 48-foot "rope" she was supposed to have descended Saturday night from a third-storey window of her ward.

"The knots were loose and I don't believe that the rope was used to support the woman," he said. "She weighs 125 pounds. I believe there is a chance she left by a doorway—and we are going to try to find out how."

Sheriff L. C. Boies said he did not see how the rope could have been used, and suggested a sympathetic hospital employee may have aided Mrs. Judd.

Police said all efforts to track the 48-year-old woman have been futile.

Broadcasters Will Eventually Be Taking Sides

AMHERST, N. S., Feb. 5 (CP). —T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said today he believes that broadcasting stations "must soon come to the point where each of them takes sides, for or against, on vital issues of the day."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Maritime Association of Broadcasters, Mr. Allard said that radio stations, in keeping people informed on what happens at home and abroad, must do more than present the facts.

"We must present opinions," he said. "First of all, the opinions of other people, fully, fairly and impartially. . . Radio has the responsibility of helping to clarify the ideas and ideals that democracy represents.

"And secondly, I feel the day will come when we must express our own opinions. No man commands respect unless he stands for something, and I believe that broadcasting stations must soon come to the point where each of them takes sides, for or against, on vital issues of the day."

Ill-advised Legislation

However, broadcasting could never fully discharge its responsibilities unless "it is removed from the restricted, stifling, hampered atmosphere into which it has been bound by hasty and ill-advised legislation."

He added:

"Broadcasting can never fully discharge the functions it can perform, and was intended to perform, until it is free from unwarranted censorship and control, and operates as printed publication does, within the framework of the law, and what necessary degree of regulation is necessary in the interests of order on the air lanes is exercised by an independent regulatory body and not, as at present, by a competitor."

New York Passes Law To Curb Smuggling

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 5 (AP)— Legislation designed to help cut down the smuggling of untaxed American cigarettes into Canada was passed unanimously Monday night by the New York Senate.

The bill would toughen penalties for transportation, use or selling of untaxed cigarettes. It was introduced by Republican Senator Wentworth Horton of Greenport, L.I., chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee.

State and Canadian authorities have been fighting for some time to stamp out the smuggling of American cigarettes across the border.

Most of the illicit cigarettes are being transferred through New York State from Maryland, where there is no state tax. In Canada, the smuggled cigarettes sell for 30 cents a pack.

British Housewives Face Higher Prices

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP).—British housewives got notice Monday more price increases are due.

The Ministry of Food announced grocers will be allowed to charge more for some goods—and put the extra cash in their own pockets. The spokesman didn't say which goods will rise.

The prices of many of the foods grocers sell, including bacon, sugar, tea, rice, dried fruits and others, are controlled by the government.

The Food Ministry said Monday it has discovered some of the current government-controlled retail prices do not give the grocers a fair deal.

Drink Or Two Helps Relaxation

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP) — An aggressive attitude towards work is one of the chief causes of heart disease, Dr. William A. Oille, staff member of the Toronto General Hospital, said Monday night.

And a drink or two of alcohol can help a person relax, he told the board of trade club.

Dr. Oille, who is also an associate in medicine at the University of Toronto, said people who do not provide for a long period of rest at night and for several 15-minute rest periods during the day are inviting heart disease. It was a danger to go a whole year without a holiday.

He advised fishing, golf, stamp collecting and home workshop activities as useful for inducing relaxation.

He said alcohol "in therapeutic doses"—two to four ounces a day —is relaxing and mildly beneficial.

Ganarska Floods With Feb. Thaw

PORT HOPE, Feb. 5 — Heavy rains and the compartively mild weather are blamed for the Ganaraska river flooding fields north of Port Hope.

The flooding is not expected to extend into the town even though the river level is much above normal.

Mild weather loosened ice along the river shores and big blocks are starting to clog up around the dam at the Ontario St. bridge. These blocks holding back the water plus the heavy rains during the weekend are believed to be causing the flood north of the town. Today lower temperatures stopped melting and eased the flood.

Clergymen Say Hospital Violates Rights

POUGHKEEPSIE, NY, Feb. 5 — (AP)— A group of protestant and jewish clergymen says a Roman Catholic Hospital here is violating the "Inalienable Rights" of seven non-Catholic doctors as American citizens in a dispute on the birth control issue.

The Dutchess County Ministerial Association, represeting 30 churches and two synagogues adopted a resolution directed at St. Francis Hospital.

The hospital told the seven doctors last week that they must either quit the hospital staff or sever connections with the Dutchess County Planned Parenthood League.

The Ministerial Association said it recognized the right of a Roman Catholic hospital to require its staff physicians to conform to its regulations "in their practice within the hospital."

The association declared, however, that the hospital "has no right to force non-Catholic physicians on its staff to bring their activities outside the hospital into line with Roman Catholic beliefs."

There was no statement by the hospital Monday.

Two of the seven doctors resigned from the Planned Parenthood League last Friday after the hospital issued the order. A third doctor withdrew his servise from the league. He said he never had been a member, but had rendered the league some services.

The four other doctors announced they would remain with the league.

Job Placement Bureau Opens In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5 — (ENS)—Campbellford is going to have its own employment placement bureau, and town treasurer Eldom Ibey will be the man to operate it, council decided Monday evening.

Mrs. W. C. Tatham said something should be done to coordinate the supply and demand for labor in the town, and put forward the idea of the system which will go into effect shortly.

Operation of the system will be simple. Anyone unemployed who wishes to secure a job will register at the town office and his name will be placed on a card in a file.

In this way local citizens will be able to secure laborers when they want them. Mr. Ibey volunteered to take the job, without further pay.

Seymour and Campbellford Discuss Fire Protection

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5 — (ENS)—The Campbellford town council held a lengthy session on Monday evening when various matters ranging from a $25 grant to the Music Festival committee to the question of where the town is going to house the $15,000 fire truck of Seymour township, were discussed. Seymour plans buying a unit and housing it in the same building as the local fire truck. Details of modifying the fire hall to house the two vehicles or whether the two should be located in a nearby building brought forth a multitude of comments, pro and con. The Pubic Utitilities Commission will have to be contacted as they are part owners of both buildings referred to. Members of the Seymour council were present and outlined their proposed purchase of equipment.

$4,000 To Change Building

Councillor David Ness said it would cost about $4,000 to modify a building to house the two vehicles. He favored the local truck answering township calls for firefighting assistance until Seymour takes delivery of their new truck. Many problems cropped up on this matter and it was finally decided to have the council prepare agreement to present to the Seymour council at a special meeting, outlining the conditions under which equipment will answer township calls.

Efforts to set up a boundary limit in the township were talked down after it was satisfactorily proven that it would be practically impossible to draw a line as to how far the local truck would go into the township. A proposal is now under way and will be presented in the above agreement whereby the town will charge Seymour the sum of $50 for the first hour or part thereof, and $25 for each additional hour or part thereof and a charge of 20 cents per mile, to answer fire calls anywhere in the township.

Protection For Town

If and when the local truck answers a township call, the town's stake truck, operated by the Road and Bridge Committee will immediately proceed to the firehall and will load the remaining hose and other equipment aboard, in order that this will be immediately available in case of a fire in the town.

Seymour officials, while they could not officially sanction this agreement, favored the arrangement, and thanked the council for their efforts to provide protection for the township.

Councillor Collette reported on the unsafe condition of the building which was partially destroyed by fire shortly before Christmas. One section was under repair, but on another the third storey has not yet been removed and constituted a very definite hazard.

Tax collector Jack Birmingham reported he had collected almost $13,000 in prepayment of 1952 taxes, as well as close to $2,000 in tax arrears.

A grant of $25 was made to the Northumberland Music Festival.

Councillor P. H. Macmillan said the town was spending too much money in paying employees. The Road and Bridge workmen could not be kept busy all the time he declared and was of the opinion the town did not need as many men as at present it employed. He said the men should be placed on an hourly rate and given employment only when there was work to do. They are at present paid 70 cents per hour for a 48 hour week.

A by-law renewing an agreement between the town and the Department of Transport on the lease of the property on which the town power house is located was given its third reading.

Council adjourned a few minutes before midnight after passing the pay sheet.

Mr. Phimister's Single Yardstick

Because newspapers are critical of many things in daily life, and constantly assert the value of such criticism, it is fitting that they should themselves be criticised. And on February 1 they were sharply criticized by Mr. Z. S. Phimister, superintendent of Toronto's public schools, when he addressed the Hamilton branch of the United Nations Association; he said that newspapers presented "the most completely inaccurate form of information," and expressed doubt that educationists should continue to teach reading, in view of the material put before pupils in the daily press.

* * *

We do not propose to adopt Mr. Phimister's intemperate tone in defending the press; we know that newspapers are often inaccurate. We know how hard newspapers strive to achieve accuracy, too. We shall be content with pointing out to Mr. Phimister that a newspaper of moderate size publishes between 50,000 and 75,000 words in news reports every day; it is the desire of the publisher and of the editorial staff that every one of those words should be as carefully considered as if it were uttered on oath. But it is not surprising if errors—some of them substantial errors—creep in. Would Mr. Phimister rather have a world without its present rapid reporting of news, because in some respects some parts of that news may not be absolutely correct?

* * *

In an addition to the report of Mr. Phimister's remarks, it is asserted that he was referring to the newspapers of Toronto. We cannot see that this qualification makes very much difference. Mr. Phimister has said his say with enough violence and spleen to be of interest to all Canadian newspapers. We think he should have considered that before he made his address. In the February number of a publication called The School Guidance Worker Mr. Phimister writes in defence of the new report cards which have caused so much discussion in Toronto; in his article he complains against the use of "any single yardstick" to measure the progress of a child in school. But Mr. Phimister appears to have used the single yardstick of his own judgement when making a sweeping criticism of the press. How many papers does Mr. Phimister read, each day, we wonder, that he feels capable of saying that newspapers are "the most completely inaccurate form" of spreading information? (We shall tactfully refrain from pointing out that if Mr. Phimister were working on a reputable newspaper, rather than for the Toronto Board of Education, he would not be permitted to qualify the word "completely".)

* * *

Newspapers inaccurate? Yes, often. But they never give up the struggle for accuracy. And a cub reporter who wrote as wildly as Mr. Phimister spoke, and without giving evidence in support of his comment, would be invited by his editor to adopt some work in which rashness was less likely to be rebuked than journalism. He might even be sent to apply for a job from Mr. Phimister.

Remarkable Arrests In Montreal

Last Friday citizens of Ville St. Michel, a suburb of Montreal, went to the municipal polls. Astonishing things happened. Within an hour or so of the polls being opened, 28 people were arrested, without explanation, and kept in jail until the polls closed. As far as we have been able to learn, the arrested people had not been causing disturbances nor had they been electioneering. It seems that somebody or other felt that they were best out of the way during the voting. The chief of police of Ville St. Michel gave no explanation. The mayor of the suburb, seeking re-election, said that it was merely a case of police "cleaning up the city to allow honest men to exercise freely their right to vote." His opponent in the election, Adelard Boisvert, called the arrests "Gestapo tactics."

Among those arrested was Pacifique La Plante, deposed head of Montreal's morality squad. (He had been an active campaigner against gamblers and vice in Montreal.) Mr. La Plante's lawyer was not told of the arrests until four o'clock. When he sought a writ of habeas corpus, the police denied any knowledge of the incident.

This is a very curious occurrence. It is disquieting that there are such happenings in Canada, a country devoted to political liberties and personal freedom. Any nibbling at those liberties encourages other nibblers until, it may be, the fabric of freedom is destroyed. In Quebec there are the Padlock Law and other practices which are discomfiting to liberals. The most recent illiberal proposal is that no person found guilty of an indictable offence within the last five years may seek a seat in the Legislature, even though he has requited society for the offence.

Do such acts embolden officials in a town such as Ville St. Michel to order or condone practices which are crimes against civil liberties?—for so we must view the arrest without cause of 28 person, their detention all day, and their release without explanation.

Pin-Pricks In The Back Of The Ailing Giant.

The Mexicans are laying claim to British Honduras, a Crown Colony on the Caribbean Sea, one of the Central American states. Argentinians have fired on a British landing party putting ashore at Hope Bay on the tip of Antarctica's Graham Land, and prevented their landing. Hope Bay is a British base, unused since 1949. These two jabs at British oversea authority do not astonish. When the giant is prone the buzzards swarm.

The Argentine's pretensions to British territories in the south seas and the Antarctic have been mounting since the Peron regime inflicted a peculiar brand of nationalism on that country. It has claimed the Falkland Islands. Its demands are moving farther south, to weather stations and scientific bases which other countries, including Britain and the United States, have in Antarctica.

British Honduras is in a different category. Historically, politically and in some sense religiously, part of the British Honduras was Mexican, part Guatemalan. Since 1893 a treaty had delimited the frontiers of British Honduras and Mexico. The 60,000 people of British Honduras are probably not at all anxious to denounce the treaty, since, without British control, both Mexico and Guatemala (neither of whom agree on which part of British Honduras is traditionally theirs) would each lay claim to the Crown Colony.

The past fifty years have demonstrated that Britain is a good custodian and administrator of colonies, bringing economic advantages to them and preparing them for self-government. Under their own or another nation's rule these people would be less advanced than they are under Britain. It is significant that the eastern nations which support British and western policies are former colonies, like India and Pakistan. Others which had independence earlier or other foreign rule longer are falling into the Communist camp. What the British Honduras need now is not partition between Mexico and Guatemala but a continuance of Crown Colony status until its people are ready for self-government and self-determination.

No Fondness For Argument?

Looking through the President's Report of the University of Toronto, our eye was caught by these lines: "The attendance at Hart House Debates continued to decline in spite of the work of the energetic committee; part of the reason appears to lie in the decrease of interest in debating in the secondary schools." Why, we wonder, has debating, once a popular pastime and extra-curricular exercise, lost its hold on secondary school pupils?

Have the boys and girls of today no fondness for argument? Do they not want to try their teeth on the subjects of the day, or even on such chestnuts of the debating-room as, "Resolved: that the country boy has many advantages not enjoyed by the city boy?" Apparently the young of our time do not want to argue—that is to say, they do not want to argue under observation, and according to rules. We think that this is a bad sign. Lack of interest in argument can mean lack of conviction, and youth is the time for hot, somewhat intolerant, conviction.

Where are we to find the root of this apathy? Some lines from Thomas Mann's Warning To Europe come to mind, and when we verify them, this is what we find: "The young today are ignorant of culture in its loftiest and profoundest sense. They refuse all self-discipline. They no longer know anything of the individual's responsibility and find all their conveniences in the collective life. The collective life, compared to the life of the individual, is the sphere of facility." Has this a particular meaning for us at the present time? Is this lack of interest in debate a symptom of a lack of interest in the life (and opinions) of the individual—a surrender to the collective life? Certainly this is a possibility which should not be brushed aside too lightly. When young people do not wish to argue—do not wish to win others to their way of thinking—there is something seriously wrong with them.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Blind Horses Uncanny" says a headline in the Windsor Star. We have known some blind pigs that were pretty weird, too.

So the British Labour Party is burning midnight oil trying to find ways to get back into power? What—with its loss of the Iranian oil and the present power shortage in Britain? Tut! Tut!

Second Man In China

By O. M. GREEN

ONE certain result of the Japanese Premier's decision to sign a peace treaty with the Nationalists in Formosa is that it must greatly strengthen the hand of the extremist pro-Russian clique in China, of which the pale, fervent Liu Shao-chi is the chief—it might be said the incarnation.

No man in China today appears better worth watching. One of the closest lieutenants of Mao Tse-tung since the establishment of the first Chinese Soviet Republic in the mountains of South-East China in 1929 (that was five years before the "Long March" took the Communists to their better known capital Yeivan in the north-west) he has been a member of the Chinese Politburo since 1932, and is a vice-chairman of the Central Government Council, the highest organ of the Communist Government proclaimed in October 1949. There are actually five other vice-chairmen, one of them the widow of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and sister-in-law of General Chiang Kai-shek, but compared with Liu Shao-chi they are almost nonentities. Next to Mao Tse-tung, he is undoubtedly the most powerful man in China.

* * *

INDEED as a ceaseless exponent of "the Party line" and signatory of directives on the Communists' domestic policy (external affairs remain firmly in Mao Tse-tung's hands) he tends to become even more prominent, or at least better known to the public, than Mao himself.

Mao is already deified like one of the old Emperors (strange how the Chinese cannot get on without a semi-divine Son of Heaven at the top), he lives outside Peking, closely guarded, only occasionally making a sort of god-like appearance to deliver an oration. But Liu is always in sight, always with his fingers on the keys of the Communist organ. His position as secretary-general of the "C.P." and vice-chairman of the Chinese People's Revolutionary Military Committee still further widens and strengthens his influence.

* * *

IN appearance Liu Shao-chi is slender, of middle height, with the typical face of the aesthetic intellectual that he is. Normally cold in manner, he seems to glow as he expounds his Marxist beliefs. He is completely intolerant of any creed other than his own, and appears to have a deep antipathy for all foreigners.

Strange to recall that as a boy Liu was a devout Christian. Born in Hunan (Mao's province, too) in 1900 he was educated at Eastview Academy, an American missionary school in Shengchowfu, and was a conscientious member of the Y.M.C.A. But by the time he was twenty, he had (in his own words) "become aware of the imperialist foundation of missionary institutions in China", he led a strike among his fellows (students in the 1920's were striking for anything or nothing all over China), was disowned by his family, and joined the Socialist Youth League which was absorbed into the Communist Party in 1921.

* * *

FOR several years he was chiefly engaged in agitation among the working class as secretary of the All-China Federation of Labour, and made a name for himself as creator of the violent Anyuan trade union in the Pingsiang mining area in Central China. In 1925 he convened the second All China Labour Congress—where, it is worth recalling, the Russian agent Borodin, called in by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, had succeeded in getting the Communist Party incorporated in the Kuomintang—and then went to Shanghai where the revolutionary spirit was beginning to boil fiercely. He was arrested by the authorities of the French Concession in 1927 and gaoled for two years. On his release in 1929 he went underground—General Chiang Kai-shek and the Nationalists had by then broken with the Communists, and to be known as a Communist was a death warrant. Liu is next heard of in 1932 as being in charge of the workers' movement in the first Chinese Soviet Republic (mentioned above).

* * *

AFTER the retreat to Yenan in 1934 his activities and influence widened considerably with successive appointments as secretary of the North Bureau, the Central Plains Bureau and the Central China Bureau (names which mark the Communists' extending power) of the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party.

Liu has always been an assiduous writer, even, it is said, including the editing of picture and story books for children. Among his writings are books "On the Party" "On the Inner-Party Struggle," "Internationalism and Nationalism," and "How to Be a Good Communist." The last of these is a reprint of a particularly illuminating set of lectures given at Yenan in 1939.

* * *

IN these Liu congratulates the Party on having "successfully overcome various deviations from Marxism-Leninism both in theory and practice." But, he says, there are still some who joined the Party in hope of personal advancement, others who still retain some of the mentality of the past, "replete with the influences of the exploiters—selfishness, intrigues, bureaucracy and every kind of filthy thing." Such must educate themselves, or be educated," to master the essence, spirit and methods which made Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin what they are."

The basis of Party ideology, Liu continues, is the perpetual struggle between the Communist outlook on life and the world outlooks, and all other outlooks on life and the world. Liu's conception of the Communist Party as the sole authority on conduct and thought is shown in his insistence that the true Communist is ever ready "to sacrifice personal interests, even life itself, without hesitation, even with happiness, for the cause of the Party."

* * *

WHAT will be his future? Many believe that if Mao Tse-tung were to die tomorrow, Liu Shao-chi would at once step into his shoes. That would mean closer association than ever with Russia, and increased activity by China for "world Communism and the victory of the proletariat." But Mao is still under sixty, robust and hardy, and the next few years may see some changes. There is no question of Mao's Communism, but it is probable that he has a much shrewder idea of China's real needs—which undoubtedly have suffered through the Korean adventure—than has his internationally-minded lieutenant. Revolutions, axiomatically, end by devouring their own children. Robespierre (French revolutionist, 1758-1794) it will be remembered, went to the guillotine at last. There are many points of resemblance in character between Robespierre and Liu Shao-chi.

An American View: ARE WE BEING TAKEN FOR A RIDE?

Frail Churchill

(R. H. S. CROSSMAN in New Statesman and Nation)

IT WAS a bleak wintry day—the previous night's snow melting into slush—when Mr. Churchill arrived at Washington airport. Since I wanted to see what really happened, I stayed at home in front of a television set. There, sure enough, just after twelve o'clock, was the Old Man stepping very slowly and carefully down the long gangway. And there was a very young-looking Mr. Truman to hold his elbow and take him very gently to the car. At the British Embassy, the day before, I had heard great anxiety expressed about Mr. Churchill's television appearances. Americans think of him as the bulldog of 1940. Would they be shocked by his obvious frailness and still more obvious deafness, when millions of them, sitting at home, saw him from a few feet off? The answer seems to be "no." "Whatever anyone may say, he is a gentleman," was the comment of the man in our local drug-store. "If we had any sense, we should hire his voice," said a wealthy Senator. "We've no one like him to speak for our country."

This nostalgia for leadership—intensified, of course, by the commencement of an election year—permeates Washington. It largely explains the very genuine personal success of Mr. Churchill's visit and it will provide, I suspect, the motive force of Eisenhower's campaign. Even those who hated F.D.R. admit sourly that, so long as he was there, American politics remained on a high level. Under him there was the sense, if not always the reality, of courageous purpose: his policies might be detestable, but at least they were on the grand scale. Now, at a moment when every American feels that the world crisis calls for inspired leadership, Washington is a city of humdrum politicians. The Democratic Administration has wellnigh disintegrated under a President whose honesty and integrity are identified with the interests of a party corrupted by twenty years of unbroken office. Mr. Acheson at the State Department—very ably assisted by Mr. Lovett at the Pentagon—juts out of this sea of mediocrity, a lonely eminence of ability. He behaves like a very moral man in a very immoral society. If the scurrilous campaign against him had produced his dismissal, whatever continuity and consistency American policy displays would have vanished.

Beauty And The Beasts

AFTER listening to Mr. Truman's State of the Union speech with the other foreign potentates in Washington, Mr. Percy Spender, the Australian Ambassador, returned to his Chancery, lunched, read some articles on the economic situation of Japan, signed some dispatches, and then went down to his drawing room to preside at a reception he was giving for two Kangaroos and an Australian beauty-contest winner.

"It's the new diplomacy", he said as he greeted me. "And don't make any remarks about diplomatic pouches".

"Miss Kangaroo", selected from the lovelies of Australia after six weeks' search by the American 20th Century Fox Film Corporation, was sitting on a settee holding a kangaroo. Half the photographers in Washington were there taking photographs, while reporters were trying to get a printable quote from the Kangaroo.

"It's not very big", I said to the man next to me. "What do you expect", he said, "it's only eighteen months out of the pouch".

"I've just heard that crack, old boy", I said. "You must be a diplomat".

"I'm the keeper of the Washington Zoo", he said, with some asperity.

I went up to Miss Kangaroo—in private life, which I suppose she may never see again, for there is a Hollywood screen test in the offing, Miss Loretta North. She is 19, blue-eyed, dark and something like Simone Simon.

"What is its name"? I asked.

"Joey", she said.

"I thought there were two", I said.

"Matilda's upstairs, resting. Kangaroos need a lot of sleep."

"Miss Kangaroo" told me that 20th Century Fox had made their first Australian film—a full-out Technicolour job—called "Drought", about one of Australia's toughest, most epic periods—around the beginning of this century. Australia hoped the film would show how suitable it is for making films the country was, and attract more film capital. "And we've got local talent there, too", she said.

"So I see", I said.

"I meant the kangaroos", she said. "And all the clothes I wear are Australian fashions. We'd like to sell them over here. As I go around, people will look at them. Do you like them?"

She got up, slipped off her evening cape and displayed among other things her gown. My colleagues emitted whistles I have not previously heard in an Embassy.

From Washington Miss Kangaroo hops rapidly through 32 cities, making a final bound to Hollywood. She will appear at theatres and receptions and will be televised.

"I'll stand it all right", she said. "I can do with little sleep, and I drink only orange juice. But I'm worried about the animals".

She looked at Joey, who had curled up on the floor for a nap under a comfortable blanket.

"I'm told that's what everybody would like to do at a Washington cocktail party", she said. "But I'm enjoying it. Anyway, I hope this trip does Australia some good".

I took my leave. I am not much of a judge of a kangaroo, pouched or unpouched, but Miss Loretta North might give sterling quite a shot in the arm.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy...

Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. (Lev. 19: 1, 2, 31.)

* * *

When thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. (Deut. 18: 9.)

* * *

And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? for the living to the dead? To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them. (Isa. 8: 19, 20.)

* * *

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. (James 1: 5.)

Letter To The Editor

NO HEALTH INSURANCE AFTER RETIREMENT

Sir: Following is a clause in group sickness and accident insurance which will inflict hardship upon a person at a time when protection is most needed:

"This insurance shall cease at the end of the policy year during which the employee attains the age of 70 years."

Would suggest Federal Insurance Department call for deletion of said clause. This could be attained by slightly higher premium.

An alternative would be this: "Since the Federal Government now pays all pensions to those above 70 years of age, the provincial government could draft an act to provide that medical services be paid from government funds. To protect taxpayers, any such payments could be deducted from estate when succession duties are listed.

"Health of a nation should be a government's first care."

A.O.P.

(Ed. Note: Many of the group hospital insurance plans in which companies and employees share, automatically end their protection when the employee reaches the age of 70, whether he retires at this age or not, but on the age, not the fact of his retirement, which causes the cancellation of the hospital and health insurance. Some privately-held policies also are not renewable after the age of 70, or, if they are, the premium rises sharply. However, insurance companies are now experimenting with continuing the coverage after 70 years, and some—among them the Blue Cross insurance scheme—give protection so long as the premiums are paid, whatever the age. It is not possible to insure for such benefits, however, after a person has reached the age of 65; one must already be taking part in the scheme.

The automatic Federal old age pensions for those aged 70 or more do not carry hospital and sickness benefits. In the past, the Ontario Government (which administers the pensions in this province) has undertaken to provide minimum medical services to pensioned persons, and it is continuing to do so for those over seventy. But as in the past, these pensioners must show proof of financial need.)

Don't Pay Fees If Music To Help Charity

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 (CP)—A service club does not have to pay copyright fees on music played at a public dance to raise funds for its charitable work, the Exchequer Court of Canada has ruled.

The court handed down a decision in favor of the Kiwanis Club of West Toronto in a a suit brought by the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada for damages on a claim of infringement of copyright.

The suit arose from dances given at the Casa Loma in Toronto during 1950. The orchestra played Sleepy Lagoon and Summertime to which C.A.P.A.C. holds performing rights, without entering a contract with the organization.

The court dismissed the suit under a clause of the Copyright Act setting out exemptions to claims for copyright infringement. These include public performance by fraternal organizations in furtherance of their charitable or educational aims. The court found the Kiwanis dances came under this exemption.

Say Youth Admits Throwing Boy Off Shio

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 5 (CP)—A statement in which Alexander Williams, 25, of Gould, Nfld. is quoted as saying he threw a Chinese messboy overboard after a quarrel aboard their ship was admitted as evidence in Williams' preliminary hearing on a charge of murder.

Williams is accused of murder in the disappearance of Dong Chew Yin, 20, who vanished Jan. 15 when the Canadian Pacific steamship Princess Joan was en route from Vancouver to Victoria. His body has not been found.

The Crown introduced a two-page statement which it contended Williams, an engine room employee, on the ship, wrote himself after his arrest.

Japanese Gets Supreme Court Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Tomoya Kawakita, a Japanese-American sentenced to death for treason, Monday was granted a supreme court hearing.

Kawakita, born in Calexico, Cal., was accused of brutally mistreating American war prisoners while he was an interpreter at Japan's infamous Camp Oeyama, where many Canadians were also held during the war.

After the war, Kawakita returned to California and was spotted by a former prisoner in a Los Angeles department store.

During his trial in Los Angeles Kawakita was accused of striking prisoners, compelling them to work when sick, and helping duck an American in the camp cesspool.

U.S. District Judge William C. Mathes of Los Angeles sentenced Kawakita to death in the gas chamber of San Quentin prison.

Kakakita's appeal said the issue to be decided was whether he had renounced his American nationality upon returning to Japan before Pearl Harbor. Such a finding he argued, would mean that he could not be guilty of treason to the United States.

Almost In Trouble

OTTAWA, eb. 5 — (CP) — The former Governor-General almost got into trouble on Alexander's Lot, at the foot of Alexander's Hill, a ski slope across the Ottawa River—owned by the federal district commission and barred to the public. When Viscount Alexander drove in with a battered old sedan to watch a ski meet Saturday, an employee told him to get the car out or he'd have it towed away. It wasn't until ski-meet officials explained the motorist's identity that he was allowed to park.

Chubb Meteorite Crater Described In Film Lecture

Hurtling through space at more than 3,000 miles a minute, part of an exploded planet from outer space zoomed into the earth's atmosphere and blasted a crater in Canada's northland.

In an illustrated lecture at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Monday night, Dr. Victor B. Meen told the story of this newest natural wonder of the world—the Chubb meteorite crater.

Dr. Meen, who is Director of the Royal Ontario Museum of Geology and Mineralogy has led two expeditions to the crater, located at the northern tip of the Ungava peninsula in Quebec.

Giant Explosion

An earth shaking explosion took place when the meteorite crashed. Huge blocks of granite weighing tons were tossed in the air and showered over the surrounding barren plain. The impact was of such gigantic force that a mass of granite bed-rock was squashed out from the centre, forming a rim 500 feet high around the circular crater.

A lake 600 feet deep, fills the hollow basin of the crater which remained unknown to the outside world until an R.C.A.F. plane on a routine mapping flight photographed it in 1948.

A prospector, F. W. Chubb, believing the circular crater to be the mouth of an extinct volcano showed the photos to Dr. Meen.

Mr. Chubb knew that South African diamonds were mined from extinct volcanos. A few diamonds have been found in eastern Canada and the northern United States but their source has never been located. Believing he had found the mother lode of a North American diamond bonanza, Mr. Chubb enlisted the assistance of Dr. Meen to obtain funds for an expedition.

When the news leaked out to a Toronto newspaper, Dr. Meen revealed the story in confidence to newspaperman Ken MacTaggart. With the aid of Mr. MacTaggart's newspaper who supplied an airplane, and six Toronto men, enough money was raised to finance the first trip in July 1950.

When the party arrived over the crater, it was impossible to land on the lake because of ice, so a landing was made on Museum Lake about two miles to the north.

Trip Hurried

There was little time for detailed scientific exploration of the crater, on the first trip, but Dr. Meen concluded that the crater was caused by a meteorite and was not the mouth of a long inactive volcano.

No evidence of volcanic ash was found and almost concentric ridges surrounding the crater rim supported Dr. Meen's theory. However, he was unable to unearth any positive evidence in the way of meteor fragments as proof.

The size of the crater dwarfs the Canyon Diablo crater in Arizona, which is only three-quarters of a mile across, compared with Chubb's diameter of two miles.

Canadians have beaten their American cousins at their own game, Dr. Meen told his audience. "It's bigger and better than the Arizona crater."

Last summer, Dr. Meen directed a joint expedition financed by the Royal Ontario Museum and the National Geographical Society of Washington, D.C.

Taking off from Roberval, Quebec in a Canso amphibian flying boat on July 25, the party of six were flown in together with 5,500 pounds of equipment and supplies.

After stopping over at Burnt Creek (centre of activity in the Labrador iron ore deevlopment) the plane set down at Fort Chimo for refuelling before continuing to the crater, 290 miles to the north-west.

Established Camp

Again the plane landed in Museum Lake, and the exploring party established camp on the windy shore of the lake, two miles north of Chubb crater.

The next day, the plane returned, leaving the men on their own, cut off from the outside world, except for a radio.

Dr. Meen was the only one of the party who could operate the transmitter and even he had only scanty knowledge picked up in a hasty forenoon of instruction from army signal officers. It was not until several days later he was able to contact another Arctic outpost.

One of the two canoes was portaged over the treacherous rocks to the crater rim, then down the rock-strewn slope, plunging five hundred feet at a 45 degree angle to the shore of the purple-blue crater lake.

Fish In Lake

Fish were found in the lake. How they got there is still an unsolved scientific mystery. The Arctic Char (like lake trout) were flabby and their heads were larger than their bodies. Dr. Meen believes this is due to malnutrition rather than radio activity as suggested by some of the letters received from people who have read of his work.

Mine detectors and careful prospecting failed to reveal any meteorite fragments until the last day before the expedition was due to leave.

As packing was in progress, a last-minute trip was made to the crater rim. The plane which was to fly them back to civilization was delayed and a large underground mass was located by the instruments beneath the white granite surface.

This discovery confirmed Dr. Meen's belief that the crater was caused by a meteorite.

The absence of erosion leads him to believe it was formed after the glaciers of the ice age had melted, but he cannot be sure of the exact age of the crater.

Bone needles, stone arrow heads and camp sites found on the rim of the crater were made by a small primitive race of Arctic nomads who inhabited the region (according to legends and university authorities) before the Eskimos.

A railroad is being built from Seven Islands on the shore of the St. Lawrence into Burnt Creek, to haul out the iron ore which can be profitably mined from the Ungava area.

Dr. Meen ended his film lecture with the prediction that in the future, with the Ungava area being developed and opened up by mining interests, Chubb crater may eventually be on "the tourists' route."

Unemployment In Oshawa Said Critical

OSHAWA, Feb. 5 — (CP). — Chris Mason, president of Local 202, United Automobile Workers (CIO) Monday night told City Council the unemployment situation in this auto city has reached such a critical stage that "some men are going to the back of restaurants and asking for handouts."

He was speaking on behalf of the newly-formed Union of Unemployed Workers which presented a five-point brief to council urging that steps be taken by the Federal, Provincial and municipal governments to ease the unemployment situation in Canada as a whole.

They asked that jobs be created through public works, financed through Federal, Provincial and municipal revenues. They sought an immediate conference to study public works programs.

Asked to Lift Curbs

The Federal government will be asked to remove present restrictions and boost unemployment benefits by at least 50 per cent.

The City Council was asked to provide, through welfare agencies, sufficient cash relief for those unable to collect unemployment insurance benefits.

A final clause urged both Federal and Provincial governments to assume mortgage payments of unemployed who are unable to meet their payments.

The brief was referred to a special committee of the Oshawa Council which will draft a resolution from the brief to be sent to the Federal and Provincial governments. It will also be sent to municipal officials in Ontario cities and towns.

TIED THE SCORE BRIEFLY—On a lightning-fast breakaway in the second period here last night, Keith Montgomery scored for Eagles to make it 2-2, though the Petes tore right back to again take the lead and eventually win out 5-3 in their senior "B" hockey fray. Monty is shown here turning after slapping the puck into the twine behind the sprawled goalie Ray Harding. Ron Horton arrived too late to stop the score. The puck may be seen behind Harding after it bounced back out.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Petes Down Eagles, 5 To 3 In Speedy Senior Tilt To Keep In Front Of Pack

Yanking out a 5-3 verdict over the Eagles before a big crowd here last night, the Petes lengthened their lead in the OHA senior "B" group race. They took a 2-1 margin in the first frame, each side tallied once in the middle heat and the Petes counted two to Eagles' one in the third—one of the winners' goals being a long shot on an empty net with the goalie pulled.

It was another streamlined struggle between the old ice rivals, both sides stepping fast all the way. Play was pretty even throughout, though Petes probably had more close-in chances through better passing. The Eagles' passing didn't click up to form, nor could they take advantage, except once of extra manpower, the Petes drawing six of the nine penalties. The victors threw up a stiff defence when shy a player.

Scored a Pair

Gus Leonard notched two of the goals for the Ellis outfit, with Drake Jopling, Jake Wade and Gus Leonard getting the others. George Steele aided on four in a fine performance, as Gus Leonard and Wade (both of whom played solid hockey through the tilt) each helped on one. George Samalenko, Keith Montgomery and Jim Munroe—three good performers on the night's play—did the sniping for the Vitarelli squad, and George Brabin assisted on one. The two goalies were in starry form to keep down the scoring in torrid travelling all the way through. Bill Crowley was an absentee through illness, and Red Peters, of Oshawa, was an added starter on the Petes' defence.

It opened at a hot clip and Milne and Harding in turn had to step to steer aside hot rubber. Samalenko started the scoring on a close-in scramble from Brabin after they had circled the net to get in position. Berwick went over for high-sticking but was back when Gus Leonard rapped one home to even it on Steele's pass with the goalie down. Milne argued that the puck hadn't crossed the goal-line but it was ruled in. Harding drew a roughing penalty, which Collins served, and he got back to see Peters chased for holding. Then Dugan and Berwick got the nod for high-sticking as the tempo stepped up. One was back when Leonard put Petes up 2-1 from Steele and Wade on smart finish in close. Later Horton went away for high-sticking.

An Even Frame

Again it was fast and even in the second. Fred Mortimer was robbed early and both goalies were kicking them out as play swept up and down a mile a minute. Richlark was gated for tripping and Montgomery broke away in his speedy style to bore right in on Ray and sink the disc as the Petes ganged up. But the tie was quickly broken as Jopling's screened shot found its mark as Steele and Gus Leonard got credit for assists just before Richlark returned. It was plenty warm the rest of the route and Hill and Collins almost tangled before the gong.

Play slowed down and was ragged to begin the third but later pepped up and was quite even the rest of the distance. Collins scored a beauty with fine finish on good combination with Steele at the seven-minute mark. Montgomery pulled two dipsy-doodle rushes but to no avail. Wade climbed the wall for interference but little pressure was applied in his absence. Peters got it next for holding and Munroe's high hard shot hit the backboards and bounced back and in off Harding. With the sides even once more, Eagles began to press hard for the equalizer and had the Petes icing to relieve pressure. They pulled goalie Milne with 45 seconds to go but it backfired when Wade shot a rink-length one into the yawning cage with seconds left, and that was that.

Eagles: Goal, Milne; defence, Fenzell and Munroe; centre, Hill; wings, Berwick and Vitarelli; alternates, F. Mortimer, Stewart, Greenlaw, Samalenko, Wilson, Brabin, Montgomery and Richlark.

Petes: Goal: Harding; defence, Horton and Wade; centre, Garvey; wings, Collins and Floyd; alternates, Dugan, Fryia, Mason, G. Leonard, West, Steele, Peters and Jopling.

Referees, J. Crombie and B. Kingdon.

It won't be long till local senior ball officials will have to start re-organizing for the season. Naturally they're interested in what Oshawa may do. Latest info we have is this piece from the St. Thomas sheet: "From time to time we have mentioned teams who have knocked on the Intercounty's senior door, including Windsor, Port Huron and recently Oshawa. Now it seems there is a strong possibility that the Niagara league will not function and at least one entry would like to join the I.C. circuit. President Otto Manske replied in detail to those seeking entry from Niagara Falls, Ont. He explained the situation and felt that senior ball was having a tough time now and it might get tougher.

* * * * * *

"The senior Intercounty League, rated as the fastest diamond loop of its kind in Ontario, might well be the last of such loops if other circuits besides the Niagara league fold up. There must be something wrong down Oshawa way when an entry is being sought up here. The deadline has passed for senior entries, and an executive meeting to consider all applications has been called for Feb. 7. In the meantime, local plans will move along, but fast." Yeah, the setup is not healthy for ball in many parts of the province. Toronto teams are of intermediate calibre, and last year's COBL was around that brand, too.

Lindsay Kin Play IOOF

Lindsay Kinsmen conclude the OHA junior "B" schedule here tomorrow night when they tackle the Oddfellows at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Last local game before playoffs, which commence within two weeks. The IOOF-ers also have one game on the Scugog sheet ere the end. Johnny Godfrey's gang are nestling nicely in third slot now and not too far back of the second-place Hawklets of Bella Villa. Lindsay leads the loop by a slim margin, and Kingston rests in the cellar. Fans will recall some of the sizzling scraps shown this season in Lindsay-Peterborough puck clashes, and the joust tomorrow night is sure to be another hot one, with the result just a tossup.

Plans are proceeding smoothly in regard to the Shriners' big hockey exhibition here a week from this coming Saturday. Dave Kerr and Dit Clapper are rounding up an impressive list of former NHL greats to stage this charity game for the crippled children's fund. The oldtime NHL-ers put on such a tussle recently in Bracebridge and Ted Reeve reported that it was surprising how speedy and classy so many of the veterans still are on ice. Past their prime, of course, but still showing flashes of the form that made them household hockey names throughout Canada in their National League playing days. We'll run the complete list as soon as it's ready.

This Time Petes Won

It was 5-3 for Petes over Eagles before a hefty gallery at Civic last p.m. in a fast-stepping senior "B" joust. Winners were better on passing to earn it, though 'twas a 4-3 game till Eagles pulled their goalie in the dying seconds. A real nip-and-tucker from start to finish. Fairly clean and well-handled, with some good hockey shown in every period, and some spotty play at times. Not much to choose between the two classy netminders. Steele, Gus Leonard and Wade were the pick of the winners, and Ted Collins tallied the nicest goal of the night. Samalenko, Monty and Munroe stood out for the losers, some of whom couldn't get untracked in their form of the previous game. But they'll no doubt stage a rousing comeback Friday.

With the windup of the PMHA schedule, playoffs begin Thursday night in the arena. It'll be Otonabee Wolves vs. St. Peter's in bantam at 6.30, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Trojans at 8.00, and Marines vs. the juveniles Oddfellows at 9.30. Return tilts of the goals-to-count series a week Thursday to declare city champs and send winners into OMHA playdowns. An earlier error by the loop in the standings showed the bantam Lions and SPS tied for second place, and officials apologizes to Lions. Their mistake was in listing a game some time ago as a win for Lions when it should have been a tie, so that leaves St. Peter's one point ahead of Lions at schedule's end.

WARNE TROPHY 'SPIELERS were attracted from Copper-cliff and other distant centres Monday as the three-day bonspiel went into the first round. It also attracted several of Ontario's top rinks, led by curlers such as Mrs. L. E. Woolley, last year's winner and this year's women's Ontario tankard winner. The Toronto Granite club rink (right photo) is on its way to another win, as Mrs. Woolley (right front) and Mrs. J. McDonald of Brantford (at left) check the stones. Three Local Rinks Survive The First Day's Play In Warne Trophy Bonspiel

Three local rinks—Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. E. Northey and Mrs. H. Dulmage; two Toronto Granites—Mrs. E. Woolley and Mrs. T. Agar; two Bobcaygeon rinks—Mrs. G. Devitt and Mrs. R. McIntosh; and one Hamilton Victoria rink—Mrs. (Dr.) Gooch were the rinks which survived the first day's play in the Warne Trophy open bonspiel on Monday.

There were many close and exciting games during the day, and probably the three that caught the spectator's eyes were the Gooch-Steer (extra end); the Woolley-Holt (extra end), and the Gladman-Scott event, all played on the same ice,—No. 1—

The McIntosh-Hargreaves game was another extra end affair that was well played.

Playing Hard

The games were not long under way before the spectators realized that the ladies were playing in earnest.

Umpire Ross F. Downey was a busy man and he did a real job. No. 8 was crowded all day and spectators seemed to enjoy it all.

There are three events and play is being run on the straight elimination system. You automatically drop back from one event to the other.

The bonspiel continues today until 6:00 p.m. and it is expected that the finals in all the three events will be played at one o'clock Friday.

Dr. R. Clark's rink won out yesterday in the British Consols competition at Lindsay.

Marmora Wins Shutout 5-0

MARMORA, Feb. 5 (ENS). — On poor ice at the Marmora arena on Monday evening, Marmora shut out Frankford Lions 5-0. Killian in goal for the winners gave the best performance of his short career. Stewart, Trumble, Lavender, Forestell and Gray contributed to the scoring with the former netting twice. Trumble missed two good chances to add to the score. The second line failed to get into their usual stride until the third period. In defence the homesters had the edge somewhat on their rivals. Gray and Maynes breaking up several good attacks. Rankin, Cooke, Hood, McKee, the former were most aggressive for Frankford. Play was rough at various stages, the teams evenly dividing fourteen penalties. The attendance was low, only about 160 being present.

Teams:

Frankford: Goal, Ashby; defence, Rankin, Elliott; centre, Cooke; wings, Mitts, alternates, Foster, McKee. McLay, Hanna, Hood, Huard, Farmer.

Gavilan Wins Split Decision In Title Defence With Dykes

By JACK HAND

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan, a specialist in split decision rhubarbs, still owns the Welter title after a tight squeak with stringbean Bobby Dykes of San Antonio. It was another "Gavilan Special" Monday night at Miami Stadium where many of the 11,526 who paid $76,814 booed a divided decision for the sleek Havana Hawk. Only four points separated the two fighters on the total of three official cards.

Referee Eddie Coachman voted for Dykes, the 22-year-old underdog who has been adopted by Miami as a local favorite. Coachman had the rangy Texan on top 143-140.

Both judges found Gavilan the winner but Mark Erwin of Miami had it a near-photo finish with the Cuban a nose in front, 142-141. Ladislad Nodarse put the keed over the top 145-139.

The AP card gave it to Gavilan 144-142.

It was so close—despite an eight-round knockdown scored by Gavilan with a smashing right to the jaw in the second round—that a good flurry could have swung the title to handsome Bobby.

Shoulders Blame

Jimmy Parks, Dykes' manager, shoudered the blame for assuring his boy he had only to survive the 15th and final round to win the decision.

"I had no idea Bobby wasn't a certain winner if he got through the 15th," said Parks.

"Gee, I wish I could have won," said Dkyes. "They were telling me in the corner I was ahead from the 12th on. If I had known I wasn't ahead, I'd have put more steam in the last rounds."

As it turned out, a slow start and that costly knockdown cost Dkyes his big chance to upset the 4 to 1 odds.

"I was cold at the start but warmed up and cut loose about the fourth or fifth," he explained. "When he knocked me down, I picked up the count at four and felt good. It surprised me that I felt better the longer the fight went."

Gavilan seemed to lose his zip after his flashy start. Time after time in the eighth he crouched law, almost touching the floor, ducking away from Dykes' shakey left. Then in the last five rounds, he kept running into a Dykes right hand that spun his head. The Cuban keed always fights in flurries but there were less of them and they were farther apart than usual.

Gavilan weighed 146⅞; Dykes 146¾.

Laufman Regains Scoring Lead

TORONTO, Feb. 5 (CP). — Ken Laufman has regained top place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A individual standings.

The 19-year-old Guelph Biltmore forward scored a goal and assisted on six others in the last week to bounce back into the league leadership a scant point in front of Toronto Marlboros' Danny Poland who is in turn one point up on Ken Wharram of the Galt Black Hawks. Laufman has 111 points while Poland is next with 110 and Wharram third with 109.

Don Head, the Marlboros' goalkeeper, continues to hold the best goals-against average of the regular netminders. He has allowed 95 goals in 32 games for a 2.98 average.

Ed Chadwick of Toronto St. Michael's is next with a 3.29 average while Kitchener Greenshirts' Bill Harrington is third with 3.73.

Powell Keeps Lead In A.H.L. Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP). — Ray Powell, sharp-eyed centre of the Providence Reds, tops the American Hockey League in scoring for the fifth straight week today.

Powell picked up three points during the week to maintain his 11-point edge over the rest of the field. Powell has collected 25 goals and 44 assists for 69 points. His 44 assists also are tops.

Right wing Steve Wochy of Cleveland has climbed into the runner-up slot with 58 points.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh remains in front for goal-tending honors. Mayer has allowed 123 goals in 49 games for a 2.51 goals-against record. Emile Francis, Cincinnati, has turned in the most shutouts, four. Pete Durham of Indianapolis is the top penalty collector with 129 minutes.

Outlaw Lacrosse Possible In B.C.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5 (CP). — There is a possibility of "outlaw lacrosse" on the coast and no east-west Mann Cup final this year.

The possibility was raised here Monday after inter-city league officials learned of the Ontario Lacrosse Association's rejection of its proposal to dissociate from the Canadian Lacrosse Association and conduct its own Dominion championship with Ontario.

Officials of the league meet here Friday to decide their next step.

"It appears that the east has quite a bit more say in the C.L.A. policy than we do," said Carl Grauer, president of Vancouver Combines, Canadian finalists last year.

"However, our club is still prepared to stand by the original motion—even if it means throwing over the Dominion series this year.

"I think the rest of the clubs in the league are prepared to stand by us, probably to the point of playing 'outlaw' lacrosse."

The Inter-City League has complained that the C.L.A "bungled" the Mann Cup playoffs last year.

Jackie Robinson TV Executive

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP). — Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman who was the first Negro to play modern major league baseball, added another "first" to his list Monday when he signed a two-year contract as a radio and television executive.

Robinson will serve as "Director of Community Activities" for WNBC and WNBT, the key radio and television stations of the National Broadcasting Company in the metropolitan New York area. Robinson thus became the first Negro to hold an executive post with a major radio or television station.

Although his new duties were not fully defined, Robinson said they will be closely related with his work with boys, which he has been doing at Harlem Y.M.-C.A. and would enable him to expand such work.

He also said they would not interfere with his baseball career because "If I lose effectiveness in baseball, I lose it here too. My importance to kids is in being able to play baseball."

Weekend Spurt Gives Bruins 4th Place Grip

MONTREAL, Feb. 5 (CP). — The rampaging Boston Bruins collected six points out of a possible eight last week to climb from fifth to fourth place in National Hockey League standings, four points ahead of New York Rangers.

The Bruins now have 44 points from 16 victories, 21 losses and 12 ties and Rangers 40 points with a 15-23-10 record.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings picked up three points from a victory Sunday over Rangers and a tie with Canadiens Saturday. Wings have 66 points, 10 more than second-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Biggest jump in individual scoring was made by Ten Lindsay of Detroit who chalked up five points, two goals and two assists in weekend games alone, to move from seventh to third place.

Howe Beats Richard

Teammate Gordie Howe moved ahead of Montreal's Maurice Richard in Goal-getting, to settle himself more firmly in the league leadership with 51 points.

Howe now has 26 goals and 25 assists, six points ahead of Elmer Lach of Montreal who boasts 12 tallies and 33 assists for 45 points. Lach continues to lead in assists.

Richard, scoreless during the weekend, dropped to fourth place with 25 goals, and 15 assists for 40 points.

Detroit's Terry Sawchuk's 10 shutouts are five more than his nearest rival, Al Rollins of Toronto.

With 105 minutes in the penalty box, Boston's Gus Kyle is league bad man.

Mexico's Famed Horse Dies After Operation

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)— Arete, Mexico's most famous jumping horse, died Monday after he failed to respond to an operation for a broken leg. The 13-year-old, one-eyed jumper, was loaded with honors after he won the Olympic jumping championship in London in 1948. The army's senior grooms were assigned to care for him. Mexico City horsemanship clubs gave him a scroll calling him "Mexico's First Horse." (It was tacked up over his stall.)

But Col. Humberto Mariles, who won the London Olympics aboard Arete, continued to work him hard enough to keep him in condition. Arete's last public appearance was in the recent International Horse Show in Monterrey, Mexico.

Clash Of Faiths Big Story In Hiss Expose

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(CP)—Whittaker Chambers, confessed former Communist, Monday expressed fear that people have overlooked the real meaning of the Alger Hiss case.

Its true significance, he contended, is that the two irreconcilable faiths of our time—communism and freedom—had come to grips in a conflict between a world without God and a world with God.

Chambers' belief is outlined in the opening article of his book, I Was the Witness, being published in 10 instalments by the Saturday Evening Post.

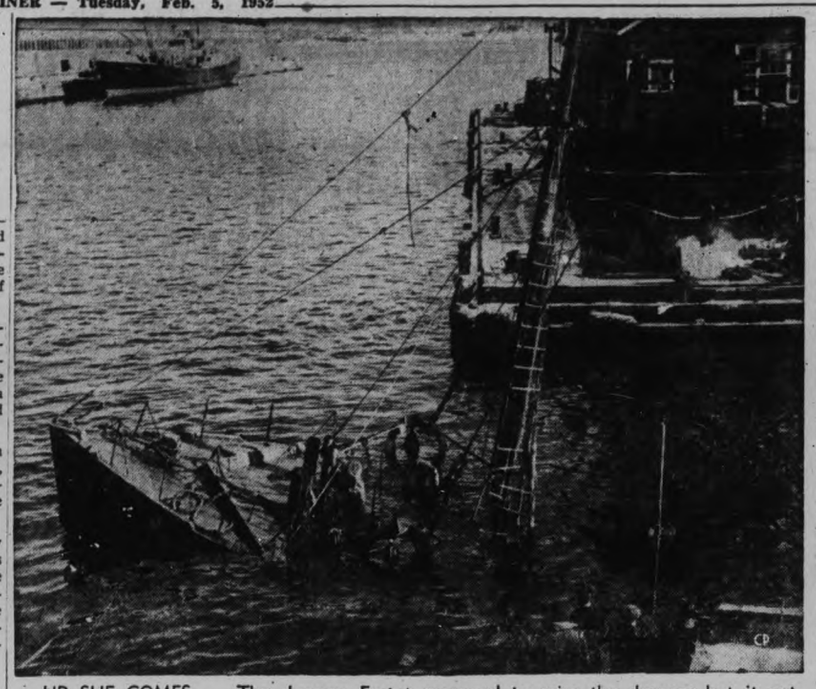
In his story, Chambers publicly relates the full details of the Hiss case, in which Chambers was the chief witness. Hiss, accused of acting as a Communist agent while employed by the U.S. Government, is serving a five-year prison term for perjury.

Decision This Century

Chambers predicts that within this century will be decided whether all mankind is to become Communist, whether the whole world is to become free, or whether, in the struggle, civilization is to be completely destroyed or completely changed.

Discussing the reasons he once was a member of the Communist Party, he says Communists are bound together by a single vision: "It is necessary now to change the world".

The Communist vision, he says, "is the vision of a man without God. It is the vision of man's mind displacing God as the creative intelligence in the world... It is an intensely practical vision ...for the vision is shared by millions who are not Communists, and they are part of communism's secret strength... It has posed in practical form the most revolutionary question in history: "God or man?"



UP SHE COMES — The dragger Fort Louisburg was towed under water to the beach at Halifax when the ship went on fire and sank. Salvage operators almost managed to raise the dragger but it got away when a stay snapped. They decided to abandon the raising attempt when it was feared the crane, capable of hoisting 80 tons, might topple into the sea.

Invite Canadians Invest Money In Other Lands

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians today are being invited to invest some money in a bank with a long name and even longer purpose.

The name is "the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development," and the purpose is to enable countries to develop their powers of production and raise their standards of living.

Canadians have been investing money right along in this cause—but through their government. Now they are being approached as individuals.

Specifically they are being invited to buy $15,000,000 worth of bank bonds which will yield them four per cent interest, and which will be known as the "Four Per Cent Canadian Dollar Bonds of 1962."

The bank is one of the international organizations formed before the end of the Second World War to deal with post-war problems.

51 Countries Subscribe

Fifty-one countries, including the United States, Britain and Canada, now belong and have subscribed nearly $8,500,000,000 of which Canada's subscription is $325,000,000.

However, only 20 per cent of each country's subscription can be drawn on for loans, and then only with the country's consent. The remainder of the subscription is a security against the bank's obligations.

To raise funds for lending, additional to those available through the subscriptions, the bank issues bonds for private purchase. To date, most of these have been sold in the United States, but with more recent issues in Britain and Switzerland, and now in Canada.

Not Relief Agency

The International Bank emphasizes that it is what it is called—a bank, and not a relief agency. It makes loans according to banking principles in instances in which, in the post-war world, it might be difficult to borrow money through ordinary financial channels.

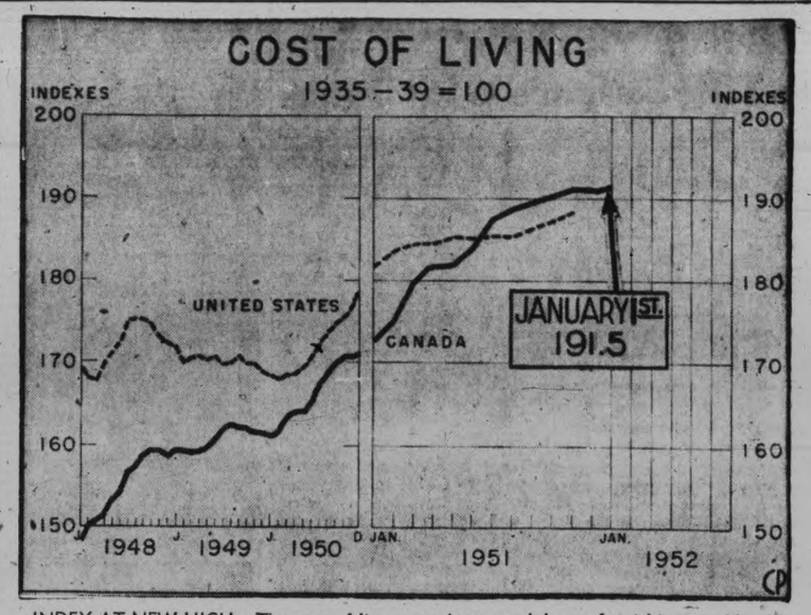
But the loans are made only after investigation and on what are considered sound projects. In general they are for purposes which will increase a country's productivity, such as power, communication and agricultural projects.

In the case of Canada, some of the money lent comes right back in the form of orders for equipment.

To date, the bank has entered into loan contracts amounting to the equivalent of $1,250,000,000 in 25 countries. In each case a member country is either the borrower or guarantees the loan. To date, there have been no defaults.

In a number of instances, on invitation, the bank sends a mission to a country to survey its economic possibilities and make recommendations for development, and the reports of such missions may lay the foundations for loans.

Countries which have received loans include Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, El Salvadro, Ethiopia, Finland, France, Iceland, India, Iraq, Luxembourg, Mexico, the Netherlands, Nicaragua, South Africa, Thailand, Turkey, Uruguay and Yugoslavia.



INDEX AT NEW HIGH—The cost-of-living index climbed two-fifths of a point from 191.1 during December to a new high of 191.5 on Jan. 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100. Slightly higher prices for meats, vegetables, dairy products, coal, home furnishings and health costs pushed the index up again. The dotted line shows the United States Consumers' Price Index. These indexes measure percentage changes in prices in each country, but should not be used to compare actual levels of prices between the two countries.

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP). — Strike votes will be taken next Sunday by two Toronto printing trades unions as the result of the breakdowns in negotiations between the union and commercial printing firms. Approximately 3,500 employees are involved in the dispute. No newspapers are affected.

Two Brothers Held In Slaying

WELLAND, Feb. 5 — (CP). — James Kelsey, 27, now held in Buffalo for illegal entry to the United States, will be returned to Canada this week to face a charge of murder in the death of Sam Delibasich, Weland taxi driver, whose battered body was found in a field two years ago.

Kelsey's brother, Lloyd Frank Cross, 34, also has been charged with the slaying. He was arraigned Monday.

Both Kelsey and Cross are former Welland residents. Kelsey changed his name when his mother married for the second time.

When the body of Delibasich was found December 17, 1949, with some small bills and change still in his pockets, rumors circulated that terrorists were responsible. Delibasich's brother was reported to have been killed in Yugoslavia in 1945.

Police now discount the theory that revenge or politics were behind the slaying. They said robbery was the motive.

Delibasich came to Canada in 1923 and lived in Kirkland Lake until 1942. He also worked for some time in Timmins.

Kelsey, sometimes known as Keeler, was formerly in the Canadian Army. Deportation proceedings are scheduled for Wednesday.

Canadian Handicraft Work Popular At N.Y. Exhibition

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Canadian craftsmen, who sold $12,000,000 worth of handicrafts to American tourists last year, put their wares on display in Rockefeller Centre Monday and attendants immediately had a rush of orders.

The display of handicrafts from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec, opened in the south concourse of the building. The two stores housing the exhibits ranging from plaids and tweeds woven in Cape Breton Island to delicate wood carvings from Quebec, caught the eye of hundreds of passers-by.

The internationally famous pottery of Kjeld and Erica Deichman of Clifton Royal, N.B., took up a good part of the exhibit. Examples of Eskimo handicraft were displayed.

Dr. Ivan H. Crowell, director of handicrafts for New Brunswick, said that during the eight-week show various craftsmen from Canada will give demonstrations of their work.

The display is sponsored by Canada's Department of Trade and Commerce. Government officials, pleased with the response on the show's opening day, said they are hoping to interest U.S. wholesalers in the work of the Canadian craftsmen.

Howard Hughes Wins Big Suit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP).—Howard Hughes, movie producer and industrialist, won a multi-million dollar Supreme Court victory Monday.

The high tribunal set aside, 7 to 0, an order requiring Hughes to sell his 929,020 shares of stock in the New Theatre Company by Feb. 20, 1955.

Hughes appealed to the court to lift the order, saying it would deprive him of "some millions" of dollars worth of property.

The litigation developed from a 1938 Government anti-trust suit against a group of leading movie firms, among them Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp., of which Hughes is the controlling stockholder. The case against RKO resulted in an agreement to divorce RKO's movie exhibition business from its film production and distribution business.

The New Theatre Company was formed to handle the exhibition business and the New Picture Company was created to handle the production and distribution end.

The U.S. District Court in New York City, acting under a section of the agreement, ordered Hughes to sell his stock in the New Theatre Company by Feb. 20, 1955.

Believe Ryan Pulled Racetrack Swindle

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP). — William Patrick Ryan, 62, listed by the R.C.M.P. as the second most wanted criminal in Canada, is believed desponsible for a $10,500 race track swindle of a Port Colborne business man here last October.

The business man, whose name has not been made public, is reported to have lost his life savings and to have been forced to sell his store in an attempt to pay his losses.

The reported swindle involved race track betting, with a bet being blocked by the track and the victim being called on to help clear it.

Expect Revision In Atlantic Role

OTTAWA, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Canada's responsibility for naval and air defense in the Northwest Atlantic, something she's been assuming since the war, is expected to be formally spelled out now that an Atlantic pact commander for that ocean has been named.

U.S. Admiral Lynde McCormick's appointment to the N.A.T.O. post is expected to be followed by an agreement that Canada is responsible under N.A.T.O. for the Northwest Atlantic from her own east coast roughly to the area around Iceland, a sphere which came under her command in the last years of the Second World War.

The key jobs will continue to be held there by Commodore R. E. S. Bickell and Air Commodore A. D. Ross, top men of the two services on the Atlantic coast with headquarters at Halifax.

Reduce Sentence

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP). — The Ontario Court of Appeal on Monday reduced from three years to 18 months the sentence imposed on Mario Contini for breaking into a Guelph dry-cleaning establishment. Crown counsel W. B. Common said a Guelph contractor has promised to give the 22-year-old Contini a job upon his release and an insurance man in that city also has offered to help with his rehabilitation.

Anti-Speeder Radar Works Like Charm

DETROIT, Feb. 5 — (AP)—Suburban Birmingham put its new anti-speeder radar equipment to work Monday.

The results were almost instantaneous. Police reported 16 persons were arrested in the first seven hours.

For the time being the radar-checking was done on only one street, a 25-mile-an-hour zone.

Two police cars are used. One, parked, has the radar. As a speeder passes, he is timed instantly on the radar screen. His speed is recorded on a paper roll.

The radar car calls another police car a few blocks distant by radio. The second car nabs the speeder.

Canadian Sailors Feted During Visit To Wima

LIMA, Feb. 5 (CP)—A four-day romance between this South American city and the sailors of two Canadian warships blossomed last week and it was wonderful while it lasted.

As the frigates Beacon Hill and Antigonish sailed away from Callao, the port of Lima, PO Tim Brecknell of Victoria pushed back his cap and said he'd never seen the beat of it in 18 navy years.

Now in the Panama Canal zone, the two ships put in here as one port of call in a training cruise. The welcome was warm and enthusiastic. Beacon Hill is commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. J. W. McDowall, Antigonish by Lt.-Cmdr. Raymond Phillips. Both men are from Ottawa.

On arrival at Callao, the two commanding officers made a series of formal calls on port officials, senior Peruvian naval officers, the Canadian ambassador at Lima, Emile Vaillancourt, and the United Kingdom ambassador, Sir Oswald Scott.

Places Wreath

In a colorful ceremony, Lt.-Cmdr. McDowall placed a wreath at the foot of a monument in Lima in tribute to the Peruvian naval hero, Admiral Miguel Grau. Then the Canadian guard marched past a saluting base where the Peruvian chief of naval staff took the salute.

The ships held open house on two days, and more than 2,500 visitors were received. On a third afternoon they entertained all British Commonwealth children in the area.

The program of entertainment included a Rotary Club luncheon in Lima for the ship's officers, a conducted tour of Lima for the men, informal entertainment and dancing each night at the Lima Cricket and Football Club, an official Peruvian naval reception, a reception and buffet dinner dance at the Canadian ambassador's residence, softball games and horseback riding, as well as visits to private homes.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5 — (CP).—Mrs. Noella (Trixie) Showko, 29, Monday was charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 48-year-old tenement landlord. Percy W. Beckstead was found on Sunday night bleeding profusely from knife wounds. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

Killed By Car

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Michael O'Neill, 92, of suburban East York, was killed Monday night when struck by an automobile. Police identified the driver as Fred Otter of nearby Markham.

CHARLES K. HURST

Charles Hurst To Advise On Seaway Plans

Interdepartmental arrangements are being worked out in Ottawa for the transfer of Charles K. Hurst, resident engineer of the Trent Canal here as advisor to General A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission.

A high official of the Civil Service Commission in Ottawa told The Examiner today that it is understood negotiations are taking place between the International Joint Commission and the Department of Transport.

No final decision has been reached as yet, but he indicated an announcement confirming that Mr. Hurst is being loaned to the Commission as an advisor to General McNaughton can be expected within the next week or ten days.

Mr. Hurst will be taking over his new duties March 1.

Began In 1909

Established in 1909 by the Boundary Waters Treaty, the six man commission was set up to deal with matters of mutual interest to Canada and the United States, in regard to boundary waters and rivers crossing the international boundary.

Three commissioners are appointed by both Canada and the United States and within certain defined limits, the commission is armed with authority that stands above national laws of either country.

The federal government recently announced it intends to go ahead with the St. Lawrence Seaway if the U.S. Congress fails to approve the project. The International Joint Commission will play a key role in ironing out difficulties in getting the project underway, because water levels of the international section of the St. Lawrence river will be affected by the proposed power and navigation project.

This probably is the reason Mr. Hurst is being considered as a possible advisor to the chairman of the Canadian section.

Studied Problems

After his discharge from the Royal Canadian Navy at the end of World War II, Mr. Hurst returned to his duties with the Department of Transport and was assigned to the study of hydraulic and structural design of the seaway.

Sale Of Site To Bread Co. Authorized

City Councillors Decide To Sell Land For $1,325

Sale of the city's lot on Rogers Street to Canada Bread Co., Ltd., as site for a modern food manufacturing plant, cost of which is estimated at $500,000, was authorized by the council Monday night.

Transfer of the property, following its rezoning for light industrial use, has been discussed recently by both the city planning committee and the council after hearing deputations for and against it.

The recommendation of the board of works, as read by chairman Ald. J. E. Gillespie was as follows:

"That having considered carefully the various representations made by residents of the area, the lot owned by the city on the west side of Rogers St., immediately north of Tivey St., be rezoned for light industrial use, as recommended by the city planning board; and that City Solicitor Huycke be authorized to prepare a deed of the lot to Canada Bread Co., Ltd., at a price of $1,325; and that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to consult the company regarding two plans for the building, with a view to safeguarding the interests of property owners in the immediate vicinity, and to reduce any inconvenience to them."

Board of Works.

Board of Works report included two other clauses which merely summerize the recent approach by petition to the question the council ultimately had to decide.

"Your board studied additional briefs submitted by those residents of the Rogers St. area opposing the rezoning of the lot (from third residential)."

"Mr. Wills, a resident of Rogers St. submitted a petition signed by 17 residents of that street, lying in an acre immediately north of the lot which it is proposed to sell to Canada Bread Co., containing 17 signatures favoring the erection on this lot."

At a recent meeting of the council it was reported that the company intends to proceed with the building of their Ashburnham plant as early as possible this spring.

No further reference was made to the prospective factory last night. Rogers St. residents were evidently content to abide by their opposing views of rezoning and site sale as recently presented to the council and city planning committee.

The public section of the council chamber was occupied by only one person, a member of the women's civic study group.

Council To Discuss Site For Mural Tablet

The location of the city's mural tablet in memory of the four men who lost their lives in the George St. fire of May 19 last is to be discussed by the committee of the whole council.

Fire, water and light committee recommended that it be placed on the wall of the main office of the new city hall. Their report was read at the council meeting Monday night by the chairman, Ald. A. B. Burrows.

The bronze plaque commemorates the deaths on duty of three firemen, George Reynolds, Grover Deck and Orville Rome, and the civilian volunteer Earl Spencely.

Ald. T. D. Miller suggested Monday night that the clause read by Ald. Burrows be deleted for the present to permit discussion by the whole council in committee of the place to be permanently assigned to the plaque.

Ald. Burrows said the question had not been decided hastily by committee, and that the present firemen were in favor of the city hall office location.

Potatoes One Of Villains In Rise Of Living Costs

Rising food prices continue to take an increasing slice out of the family budget and are mainly responsible for a rise of four-tenths of a point in the December cost-of-living index. Potatoes, year-round staple on the family dinner table, are the worst offenders.

Reduced acreage in Ontario and the Maritimes, plus spoilage brought on by blight as a result of bad growing weather cut this year's crop in half as compared with 1950.

This figure of a 50 per cent drop in Canadian potato production as compared with a year ago is based on figures supplied by the federal Department of Agriculture.

Overproduction 1950

Local growers and wholesalers agree, the main factor in the reduced acreage this year was overproduction and depressed prices in 1950.

Potatoes are one of the few products still subject to the violent fluctuations of supply and demand. Too many potatoes means low prices, often just meeting production costs at the production level. The result—farmers go into some other line the next year, and potato prices soar.

Today, local wholesalers are paying $3.37 for a 75-pound bag of New Brunswick potatoes, A year ago they were buying the same quality potatoes for $1.43.

At the consumer level, housewives are paying about $2.60 for a 50 pound bag, 32 cents for five pounds and 61 cents for ten pounds at the corner grocery.

The manager of a chain of stores quoted the retail price today as $4.50 for a 75-pound bag and said that a year ago, the same size bag could be purchased for $1.75.

Figures Tell

Production figures in Canada's potato producing Maritimes tell the story of today's high prices. In 1950, 33,839 carloads were sent out of the three provinces. This year, only 20,744 cars have been loaded.

Ontario potatoes are slightly less, bringing $3.25 at the wholesale level, a manager of the fruit and vegetable division of a local wholesale firm says his company purchases 90 per cent of its potatoes from New Brunswick.

He explained the drop in acreage this year was accompanied by a heavy loss through rot and disease. "There are enough potatoes available to meet the demand", he said and added that he did not believe there would be any further rise except for seed potatoes which he predicted would be "terrificaly high locally".

Local Production

Delbert Olan, reeve of Cavan township, said that he believed production in Durham county was down about one third this year below the 1950 level. He blamed this drop on low prices in 1950 which meant that farmers were "producing at cost."

He said that he and his son grow about the same acreage (14) every year, but that many growers in Cavan and Manvers cut their acreage in 1951.

After the slight dip in the cost of living index in November, it was believed the cost of living might be levelling off. However, the rise in prices of potatoes, and other food items such as butter, milk and meat, offset the drop of four-tenths of a point in clothing prices in December.

At the same time, food rose by seven tenths of a point. About one third of the family's food budget is spent on food, and consequently, the effect of rising food prices was much greater than the two index figures indicate in themselves.

Lions Club Burns Pool Mortgage

The Lions' Club burned their mortgage Monday night, in a ceremony marking the end of the indebtedness their swimming pool had incurred.

Since 1950, when the pool was first open, they have paid off a debt of $15,000. Two weeks ago, the final $1,000 payment was met.

Doug Anderson, chairman of the committee in charge of the swimming pool, outlined the history of the pool, and the work that had gone into it.

$10,000 For Improvements

In August, 1948, the idea was first presented to the club as a substitute for permanent improvements they had planned for the Riverside wading pool. Improvements to the wading pool would have cost $10,000, and the club had no guarantee that they would be really permanent.

A club committee, appointed to investigate the practical aspect of an inland pool, studied similar pools in other cities of the province. This committee recommended the club go ahead with a swimming pool.

Finally, the club approved the plans and the project was discussed with City Council. In October, 1948, council allotted a building site, but not the one the Lions had considered.

After troubles aplenty, the first sod for the pool was turned in June, 1949. Club work parties at the pool saw the building of benches, painting and general preparation for the opening.

On June 16, 1950, the pool was opened.

But a problem—$15,000 owing suppliers of materials—still faced the club. Only way out was a bank loan, which a club could not get. Ten club members endorsed the note at a bank.

Mr. Anderson concluded his history of the pool, and touched a match to the mortgage. It burned, not too fiercely, but well enough.

District Governor Ross Burk of Kingston was guest of honor at the meeting, held at the Kawartha Golf Club. He congratulated the members on the speed with which they had become free of debt.

Chairman for the meeting was club president Jim McCulloch. Russ Baer led the sing-song.

Minden Reopens Arena Feb. 8

Helped financially by the citizens of Peterborough, Minden will reopen its recreation centre on February 8, K. S. Currie, chairman of the building fund, formerly of Peterborough, announced today.

After the winter's first heavy snowfall, the centre's roof collapsed, causing a $40,000 deficit on the small town of 650 people. Through debentures, donations and a raffle on a mink coat which was donated by a Peterborough resident enough money was raised to finance the rebuilding project.

"This (the re-opening of the centre) was only made possible through the kind, sympathetic support we received from people who rallied to our need and in five weeks contributed to our cause, $8,600", Mr. Currie said.

Ice Program

An evening of figure skating, dancing and hockey has been planned for the re-opening.

The Oshawa Figure Skating Club will sponsor skaters, Donald Jackson, Carol Klapow, David Lowry, Hugh Smith and Gail Authers. Miss Authers and Mr. Lowry were pair competitors for the Canadian Figure Skating Junior championships in Oshawa.

The Stouffville Clippers of the Senior "B" Big Five, once league opponents of the Petes and Eagles, will play the Minden Allstars. The Minden sextet will be formed mostly by the Minden Monarchs.

The evening will conclude with dancing to Tommy Langley and his orchestra.

MY! IT'S MUCH DIFFERENT UP IN FRONT, was the comment made by most of the PCVS students who observed or taught in the public schools Monday afternoon. More than 40 students formed an interest group to investigate teaching as a future. Bob Dobson (left photo) tried his hand at teaching in King Edward school. In W. M. Patterson's class, Grade 6-7, Dobson taught a lesson in reading. Marion Crawford, daughter of Donald Crawford, public school principal in Peterborough for a number of years, observed in the Grade 3-4 class at King Edward. Miss Crawford (at the right, above) is given several hints in teaching by Miss H. C. Mutton, who is checking work by student, Karen Davis.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

PCVS Students Try Hand At Teaching Youngsters

P.C.V.S. students were given the opportunity Monday to find out just what it's like to stand at the front of a schoolroom of boys and girls and try to teach them something. Through special arrangements made by the vocational guidance department at P.C.V.S. and the Board of Education the students formed an interest class in teaching and went out into the public school classrooms for the afternoon.

More than 40 boys and girls took advantage of the afternoon to see just how they would like teaching as a profession. Almost 15 of the group, mostly Grade 13 students, were making their second trip, but wanted to go out again to help make a final decision.

But for the majority, the afternoon was their first in the public schools since they graduated to Grade 9 four years ago. They were Grade 12 students who were just "exploring" the teaching profession with an eye to the future.

Whether the students taught or not depended upon themselves; in most cases they chose to sit back and watch the home room teacher in action. When the strangeness of the schoolroom gradually wore off, the students ventured around the room looking at the pupils' work. Any questions were answered by the teachers.

Some Taught

Some students, such as Bob Dobson, tried to teach a lesson generally in spelling, reading or writing. Mr. Dobson, making his second trip into the schools, taught a reading lesson to the Grade 6-7 students at King Edward school.

The students either taught or observed in the classes from kindergarten to Grade 8 in Park Hill, King Edward, Queen Mary, Prince of Wales, Queen Alexandra, King George, Central and Confederation schools. The PCVS Grade 13 students chose the lower grades, the girls especially kindergarten and Grade 1.

The interest group is an annual project by the vocational guidance department to encourage students to become teachers. It has two parts, in the public schools and in the Normal schools.

Howard Moebus, vocational guidance teacher, said today that students will visit the Normal school later this term. There L. W. Copp, principal, will outline the requirements for admission there and the work which will be done.

The teaching group is the first of an annual series and will be followed up by groups in nursing, engineering and other professions. The next group will be in nursing when the girls will visit the Civic hospital on February 20, followed by a trip to the Ryerson Institute of Technology on February 27.

Through the teaching group, 10 PCVS students entered the Normal school this year and 12 last year.

Goose Pond Ice Tips Off Weather

The Goose Pond is Fred Tuggey's weather gauge. Only a few days ago he said that it was frozen for the third time this season, from the Quaker Oats dam up to Parkhill Road bridge. That was a sign that it was going to remain frozen for the rest of the winter.

From his observation of the bay for nearly as many winters as he has lived in Canada, Mr. Tuggey felt that he could predict that winter was settling down in the home stretch.

But, the weather made one of its quick changes toward the weekend, and open water reappeared in that Nicholls Park stretch of the river.

So, Mr. Tuggey has drawn the conclusion that winter is relaxing for keeps, with only a few occasional relapses to severity. In that pronouncement he runs true to Delphic equivocation. The third freezing of that stretch of the river said nothing about period of continuance. It might have been until March 17 or later. When it turns out to be a couple of days, Mr. Tuggey quite properly as a prognosticator interprets the change as signifying that the worst of winter is over.

Reporting his reading of the February auspices, Mr. Tuggey is publicly pinned down as intimating that there is not much left of shivering and shovelling.

City Council Thanks Trust For Work Done

Reference to the looming end of the long service of more than 90 years by the City Trust Commission to the ratepayers was recently published by the Examiner.

The official present action of the council is set forth in the following minutes which were adopted at Monday night's meeting in approving the recommendations of the board of works as read by Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman:

"That the appreciation of the city council be conveyed to the Peterborough City Trust for its decision to cancel the account with the city for $5,000, representing interest payment for the year 1951 on the sum of $125,000, which was made available by the Trust to the city to assist in the purchase of the city hall site, and the trust's decision to request from the council the sum of $3,500 only, from monies realized by the council from the sale of property formerly under the control of the trust and sold by the council up to Dec. 31, 1951; and that the city treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque payable to the City Trust in the sum of $3,500.

"That, as recommended by the City Trust, the city council, on the advice of the city solicitor, early in 1953 take proper action to seek legislation dissolving the city trust as of Dec. 31, 1953, the trust by that date having completed its duties and responsibilities; and that action be taken to formally set forth in the city records the unique and most valued services which the Peterborough City Trust has given ot the town and city of Peterborough during its existence since 1861, when it was established to safeguard the credit of the town, and to assure the payment of town and city debentures when due.

"That the city treasurer be authorized to advance monies to the city trust when requested, and previous to Dec. 31, annually, to meet debenture payments and interest payments, and that no interest be charged to the trust for monies so advanced."

Close Contest Gains Curlers' Interest

In the Peterborough Curling Club lounge Monday evening numerous games were being played —differently than on the ice, but local club members nearly all had a word to say about the close contest between Mrs. Maurice Holt and Mrs. L. E. Woolley of Toronto Granite Club. Though Mrs. Holt's rink lost in an extra end, all the players declared they had never enjoyed a game so much. It was Mrs. Holt's first meeting with Mrs. Woolley's rink, a long-time winner of trophies and prizes. On this first evening of the three-day Warne bonspiel the local ladies provided a delicious buffet supper. Social convener Mrs. L. H. Bearne had charge of the arrangements and members not playing in the 'spiel assisted in preparing and serving the meal and being hostesses to the visiting curlers. Scheduled games were in progress throughout the evening and lasted past 11 o'clock.

HISTORIC BATTLEFIELD

Mons, famous battlefield of the First World War, is the centre of the most important coalfields in Belgium.

Canadian Girls In Training Celebrating Youth Week

This is C.G.I.T. Week though it is going under another name this year. The change to Christian Youth Week was made to bring Young People's Unions and other groups of Christian young people into the picture also. But since it had been C.G.I.T. week for so many years and the girls have made special preperations to celebrate, as before, it is forgiveable if some still call it that.

Peterborough Girls' Council of the C.G.I.T. met Monday after school and the girls prepared a grand supper of hamburgers for themselves, in the kitchenette of the Y.W.C.A. club room. They had over-ruled the suggestion to have a banquet for this occasion, since they are usually served scalloped potatoes and cold meat at such affairs they said, and decided on the more tasty fare, served with soft drinks. Overseer of the cooking was the sponsor, Miss Marion Brown.

Other monthly meetings of Council are completed in time for the girls to reach home for supper. Those who attend are the executive members of each CGIT group in the city, and they report and discuss the plans of their own groups. Also they sponsor a representative to CGIT Camp Council each summer, take part in the Girls' Work Board spring tea and plan and conduct the initial celebration of CGIT week at a city-wide church service. This year's service was at Knox United Church Sunday evening.

Council executive this year is headed by Ruth Hendren of Mark St. group as president. She is also the 1951 representative to Camp. Lou Ann Kempt of Knox is vice president and Anne Gordon of Trinity is secretary. There is no treasurer since the Council has no funds.

Various plans have been made by the groups for celebrating this week. A mother and daughter banquet was held by the Murray St. girls. Mark St. are planning to entertain Millbrook CGIT and leaders Friday evening and will put on several religious plays. The girls at Knox church are entertaining their mothers this Wednesday and Trinity will have a banquet next Monday. Grace Church group has planned a sleigh ride next week.

Throughout this week a downtown department store is featuring a window display put in by CGIT leaders. It typifies the fourfold purpose of the movement with a young girl standing atop four steps and a camp site reminds of the traditional summer outing.

Hospital Auxiliary Penny Sale To Start May 22

The board of directors of the Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary met Monday afternoon in the conference room. New president, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, presided.

It was decided to hold the annual penny sale from May 22 to June 2 inclusive this year.

Reports of the work of various committees during January were presented by conveners. Of interest was that of the visiting of 420 gifts of fruit being distributed to patients. Twenty-five patients were assisted with occupational therapy and the library committee reported that 383 books and magazines were distributed with 691 contacts being made. The tuck cart visited the wards twice weekly as usual and 61 pairs of bootees were given out to new mothers.

Following the meeting Miss E. Robson and Mrs. J. Hornal entertained at tea in the nurses' residence. The reception room was attractive with a profusion of spring flowers. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. R. Marshall and Mrs. H. F. Waddell.

Haiti To Get Monetary Aid For A YW From World Fund

"Seeing is believing," goes the saying, and certainly it is easier to believe after one has seen, especially when money is at stake. Each year since the end of the last war the Y.W.C.A. has collected for a world service fund, raising about $900 in the Peterborough organization. The givers have been told by various representatives of the National Council what it is hoped to accomplish and where the greatest need existed.

This year campaign chairmen are asked to collect money to start a Y.W.C.A. in Haiti. Miss Agnes Roy of the National staff, who was sent in December to that country, out of last year's fund, investigated the possibility and laid some groundwork for a new association. Monday night she showed pictures of Haitians and their cities and mountain countryside, and by this means members here felt closer drawn and more understanding of the people on the Caribbean island.

A committee of women in Haiti has been working on the idea for some time and their request for help from world service was answered by the visit of Miss Roy. They wish to establish a residence in Port of Prince, the only city in which there is a secondary school, and also to have health education and gym classes.

These people are hungry for contacts with the rest of the world and especially keen for contacts with Canada, Miss Roy said. They are somewhat distrustful of the 900 Americans who have remained on the island since United States ceased a 15-year control in 1930. (They had taken over in order to stop revolutions.) The people were originally mostly African slaves brought by the Spanish, who revolted and freed themselves. Now they are quite intermingled with the French and speak French mostly. A few French-Canadian girls married Haitians who were in war-training service in Quebec during the war and are the only Canadians on the island.

Miss Roy said the fund will also help in sending a new YWCA secretary to Seranan with Denmark helping to pay her salary. The local people were very interested to hear that Miss Estelle Amarin who has visited here on several occasions is now set up as secretary in a new Y in Sierra Leone and her equipment includes a small English car bearing the YWCA insignia. It is also hoped to have a trained worker visit the Associations in countries bordering on the Caribbean and she too will help the committee in Haiti.

Peterborough's allocation toward the fund is raised $70 over last year to $904 but is equal to the amount collected in 1951. The allocations are made on a basis of 1.8 per cent of the spending budget of each Y.

Miss Roy was introduced by Mrs. R. M. Matthews and thanked by Miss Marion Pogue. A greeting was given by Y president Mrs. T. J. Carley.

Mrs. H. T. Rehill is again chairman of the campaign which is now officially started and she is asked that it be completed as early as possible. The allocation to each section of the local Association is in charge of Mrs. Jack Lewis. The Old Country Club and the Gym Auxiliary have already made donations amounting to $50.

A buffet supper to which all those in charge of collecting for the fund were invited provided a pleasant social hour previous to Miss Roy's address. A short service led by Miss Jean Hammond was on the theme "Who is our neighbor?" and Mrs. Roma Brindle led in prayer.

Responsibility To India Stressed At WMS Annual

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 5 — (ENS).—Annual meeting of Cobourg Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada was held in St. John's United Church, Campbellford, on Jan. 30.

There was a large attendance from all parts of the Presbyterial. Mrs. P. F. Gardiner, Canton, presided and conducted a brief worship service, stressing stewardship, the theme of the Presbyterial.

Mrs. M. E. Petherick, president of the Campbellford Afternoon Auxiliary, welcomed the delegates and visitors.

Achievements for 1951 were most encouraging, the treasurer, Mrs. C. W. McMaster, reporting the allocation exceeded by $432. It was decided to request this sum be used for new missionaries.

Mrs. Lorne Evans, Warkworth, Christian stewardship secretary, stated the allocation for 1952 would be $12,000, which was accepted by a standing vote.

Mrs. Gardiner spoke on the proposed new national training school to be erected in Toronto in the near future, and gave the approximate sum each charge in the Presbyterial will be asked to contribute toward the building fund.

Mission Band awards were presented by Mrs. W. J. Underwood, Grafton, Mission Band secretary.

Mrs. D. A. Shay, Port Hope, Missionary Monthly secretary, spoke briefly urging more subscribers, also outlining the advantages of sending in the subscriptions early.

Mrs. S. W. Spafford, Belleville, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch, gave an address on "Impressions of a President." She gave much information on many phases of missionary work, and said there never was a time when it was so necessary to have Christ lifted up.

The Canada Book Tree, displaying the books and pamphlets for sale by the literature department, was presented by the literature secretary, Mrs. W. Baxter of Colborne, and several assistants.

The Rev. D. M. Smith of Campbellford offered the closing prayer and the session adjourned. Dinner was served in the Sunday school rooms by the Campbellford Evening Auxiliary.

The afternoon session opened with an "In Memoriam" service, conducted by Mr. Smith, closing with an appropriate solo, "Beyond the Sunset," by Mrs. A. G. Watson of Campbellford.

Miss Mary Martin gave an address on Central India, once the brightest jewel in the British crown, now a divided country. Central India, in which Miss Martin works, covers an area of 55 square miles and has a population of 5,000,000, the majority Hindus.

The Government is doing much to remedy the food situation by reclaiming land, digging wells and developing irrigation. Before 1947 poverty was blamed on the British Government; now this is their own headache. Canada has a surplus of food, but India has no dollars with which to buy Canada's stored grain, so it must be given. In 1947 millions fled into Central India from Pakistan, and had to be sheltered and fed, as they left everything behind. There are still 8,000,000 refugees in camps.

Women's Missionary Society money must be used for women's work. There are seven hospitals—four general and three for women and children. There is only one dispensary for 40,000 people, with most of the medical work being in the cities and leaving the villages almost uncared for.

Eighty per cent. of India's nurses are Christian, and the training of nurses is left largely to the Christian hospitals. Advance has been made in the control of contagious diseases. Not malaria, but T.B. is the number one disease in India now.

During a short business period Cobourg's invitation for the 1953 Presbyterial was accepted. Mrs. Spafford conducted the election and installation of officers. The session closed with a play, "Here Am I, Lord, Take Me," presented by the Campbellford Evening Auxiliary.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serve French Onion Soup As A Snack After A Show

By MARY MOORE

An unsigned note saying: "Mary, have you any new ideas for economical entertaining of say six couples after an entertainment?"

Economical and new—that's the theme, and ay—there's the rub—economical. Is it possible?

It's ticklish, for men like meat —so we have to substitute skill and novelty for expensive ingredients.

I think I have told you how popular was our idea of serving homemade pea soup with toasted rye and French bread. I gave you my special Emem Split Pea Soup recipe. We served this out of the best soup tureen and had quarts of it for second helpings, plus an unlimited amount of coffee. It was a great success.

What I am working up to is another soup meal—this time it is genuine French Onion Soup, served in the French manner with toast and cheese. This can be done with little expense and is elegant. Very popular with the masculine half.

Emem's French Onion Soup

The brown stock for this (bouillon) may be obtained in four different ways: (1) homemade brown stock, (2) canned bouillon, (3) dissolved bouillon cubes and (4) beef extract diluted with water.

BROWN STOCK: 2-lb. marrow bone with some lean meat attached, cracked, 1½ quarts cold water, 4 sprigs parsley chopped, ¼ teaspoon each thyme and marjoram, 1 small bay leaf, ½ cup each diced carrots, onion and celery with leaves, 10 peppercorns, 5 cloves, 1 tablespoon salt.

Cover and simmer gently 4 hours. Strain. Chill. Skim off fat coating. (2) This is canned soup labelled bouillon. If it is condensed dilute it as directed on tin. (3) For 1 quart of bouillon as made from bouillon cubes dissolve 8 or 10 cubes in 1 quart boiling water. (4) For bouillon made from beef extract use 2 ounces for each quart boiling water.

To make the finished soup, in 3 tablespoons melted butter very gently saute 3 Spanish or Bermuda onions which have been sliced in three-sixteenths-inch slices and blanched in two successive boiling hot blanching waters and then drained. When transparent and onion rings are slightly golden add 1½ tablespoons flour by sprinkling it over and gently stirring, then add stock and gently stir until it boils. Add ½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and about ½ to 1 teaspoon salt. If beef extract is used, taste before adding salt.

To serve Continental style place in individual casseroles and top each one with a slice of toasted French bread. Sprinkle with generous layer of grated cheese, preferably Parmesan or old Cheddar. Slide under hot broiler to brown and serve at once. OR—

Serve in large soup plates (large enough to hold a main course portion) and top with toasted slices of French bread or courtons and sprinkle with old grated Cheddar or Parmesan cheese.

The best version of this is made with beef extract and served in individual casseroles with Parmesan—as many of you gourments know. That it is how it is made and served in a famous hotel in New Orleans.

DOROTHY DIX

Reader Says Men Want More Than Companionship

DEAR MISS DIX: Is friendship or companionship between a man and woman a thing of the past? I am a single woman in my middle thirties and find it practically inmpossible to have male friends, unless I lower my standards or sacrifice my high ideals and self-respect. Unmarried men in my age bracket are indeed scarce and when the few I do meet are attracted to me it seems that sooner or later they expect liberties and privileges that I will not allow. Then and there the friendship ends, as they are no longer interested. I am considered intelligent and though not a ravishing beauty am attractive and make a good appearance. I neither smoke nor drink and my behavior has always been that of a lady. Men enjoy my company and like to be with me, yet it is obvious they consider a date a waste of time and money unless there is something more in it than good, clean fun. Perhaps I'm too old-fashioned.

PUZZLED R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Difficult as it is to believe, your unfortunate experience with men does not mean that they are all the same. You must realize one thing, however: the fact that a man has remained single into his thirties indicates an unwillingness to accept the responsibilities of marriage—and a determination to continue ignoring them. They are not apt to be good risks matrimonially.

They Feel Superior

The fact that this group is so small numerically makes its members feel very superior; they expect every woman they meet to fall at their feet and be ready to give in to every whim. Of course, this feeling is furthered by the fact that so many women do exactly what is expected of them. They practically make idols of these bachelors and the eligible male comes to think himself very important indeed.

In seeking, among men, for the sort of companionship you wish, and are capable of giving, you have a task compared to which Diogenes' search was a childish game of hide-and-seek. Lowering your standards certainly is no solution. You can only continue to hope someday to find someone who also has high ideals and is content to be a good friend and pleasant companion. Men who appreciate these things do exist, and one of these fine days your paths will cross.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm in love with a boy in the navy who doesn't seem to show much affection for me. I've known him four months and during that time have been the only girl he's taken out. I write to many boys in service, but know that Johnny is the one I love.

M. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Please give the boy a chance! It's quite possible that Johnny cares for you, but four months is rather short acquaintance to expect a declaration of undying love from him. Besides, he has many other things to think of; the navy keeps its boys busy. Keep on writing to the other boys at least until Johnny declares himself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When a young couple is enteraining another young couple for dinner, should the woman guest offer to help the hostess with dishes? These two couples haven't known each other very long. I feel that company should go into the living room after dinner.

BILLIE S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The correct procedure would be for both couples to go into the living room for the evening, leaving the dishes piled in the kitchen until the company departs. While it isn't pleasant to face the dishes late in the evening, it's much better than having guests left alone while the hostess goes into the kitchen by herself.

In the case of young-marrieds, it sometimes happens that the husbands want to go into a huddle over business, and the girls would like to be chummy in the kitchen. Where the entertaining is informal, an offer of assistance from the guest could be accepted. Girls can become better acquainted over the dishpan, sometimes, than during a more formal living-room visit. However, such casualness is not to be recommended for ordinary usage.

What's Right?

A man telephones an acquaintance and his wife answers the telephone.

WRONG: He identifies himself to her by saying: "This is Mr. Brown."

RIGHT: He says: "This is James Brown"... even though he is not on a first name basis with her husband.

Aussie Won't Defend U.S. Singles Title

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 5 — (AP).—Frank Sedgman, Australia's brilliant tennis ace, said today that he will not defend his American singles championship at Forest Hills this year.

Instead, Sedgman said he will concentrate on trying to win the Wimbledon title, which thus far has eluded him.

The Aussies' Davis Cup star will tour Europe after the Asian tourney here, and arrive in England in time to compete at Wimbledon.

2 New York Stars Happy Over Raise

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP). — Allie Reynolds and Bobby Thomson, a couple of guys who had more than a little to do with the Yankees and Giants meeting in an all-New York world series last fall, are happy athletes today.

Each left for home Monday with a $35,000 contract. That is more money than either of them ever made before in a single season.

Reynolds, double no-hit pitching ace of the Yankees, received a $10,000 boost over his earnings of last season. Thomson, slugging Giants third sacker, got $12,000 more than his $22,500 of 1951.

Both reported they were "completely satisfied." Thomson thus becomes the highest salaried player on the Giants. Reynolds' salary is believed to be second only to that of Phil Rizzuto among the Yankees.

It was another rich reward for baseball's glamor boys with his pennant-winning playoff homer against Brooklyn in the final game of the season.

Planning $25,000,000 Horse Racing Plant

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP). — Plans for a $25,000,000 deluxe horse racing plant to be built in the metropolitan New York City area under way, says John Morris, president of the Metropolitan Jockey Club which owns and runs Jamaica.

Preliminary studies are being made at the tracks concerned, Morris said in an interview Monday night. "We hope to get together in the spring."

He said tentative plans call for joint operation of the proposed ultra-modern track by the Jamaica Racing Association, the Queens County Jockey Club, which operates Aqueduct, and the Empire City Racing Association which has no track of its own and now conducts meetings at Jamaica.

No site has been selected. The proposed plant would replace the old Jamaica and Aqueduct tracks. Belmont Park would not be affected.

Bill Boon Rolls 341

McGillis of the Men's City Bowling League made it a clean sweep last week in all departments. Their pinnage total of 3,534, led the way and this included a 1,252 single game effort. Bill Boon, the mighty mite of this power-packed club, hit 789 and included a 341 single that helped a-plenty in shutting out the up and coming Anthony quintet for a 6-0 count.

Shut-outs were prominent in changing league standings, as five clubs shut-out their opponents for the full count. They were: Clappers-Sports; McGillis, Madill & Post; Ted Moore's and De Laval over Sunocos; Anthony's; Bassels; Bonds, and Kawartha Garage respectively.

Good triples rolled included those of Mel. Akers 767; Roy Suddards 745; Jack Wade 737; Gerry Macdonald 724; Jack Playford 753; Ches Grant 714; Joe Denault 717; Stew Richardson 718; Harold Mesley 722; Eric Martin 737; Johnny Basciano 715; Godfrey Le Plante 774, and George Gimblett Sr. 722.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Ellis Pringle, coach of Sutton Greenshirts in the Tri-County Senior Rural Hockey League, said Monday he will not allow his team to play again at Haliburton because Saturday night "they were up against the most vicious set-up I have ever seen."

The Greenshirts' game against Haliburton Huskies ended in disorder. The Sutton team retreated to its bus under police protection. Pringle said the bus was bombarded with pop bottles and snowballs as it moved away.

The game was called in the second period when Sutton was leading 4-2. Spectators leaped over the boards. Pringle said: "I could see a free-for-all coming and I think we avoided it. There must be some sensible people in Haliburton but I didn't see them."

Provincial Constable Gordon Langton said he saw a crowd of young people about the bus but he saw no bottles thrown.

Pringle said his team is willing to meet the Huskies on local ice Feb. 11. Sutton is 45 miles north of Toronto.

Dick Pride, chairmarn of the Indiana State Boxing Commission said Monday in Miami, Fla., that suspension of heavyweight champion Joe Walcott in Indiana had been lifted. Pride said Jersey Joe finally had paid the $200 fine levied because he ran out on an exhibition match in Evansville, Ind., last August.

Allie Reynolds, double-no-hit, no-run pitching ace of the New York Yankees, signed for the coming season Monday for a reported $35,000, a neat $10,000 boost over his earnings of last season. In announcing his signing in New York, the Yankees, per custom, did not give out any figures.

Ivro Wynne, athletic director at McMaster University, said yesterday in Hamilton that he feels the university's new entry in senior intercollegiate basketball circles is just as strong as either Western or Toronto. He said he does not rate Queen's or McGill in the same class as the central Ontario squads.

Commissioner John D. Holahan of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission said in Philadelphia Monday he has a copy of a contract in which Jersey Joe Walcott agreed to give Ezzard Charles a return bout for the heavyweight championship.

In The Hague, the Netherlands, Don Gaue, 24-year-old defenceman of Edmonton Mercurys, came down with inflammation of the lungs and will not leave with the team when it departs by plane today for Oslo, Norway, and the Olympic hockey championships starting Feb. 14.

Outboard Hires 20 New Workers

Since January 1 the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company has increased its staff by 20, Al Metcalfe, personnel manager, said today.

Late in December the company was forced to have 15 women accept a four-day week due to a "setback in schedule." Mr. Metcalfe explained that these women are still working a short week and that the jobs filled by the men were "jobs that normally we can't have a woman do."

The help taken on recently were both skilled workers and laborers for jobs in the machine shop and the stores department.

Mr. Metcalfe explained "that a lot may be temporary employees" and whether they are permanent help or not depends largely upon the supply of material.

"We have a a full schedule and maybe we will be able to carry these people if the material supply is good."

With the hiring of these men, Mr. Metcalfe said that any future increase will likely be made in the skilled help class because "we're pretty well filled in the laboring class."

Iranians Decide To Close Centres

TEHRAN, Feb. 5 (AP).—Iran's cabinet met Monday night and apparently decided to carry out orders for closing down U.S., British, and Soviet information and cultural centres outside Tehran.

This was indicated in a statement by Javid Busheri, a government spokesman, after the cabinet meeting. He said that "unfortunately" the Ministry of the Interior had failed to enforce a 1949 decree calling for closing down the centres, and no new decision was necessary.

Miss Ipsa Martyn

Pallbearers at the funeral of Miss Ipsa Martyn, 203 Crescent St., were Leo Martyn, Richard Martyn, John Gibson, William Grady, Roy Lewis and Leonard Phillips.

Miss Martyn, a onetime school teacher, died Friday at her home after a short illness. She lived most of her life in Peterborough.

The funeral was at the Lane funeral home with the Rev. H. D. McCormack, St. James United Church, officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Apsley Central School To Open On February 13

The new six-room Apsley Central School will be opened officially Feb. 13 by Gordon L. Duffin, assistant superintendent of elementary education.

Combined with the official opening will be the annual teachers' convention for school teachers in Peterborough county. A turnout of 125 teachers is expected and trustees should boost the figure to 200.

The Apsley school has four primary grades and two secondary grades. Total cost is $105,000.

Replaces Schoolhouses

Four primary classes replace nine one-room schoolhouses scattered throughout the township area of Burleigh-Anstruther and Chandos.

Classrooms became available Jan. 3 and there are now 130 children from the townships attending the primary grades. Another 30 children are attending the two secondary school grades—Grades IX and X.

Transportation is provided for the pupils. Educational officials feel that by bringing them to one central school they can provide better facilities than are avilable in nine separate one-room schools.

Grades IX and X of the school come under the jurisdiction of the Lakefield District High School Board.

After some debate it was decided that students from north Burleigh and Chandos would be forced to spend too much of their time travelling back and forth if they were brought down to Lakefield.

Inspector K. O. Birkin explained that many students do not go beyond Grade X but, even so rural students should have the same opportunity for some secondary education as their city cousins.

Many of them wouldn't even make the attempt if they had to commute between their homes and Lakefield, he said.

Temporary Accommodation

Until the new school opened the primary pupils were going to Apsley school, Upper Apsley school and make-do accommodation in the parish hall of St. George's Anglican church, and also in the Orange Hall.

Grades IX and X were given instruction in the town hall.

Besides the six classrooms there is a "playroom" which can be converted into a small gymnasium, auditorium and manual training room.

Roy C. McWhiney is the public school principal. He is assisted by William Houle, Elizabeth Infurnari and Mrs. Mawhiney.

Principal of the two secondary school grades is D. J. Campbell and he is assisted by Winnifred Robinson.

The executive of the Peterborough County Public School Teachers decided this year to hold their annual convention in the new school. Usually it is held in the fall but the executive thought that the rural teachers would like to inspect the newest addition to the rural schools in Peterborough county.

Charles Hurst

Mr. Hurst came here as resident Trent Canal engineer in 1946. He is president of the local branch of the United Nations Association, a director of the film council and of the Peterborough Kiwanis He is also a member of the United Services Institute and a member of Trinity United Church.

He was born in Calgary and received his civil engineering degree from the University of Alberta after taking his masters degree in hydraulics and sanitation at the University of Iowa.

After graduation, Mr. Hurst worked for two years on the Edmonton waterworks system, before joining the Department of Transport. Before joining the RCN, Mr. Hurst worked on the development of water resources with the transport department.

During the war, he served as staff torpedo officer to the senior officer of the North Atlantic Escort Command and after the war returned to his duties with the Department of Transport.

Since it was established 43 years ago, the International Joint Commission has dealt successfully with several problems arising out of the joint interests of Canada and the U.S. in boundary waters between the two countries.

If proposed navigation, power, or domestic sanitation projects or conservation or irrigation measures are likely to affect the level or flow of lakes or rivers common to both countries, the schemes have to be submitted to the commission for approval.

Handled Many Projects

Numerous irrigation projects and flood control measures affecting Montana and Alberta and British Columbia and Washington state have been handled by the commission and its decisions have been accepted by both governments.

If Canada has to "go it alone" in building the seaway, many problems will arise, that will no doubt be aggravated by some U.S. interests, whose opposition to the project has stalled the St. Lawrence seaway in the planning stage for over 30 years.

As early as 1921, the International Joint Commission reported favorably on the scheme, but effective lobbying by anti-seaway interests has blocked passage of a treaty for joint building of the seaway by the American Congress.

Realizing the necessity of having expert advice available from engineers thoroughly acquainted with the problems likely to arise if Canada goes ahead on its own, the government and the International Joint Commission are arranging for men with Mr. Hurst's qualifications, who are familiar with the mechanics of building the seaway, to act as advisors to the commissioners of the international body.

French Floods Take Nine Lives

PARIS, Feb. 5 (Reuters)—Nine people have been killed and several others are misisng in floods swirling through the vineyard valleys of southwest France.

Levels were still rising today. The swirling waters stretch for miles, dotted with uprooted trees, dead animals, heaps of hay and straw.

Highways and railroads have been cut, telephone lines are down and villages isolated.

In Agen, chief town of the Lot-et-Garonne country, the waters have reached first-floor level.

Soldiers, police, firemen, sailors and volunteers used all kinds of boats to rescue or bring food and fuel to the stranded.

The famous Grotto church and other shrines in Lourdes were lapped by the floodwaters.

King Edward Victors

King Edward pulled out a 5-3 senior school hockey win over Prince of Wales yesterday at the arena in a fast fixture. Seconds after play began, the King Edward goalie found the puck in his net. Rusaw soon after carried the disc up the ice to tally. Each side got two more in the first, and King Edward scored singles in the second and third. Near the close, the losers pulled their goalie to use six forwards and, with two K.E. players in the penalty box, it was hot and heavy at the windup. Floyd got two goals and aided on another, as Mills, Finney and Stevens scored singles for the winners, Hunt had two for the losers, Bowen one, and an assist each went to Carl, Peel and Hawthorne. Teams:

K. E.: Curtis, Orr, Simmons, Rusaw, Floyd, Finney, Beggs, Phillips, Rose, Stevens, Waldie, Sloan.

P.W.: Allen, Hunt, Varga, Huffman, Carl, Sutherland, Peele, Bowen, Coombs, Nice, Ashby, Johnston, Reid, Hawthorne.

Rev. J. J. Guiry Buried In Downeyville

Pontifical mass of requiem was celebrated by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry at St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, Monday morning for the late Rev. J. J. Guiry who died suddenly at Parry Sound.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. E. J. McCorkell, superior general of the Basilian Order. He spoke of the high place Father Guiry had filled in the early student days at St. Michael's College.

"Father Guiry was one of the old school all the days of his life, and had a high regard for the beautiful traditions and golden standards of the simple life people lived in former days," Father McCorkell said.

The Rev. Edward Sherry, S. J., Toronto, was subdeacon of the mass, and the Rev. Vincent J. Gillogly, Port Hope, was deacon. The Rev. J. J. Collins of Cobourg was assistant priest.

Deacons of honor were: the Rev. Edward Welsh of Parry Sound and the Rev. Gerard Maher of Cobourg; masters of ceremonies the Rev. John Coughlan and the Rev. Gerard Sullivan. Minor officers of the mass: the Rev. James Greenan, the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan, the Rev. John Weiss, the Rev. Ray Garvey and the Rev. Joseph Lynch.

The remains were interred in the family plot at Downeyville where the final prayers were said by the Rev. V. J. McFadden, assisted by the Rev. V. J. McAuley and the Rev. V. J. Gillogly. Pall bearers were: the Rev. H. A. Black, the Rev. P. J. Lynch, the Rev. W. C. McCarney, the Rev. Vernon Perdue, the Rev. John V. Ryan, the Rev. H. Archambault and the Rev. Joseph Walsh.

Home Nursing Need Stressed

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP)—Every woman can learn to cook by the trial and error method, but in home nursing "the trial and error method is not so successful," Margaret MacLaren of Ottawa, superintendent in chief of the nursing division of the St. John Ambulance Association, said Monday night.

For that reason as well as for its importance to the civil defence program, the Association has stepped up its program of home nursing training, she said.

The need for first aid was obvious, but, though less dramatic, home nursing training is as important and meets an inevitable family need, she told the Toronto corps of the Association.

Methodists Hold Three-Day WarkworthMeet

WARKWORTH, Feb. 5 (ENS). —Guest speaker at the three-day convention here of the Free Methodist Church was the Rev. Dr. Byron N. Lampson of Winona Lake, Indiana, general missionary secretary for Canada and the US of the Free Methodist church.

The convention, which lasted from Friday to Sunday, was held in Warkworth Free Methodist church.

His topics were: Friday afternoon — the forward movement of the Free Methodist church; Saturday afternoon—Prayer and Bible Study; Friday evening — "The Field is the World"; Saturday evening—"The Dimensions of God."

Friday evening service was a special rally with the young people of the district in charge. Special music was sung by Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Harnden of Warkworth, and the Rev. William Dawe of Northbrook, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Finch. Two solos were sung by Miss Marlene Wartman. Glen Reynolds of Peterborough, vice-president of the district association, was in charge of the service.

Saturday evening's special music was sung by the Rev. and Mrs. Harold McNutt of Vennacher. Saturday afternoon's session was devoted to business. The WMS business meeting was also held Saturday.

Dr. Lampson's topic Sunday morning was "The Purpose and Power of the Church," and Sunday afternoon he spoke on "Bright Spots in Darkest Africa." Billy Ireland of Campbellford sang a solo, and Mrs. Harnden and Miss Wartman a duet.

Sunday evening speaker was the Lorne Ball of Marmora, superintendent of the district.

DANCING LUNDS — Toronto-born Alan and Blanche Lund will tour Canada with British comedian Tommy Trinder's "Royal Command Music Hall Varieties." Sponsored by the Variety Club, proceeds of the tour will go to Varieties Village in Toronto, a residential vocational school for physically-handicapped children. The dancing Lunds, remembered in Canada for their wartime tour with the Canadian Navy Show, have become internationally recognized. They have played two Royal Command performances, appeared in a number of successful London shows and in night clubs in the United States.

Dancing Lunds Home For Tour In Big Troupe

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP)—A Canadian couple who have danced for royalty and won applause in both Britain and the United States are home again for a tour of Canada with British troops.

Alan and Blanche Lunt danced across Canada with the wartime Canadian Navy Show. Then they were married and headed for the theatres and air-raids of London.

Now, fresh from an eight-month run in "Fancy Free," a London vaudeville show, they are due to open Feb. 11 at Toronto's Royal Alexandra with British comedian Tommy Trinder's "Royal Command Music Hall Varieties."

For six weeks the dancing duo will play such places as Montreal, Ottawa, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Kitchener, London, Brantford and Kingston.

Also on the troupe's itinerary are Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria —cities the young Lunds, still in their twenties, came to know 10 years ago when Blanche was a chief petty officer in the Wrens and Alan a sub-lieutenant in the navy.

Proceeds of the tour will go to Varieties Village in Toronto, a residential vocational school for physically-handicapped children.

Every step of the way will be a memory for this Toronto-born pair who have been crazy about dancing since they were kids in high school.

Wide Experience

In their years of dancing the Lunds appeared in London "when orchestra musicians put their mutes on top of their heads to warn us an air-raid was on." They danced in Las Vegas, Nevada, where Blanche had a shoe-strap break, kicked off the slipper and hit the drummer in the face.

They have swayed to Latin-American tunes in Puerto Rico, and at the Royal Command performance of "Fancy Free" in London, Princess Margaret thrilled Blanche by admiring her dress.

"She looked at it closely and said, 'It is very beautiful'," says Blanche. The costume was one of Blanche's usual flimy ballet-length gowns which take 25 yards of material.

It hasn't all been happy. There was the year during the war when Blanche caught poliomyelitis in Germany, recovered and had to learn to dance all over again. Then last year she broke her left foot while dancing in "Fancy Free." She finished the show but was laid up in a cast for eight weeks.

They agree that some day they'd like to settle in one spot. But after the tour with Tommy Trinder there's an April engagement waiting at the Plaza in New York.

TRUCKS IDLING—A fleet of long-distance trucks lies idle in front of a Columbus, O., warehouse, after 600 drivers went on strike in Columbus as part of a major walk-out in the mid-West and South. More than 13,000 drivers in 13 states struck, after last-minute efforts failed to prevent it.

Two Thugs Beat Young Model, Seeking Money

TORONTO, Feb. 5 — (CP). — Police Monday night investigated a report by Mrs. June Baker, 21-year-old photographer's model, that two young men forced their way into her west-end home, tied her up and beat her with a blackjack and a revolver butt in a vain attempt to force her to tell where her father keeps his money.

They escaped after ransacking the apartment and stealing $7.00 from her purse. The men left the young woman bound and gagged with her own scarves. Her landlady, who arrived home two hours later, freed her.

The late-afternoon holdup was believed a sequel to a Sunday night robbery at the home of Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paolucci. Three men with drawn guns entered the Paolucci home and went to a writing desk in which Mr. Paolucci said he often has as much as $1,800 in receipts from his bakery business.

In the Sunday raid, the thieves got only about $20 in small bills. Mr. Paolucci had taken $1,200 to a bank on Friday.

Colored Film Of Tour Around World

Colored movie film taken in England, France, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan and India was shown by C. F. Basil Tippet, Toronto businessman at the Rotary club luncheon meeting Monday.

Mr. Tippet flew around the world in 1951 for the YMCA and took the movies at this time. The pictures ranged from the colorful changing of the guard at Buckingham palace to Egyptians irrigating their land from the Nile river. Mr. Tippet made the presentation extremely interesting by his commentary during the film.

The speaker was introduced by Gordon Monkman and thanked by P. M. McCarrell.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church introduced the following guests: Dr. V. M. Meen of the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto; the Rev. Henry Cotton of St. Andrew's United Church; James Wharry and Gerry Grady, all of Peterborough.

Curator Not Fooled By Engraver's Sheet

VANCOUVER, Fe. 5 (CP)—Bob Nealess, 17, mounted an "abstractionist" painting on on artboard the other day and sent it to the Toronto Art Gallery with a letter asking for constructive criticism.

He entitled it "Melancholia In the Swamp."

Nealess received a reply Monday from Sydney J. Key, curator of the Toronto Gallery. It said, in part:

"You are considerably interested in a variety of effects that can be arrived at through experimental use of your materials and you seem to be aware of the accidental effect that can result from lines, calligraphy, blots and the use of a spray gun."

Mr. Key was not taken in. Nealess cut "Melancholia" from a cardboard on which engravers at a local plant clean their brushes and test their spray guns.

3 Youths Face 28 Charges

PICTON, Feb. 5—Three Prince Edward County youths arrested during the weekend by local police, will face a total of 28 charges of breaking and entering.

The charges include thefts at six Prince Edward garages and service stations and four in the Port Hope, Grafton district.

The three charged are, George Lumley, 19, and Glen Hicks, 16, of Cressy, and Robert Taylor, 16, of Picton. Stolen goods valued at $400 had been cached in an unoccupied house 22 miles east of Picton. Cash to the amount of $250 was not recovered.

The six county garages were entered during October and November, and garages at Port Hope, Welcome, Grafton and Wicklow last month. Lumley and Hicks will each face 11 charges, and Taylor six.

U.K. Actress, Husband Suing Howard Hughes

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5 (AP)—British film actress Jean Simmons and her husband, actor Stewart Granger, filed a $250,000 damage suit in federal court Monday against Howard Hughes and RKO-Radio Pictures.

They allege they negotiated last year with RKO for a three-year contract for her and part of the deal was to be the purchase of the studio of some real estate owned by Granger.

The real estate deal fell through, the complaint asserts, but subsequently the company sent letters to major film producers asserting RKO had exclusive contract rights with Miss Simmons, and this prevented her from negotiating any other contract.

It asks the court to declare invalid a purported oral agreement between Miss Simmons and the studio and for an injunction restraining RKO from interfering with her negotiations with other studios.

Six Fierce Little Minks Take Over Plane Hold Pilots, Passengers At Bay For Hours

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP).— Six fierce little minks took possession of a big airliner at New York International Airport Sunday night, and held pilots, passengers and crew at bay until finally captured Monday. The animals escaped from a shipping crate

For about 18 hours, the creatures made the $2,000,000 Northwest Airline stratocruiser their own, keeping all challengers at a distance.

"They'd go for anybody that tried to step into the plane," said Ray Leary, airline agent.

Two agents from the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals finally used a pole to drive the clawing, squealing minks into a multi-celled cage.

The plane was deodorized with three aromas of perfume —including Rose Petal—before before the 61 passengers were permitted aboard.

The minks, being shipped from the Wildwood Mink Ranch of White Bear, Minnesota, to Oslo, Norway, were discovered loose in the cargo compartment after the plane landed last night.

5 Children Perish In Shack Fire

Youngsters Alone As Stove Explodes, Two Make Escape

TIMMINS, Feb. 6. (CP)—Rita Poissant, 11, died in hospital today, fifth child victim of a fire which swept through a four-room cottage here on Tuesday night.

The blaze, believed to have started when a wood stove exploded, claimed the lives of three brothers, Gerard, 5, Roland, 3, Claude, 2; and a sister, Lillian, 6.

The father, Edward, 35, was at work in a nearby mine when the fire started. Leo, 13, who escaped, said that his mother, Irene Poissant, 31, was out delivering laundry. He and another child, Laurent, 9, fled from the blazing tar-paper-covered home.

Leo said he had filled the stove with wood and closed the door shortly before it blew up.

Cause Unknown

Flames scorched the whole interior of the building but it did not burn down and the roof was not burned off. Fire Chief William Stanley said the cause of the fire was not definitely determined.

The two children who escaped in the 10-degree weather ran to a neighbor's home and raised the alarm. Leo said he returned to the burning house but was unable to enter because of dense smoke. Inside, he heard one of the younger children crying.

The fire was the worst—from the standpoint of lives lost—in Timmins since 1936 when five children of Arthur Charboneau died in a November 7 fire. Charboneau died a week later from burns suffered while trying to rescue them.

Privy Council Proclaims New Status Of Princess Today; Sad News Reaches Couple In Africa

LONDON, Feb. 6. (CP)—The King died today at 56, ending a 15-year reign that brought Britain the glory and dregs of victory. His daughter Elizabeth, 25, immediately became England's seventh reigning Queen.

Tired and spent by disease, the King died in his sleep at Sandringham, the Royal estate where he was born. He had suffered from what was believed to be lung cancer, but apparently a blood clot was the immediate cause of death.

The King's valet, John MacDonald, discovered the body when he took a cup of tea to his bedroom at 7:30 a.m. His wife and Princess Margaret were notified immediately. Queen Mary, the King's mother, was informed by telephone in London. The Duke of Gloucester, brother of the King, hurried from nearby Hunstanton to Sandringham.

Notified Of Death At African Lodge

News of the death was flashed immediately to Nyerai and Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh made preparations to fly home at once. They are expected in London at 6 p.m. Thursday (1 p.m. EST). The Princess burst into tears when she heard the news.

Tonight, as a part of the formalities betokening the change in rulers, the accession council drafted a proclamation naming the Princess as Queen Elizabeth II. Publication of the proclamation was expected within a few hours. The formal coronation likely will be in early summer.

Accession Will Be Proclaimed By Herald

Following the Privy Council's formal action, the accession of the new Queen will be proclaimed by a Royal herald from the roof of St. James's Palace. Later the announcement will be made from public buildings throughout Britain, accompanied by ceremonial fanfare of trumpets.

The King's death, after his apparent recovery from a lung operation five months ago, stunned people the length and breadth of the country.

Conferences and meetings were dramatically interrupted, law courts and stock markets closed and doors were shuttered for the day at theatres and other places of entertainment.

Crowds gathered outside Buckingham Palace in London, gazing sombrely at the great stone building. The hush was broken by the sounds of women sobbing.

Flags of dozens of nations were hauled to half-staff over embassies and legations. And flags over the buildings of humble folk came down as well—for the King liked to be known as a "very ordinary person."

Family At Sandringham Estate

The new heir apparent to the throne, Prince Charles, was at Sandringham when the King died. There also was his little sister, Princess Anne, now second in the line of succession.

The King showed no hint of approaching death when he bade goodnight Tuesday night at Sandringham to the Queen and Princess Margaret.

The Queen's husband, the 30-year-old Duke of Edinburgh, may receive a new title in due course. There is a precedent—Queen Victoria's husband, Prince Albert, had the title of Prince Consort.

If precedent is followed the King's body may be taken first to the little private chapel in the grounds at Sandringham. After that it will probably be brought to London and then taken in state to Windsor, the Royal castle 25 miles from London, before the funeral.

But all arrangements must wait on the decision of the new Queen.

Normally the coronation of a new sovereign follows a year or 18 months after the accession. The King was crowned in Westminster Abbey on May 12, 1937, six months after his accession.

Must Take Oath of Allegiance to Queen

The Houses of Commons and Lords met briefly today, then adjourned. Each member must take an oath of allegiance to the new Queen.

Prime Minister Churchill told the Commons:

"We cannot at this moment do more than record a spontaneous expression of our grief. The accession council will meet at 5 o'clock this evening and I wish you now, Mr. Speaker, to guide the House as to our duties."

The Speaker, W. S. Morrison, then adjourned the House until evening, when he planned to take the oath of allegiance. He will preside Thursday and Friday so other members can take the oath.

The House of Lords took similar action.

The King's voice sounded husky when he broadcast his annual Chirstmas message, and some specialists saw that as a possible indication that cancer, having been removed from his left lung, was still present in his right.

Think Elizabeth Had Premonition

Elizabeth gave him a long, anxious look last Thursday when she left London by air on her trip to Africa, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand—a trip from which she was not scheduled to return until July. Spectators at the airport felt it was almost as if Elizabeth had a premonition she might not see her father alive again.

Queen Elizabeth's first constitutional duty will be to hold an accession meeting of the Privy Council.

While Elizabeth became Queen immediately on the death of her father, Britain actually is without a constitutional head until she returns home from Africa.

Succeeded To Throne In 1936

Born Dec. 14, 1895, the second son of King George V and Queen Mary, who survives him at the age of 84, the late King succeeded to the throne Dec. 11, 1936, after the abdication of his eldest brother, King Edward VIII.

The quiet family man who put Royal duty above personal pleasure quickly endeared himself to his millions of subjects around the world.

The Monarch led Britain through her worst ordeal when the island kingdom faced the victory-flushed German armies alone. His words of comfort, his prayers, his encouragement,

Great King, Good Man Tribute Says

Prime Minister Pays Canada's Tribute To Late King George

OTTAWA, Feb. 6. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that King George was "both a great King and a good man." In a statement, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"The people of Canada were profoundly shocked by the news this morning of the sudden death of His Majesty King George VI.

"We all realized how precarious was the state of the King's health, but the universal anxiety of three months ago had given place to deep gratification at what seemed to be a rapid and steady recovery.

"For Canadians, as for all His Majesty's subjects, the death of their Sovereign will be a personal sorrow. Our loyal attachment to the crown has been strengthened throughout the King's reign by our universal admiration for the high courage and the exemplary family life of King George VI.

Visit Never Be Forgotten

"To the people of this country who have never forgotten the visit of the King and Queen in 1939 and their many associations with our armed forces during the war, the King was both a great King and a good man. His passing will be mourned not only in Canada and elsewhere throughout the Commonwealth but everywhere in the free world.

"To Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth who shared so fully the life and duties of the King, the sympathy of the Canadian people will go in fullest measure. We also feel deep sympathy for Queen Mary, for Princess Margaret and the other members of the Royal family.

"For our new sovereign, Queen Elizabeth II, our sympathy is all the greater because, in this hour of sorrow, she was separated from her father and mother and sister. Her Majesty's recent visit to Canada has given us all the sense of her nearness to us and the feeling that this land, too, is her home.

"With our sympathy, we extend to our new Queen not only an expression of complete loyalty but also of abiding personal affection. It will be the prayer of all that divine providence will sustain Her Majesty in the discharge of her heavy duties."

Sovereign's 1st Act Will Be Decide Mourning

LONDON, Feb. 6. (AP)—Britain's new Queen Elizabeth will fly home Thursday to take over the task of ruling Britain's far-flung empire. The slim 25-year-old Queen who succeeded to the throne on the death today of her father, King George VI, is expected to reach London at 4:30 pm (11:30 am EST) on Thursday.

The new Monarch and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, were at their hunting lodge in the hinterland of Africa's Kenya colony when the King's death was announced.

They must dash 100 miles by road through the brush to Nairobi, capital of Kenya, to board the plane which will take them back to England.

The flight from Nairobi to London is expected to take about 17 hours.

Britain's Accession Council was summoned to meet at 5 p.m. (noon EST) today to proclaim Elizabeth formally Queen of Great Britain, Ireland and all the Dominions beyond the seas.

Swear Allegiance

All members of parliament will start swearing allegiance to the new Sovereign some time tonight.

A newspaper, The East African Standard, gave the first news to the staff at the Royal Lodge in Nyeri, Kenya, where Elizabeth was resting on her Commonwealth tour.

Not until a direct radio-telephone call had been made to Buckingham Palace and the tragic news confirmed from there, was the Princess told of the King's death and that she is reigning Queen.

The young Queen's first official act is expected to be to order a period of court mourning for her father.

She must also decide the funeral arrangements for the King. If precedent is followed, the King's body likely will be taken first to the little private chapel on the Sandringham estate.

It would then be brought to London where it would lie in state until taken to nearby Windsor for burial.

Unique Event

The fact that Britain is without a constitutional head until the Queen returns home is unique in recent British history.

Canadian Cabinet Proclaims Queen Elizabeth II

OTTAWA, Feb. 6. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth today was proclaimed Queen Elizabeth II by a Canadian Cabinet saddened by the death of the King. The council met in emergency session at noon to adopt two proclamations. One announced the death of King George VI and proclaimed the accession to the throne of Elizabeth II. The second directed all government officials holding commissions to continue in their duties. A third proclamation declaring a state of mourning will be issued later when the date of the King's funeral becomes known.

Before opening their brief session, the sombre-faced members of the Cabinet took new oaths of allegiance to the Queen.

They were sworn by Norman Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council.

This capital was deeply shocked by the news of the sudden death of the King. Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the members of his Cabinet and went early to his office in the east block of the parliament buildings. Flags on the parliament buildings and other government structures throughout the city, raised at dawn before word of the King's death seeped through the city, were lowered to half-staff.

Prime Minister Shocked

Aides said the Prime Minister, as all Canadians, is deeply shocked by the passing of a monarch who came to visit this country personally little more than a dozen years ago.

Viscount Alexander, who has had an Earldom conferred upon him by the late King for his six years of service here as Governor-General, received word of the death at Rideau Hall early this morning.

Period of Mourning

All formal state and diplomatic social functions were immediately cancelled. By custom, this capital will go into a period of mourning.

The curtailment of social activities will run through the social strata of the capital.

A state memorial service presumably will take place here and probably will be duplicated in essence in churches throughout the country.

Massey Delays Return Home

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP)—Vincent Massey, governor-general-designate of Canada, today postponed his departure for Canada on learning of the King's death.

Massey, a personal friend of the Royal family, was to have left for Canada by sea this Friday. No new date has been set.

It is expected the governor-general-designate will attend the King's funeral.

Massey has been acquainted with members of the Royal family for nearly two decades. He had an audience with the King a week ago Friday, shortly after it was announced he was to succeed Field Marshal Viscount Alexander as governor-general of Canada.

During his stay in London, Massey also saw the Queen and twice called on Queen Mary, once formally and once privately.

Friends said Massey was shocked and saddened when he learned, early this afternoon, that the King had died.

Leaf-Rangers Game Has Been Postponed

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP) — The National Hockey League game scheduled for tonight between New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs has been postponed because of the death of the King, George McCullagh, vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, announced today.

No new date for the game was set.

The postponement was the second of its kind for the Leafs. They called off a game with Montreal Canadiens Jan. 21, 1936, because of the death of King George V the previous day.

To Discuss Discoveries

6 Top Ranking Scientists Go To Australian Parley

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 — (CP). — A party of six of Canada's top scientists will leave shortly for Australia to attend a meeting of the British Commonwealth Scientific Official Conference where vital discoveries in many fields are exchanged and discussed.

It will be the first full meeting in more than 5 years of the Commonwealth scientists whose aim is to ensure full collaboration between civil government scientific organizations in the Commonwealth and to make formal recommendations to their governments. The last was held in London in 1946.

Since the London meeting, specialist conferences have been held to discuss collaborative arrangements in such fields as fuel research, radio, geology and mineral resources, plant and animal nutrition and culture collection of micro-organisms — a subject of importance to bacteriologists. These will be further discussed in Australia.

Canada's delegation will be headed by Dr. E. W. R. Steacie, vice-president (scientific) and director of the Division of Chemistry for the National Research Council.

Other Canadians are Dr. G. H. Ettinger, head of medicine, Queen's University, Kingston, and assistant director of N.R.C.'s Division of Medical Research; Dr. Paul E. Gagnon, head of the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, Laval University, Quebec; Dr. George S. Hume, director-general of scientific services for the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys; Dr. K. W. Neatby, director of science service, Department of Agriculture, and Dr. G. B. Reed, professor of bacteriology, Queen's University, and chairman of the Fisheries Research Board.

The conference will open Feb. 18 at Canberra for a four-day session. Then it will move to Melbourne for further meetings from Feb. 26 to Mar. 7.

Reds Propose High-Level Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 6 (AP) —The Communists today proposed a high-level political conference within 90 days after a Korean armistice to negotiate withdrawal of foreign troops, settle the Korean problem and resolve related issues in the Orient.

The three-point proposal was made at Panmunjom in the first full dress session of truce negotiating teams in two months.

Allied delegates took the proposal under study and promised a reply later.

Observers expressed doubt that the United Nations command would agree to the third point. The Red proposal—identified it only as "other questions related to peace in Korea."

But in presenting the proposal, North Korean Gen. Nam Il linked it to a statement by President Truman involving United States military aid to Formosa, Indo-China and the Philippines.

Significantly, the Communist proposal referred for the first time to "the People's Republic of China" as a belligerent in Korea. Heretofore the Reds have insisted Chinese fighting in Korea were volunteers.

The Reds' three-point plan was their outline of principles for recommendations to the governments of countries fighting in Korea. That would be the final clause of an armistice. Two other clauses still are unsettled.

A sub-committee working on exchange of prisoners agreed to inspection of P.O.W. camps by joint Red Cross teams of belligerent powers and turned their discussions over to staff officers. Voluntary repatriation is the main unsettled question.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).— Flags, lowered to half-staff across Canada in mourning for the King, may be hoisted to full staff Thursday in recognition of the proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II as the new Monarch.

Members of the Ontario Cabinet will take the oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth Thursday morning.

Frost Expresses Ontario's Regret

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—Premier Leslie Frost today expressed his personal regret and that of the people of Ontario at the death of the King. He said in a statement:

"It is with profound regret that we learn of the King's passing. In view of his apparent recovery, it is indeed a great shock.

"His Majesty has made a great contribution to his people with a great record of service going back to the days of the first war.

"And at this time I would say what has been the custom in years past—the King is dead! Long live the Queen!"

Duke Of Windsor To Attend Funeral

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor, who abdicated the British throne and was succeeded by King George, will sail Thursday night for England to attend the funeral of the late monarch.

His secretary made the announcement.

It was not revealed whether the Duchess would accompany him.

The Duke's secretary issued this statement:

"The Duke of Windsor has spoken to the private secretary at Buckingham Palace by telephone, and His Royal Highness is sailing for Great Britain on the Queen Mary tomorrow night to attend King George's funeral."

Playboy Stuff To Be Discarded

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP)—A Toronto paper says today that wealthy Johnny Smallman will start looking for a job soon and that after his impending marriage "there'll be none of this playboy stuff."

In a dispatch from London, Ont., the newspaper says the youth who four years ago at the age of 14 inherited most of a $3,000,000 fortune and Mary Kathleen Connell Steers, 20, will be married quietly Feb. 16. The ceremony will take place in the rectory of St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church. Mr. Smallman is a Protestant, Miss Steers a Roman Catholic.

The young couple was interviewed Tuesday in the home of the bride-to-be's grandfather, Col. W. G. Coles. The Toronto story says:

"Canada's richest young man, who thinks wealth is wonderful, is heading for Toronto in a few weeks to look for a job. The girl he'll wed in 10 days says there'll be none of this playboy stuff..."

Freight Rate Boost Effective Jan. 25

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP) — Freight-rate increases authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners Jan. 25 will go into effect Monday.

The railways have filed the new rates with the board to have them become operative on that day.

The major exceptions are potatoes, coal and coke, on which no increase was allowed.

Today the board issued a minor admendment to its Jan. 25 order, substituting a straight percentage increase for cents-per-ton boosts on sand and gravel for building, crushed stone and stone screenings.

Million Dollar Racket

Baby Smuggling Ring Smashed In Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 6— (CP). — The backbone of an international baby-smuggling ring, reported to have netted more than $1,000,000 from traffic in illegitimate children, is broken today.

That is how police described the arraignment Tuesday of two men, said to be key figures in the ring that disposed of such babies across the United States and Canada. Price tags on some of the babies were set as high as $5,000.

Meanwhile, eight other persons said to be residents of Montreal, are expected to be picked up and arraigned this week. The eight, police said, include two doctors and two women.

Brought before Judge Guy Gulbault on charges of depriving an unmarried mother of her children were;

Herman Buller, 31-year-old lawyer from Williston, N.D., who has been practising law in Montreal since 1949, and Bill Dutka, 34-year-old construction foreman, a Montreal man.

Preliminary hearing in their case was set for Feb. 12 after both applied for a trial by jury.

At the arraignment, Buller was freed on parole and bail of $950 was set for Dutka.

The two men, charged under an article in the Criminal Code, are accused of intent to deprive the mother of her children under age of 14 and of possessing and detaining the children.

The specific offence is alleged to have occurred around May 20, 1951.

Crown lawyers asked that the name of the mother, a Montreal hairdresser, not be disclosed.

Elizabeth Becomes First Ruling Queen Since Victoria Died In 1901

LONDON, Feb. 6—(Reuters)—Princess Elizabeth, a serious girl of 25, will be proclaimed Queen Elizabeth II by a Privy Council meeting today and will fly back to London today from her tour in Africa. She becomes Britain's first ruling Queen since Queen Victoria died in 1901 and the seventh in English history since Mary in 1553. Elizabeth II comes to the Throne every inch a Queen. From childhood she has been brought up according to the strict tenets of British Royalty.

Ever since her father came to the Throne it was evident that one day she would be Queen. She has been drilled and schooled for the task.

Britain, for some deep psychological reason, has reached its peaks of greatness under women monarchs. The first Elizabeth's reign produced Shakespeare, Sir Francis Drake, great poets, statesmen and soldiers. Under Victoria the most powerful empire in world history grew up.

Great Sense Of Duty

Britain, watching Elizabeth assume more and more responsibilities during her father's illnesses, has no doubt she has inherited his great sense of duty.

Elizabeth is acutely conscious of her Royal heritage, even to the extent of a touch of imperiousness in her character.

Since her children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, were born, however, she has shown more and more how human she is behind the facade of Royalty.

Only her official duties have prevented her from spending more time with them.

Elizabeth was 10 when she was told that her uncle, King Edward VIII, had abdicated and that her parents had become King and Queen.

Didn't Go To School

The Princess did not go to school, for many of the things a queen must know are no part of a school curriculum. Instead, she and her sister Margaret were taught by Miss Marion Crawford, a Scotswoman whom they nicknamed affectionately as "Crawfie."

Under Miss Crawford the Princess learned French, German and Spanish and received special tuition in constitutional history. Some lessons were taken standing, because later on Elizabeth would have to stand for long periods at public functions.

Elizabeth's independent attitude, strong will and regal outlook, were noted early in life. Her grandmother Queen Mary once took her on a shopping expedition. Her small 11-year-old companion became impatient and began to tug the skirts of her grandmother.

"Hurry please, do hurry," said a small voice. "What is your hurry, Elizabeth?" Queen Mary asked. "Well," returned the little Princess, "there are a lot of people waiting outside there to cheer me."

Familiar Figure

A lover of outdoor sports, Princess Elizabeth has come a familiar figure in the royal box at racetrack events in recent years. She has entered several horses herself and has always taken a keen interest in her father's horses.

She first entered public life when she was 12. Then she became president of a children's league in East End.

Elizabeth was 16 when she performed her first independent public duty—a full inspection of the famous Grenadier Guards Regiment of which she was colonel-in-chief.

In 1944 she sat between the late Field Marshal Smuts and William Mackenzie King, then prime minister of Canada, at a dinner party at Buckingham Palace attended by dominion premiers. This was her first official debut at a state banquet.

When she was 18 Princess Elizabeth acted on the council of state during the King's absence with the forces in North Africa.

Like many other young women of her age Elizabeth joined the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service during the war. She became an efficient driver and mechanic.

She made history, too, on the King's birthday in June, 1947, deputizing for the King, who was ill. She was said to be the first woman heir to the throne to ride horseback at the annual trooping of the color parade.

Teachers Plan Stay On Strike

SYDNEY, N.S., Feb. 6 (CP)—Cape Breton county's rural and village teachers, on strike since last Thursday, closed ranks today after serving notice they will stay away from their desks until salary demands are met.

Developments came quickly Tuesday night after a lull in the dispute, first of its kind in Nova Scotia:

1. The teachers voted at a mass meeting to remain on strike and not to return to work pending restudy of their position by the county council, as had been predicted by observers.

2. H. H. Wetmore, president of the county local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, resigned at the meeting which was closed to the public and press. There was no immediate explanation and Mr. Wetmore declined to comment.

The vote to remain on strike was 91-29 with one teacher abstaining. Altogether, 243 teachers are on strike but 68 are not union members and not all teachers were able to attend yesterday's meeting.

The earliest the teachers' demands could be met appears to be February 15, date set for a special session of Cape Breton county council, which turned down the salary requests last Friday.

The teachers are seeking an increase of $300 a year.

Prices Holding Firm On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Stock market prices held firmly to morning gains today in early afternoon dealings.

Steady opening support extended yesterday's late rally into early trading as all sections except golds pushed higher. Support then strengthened slowly until mid-session when mild profit-taking skimmed a few advances.

Utilities, agricultures, and miscellaneous issues led industrials upward with a majority of fractional advances. Papers, steels, and liquors also drew firm support but textiles weakened.

Western oils posted a broad list of gains ranginf from pennies to about 20 cents. Canada Southern Oil was a standout as it jumped 60 cents to its high of $10. Canadian Atlantic, General Petroleum A, Pacific Petroleum, Scurry and Selburn also climbed strongly.

Base metal leaders were firm. Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Noranda, Waite Amulet, and United Keno Hill strengthened steadily. Eureka, Sherritt-Gordon, and United Asbestos added pennies.

Senior golds were mixed. Hollinger strengthened, but Giant Yellowknife and Wright-Hargreaves weakened. Secondary

"No Doubt True" Flags Stays Up

As soon as it was learned King George VI had died suddenly today, all flags in the city except the one on top of the Post Office were lowered to half mast.

Government officialdom is not geared to deal with emergencies and at 9:30, the flag was still fluttering at the top of the mast on the post office building at Hunter and Water Sts.

"As far as we know, it's only hearsay," Postmaster Harry White told The Examiner. "No doubt it's true, but we haven't had any official notice to change it." The caretaker P. T. King has to have official notice from Ottawa before he can lower the flag, said Mr. White.

Local post office officials are not taking any chances. They are waiting until they receive an official O.K. from their superiors before risking possible censure for breaking Civil Service regulations by lowering the flag without permission.

U.S. Stresses High Arms Cost

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Defence officials took some of the wraps off new and highly complex weapons Tuesday, including a $250,000 bombsight which thinks faster than the human mind.

The closely guarded exhibition was prepared for a Senate appropriations sub-committee to help demonstrate scientific strides in the field of military weapons and why the Defence Department has asked for $52,100,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The new "K-One Bombing System," it was disclosed, costs 31 times as much as the Norden bombsight used in the Second World War.

Another exhibit was a model of a new skysweeper anti-aircraft gun which Karl R. Bendetsen, assistant secretary of the army, said was entirely radar controlled.

Bendetsen said the skysweeper, costing $275,000, was developed to do the work of a 40-millimetre gun that was produced during the Second World War at a cost of $10,000.

The committee heard a few figures to show how the cost of a typical fighter plane has vaulted since the last war.

In the Second World War it took 41,800 hours of engineering time to develop a fighter, but now it requires 1,131,992 hours.

Canada Opening Special Defence Bldg.

EDMONTON, Feb. 6 (CP) — Canada's first specially constructed provincial civil defence headquarters building will be officially opened today by Premier E. C. Manning.

It is a two-storey, self-contained building of which 1½ stories are underground. It is built of reinforced concrete and is blended with new homes in the neighborhood. It cost about $65,000.

The building was thrown open Tuesday for a press preview.

"It is not bomb-proof against a direct hit," said Air Vice-Marshal G. R. Howsam, Alberta's 56-year-old civil defence co-ordinator. "But it is reasonably proof against a near miss."

Truman Changes Leave Party Confused

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP) —President Truman's off-again, on-again entry into the New Hampshire presidential primary left Democrats confused today about contests elsewhere.

Frank McKinney, the party's national chairman, made it clear there will be objection to entering Truman delegate slates in such states as California, where the candidate's consent is not required.

But he left in the air any decision on what will be done in states such as Wisconsin, where the President would have to consent to the use of his name.

Wisconsin law requires the filing of a slate of delegates before Feb. 29 McKinney told a press conference Tuesday he hopes Truman will decide "within 60 days" whether he is going to seek a new term, but gave no indication he thinks the President will announce his plans this month.

Can Make Choice

Under United States election law, presidential primaries give electors who are registered supporters of a political party an opportunity to make their choice among the party's presidential candidates.

In New Hampshire, Truman's name could have gone on the presidential preference ballot without any action by him, if he had not previously asked that it be withdrawn. However, delegates "pledged" to a candidate needed his consent, and he gave it.

The uncertainty about the President's plans brought new efforts by Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Robert Kerr of Oklahoma to line up delegate strength. Kerr has not formally announced his candidacy, but he has made it fairly plain he intends to run if Truman does not seek re-election.

Competent observers here gave Kefauver only an outside chance in New Hampshire.

Sovereign's First Act

The ailing Monarch was scheduled to leave on a health cruise to South Africa March 11. Counsellors of State, which were to be appointed before his departure, would have taken over virtually all Royal functions.

Such counsellors are appointed whenever a King becomes incapacitated from carrying out his duties, as during the period following King George's lung operation last year, or when the Monarch is out of the country.

The announcement of the new Queen's accession to the throne will be proclaimed in an ancient ceremony at St. James Palace, after drafting of the official proclamation announcing the death of the King and the accession of the new ruler.

Queen Elizabeth's first constitutional duty will be to hold an accession meeting of the Privy Council, an ancient body which advises the King. It is made up largely of nobles and leading political figures.

Makes Vow

At this meeting, the new sovereign will swear to fulfill her duties and be a good ruler. The oath will be administered by the Lord Chancellor, Britain's highest law lord.

Under the 1702 Settlement Act, the Accession Council must have affirmative answers to two questions before Elizabeth can be proclaimed queen:

1. Is she a descendant of the Electress of Hanover, reigning head of the British dynasty of the day.

2. Is she a Protestant?

The new line of succession to the throne is:

1. The new queen's three-year-old son, Prince Charles.
2. Prince Charles' little sister, one-year-old Princess Anne.
3. Princess Margaret, 21, sister of the new queen.
4. The Duke of Gloucester, 52, youngest living brother of the late king.
5. Prince William, 10, elder son of the Duke of Gloucester.
6. Prince Richard, 7, younger son of Duke of Gloucester.
7. Prince Edward, 16-year-old Duke of Kent, who succeeded to the title when his father — the late king's youngest brother—was killed in an air crash in 1942.
8. Prince Michael, 9, Duke of Kent's brother.
9. Princess Alexandra, 15, Duke of Kent's sister.
10. The Princess Royal, 54-year-old Princess Mary, sister of the late king.
11. The Earl of Harewood, 28-year-old elder son of the Princess Royal.
12. Viscount Lascelles, one-year-old son of the Earl of Harewood.

Marriage Secret May Not Get Pension

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP). — Flight cadet Howard Geil, killed last Friday in an R.C.A.F. crash at Gimli, Man., was married, but he kept it a secret because he wanted to fly. Now his widow and young child may not be eligible for a pension.

"He would not have been accepted for training as a pilot if his marriage had been known," said an R.C.A.F. spokesman. "And if we ha dfound out he was married he would have been released."

Mrs. Geil said here Tuesday her husband kept the marriage secret because he wanted to be a pilot.

Court Approves Montreal Inquiry

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP). — The Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday quashed an attempt to halt renewal of Montreal's long vice probe.

The nine-member court unanimously rejected with costs a motion for leave to appeal to it from a decision of the Quebec Court of Appeals. The appeal court had ruled that there were no grounds for prohibiting continuation of the probe.

The inquiry, conducted by Mr. Justice Francois Caron of the Quebec Superior Court was suspended last May after it had touched on the operations of disorderly houses, gambling establishments and police activities in Montreal.

You Were Right, 1952 Began Badly

Just as you suspected, January this year was a good deal worse than the same month in 1951. Figures released today by James Harrison, official weather recorder at the utilities filtration plant, tell the sad story.

Last month was warmer and colder and wetter than in 1951, but it wasn't snowier. The snowfall for January, 1951 was 16.5 inches as compared with 14.25 inches for this year. But more rain, .87 inches fell this year than in 1951, .31 inches. As a result total precipitation was 2.295 for 1952 as compared with 1.96 for 1951.

Temperatures reached up to 48 degrees on Jan. 21 this year, two degrees above the warmest day in January, 1951, the 15th. The same date both years, January 30 was the coldest. In 1952 it was 19 degrees below zero and 11 degrees below zero in 1951.

The average temperature for the 1952 month was 19.7 a little less than January 1951 average of 20.6 degrees.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6— (AP). — James J. Moran Tuesday night was found guilty of conspiracy and extortion in running what the prosecution called a $500,000-a-year fire department shakedown ring.

A jury decided that Moran, a close friend of former Mayor William O'Dwyer, was the key figure in shaking down fuel oil installers. The jury found him guilty in one count of conspiracy and 23 of extortion.

Sentencing was set for March 4.

U.K. Stunned To Learn King Dead

Appeared Improved At Beginning Of Tour To Africa

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — The King's death today left Britain stunned and sorrowing. Many couldn't believe it at first. "Our King?" said a British housemaid who works for a Canadian family in London. "Why, that's impossible."

Then the first reaction, of startled incredulity, gave way to a sense of shock and genuine sorrow.

The throne holds a place in the hearts of Britons that perhaps even some Canadians, sympathetic and loyal as they are, do not fully appreciate.

The news was stunning because it was unexpected. The King's gradual recovery from his operation had led most people to believe that there was no immediate cause for concern.

One newspaper said two or three days ago that the King himself was convinced there was nothing to worry about.

The paper said the King had a philosophy that once a physical ailment was traced to its source and destroyed the rest would be easy. This attitude of mind was said to have been especially pleasing to his physicians.

Seemed In Good Health

The King had seemed in good health and good spirits. The last time the people saw him in public was at London airport last Thursday, when he arrived with the Queen and Princess Margaret to bid farewell to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on their Commonwealth tour.

Ironically, the plane bearing the Princess and her husband bore the radio code name: "How King."

At that time the King looked well and cheerful. He wore no scarf and appeared not to notice the sharp wind and scattered snowflakes as he stood bareheaded to watch the take-off.

The announcement of the King's death came after 10 a.m. (5 a.m. EST). An hour later the BBC announced the news, departing from its usual detached style of news presentation to offer "profound sympathy" to the Queen and the Royal family.

The BBC then closed for the day, except for news bulletins, shipping forecasts and gale warnings.

Man Committed On Theft Of Wire, Tires

COBOURG, Feb. 6 (ENS). — Harold Spafford of Colborne was committed Tuesday for trial on several breaking and entering charges, involving service station break-ins in this district last month.

He was committed for trial on a charge of theft of garage accessories from Barton's garage in Castleton; theft of $600 worth of wire from Brighton Public Utilities on Jan. 16; theft of tires and tubes from Thomas Motors, Cobourg, Jan. 16.

Three charges were withdrawn, those of breaking and entering and theft from the Salvation Army used clothing depot in Cobourg; breaking and entering Goody's garage at Grafton and Waites garage at Wicklow. A charge of theft of tires from Wilson's garage in Cobourg proceeds on Friday.

William Bright of Colborne is charged with the same offences including those which were withdrawn and his trial by magistrate was adjourned until after Spafford's preliminary hearing.

Loot Identified

Evidence was taken in connection with a charge of theft of a chain saw and two batteries from Oran Day of Cramahe township but adjournment was made in order to hear another crown witness.

Day identified the chain saw, valued at $225, by a dent in the gas tank and by the trade mark. Richard Sage of Trenton, who sold the saw to Day, also identified it in court. Corporal L. Lyle of Brighton said that when he went to search Spafford's home Jan. 17, Spafford handed him the chain saw and a number of garage items which had been stored in the attic of Spafford's house in Colborne.

H. Christie, stockkeeper at the Brighton Public Utilities depot, said that 1,041 pounds of No. 2 wire and 39 of No. 4, were taken from the warehouse and later returned intact by the provincial police. Corporal Lyle said that the wire was found in a car in Spafford's driveway by Chief H. Pearse of Cobourg who accompanied the provincial police when they searched the Spafford house, as the chief was investigating the Cobourg robbery.

Web Thomas of Cobourg identified tires and tubes taken from his garage on Jan. 16. Constable Lyle Erskine of Cobourg testified that his search produced two boxes containing about $14 in loose change and a packing case of tobacco. Clayton Barton testified that he had $150 worth of tobacco stolen on Jan. 16, plus garage accessories which brought the total up to $240.

Village Curlers Plan New Rink

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 6 (ENS) — About 40 members of the Lakefield Curling Club as well as prospective members were present Monday evening in Memorial Hall for the annual meeting. The president, Clarence Coons, was chairman. Stanley Burger was secretary.

Main item on the agenda was the discussion of building a new curling rink for Lakefield, and two important decesions were reached; first that a rink would be built and second that the site for the rink would be adjacent to the lumber yards of the N. A. Moore Lumber Company.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the location, some favoring the building to be placed beside the present Community Arena, but the final decision was for the other location as it had a bed rock foundation and the ice would hold up better. This was the main trouble with the old curling rink which was on Colborne Street in a swampy site.

E. W. Bailey and Clarence Coons reported that the approximate cost of a two-ice building suitable for a curling rink would be about $5,000. The club have at present funds to cover approximately half of the cost, and it was felt that there were enough curlers in the village to make the project not too difficult.

The rink committee named was, Gordon Dunford, B. F. Blake, George Charlton, William C. Grant and E. W. Bailey with Stanley Burger as secretary and W. W. Yale, treasurer.

A building committee was appointed as follows, Gordon Dunford, Clarence Coons, Russell Little, Gordon Scriver, Judson R. Hall and Stanley Burger.

It planned to have another meeting in the near future at which plans will be made to complete the financial arrangements for the new rink.

Youth Service Held In Omemee

OMEMEE, Feb. 6 (ENS)—The Rev. William Leaton, pastor of Gilmore and Reaboro Baptist churches, spoke Sunday night in Omemee Trinity United church to a fellowship group of young people from the unions of Reaboro Baptist, Omemee Anglican and Omemee United churches.

The meeting was conducted by Garnet Pogue, president of the United Church Y.P.U., assisted by the presidents of the Anglican and Baptist Y.P.U.'s, Ronald Smith and R. P. Reeds.

Miss Phyllis Hart and Miss Ruth Grandy of Mt. Horeb sang "Whispering Hope" and the choir sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt said it gave him great joy and pleasure to welcome the visiting young people and their friends. He announced that while he addressed a similar fellowship meeting in Trinity United church, Peterborough, next Sunday evening, the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon, pastor of that church would take the evening service in Omemee.

Worship theme of the meeting was "Stand fast in the faith." Mr. Leaton centred his discourse around four points in the content of our faith. First, he said, there must be an overpowering awe of the majesty of God. There must also be a firm belief in the revelation of God through His Son, the one Person who came to accomplish our salvation. Then there is the importance of obedience to the will of God, and lastly the urgency of propagating our faith.

A candle lighting service followed in which candles were lit to the first created light, to spiritual light, the light of life, of truth, of freedom, of faith and of love. From these the candles of all the other members were lit, and the procession left the auditorium singing "O Jesus I Have Promised."

Parties Deadlocked On Naming Arbitrator

LINDSAY, Feb. 6—Contention has arisen in Lindsay over the appointment of a third party to the Arbitration Board to be set up to hear the case of police salary adjustments.

Ald. Lloyd Burrows said this week that the appointment of a third person to hear the evidence is proving a stickler. Mr. Burrows is the town's appointee to the board.

The alderman went on to explain that the police have been unwilling to consider council's proposed candidates and the council has not been prone to accept recommendations of the police.

Mr. Burrows said that he was considering asking for a special meeting between police and council to settle the appointment.

If the two parties are not able to reach agreement, the Attorney-General's Department, of the provincial government would move in and name a third arbitrator whose vote would decide any contentious issue.

The police were all offered $200 a year increase, but they claim it is not sufficient. The Police Act allows them to ask that their case be heard arbitrarily.

King's Death Taken Quietly

By The Canadian Press

It was almost a whisper—"The King died this morning".

In the cities, the news was passed along quietly at bus stops, on street corners, on street-cars, by early risers who had heard it on the radio.

In the country, the news spread by radio and by telephone.

It came when most of Canada slept.

At 5:52 a.m. EST it was too early, in the east, where most persons were turn over for another hour sleep in the pre-dawn darkness.

It was too late, in the west, where stragglers were making their lonely way home at the fag end of the night. For it was only 2:52 a.m. in Vancouver.

By Word Of Mouth

Mostly, the tidings were relayed by word of mouth, to be received with hushed incredulity.

In the west and in some eastern cities there were bold headlines on extra editions of morning newspapers. Most morning papers in the east had "gone to bed".

Upon the all-night disk jockeys on local radio stations fell the task of reporting the momentous news. They broke into programs with bulletins then switched from the customary swing to appropriate music.

Holland Named County Master

MARMORA, Feb. 6 (ENS). — The largest attendance for several years was seen at the annual meeting the Centre Hastings Orange Association held in the Orange Hall, Madoc, on Tuesday.

The retiring County Master, Wor. Bro. Ernest Coulter, presided at morning and afternoon sessions. In the morning, reports of the four districts comprising the county were given and various committees appointed. In the afternoon these committees reported, preceded by the secretarial report given by Wor. Bro. Arthur Wilson, which showed the membership to be slightly more than that of the previous year.

A motion was passed granting Springbrook LOL 442 permission to hold a county celebration there on July 12, it being their centennial year. Right Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Grand Master of Ontario east, gave a sketch of executive sessions and his visits during the past year mentioning that there are more than 300 lodges in the jurisdiction of Ontario east.

An address was given by the Rev. T. H. Good, rector of Madoc, guest speaker for the occasion. Past County Master John B. Hagerman was called upon to preside at the election of officers who were later installed by the Grand Master of Ontario East.

New officers are: County Master, Wor. Bro. Kenneth Holland; Deputy County Master, Wor Bro. Gordon Moffatt; Chaplain, Wor. Bro. Rev. H. Beare; secretary, Wor. Bro. Arthur Wilson; treasurer, Bro. H. C. Martin; marshal, Bro. Carman Fitchett; first lecturer, Bro. Gordon Carleton; second lecturer, Bro. George Gordon.

The motion was carried that the next annual meeting also be held in Madoc. The retiring County Master received a Past County Master's jewel at the hands of Past County Master John B. Hagerman at the close of the session.

Wealth, Future Of North Described To Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 6. — (ENS).—Rotarians heard an address on Northern Ontario at their Monday noon luncheon in the parish hall here. Guest speaker was Sam Suthefland, B.A., B.Paed., inspector of Public schools for this district.

Mr. Sutherland attempted to give a picture of Northern Ontario and more particularly of the Cochrane district. His former inspectorate was in Cochrane, from where he came in 1951 to Brighton and the Northumberland area.

Interest In 1900

The interest of the Ontario Government in Northern Ontario was first demonstrated in 1900, when ten parties of geologist agricultural experts and surveyors were sent into the area. These returned with reports so favorable that in 1901 the province decided to put a rail line into the north country. The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway reached New Liskeard in 1905 and Cochrane in 1908.

The town of Cochrane is about 3,500 in population and has survived two forest fires which practically destroyed the town, and an epidemic of typhoid which killed about 100 residents.

The surrounding country has great agricultural possibilities. In the Clay Belt of Northern Ontario, there is more arable land than in the whole of Quebec province. It is very little north of the 49th parallel.

Potatoes grow in tremendous quantities in this area, yielding about 650 bushels to the acre. The whole of Ontario could be fed with these Clay Belt potatoes. Hay grows very rapidly, but because of the great rainfall, curing is a problem.

The growing of beef cattle, fruits and vegetables, dairy cattle and bees can be very profitable. During the period June to September each year cattle put on from 5 to 7 pounds of weight each day. Honey yields range from 400 to 500 pounds per hive and the area's potatoes took first prize at the Royal Winter Fair last year.

Considerable Lumbering

Lumbering in the area is extensive. The great pulp and paper mills at Kapuskasing and Iroquois Falls each turn out 22 carloads of paper daily. This entire amount is consigned to the New York Times, which has large timber holdings in the area, and operates the mills. Large companies, some of them cutting the wood off as many as 17 townships, take timber out very systematically to assure future supplies and carry out very extensive reforestation programs. The sulphite mill at Smooth Rock Falls produces the best fine paper on the continent.

By-Products Wasted

The by-products of the pulp industry are mostly wasted at the present time. There are literally millions of gallons of alcohol run off in the processing of the wood for paper. This is all wasted.

Minerals in the area are many, and it is likely there are many more to be discovered. There is the Cobalt silver development, gold at Timmins and Kirkland Lake, gold and copper at Matheson, extensive deposits of asbestos, iron near Hudson Bay, and very real hope that oil will be discovered, since the area is geographically situated in a similar position relative to the precambrian shield as the great oil fields of the West.

The country at the present time is in its infancy as far as products of the soil and the mines are concerned. Extensive power development has followed the pulp and paper industry into the wilderness.

In conclusion, Mr. Sutherland paid tribute to the people of the northland, who, he stated, despite disaster, had come through to make fine contributions to Canada.

The speaker was introduced by Ward Baker and thanked by Jim Archer.

God Save The Queen!

The sudden death of His Majesty leaves us all gasping. There have been rumours ever since his last illness that his life might not be a long one. People who pretended to know spoke of a possible two years before the end. But what has happened brings us face to face with an old truth: no one can tell when any man will die, and the best and most informed guess is but a guess, after all.

* * *

To say that our late sovereign was beloved is no empty form of words. He came to the throne unexpectedly and under the most difficult circumstances. He had no wish to be King. But when kingship was thrust upon him he played that part with a single-hearted nobility and devotion to duty which, during the war years, won him the unfeigned love of millions of people. He had no fondness for the ceremonial life; he was not a man of unusual intellect; he suffered several handicaps in the life which he was compelled to lead, not the least of which was a hesitation of speech which he never fully overcame. But in the light of his courage, and his determination to do his duty in that state of life to which it had pleased God to call him, these were trifling matters. He took the heavy burden of servitude which is what is meant, nowadays, by the kingship of our Commonwealth, and he bore it like a man, until it killed him. This is nobility; and in the case of such a death our grief, deep as it is, is better silent.

* * *

George the Sixth was happy in his private life, and at this time the Queen Mother Elizabeth will be conscious of true sympathy from every part of the world; if such sympathy can be of help at such a time, and we think that it can, the consciousness of it will sustain her through what is still to come. But there is a private grief which no external sympathy can assuage.

* * *

Of his Heir, what can we say? Rarely in history has a burden so heavy fallen upon a young woman, far from self-assured. She was with us last autumn, and we feel that we know something of her. As the years pass we shall know her much better, and it may be that we shall see in her a change comparable with that which made her great-great-grandmother's name a household word, and the designation of a great historical era. But at present we can think of her only as one thrown suddenly into a position which few will envy her, and it is with a keen sense of the responsibility she bears that we join in the loyal cry of GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Is This A Measure For Charity?

We have read with interest some remarks on charity in Canada, which were made by the president of the Crown [illegible] Irving P. Rexford, in his annual address. He points out that the Income Tax Act allows deductions up to ten per cent. of taxable income for charitable donations by individuals, and five per cent. for corporations; yet in 1949 individuals claimed only 1.235 of the amount they could deduct, and corporations claimed only 1.19 per cent. of the permitted five per cent. In other words, individuals gave only $78,553,000 when the Government would have let them off taxes on $550,000,000 and corporations gave only $21,057,000 when the Government would have let them off taxes on $88,535,500.

Mr. Rexford draws some sorrowful conclusions from these figures about the state of charitable giving in Canada; his remarks do credit to the goodness of his heart and his readiness to be generous with other people's money. The Montreal Star expresses itself somewhat more vehemently, and is amazed that private persons, and corporations, will hand money over to tax collectors which they might have given in charity. The newspaper says, quite rightly, that if the total sum on which the Government was ready to forego taxes had been given in charity, the charities of Canada would be in a flourishing condition.

We do not see the logic, however, of giving money to charity up to the amount which the Government permits before such money is taxed. Surely it would be just as logical to produce children up to the limit of human endurance, in order to get the most out of the Family Allowance? The money has to be found, and given away, in the first case, and the fact that such gifts are tax-free does not always make such giving attractive; in the second case the children have to be cared for, and the fact that the Government makes some contribution to this end makes little difference to the effort demanded. The wellsprings of private charity do not bubble to the tune of Government regulations.

We live in a transition period, between the private enterprise and low taxation of the nineteenth century state, with its consequences of poverty and deprivation, and the socialist state of the future, when all welfare will be more or less directly under state control, and poverty and deprivation will either be unknown—or universal. We cannot be expected to be as charitable as were our grandfathers, for our money is not so undisputedly our own as was theirs; it is now a fact that most people retain a portion of their income from the Government, rather than that they pay a portion to the Government, for the official attitude has changed. Whether we like it or not we are citizens of an advanced welfare state: under such circumstances, is it surprising that we are not more charitable? Is it not far more surprising that such huge sums can be raised for charity as have been collected in Canada during the past ten years?

Charity, for most people, involves considerable effort. They will make that effort if the need is obvious to them. But their charitable fervour is kept well in check by very great Government imposts, and huge Government spending. It is not cynicism, but realism, to say that for most Canadians today the first call of charity is made, in a peremptory tone, by the Government which bids us support our welfare state. The secondary calls of charity are, it appears to us, being generously answered, and we have no fear that this generosity will not continue.

German Army To Be Bigger Than 1940 Allied Force?

West Germany is being asked to rearm, to supply troops to the European Army (to which six nations are contributing, under a unified command) and also to put troops under General Eisenhower's SHAPE command. So topsy-turvy is the state of international affairs that the former enemies of Germany—Russia in East Germany, and Britain and the United States in West Germany—are virtually begging Germany for troops and bribing them with all sorts of promises of equipment, money, treaty revisions and concessions.

West Germany is bargaining hard. When the French—who logically recognize the need for a re-armed Germany capable of some defence against Russia and Communism—appointed a French Ambassador to the Saar it was a shock to the Germans (and probably a sop to French people who think that their Government has been too soft with the Germans.) The German Government of Dr. Adenauer is not prepared to recognize any French political rights, in perpetuity, in the Saar. It has been reported that the Germans have demanded the return of the Saar before they conclude any peace treaty and defence arrangements. Dr. Adenauer also wants admission into NATO before agreeing to these. How much farther will German demands go? It is less than seven years since, vanquished after the largest war in history, she surrendered unconditionally to the Allies who are now suing for her favour.

One concession which West Germany has got from the western powers, according to Herr Blank, Commissioner for Security in the West German Government, is a full and public estimate of the military forces which the West is prepared to grant to West Germany. Here is the estimate—designed to ensure that if the Germans will please cooperate, their soldiers will not be mere cannon-fodder:

The West German army is to consist of twelve divisions of about 13,000 men each. Six of these are to be armoured divisions each with from 280-300 tanks —a total of 2,000 tanks. Three of the remaining six divisions are to be motorized infantry with their own armour (in German terms, Panzer-grenadiers). These divisions will have a total of 500 tanks. The last three divisions will be motorized infantry, each of these having 70 to 90 tanks. Thus the full establishment of the new German army authorized will have 2,750 tanks and 250,000 men. It will also have its own tactical air force, 75,000 men with about 1,500 fighters and light bombers. This total force will be larger and stronger than the assault force which entered the Low Countries and France in 1940.

These are paper units and equipment yet, but Western arsenals, revival of German heavy industry, the ability of the Germans to go into big production fast (and sustain it, as shown during the last war), and their military genius, leave no doubt that in a few years Germany will again be a formidable power, if the German people and politicians rearm as the West now urges West Germany. It is planned to introduce conscription.

No wonder that Russia has begun to re-arm.

The German military machine has been mighty since 1870; and it has taken two World Wars to crush it. Is a third world-shaking German machine now being forged? The West (particularly the United States) does not seem to fear it. The proposed German army is to become part of the European Army and of General Eisenhower's NATO command. That is what the gentlemen say, anyway.

U.N.'s 'Haves' And 'Have-Nots'

By NORA BELOFF
(In Paris)

RUNNING through the now-completed record of the economic proceedings of this year's session of the United Nations I was curiously reminded of Karl Marx.

You may recall that one of Karl Marx's many prophecies that did not come true was that, as the machine-age progressed, the poor would get poorer and the rich would get richer until the Red Revolution produced a classless State. In fact, in the U.S.A. where the machine-age is most advanced, the poor are getting progressively less poor and far from having "nothing to lose but their chains" would have to lose their television sets, refrigerators, automobiles and many other material comforts.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT although on a man-to-man basis the vision of the poor getting poorer and the rich getting richer has not come true (largely because the workers organize themselves in trade unions or political parties to defend their rights) on an international basis the prophesy seems more apt, where States, not people, are concerned.

The growing inequalities, with the rich nations growing richer, and many of the poor nations growing poorer, were officially confirmed in facts and figures by the U.N. statisticians at the beginning of this Assembly. The consequences of this state of affairs were plainly apparent in the proceedings and resolutions on economic subjects where, as in all United Nations forums, the U.S. and Siam, Britain and Costa Rica, Canada and Ethiopia, all have an equal chance to speak and vote.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, the increasing disparity hardly needed official confirmation. Everybody knew that the United States and Canada, with their high productivity, advanced techniques and vast natural resources were expanding their national incomes at a dizzy rate, while many of the "underdeveloped countries", with shrinking production and increasing population, were getting poorer and poorer.

✧ ✧ ✧

THAT is why from the very outset, while the U.N. political proceedings were dominated as usual by East-West hostilities, with America and Russia in the star parts, economic proceedings were characterized by a continuous conflict between the "haves" and the "nave-nots", the developed and the under-developed states, with the Soviet bloc keeping modestly in the rear.

The backward countries could not, of course, compel their stronger and more prosperous fellow members to disgorge money and machinery, but they did obtain the passage of a series of recommendations which put the U.N. on record telling them they should.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN some cases, the industrialized Western States conceded that generosity would be in their own enlightened self-interest. Thus the scale of the U.N. technical assistance programme (though official contributions are still being negotiated) looks like being almost doubled this coming year. The West did not oppose a motion asking the International Bank "to consider the possibility" of advancing more money to help modernize retarded economies, and they supported a motion introduced by the Poles urging all member States "to facilitate through commercial agreements" the flow of machinery and capital to under-developed countries with no political or economic strings attached.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON the other hand, it was against the strong protests of the U.S.A., the U.K., and other Western countries that a majority was found to instruct ECOSOC (the Economic and Social Council) to produce in time for the next General Assembly "a detailed plan for establishing as soon as circumstances permit a special fund for granting aid and low-interest, long-term loans to under-developed countries". The U.S. delegate announced point-blank that if the resolution was passed it was no good hoping that the Americans would pick up the bill. This did not prevent a favourable vote.

In all these proceedings the West, although generally outvoted, was not always on the defensive. A number of delegates from the more modern communities, notably Scandinavia, protested with some force that there would be less human misery and less wretchedness in the poorer countries if they were properly administered instead of being run by feudal lords, corrupt administrations and usurious moneylenders.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOWEVER, the newly-independent countries of Latin America, Africa and Asia, will certainly not willingly revert to foreign rule, and the facts of unrest, discontent and agitation, whether their fault or not, cannot be reasoned or moralized out of existence.

Furthermore, in the present state of world affairs they have some distinct assets in the international forum which go a little way towards offsetting their physical feebleness.

✧ ✧ ✧

FIRSTLY, some of them occupy strategically vital corners of the world where unrest might prejudice Western defence lines.

Secondly, many areas are economically important to the industrial world for oil, mineral resources or food.

Lastly, revolutionary ferment, if allowed to develop, could at any time be exploited by the Russians, and so diverted to an instrument for extending Kremlin rule.

That is why, though the Western Powers need not and certainly will not, carry out all the recommendations of all the U.N. resolutions, they are being forced to pay very serious attention to the claims and aspirations of the underprivileged areas of the world.

Chance For Revenge

(North Bay Nuggett)

A couple of days ago a Detroit woman tried to purchase stamps in the Windsor post office. But when she handed the clerk an American bill it was refused, the clerk fearing further drop in the U.S.-Canadian dollar discount might leave the post office clerk stuck for the balance.

To thousands of Canadians the incident tasted of sweet revenge. How many times has Canadian currency been refused south of the border?

We recall buying a souvenir in a Buffalo shop a couple of summers back. Handed a Canadian bill, the proprietor tossed it back with the comment:

"We don't take foreign money here."

The same thing happens repeatedly to Canadians in drug stores, service stations or theatres in the U.S.

GEORGIUS REX,

Annis Domini 1895-1952

DOMINE, IN VIRTUTE TUA

The King shall joy in thy strength, O Lord: and in thy salvation how greatly shall he rejoice.

Thou hast given him his heart's desire and thou hast not withholden the request of his lips.

For thou preventest him with the blessings of goodness: thou settest a crown of pure gold on his head.

He asked life of thee, and thou gavest it him, even length of days for ever and ever.

His glory is great in thy salvation: honor and majesty has thou laid upon him.

For thou hast made him most blessed for ever: thou hast made him exceeding glad with thy countenance.

How Are Your Jandies Today?

By BON VIVANT

TORONTO—The other day I received a letter from J. F. Johnson, 168 Pinner Road, Watford Heath, Hertfordshire. To be strictly accurate the letter wasn't in an envelope on which my name and address appeared. However, as it was published in one of the popular English magazines which I enjoy, courtesy of the library board, and dealt with a subject in which I have long been interested, I felt sure it was intended for my personal attention. This I shall now give it.

The letter recited causes of death in London, (Eng.) not (Ont.), in the year 1711. From incidental intelligence contained in the letter London during 1711 had a real cause for worry. Deaths exceeded births by some 4,100 souls. This presented a pretty grim picture for the "Make London Your Home Association." Just what they did about it isn't revealed, but apparently it worked.

Today you pick up your paper and find the obituary column crowded with accounts of those who found the strain too great, and popped off by the heart route. A rather sudden performance in most cases, and one which gives friends and relatives a nasty turn. Accounts of people doing a quick conversion after shovelling snow, pushing mired cars, cutting grass, digging the garden, and indulging in other forms of manual labour, have caused me to eschew such pleasures of the flesh. I have definitely given up toiling, and only spin after patronizing one of the provincial chain stores.

ACCORDING to friend Johnson some of the causes of taking off which ranked high with the populace then are the same as we favour now. Listed under "Suddenly" are 77 transitions. Even in those days hearts weren't too dependable it would seem. "Consumption" gave Charon 2,520 passengers for transport across the Styx and "Smallpox," not regarded as an endearing social affliction at any time, ran up a grand total of 915.

These rather common diseases had their adherents, but I favor these daring souls who made the great exchange by more unusual ailments. "Age", which still takes its toll, accounted for 1,722. In those days anyone who lived beyond 45 was regarded as doddering, so it may be age is maligned. "Childbed" snatched 195 beyond the barrier. This seems quite a good record in view of the primitive methods in vogue in the 18th century. Not to mention some of the quaint remedies employed, most of which were more dangerous than the atom bomb.

One person favored a taking off by something described as "choaked with fat". What do you suppose this could be? Did fat suddenly rise up and plug his gasper, or did the victim over-lay and smother himself with a surplus of tissue? A nice question and one leaving lots of room for speculation. "Convultions" made the transference for 5,516. I should judge mostly children as I seem to recall it being one of childhood's menaces even in the early days of the 20th century.

"Fevers" added 3,416 to the score, but it is not clear whether these were simple fevers or something more complicated. "Gout", usually considered a rich man's disease, was too much for 21 persons who fell victims to over-indulgence. "Grief", it doesn't specify whether pining or languishing, nor does it mention broken hearts, but some form of grief convinced 9 of the populace it was no use going any further along the road.

✧ ✧ ✧

I WONDER how a modern medical man would diagnose "griping of the guts?" Whatever it was 614 people elected to write finis to their careers by becoming its victims. "Headache" claimed 2 for the one way trip. I've had headaches which made me wonder why they didn't prove fatal, but I suspect the ones listed in 1711 were tumours of the brain. "Hecktick fever" was the choice of 2 who wanted to get it over with, and you can make your own guess as to what the "Jandies" might be. Whatever malady enjoyed this quaint name had its devotees, 51 to be exact.

"Melancholy", this might be the broken heart for which I have been searching, is credited with one disciple. If this is what I think it is the broken heart owes its popularity to romantic novelists, not to fact. "Lethargy" had the total of seven who selected it as a means to an end. I wonder if this is what my grandmother used to call bone-laziness?

"Rising of the lights" enjoyed some small popularity as 92 persons were attracted by it. "Stoppage of the stomach" had a total of 255 supporters. "Surfiet" shows 61 partisans. Either of these might have been appendicitis, however, I like to think of surfiet as having done oneself too well at table, and if my meaning is taken 61 people paid a big price for their gluttony.

The final item listed is "teeth" and accounts for 1,013 backers. This is not as surprising as it sounds. Dentistry was unknown. In 1711 people suffered because they didn't see their dentist twice a year. If you come across pictures or prints of ladies of that period with handkies held daintily to their lips don't run off with the idea it was a coy gesture. They had something to hide. Today a multitude of ailments are traced to the teeth so it isn't surprising over a 1,000 people in 1711 solved the great secret by this means.

✧ ✧ ✧

YOU MAY take your pick of the maladies listed. Many of them have a more entertaining sound than the miseries of today. All of them are pronounceable, which is in their favour. I dislike having a case of the snuffles diagnosed as some multi-syllabled word which scares the pants off me. However, it may be, in these high-priced times, that even the medicos feel they must give us something for our two dollar bill.

New Use For Telephones

(Fort William Times-Journal)

On a party telephone out of North Bay, a subscriber formed the habit of taking down the receiver for hours at a time without doing any talking, thereby weakening the line and giving other subscribers the idea that somebody was continuously listening in.

All the complainers told about hearing a clock ticking near the "open phone". With this as a clue the manager of the telephone company made an investigation and found that an elderly lady had found the telephone receiver made a good "darning ball" while repairing the family's winter stockings.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them. And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did. For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed. And there was great joy in that city.

But there was a certain man, called Simon, which before time in the same city used sorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one: to whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the great power of God. And to him they had regard, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.

But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.

Then Simon himself believed also: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miracles and signs which were done. (Acts 8: 5-13.)

"But I saw him there today."

"Yes, he's forgotten all about it."

A youthful reporter turned up at the office after being sent to write up a fashionable wedding. "Well," snapped the news editor, "where's your copy?"

"Oh! I didn't bother to do it," said the young man. "You see, the bridegroom didn't turn up."

An American died and went to Heaven, and promptly started boasting about his native land. "Do you know," he told a group of spirits, "that at Niagara Falls eight billion cubic feet of water flow over the cliffs every second!"

"Poof!" said Noah, scornfully. "Dewdrops!"

✧ ✧ ✧

At a public function one of the diners, a minister, found himself ill at ease with the fish course. He sampled it dubiously.

"Dear me," he said, "whatever is this?"

His neighbour glanced at his clerical collar and adapted his comment to his company. "Piece of cod that passeth all understanding," he said.

Mrs. Dumbly was waiting to be served in the shoe shop. Presently a girl assistant approached her. "What size shoe do you wear, madam?" she inquired.

"Well," said Mrs. Dumbly, "I bought size four last time."

The girl looked puzzled. "Yes, madam, I remember," she replied; "but you're buying this pair for yourself, aren't you?"

The young mother had been reading the latest books on baby care. Visitors were not permitted to see the baby at all until he was three months old, and then they had to wear gauze face-masks.

When several older women tried to suggest that the mother was carrying things a little too far, she cried: "Some mothers are so careless of their children's health that it is positively criminal." After a pause she added: "He seems to be cutting a tooth, but I don't know how to find out about it."

"Why," said one of the other women, "just put your finger in his mouth and—"

Noticing the young mother's horrified expression, she added gently: "Of course, you boil the finger first."

"You'll get more than you think you'll get—and quicker!—if my wall isn't finished tonight."

Hunger Strike Called In Quebec At Dept. Hostel

ST. PAUL L'ERMITE, Que., Feb. 6—(CP)—A hunger strike the second within a month, was called Tuesday night at the Federal Department of Labor hostel in this town, some 20 miles east of Montreal.

A spokesman for the strikers said more than 600 of the 800 residents will participate in the strike called after strike leader Miechyslaw Krzeminski, a Polish national, received a telegram from Labor Minister Gregg, which he termed "unsatisfactory."

Krzeminski wired Mr. Gregg last Saturday asking that the 350 wives and children of some 140 hostel residents be sent to Canada from German displaced persons camps.

The wire asked that transportation from Halifax to Montreal be given the women and children on the promise that the immigrants pay the money back.

Transportation is already provided from Germany to Canada by the International Refugee Organization.

Opposes Bylaw Restricting Cutting Trees

HAVELOCK, Feb. 6 (ENS) — The Belmont and Methúen council at its meeting in the council chamber of the Havelock town hall on Saturday decided to oppose the passing of a by-law by the county restricting and regulating the cutting of trees.

The teacher and pupils of S.S. No. 9, Belmont were granted the use of the township hall for a bingo and dance on February 8, with the provision that they take care of the cleaning following the entertainment.

The accounts passed included voucher No. 1 for roads $2,534.25; direct relief $80.01; revised 1950 statutes $25.67; treasurer's bond $5; caretaking township hall $8; Arnold Keating, one ewe, $25; polling booth S.S. No. 6, Belmont $5.

Adjudicator Criticizes New Brunswick Play

ST. STEPHEN, NB, Feb. 6 — (CP). — The New Brunswick regional drama festival continued Tuesday with presentation of J. M. Barrie's three-act comedy, "Alice Sit By the Fire," by the St. Andrews Music, Art and Drama Club.

Adjudicator Pierre Lefevre said the play "did not go over as it should have . . . the cast did not feel their parts. There was too much drama and not enough comedy." He attributed this to inexperience.

However, Mr. Lefevre said that Lewis Day, as Col. Robert Gray, played the role with feeling and gave the best performance in the presentation.

U.S. Building Five New Airbases Under Arab Unrest

By NEA FOREIGN SERVICE

CASABLANCA, Morocco — (NEA)—Under a storm cloud of unrest in the Arab world, a new American "invasion force" has moved into French Morocco, nine years after Allied forces made their first landings of World War II on this strategic North African coast.

The new "invasion"—by 20,000 civilians and military personnel—is part of a half-billion dollar project to build and operate five new long-range bomber bases that will achieve a three-fold purpose:

1. Protect the southern flank of the NATO countries under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command.

2. Discourage aggression in the Mediterranean and possibly in the Near East.

3. Give a strong and well-protected base for the support of the air force operating in Europe.

Strategic Choice

French Morocco was chosen for this gigantic project for a number of reasons, chiefly strategic. It is less exposed to Russian air attacks than Britain. And it is preferable to Spain, where the Franco regime is not an ally like France and thus must receive something in return for concessions.

In Morocco, nominally an absolute monarchy under a sultan, the U.S. air force negotiated its deal directly with the French resident general, Gen. Augustin-Leon Guillaume, who directs Moroccan policies. As a result, America finds itself in the middle of a political sandstorm between the French and the Arab nationalists.

✧ ✧ ✧

The deal with the French was under the 1912 Treaty of Fez, which specifies that the French resident general is the sole mediator bewteen Americans and Moroccans. The Sultan was ignored completely.

This stirred Arab nationalists to revive their claim and President Roosevelt, during the Casablanca conference, had assured the Sultan that the U.S. was in favor of Morocco's independence. They now also cite Gen. Eisenhower's recent declaration that "the legitimate aspirations of the Moslem world must be recognized."

In retaliation, the French are accusing the U.S. of supporting Moroccan nationalists against French interests, and Gen. Guillaume has demanded that Americans end their "prudent neutrality in Morocco."

Observers here tihnk it is more than doubtful that U.S. will recognize the ambitions of the Arab nationalists. A forced French exit would undoubtedly lead to an armed uprising and chaos in a country where the stake of American interests exceeds by far the half-billion dollar investment.

In addition to the five air bases, Port Lyautey has been used as a naval base since 1945. It supplies the Sixth U.S. fleet. Its submarines, with the British, control the Strait of Gibraltar. Its long-range patrol planes can fly as far as the Soviet orbit and check any movement along its western rim.

Two of the new U.S. Air Force bases are already in operation—Sidi Slimane, 35 miles east of Port Lyautey, and Nouaseur, 20 miles south of Casablanca. Another at Ben Guerir, half-way between Casablanca and Marrakech, is under construction. Work on the other two hasn't started.

It took only three months to build the runways at Sidi Silmane and Nouaseur, where the runways are 11,000 feet long and 300 feet wide, big enough to handle the biggest planes in existence.

Cross Winds

Last October the first B-36s landed at Sidi Slimane, and the U.S. Air Force breathed easier. Experts had worried about the cross-winds, which exceed 20 miles an hour and are considered dangerous for jet planes.

There has been criticism of the haste of the construction work, which was accelerated because of its urgency. At Nouaseur, thousands of Arabs worked in day and night shifts to create not only the air base but a virtual dessert town which is only the cornerstone of an "American village" for the base. Nevertheless, the building program is behind schedule.

There has been criticism of the cost, too, partly because the work is being rushed without sufficient planning, partly because it is being done under a cost-plus-fixed fee contract. The Atlas Construction Co., a combine of five American firms, is the contractor, and there has been friction both with the U.S. Engineer Corps and the French.

Watch Economic System

There has been trouble with the French about duties on building materials and gasoline. Although Morocco has no protective tariff, the French are eager to protect the Moroccan economy. They are especially watchful of the wages paid Arabs and imported French workers, who get 40 to 60 cents an hour. An American worker gets $2.45.

With overtime and allowances, this gives the average American worker about $200 a week. Unless he sends it home, there's nothing to do with it but save it for weekends in Casablanca, which the "invaders" already have turned into a boom town where life is more expensive than Paris.

Thus the weekends in town are punctured with brawls; and the worker, whom it cost Atlas $800 to hire and transport to Morocco, is ready to settle for a job back in the U.S. at half the pay.

Normally, under a unique privilege, Americans who get into trouble in the Sultanate cannot be arrested by Moroccan police and can be tried only by the American consulate. But with brawls rocking the city as workers come in from the desert outposts where the bases are located, the consulate decided to let the local police take a hand.

Once the bases are finished, the situation will be easier to handle. The 20,000 "invaders" will dwindle to 8,000 air force personnel, which is the peacetime limit under the agreement, plus 3,000 navy and marine personnel at Port Lyautey.

Brazil and Flanagan Take Main Team Mat Bout Over Pitoscia and Layton

Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan teamed up to defeat Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia in two straight falls at the Brock Arena last night and sent the crowd of mat fans home happy. On one fall Layton was disqualified for roughing Referee Bert Maxwell, and on the other Bobo butted Lou and then pinned him with a flying tackle from over the ropes. The "good guys" beat the "villains", though the popular pair mixed it up plenty, too, in a wild and woolly main bout.

OLYMPIC SKIER — George Merry, 20, of Trail, B.C., is a spare on Canada's ski team to compete at winter Olympics at Oslo, Feb. 14-25. Merry placed fifth in Olympic trials at Banff in 1951, and is a newcomer to big-time skiing.

Flanagan got credit for the first fall in 23 minutes as he was in there with Layton when his nibs ran afoul of the ref. He was running balding Pat into the turnbuckles when the referee got in the way and took the full force of the charge in his fat stomach. Then Layton went to slash at Pat's throat but Pat ducked and again the ref got it. When he was able to stagger to the centre of the ring, he disqualified Athol and hoisted Flan's hand. It had been a lively go before that with Brazil and Lou mixing hard and all four tangling in the ring at one time. Lou and Layton used their slashes and punished Bobo in their corner, while Pat held his own with fists, mule kicks and flying tackles in a wide-open and exciting round.

Ref Got Peeved

Brazil was thrown out of the ring by Pitoscia but got back on the apron and butted Lou, then flying over the top strand to pin him in 20 minutes as the crowd went wild. There was a real "hey rube" previously with all four in there, and Pat and Bobo using their dazed rivals as punching bags, battering rams and even as rowing oars—till the angry ref stopped the bout and gave all four a hot warning of disqualification. There was slashing, ganging up, kicking, chokes, roughing on ropes and everything, with the agile Flan and Brazil atop the action and giving their unscrupulous opponents the business in this bout. They drew a big hand.

Zorra, the French Tarzan, took Mayes McLean, who subbed for the injured Jim Wright, in the semi-final in 21 minutes. He got him with an airplane spin and body slam after setting his rough rival up, and the fall was a popular one. The muscular McLean didn't get in too many licks, apart from throwing punches when he had Zorra backed into the ropes, and the agile Frenchman had him bothered throughout with his fancy footwork and kicks to various parts of the anatomy. The ref kept interfering and warning him on kicks and chokes to exasperate the excitable Zorra. McLean did a lot of stalling and didn't show too much in this tussle.

Both Went Out

Steve Stahlee and Stan Mayslack were both counted out of the ring in 18 minutes of the prelim bout. They tangled right afterward and staged a better, if briefer, show than in their regular routine. Mayslack was villainous from the start and Stanlee occupied the unaccustomed role of being a hero. Mayslack did plenty or arguing, groaning and grimacing, as well as pulling some rough stuff with the ropes used for leverage. Stanlee retaliated with fists and both yanked hair in some nasty mat mixing at times. They got tangled up in the ropes finally and rolled out, still grappling, and neither could get back in time to beat the ref's count. Then they went at it again in hot action that had the crowd yelling, the fans cheering the blond Stanlee all the way.

Give Luncheon For Dempsey

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6 (AP). — Twenty guests were originally invited but by the time the luncheon got under way at the studio, 50 or 60 had crowded into the narrow dining room to welcome a real old timer back to the movies.

The veteran was Jack Dempsey, who recalled with something of a grimace that he starred in a serial in Hollywood more than 30 years ago. He seemed more concerned about the serial, not the era.

He was famous then, of course, as the new heavyweight champion of the world, a point that was quite important in connection with his movie debut. And as the former champ, it is no less significant today.

Many of the luncheon guests were sports writers, which was more than appropriate, as Dempsey's "co-star," Bob Hope, pointed out.

Dempsey is playing a now familiar role in Hope's latest picture, something about military policemen, Marilyn Maxwell and no telling what else. Dempsey is a fight referee.

Marines Win Tossup Against Glens

A flip of a coin handed the Peterborough Marines two home games in their basketball playoff with Belleville Glen Roys for a decided advantage over the Bay of Quinte cagers.

Late Tuesday night after Glens had trimmed Picton Athletics in Picton, N. Beach, the convener for Eastern Ontario intermediate league, by telephone conducted the toss for the deciding games.

The victory over Picton gave Glens a first place tie with the Marines, each having won 10 and lost only two during the season's play. The games lost were to each other.

Marines were definitely against the toss decision on Saturday night because the flip was too costly for either team to lose. The home games between the clubs, they feel, will make all the difference in the world.

Today Marines are in favor of the toss, won over with the win there in the club room.

Play First Away

Coach Gord McIntyre said today that they have arranged to play Glens on Thursday night in Belleville in the first game of the best-of-three series.

"We'll play back here on Saturday night in the first game, and the all-important third game, if necessary, will be also in Peterborough.

Where Marines' home games will be played is undecided. They hope to arrange a double-header for the Collegiate gym Saturday night when the PCVS Senior A quintette will play Toronto Eatons, an all-star team from the Toronto high schools.

The new glass backboards will be an advantage if the game is played at the Collegiate. All the teams playing there this year had trouble making the ball go through the hoops, but Marines and PCVS are well acquainted with them for a slight advantage.

The Glens find the range easily on the small YMCA floor, which is only slightly smaller than the Belleville Collegiate gym where their home games are played. The large Collegiate floor might also help Marines out by tiring Glens quickly.

So far, there hasn't been much difference between the clubs. Marines won one game, the last, 44-33, for the largest win margin in the four games between the clubs. The others were by three, four and five points.

Both clubs have won a game on the other's home court, showing there may not be much to the "home" theory at all.

At Full Strength

The Marines will be at full strength Thursday night for the first gam. Coach Gord McIntyre will follow the pattern of recent games, using a quintette of younger players, and then the veterans. Hugh Dibben will centre the first line with Neil Thompson and Bill Dadson, on each side, backed by guards Doug McPherson and Harold Grafstein. On the veterans' line will be Joe and Ab Stewart, flanked by Bill Trimm, with Gord Burns and Chum Gillespie working the back court.

This year could easily be a repeat performance of last year's series when Marines edged Glens in Belleville and took the series at home in the second game. The winner this year will move in the playdowns from the eastern section, likely Queen's University or Brockville.

American League Has 216 Night Games

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP).—The American League this year will play its greatest number of night games, 216, it was disclosed today with the release of the circuit's 1952 schedule.

The 154-game season opens April 15 and closes Sept. 28.

The nocturnal program offers 19 more games than last year's 197 tilt arclight card and tops the previous high of 204 night games in 1950 by 12.

This increase developed under a one-year rule permitting unlimited night play. However, four clubs—Detroit, Cleveland, New York and Boston—kept their after-dark total the same, and Chicago added only one game for 20.

St. Louis Browns, operating their first full season under Bill Veeck, have the biggest night game increase, 11, from 30 to 41. Washington Senators, greatest exponent of night play, upped last year's total only by two, to 46. Philadelphia Athletics will play 38, five more than last year.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Johnny Peirson of Boston on Tuesday night chalked up an assist when Bruins blanked Chicago 5-0 to put him in a three-way tie for fifth place in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Peirson, Sid Smith of Toronto and Don Raleigh of New York each have 39 points.

Gordie Howe of Detroit continues to pace the pack with 51 points, 26 goals and 25 assists, six points more than Elmer Lach of Montreal who boasts a 12-33—45 record.

Howe leads in goals scored and Lach in assists.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It's Lindsay and Links tonight at Civic. An OHA junior "B" joust at 8.30 betwixt the league-leading Lindsay Kinsmen and the third-place (but climbing) local Oddfellows. Last home game of the schedule for the I.O.O.F. outfit, but they have one more on the road against the Scugog squad ere playoff time. A hefty midweek puck crowd is likely this e'en as these teams have staged some torrid tilts during the past several months, and this windup fray of the schedule on home ice for the Godfrey gang will spur the homesters on. They'll have to be in top form to lick the scrappy Lindsay huskies, too.

* * * * * *

After playing 22 games, Red Robinson leads Triple Links in scoring with 22 goals and 25 assists for 47 points, a mighty impressive showing. Ab Buckton is next with 27 points, one more than Bill Stewart. Tied with 22 are Kevin Hefferman and Clare Ferguson, while Gord Coyle is in there close with 21 points. Bill Twist has been good so far for 12 as Roy Armstrong and Ken Floyd are tied with nine each, Leo Sullivan got eight, Don Clapper and Don Bigford six apiece, and Bus Jensen five. On actual goals scored, Robinson has clicked for one a game, besides doing better than one assist a game. He is one of the top two or three snipers in the whole group.

Jolly Jawns Says "No"

Early last month Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings announced that his team in the NHL would not pull their goalie again in the last minute or two when down a goal in order to put six forwards on the ice. He said it wasn't worth it—that more often than you'd score the tying goal in such a case the other team would flip along shot into the empty net. Jack felt that you had a chance of tying the game up and splitting the points with your regular team on the ice, but that you were likely to lose by a couple of goals by pulling the goalie and taking the gamble. We agree with him, though smart hombres like Dick Irvin and Conny Smythe will still take a chance and yank the netminder in all all-out attempt to tie the game.

* * * * * *

However, we think the chances are against you with the goalie out. While you have six forwards to try to hold the disc in enemy territory, some of your men are under a mental handicap—worrying about that long shot. And sure enough the enemy players are trying hard to grab the puck and shoot it down the ice toward the cage. Like Jake Wade's long, lazy shot night before last that turned a 4-3 game into a 5-3 one. True, a loss is a loss in any case, regardless of the score, but a tie is better and we feel there's more chance of a tie with your goalie in. It's a moment of suspense when you see that puck sliding down the ice toward a yawning net and all the players at the other end of the rink. Quite a thing, wondering if it'll be in or not.

'Twas A Kingston Win

Word yester morn from Belleville was in error, as Kingston defeated the Hawks 12-7, and that makes quite a difference in the senior "B" standing. Petes lengthened their lead o'er Hawks to four points by downing Eagles the same night, and Kingston pulled up into a third-place tie with Eagles, each having 19 points. Petes have 28 and Belleville 24. Friday sees Belleville at Kingston, with Petes playing Eagles here, so some more standing changes will occur that night. Schedule has just three more weeks to go. Hawks are hitting some rough spots lately due to injuries, same as local clubs ran into earlier in the semester.

* * * * * *

Saw a guy last night who doesn't like margarine. He's Referee Bert Maxwell, a wrestling official. At least, he mustn't like it as he okayed Bobo Brazil, a colored butter, who butted Lou Pitoscia into submission in the main team mat bout at the Brock. As Pat Flanagan got the duke over Athol Layton, who roughed up the ref to be disqualified, that gave the popular pair of grapplers the bout in two straight falls. And sent the fans home happy. They shot the works in this wild-eyed main match and nearly had Maxwell nuts ere the end. Zorra downed Mayes McLean in the semi-windup, while Steve Stanlee and Stan Mayslack were both counted out in the prelim.

Palestinian Fractures Shin Bone In Workout

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 6 (AP) —Palestinian, third high-weighted at 122 pounds for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap March 1, fractured his right rear shin bone in a workout Tuesday and probably will be retired, trainer Hirsch Jacobs reported.

The six-year-old son of Sun Again and Dolly Whisk is through with racing for 1952, Hirsch said, and chances are that he will be sent to stud.

Owned by Isidor Bieber of New York, Palestinian won the Brooklyn Handicap last year and the Golden Gate Handicap.

Bowmanville Defeats Lindsay In 4-2 Game

LINDSAY, Feb. 6 —(ENS)— Bowmanville Barons hoisted their lead over the local intermediate "A" Muskies here last night by three points in winning 4-2.

In a rugged, fast-moving tilt that saw Referee Bun Kingdon of Peterborough hand out 16 penalties, the Barons with superb goaltending by big Bill Gearing, outchecked the Muskies for the win. The locals out-shot Bowmanville three to one but with the work of Gearing and some bad luck around the nets couldn't put the puck between the pipes.

Got The First

Bowmanville scored the first goal on a smooth breakaway by flashy centre Don Gilhooley. Guffer Abercrombie of Lindsay tied it up at 5.12, only to have the Barons tally two more by Bird and Mercer before the end of the period. Lindsay's Recreation Director Bill (Red) Mitchell, pressed into blue-line service by the Muskies who have one of their men curling in Winnipeg, was banished for a misconduct late in the first period. Stu Hicks of Lindsay got the only goal of the second, on a pass from Vic Corley. Mitchell, along with Gilhooley, was penalized again for roughing. Another short flurry of firsts ended when Corley and Rice tangled half-way through the period but they were given minors. Bird and Gilhooley combined to get the only third period tally to make the final score 4-2 for Barons.

Bruins Blank Hawks 5-0 As Henry Gets 5th Shutout

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League spotlight is focussed on Boston's upsurging Bruins these days. In the only game played in the NHL Tuesday night—at Boston, of course—it was tantamount to "Old Home Night." The Bruins blanked Chicago Black Hawks 5-0; Jim Henry chalked up his fifth shutout of the season; veteran winger Woody (Porky) Dumart scored his 200th N.H.L. goal; the victory stretched the Bruins' unbeaten streak to five games; it extended their fourth-place lead over the New York Rangers to six points.

But while there was joy in one town, there was little in another—Montreal.

Reason for the gloom is the fact that Maurice (the Rocket) Richard, perennial goal-scorer for Les Canadiens, has had to leave the team on the road.

Richard, suffering from a groin injury, is expected home today.

The rightwinger will confer with club officials here about his future plans. It is possible that he may be sent to Florida for a vacation as physicians have told him that rest is the only thing that will do the injured groin any good.

Richard missed seven games because of the ailment and his return to the ice during the last few games found him far below par.

In Boston, play was halted when Dumart's tally came early in the third period. Teammates and rivals congratulated him and gave him the puck as a souvenir.

A member of the famed pre-war Kraut line, the 35-year-old Dumart is in his 13th season with the Bruins.

A single game will be played tonight with Rangers tangling with the Leafs at Toronto.

Top Athletes Swarm Into Norway

By JACK SULLIVAN.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 6 (CP).—This city of 400,000 population is shaping up as the world's sport centre with the cream of the globe's winter sports athletes arriving daily for the Olympics.

Competitors from about 20 of the 30 participating nations are here and 50 of the expected 460 newspapermen and photographers have moved into the newly-built Press Hotel.

Oslo is taking on the Olympic look. The five rings, symbol of the games, are predominant in store windows and the flags of the competing countries are going up in hotels, shops and other buildings.

Athletes with the "Canada" flash on their shoulders are hobnobbing with Chileans, Frenchmen, Austrians, Icelanders, Swedes, Italians and others at Sogn, the Olympic village in North Oslo.

Praise Conditions

Sogn is made up of two modern, electrically heated eight storey apartment buildings which will house the expected 1,100 to 1,260 competitors. There are two beds to a room, a table with reading lamps, built-in cupboards and every floor has two sitting rooms, showers and wash rooms. Workshops for repairs are located in the cellar. The buildings also have a large restaurant, post and telegraph office, barbers, hairdressers, a travel bureau, bank, newsstand and laundry.

Canadians now in the village—skiers and figure-skaters—are high in their praise of the quarters and the food.

Meanwhile, Frank Stack of Winnipeg, one of Canada's greatest speed-skaters, said today it is extremely doubtful he will be able to compete in the Olympics because of a knee injury.

The 46-year-old Stack, four-time Canadian champion and holder of practically every speed-skating title in Manitoba, tore a cartilage in his left knee while practicing at Lillehammer, about 70 miles north of Oslo.

Boxing Technique At Low Level

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 6 (AP).—The level of boxing technique in both Europe and the United States is lower now than in his time, Georges Carpentier said today.

Carpentier, European heavyweight boxing king some 30 years ago, was known as one of the ring's finest boxers.

"The boxer has been replaced by the puncher who can knock out his rival with one blow," said the Frenchman on a visit here.

"This has come," he said, "because of public's desire for bloody fights with dramatic finishes. The current crop are but pale shades of boxers whose ability enabled them to overcome cruder adversaries."

Carpentier had high praise for former heavyweight champion Joe Louis. He said Louis would have made trouble for any of the fighters in his own time, including Jack Dempsey.

Carpentier was knocked out in the fourth round by Dempsey in their 1921 title fight in Jersey City, NJ.

Montreal Canadiens defeated Chicago Black Hawks 6-1, eight years ago tonight, to set a National Hockey League mark of 18 consecutive home games without a defeat. Canadiens completed their 25-game home schedule without a defeat that season but in the first game of the Stanley Cup playoffs against Toronto, the Montrealers were beaten 3-1. Canadiens however went on to win the Stanley Cup.

St. Catharines Goes On Spree Sinks Waterloo Hurricanes 11-1

By The Canadian Press.

Playoff fever is mounting early in the Ontario Hockey Association's 10-team Junior A loop and St. Catharines Teepees are showing a form that could make them real contenders for league honors in the coming post-season playdowns.

The Niagara district team caught fire with seven goals in the third period Tuesday night against Waterloo to sink the Hurricanes 11-1 at St. Catharines. It was their 18th win in 23 starts in a reawakening that began before Christmas, and it moved them from fifth place into a third-place tie with Toronto St. Michael's.

Guelph Biltmores, in second place in the junior loop, moved to within two games of the leading Toronto Marlboros with a 4-1 win over Barrie Flyers in Guelph.

The O.H.A. Senior A race tightened up as well, with Owen Sound Mercurys moving into a third-place tie with Brantford by virtue of a 7-1 win over the Redmen in Owen Sound.

Drop Further

Sudbury Miners dropped farther from playoff contention in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association four-team Senior A League when they lost 11-8 to third-place North Bay Black Hawks in North Bay.

Frank Martin fired five goals against Waterloo to set a St. Catharines team record. Brian Cullen scored three and Ken Myles, Pierre Pilote and Bill Young added singles. Bob Mader scored Hurricanes' only goal in the second period.

Ken Laufman fired two of Guelph's goals and Andy Bathgate and Chuck Henderson tallied the others. Roy McKenny notched one for Barrie.

Owen Sound scorers were led by Mike Bukacheski with two goals. Ray McCallum, Tommy Burlington, Buck Forslund, Johnny McDonald and Bill McComb got singles. Brantford's scorer was Lloyd Ferguson.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Applications from four new teams for franchises in the Inter-County Baseball League's senior series will come up at Thursday's executive meeting in Galt, it was reported Tuesday night.

The four are said to be Oshawa, Niagara Falls, Windsor and Port Huron, Mich.

Otto Manske, league president, has said that all seven of last year's teams have filed entries They are London, Brantford, Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt and St. Thomas.

Henry Slaun of Boston will defend his Canadian squash racquets championship at a tournament at Toronto's Granite Club Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia Athletics announced Tuesday Frank Skaff of Baltimore will manage their International League farm team in Ottawa this year. The American League club recently bought the Ottawa franchise from New York Giants, which operated here last year for the first time. Ottawa finished seventh.

The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, in a brief statement full of loopholes and contradictions, said Tuesday it would not recognize a contract in which heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott guaranteed a return bout with Ezzard Charles.

Commissioner John (Jack) Dagros, summed it up that Walcott morally should fulfill his half of the written bargain but noted that the commission would put no pressure to make him do it.

Walcott won the title from Charles in a fight at Pittsburgh last July. He signed a pact for a return bout in June, 1951.

Organized baseball hauls out its heavy legal guns today to combat a recent government ruling which puts a new squeeze on diamond salaries. Louis F. Carroll and Ben Fiery, attorneys for the National and American Leagues respectively, head a battery of sports figures to appear at a special hearing called by the salary stabilization board. The board on Jan. 15 issued a ruling which put a limit on overall club budgets rather than individual salaries.

The Ontario badminton championships will be held at the Stratford Badminton Club Feb. 14 to 17, club officials announced Tuesday.

An all-Galt final today for the zone 8 finals of the Ontario curling championship was assured on Tuesday night when rinks skipped by Normie Hines and F. Perry won their semi-final games at Kitchener. The Himes foursome defeated Ray Coad's Woodstock quartet 11-6. The Perry rink came through 10-7 over Sid Smithers' Galt group.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the United States Olympic Committee, said Tuesday the Russians have not asked for any special privileges in the summer Olympics in Helsinki. Brundage told the weekly meeting of the New York Track Writers Association before leaving for Oslo for the winter games that the Russians "have read the rules and accept them."

"We either could take them at their word or not," Brundage said. "They said they had ceased to give cash prizes to their athletes and do not intend to continue their training camps."

A United States Congressional committee decided Tuesday to try to have the Olympic medals of Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlete, restored to him. Thorpe won the medals in Olympic games at Sweden in 1912, but they were taken from him when it was learned he had played baseball for money.

McFater Stays Nine Rounds, Drops Decision

By CRAIG SWAYZE.

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP). — A 20-year-old Canadian lad who wasn't rated a chance at going more than five rounds with lightweight boxing champion James Carter of New York, Tuesday night stuck around for nine in one of the best fights seen in these parts for years.

Even though he dropped a unanimous decision in the nine-round non-title clash, Toronto's Allan McFater put up a show that veteran fight followers termed his best ever. A crowd of 8,666 paid $17,334.

Carter beat McFater to the punch over most of the route, but the Canadian was never on the run. Managed by Willie Ketchum, the Negro titleholder directed his attack at the Toronto fighter's mid-section, keeping him off balance with jabbing lefts and a lightning-like right cross.

The Canadian Press score card gave Carter six rounds, McFater two and one even. There were no knockdowns in the nine rounds, a compromise distance between eight and 10.

Boo Decision

The galleries booed the decision. They had roared time and again throughout the bout when McFater laid into Carter, but most of the punches glanced off the champion.

McFater weighed 141, five pounds more than the champion who let him carry the first two rounds. The third was all even as the Toronto boy tired, Carter taking command for the remaining six.

Best exchange of the fight came midway through the seventh when both fighters stood toe to toe trading lefts and rights. McFater broke out with his favorite right hook near the end of a flurry and Carter quickly clinched.

The only damage was suffered by the winner. McFater opened a cut over the titlist's left eye and raised a mouse under it.

After the fight, Carter described McFater as a "tough, very strong young fellow. He took a lot of punches and sure hit with that right of his. I think with a little more experience he'll go far. He caught me with a couple of good ones."

King's Baptism Under Fire Came In British Cruiser At Jutland

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP).—King George VI, embracing a naval career from the tender age of 14, followed his father's footsteps in this respect. With other cadets Prince Albert, as he was then, went through the Naval College at Osborne on the Isle of Wight and Dartmouth, and at the age of 17 joined the cadet ship Cumberland, a 9,000-ton cruiser, for a few months actual experience at sea in a six months' cruise.

It was on the Cumberland the future King found his sea legs. He learned to swing his own hammock and had his first glimpse of the outside world. The cruiser visited Teneriffe, St. Lucia, Trinidad, Barbados, Martinique, Dominica, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, Havana, Bermuda, Canada and Newfoundland. The prince visited Halifax and Montreal on that trip.

On his return he became a midshipman aboard the "Collingwood" where his shipmates called him "Mr. Johnston." Then came the war—but the Prince almost missed action.

A month after the war broke out he became ill and was rushed to land for an appendicitis operation. After convalescence he was sent for service in the Admiralty and it was not until early 1915 that he rejoined his ship.

Fought at Jutland

Early in 1916 he was forced to go ashore again and served in the Admiralty but rejoined his ship in time to take part in the Battle of Jutland.

His baptism under fire came when the "Collingwood" started shelling German destroyers and the "Derfflinger." His station was in a fore turret and he carried out the routine so thoroughly that he even served up the usual cocoa to his turret mates. The Collingwood was hit during the engagement but the Derfflinger was badly crippled.

For his work he was mentioned in Admiral Lord Jellicoe's despatches and one of his mementoes of the occasion is the white ensign "Collingwood" flew during the battle. He remembered the occasion when preparing an evening snack in his home, he told his wife: "Let me make the cocoa. I know all about the job."

After Jutland the Prince was engaged on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth but spent a good deal of time aboard hospital ships. He suffered from gastric trouble and finally, after a period as acting-lieutenant aboard the battleship "Malaya" he went ashore and underwent an operation for duodenal ulcer. It marked the end of his naval service.

During the latter part of the war Prince Albert served in the air forces. Shortly after King George V died Jan. 20, 1936, as Duke of York, he flew with his brother, King Edward, from Windsor to London. It was the first time a British King had been in the air and of course, the first time a King and the heir to the throne flew together.

King's Early Life Spent In Country

LONDON, Feb. 6—(CP)—The earliest years of George VI, as Prince Albert, were spent with his elder brother, afterwards Edward VIII, for the most part quietly at York Cottage, which only a short time before Albert's birth had been assigned as a country residence for their parents, then the Duke and Duchess of York.

Their elementary lessons were given them for a few years by Madame Bricka, a trusty retainer in the royal service. They learned the elements of physical drill from Sgt.-Maj. Wright, of the Coldstream Guards, afterwards Mayor of Windsor. Later A. P. Hansell, appointed tutor to both the princes, also had the oversight of their amusements and to some extent the choice of their boyhood companions. At times they played football with boys of the village around Sandringham, and cricket with teams from Eton and the choir school of St. George's, Windsor.

Unlike his elder brother, Prince Albert did not go immediately to either of the great universities. When he entered the Royal Naval Training College he followed in the footsteps of his father, who indeed had started a naval career even earlier by joining the famous old training ship Britannia, at the age of 12.

At the Naval College the routine followed by Prince Albert was exactly that of his fellow cadets. The same procedure was adopted when, at the end of two years, he went to Dartmouth for later training. At both these centres the Prince made many friends and several of those who survived Jutland and other events at sea in the war remained among his intimates later.

Devoted Years To Social Work After Great War

LONDON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — After the Great War, during which King George VI served in the navy and air force, he devoted years to social welfare as a civilian. Visits to industrial centres and a close inspection of factories, with informal chats to workers of all ranks, gave him a valuable insight into the manner in which so many millions of his countrymen earned their daily bread.

As Duke of York, he became president of the Industrial Welfare Society and as such it was not long before he displayed not merely an earnest interest in the duties of the office but a keen appreciation of the humorous side of ordinary workaday life.

"Although I never wish a firm to make any preparation for my visits", he once related, "yet I know that the occasion is sometimes used for a little spring-cleaning. Once I noticed that the manager showing me round was not bursting with enthusiasm, but I understood his feelings quite well when I learned afterwards that his department had been debited with the cost of its repainting".

When thanking the orchestra of the Richmond House Laundry the Duke of York told another tale.

"The directors of this company thought it would be a good plan to invite their patrons to a concert in which the band was to play", he said. "They sent out 5,000 invitations in the hope of getting 200 or 300 people. To their dismay they all accepted, and the concert party is now performing three nights a week to work them off before Christmas".

Started Boys' Camps

One of the most notable of the Duke's activities in connection with the social welfare of the people at large was his initiation of holidays camps for an equal number of boys from the historic schools of England and from working-class districts.

Started in 1923 this enterprise continued under the Duke's personal direction until his accession. The camping parties assembled at the Royal Mews, Buckingham Palace. Many of the lads had never before seen the metropolis. The first campers, who numbered 40, entrained for New Romney, in Kent. Camps in subsequent years were held at Southwold, in Suffolk.

Most years the Duke spent at least a couple of nights in camp, sharing all the work and enjoying to the full the pleasures. Every morning he joined the "bathing parade" to the music of mouth organs and bugle. He wore the ordinary camp dress of open shirt, khaki shorts and rubber shoes. At a camp concert held once on the night before his departure the Duke told the boys: "The end of another perfect day in my life has come. I can see you are all enjoying yourselves as my guests in this camp, and that is what I want. I want the camp to be a complete change for you all from your everyday life".

King's Struggle With Stammer Lasted Lifetime

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP)—George VI demonstrated quiet persistence in many ways during his life, but in none perhaps so well as in his struggle with a stammer in speech. All through his younger years he suffered from a seemingly unconquerable hesitancy in speech, distressing to an acute degree in one occupying so high a station in life.

System after system of speech training and voice production were tried without success and for the Duke to attempt a speech was long an ordeal both for the speaker and his listeners.

It was in 1926 that the then Duke of York had the good fortune to become acquainted with an Australian specialist who had opened practice in that London thoroughfare sacred to the medical faculty, Harley Street.

"He entered my consulting room," the specialist has narrated, "at three o'clock, a slim, quiet man with tired eyes, and bearing all the outward signs of one upon whom habitual speech defect had begun to get its sign. When he left you could see there was once more hope in his heart."

The course of treatment was intensive and prolonged, but the royal sufferer went through it doggedly, fortified by the hope that after all the root of the trouble was physical and not, as he had often been told, mental.

Satisfactory results gradually revealed themselves. The patient had made remarkable progress before he left with the Duchess of York for his world tour in 1927, and on his return to London his speech at the Mansion House "welcome home" luncheon was proof of the rapid strides he had made in overcoming his handicap.

As Duke of York he showed a lively sense of humor in after-dinner speaking, especially when he replied to compliments directed to himself. Speaking at the Industrial Welfare Society's dinner, when the late Lord Melchett proposed his health, the Duke said: "Lord Melchett has said some nice things about me — so nice that I do not believe he was really talking about me at all. He reminds me of a sad story I heard of a woman at her husband's funeral. She had been unhappy with him, and his death was not altogether a matter of regret. The parson was painting the virtues of the dead man in such glowing colors that the woman, looking round nervously, whispered to her daughter: 'Milly, is there another corpse?'"

The Duke also once ventured in after-dinner speaking to make a sly "dig" at the famous Irishman, the late T. P. O'Connor. After enumerating some of "Tay Pay's" qualities, the Duke laughingly added: "In fact, Mr. O'Connor loves Ireland so much that he will do anything for it but live in it."

First Visit To Canada Made As Cadet Aboard Cruiser

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP).—King George VI, as Prince Albert, was the first of the sons of George V to make a visit to Canada and in later years he toured many other parts of the Empire.

To wind up his service as a Royal Navy cadet on the cruiser Cumberland he was sent on a six-months cruise that took him to Canada, Newfoundland and the West Indies. He visited Halifax and Charlottetown in May, 1913. The two cities recall him as a quiet 18-year-old youth with a ready smile and an abundant sense of humor.

Halifax newspapers of May 26, 1913, described his as a "genuine boy: slender, of medium height with a frank, open countenance and light complexion." He was said to have "the eyes and expression of his father and the features of his mother."

Because Prince Albert was a naval cadet when he visited Halifax, no official reception was given him. This was the expressed wish of his father, King George V. There was, however, an afternoon tea-dance at Government House, the guests including the young officers of the Cumberland. Those who danced with the prince remember his ever-ready wit and boyish smile.

An incident during the parade from the wharf to Government House gave the prince a warm place in the hearts of the Halifax people. With the crowd lining the route was a small boy, vigorously waving a flag as he sought a sign of recognition of his presence from the prince.

The prince and his companions were looking the other way when they passed the boy. But the young patriot's disappointment was shortlived. As soon as Albert's attention was called to it he retraced his steps and saluted the boy's flag as he passed the second time.

Not Always Solemn

Charlottetown residents have similar memories. "People were impressed by his youthful shyness and evident sense of humor," a newspaper of the day records. "While he attended a reception at Government House, he tried to keep as solemn a face as possible as suited to his dignity and the occasion. But every now and then a smile would spread over his face and he would get behind one of his fellow-cadets."

The prince in later years remarked he had visited Canada under "the somewhat fettered conditions of the service discipline of a naval cadet."

In the first year of his married life the then Duke and Duchess of York paid a visit to Northern Ireland receiving a wonderful welcome from the people of Belfast.

Feeling was running high at that time in most parts of Ireland, but the royal sojourners encountered only the most amiable demonstrations.

In the following winter they visited East Africa and the Soudan, Christmas being spent with the Governor of Kenya at Nairobi. Leaving Kenya for Uganda they sailed over Lake Victoria Nyanza, and the journey ended with a visit to Khartoum. This trip was mainly a holiday big-game shooting expedition, comparatively few official engagements being undertaken.

In January 1927 the Duke and Duchess entered upon a most ambitious tour when, in the battle cruiser Renown, they went round the world by way of Australia and New Zealand. Once more, therefore, the Duke trod the familiar deck of a warship. The Renown was then one of the biggest ships of the British Navy. Seven years previously it had taken the Prince of Wales into Australian waters.

Given Many Duties

The first call of the royal travellers was at Jamaica. Then they went via the Panama Canal to the Marquesas Islands, formerly the home of Robert Louis Stevenson. Afterwards to Suva, in the Fijis. On Feb. 2 the Renown reached New Zealand and remained there exactly one month. The Duchess unhappily contracted tonsilitis, and was consequently able to participate only in the first half of the New Zealand tour. Every sympathy was displayed by the people of New Zealand, and the Duke's openly-expressed fears that the second part of the tour would prove "a frost" owing to the absence of the Duchess were at once falsified.

Amongst the Duke's unconventional adventures was his election as a Maori chief. In Australia his most important duty was the opening of the Parliament Buildings at the new capital of Canberra. His father, King George, had opened the first Australian Federal Parliament in 1901, and it was on the 26th anniversary of this event that the duke unlocked the doors of the new Parliament House, and unveiled a Statue of his father in the entrance hall, while Dame Nellie Melba, the Empire's greatest singer, sang the National Anthem. Other incidents of the tour included a kangaroo hunt in South Australia, a flying trip to the Bendigo goldfields, a review at Melbourne of 25,000 soldiers, and a short visit to Tasmania.

"At every place we visited we have been deeply moved by the demonstrations of affectionate loyalty to the throne with which we have been greeted," declared the Duke on landing at Plymouth. "They far exceeded anything we had imagined, and throughout the tour we have been conscious of one feeling—we were among our own kith and kin."

Relief Greeted George VI's Accession

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP)—George VI was called to the throne in 1936 under circumstances unparallelled in British history. His accession followed the abdication of his elder brother, Edward VIII, who had reigned 11 months since the death of his father, and who had not yet been crowned.

The accession of the second son of beloved George V, whose 25-year reign shone magnificently in the long roll of the British monarchy, was received with great popular relief and acclaim. The keynote of this was caught unerringly by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin who said in the House of Commons: "What will endear him to his people if he is not already endeared is that, more than any of his brothers, he resembles in character and disposition of mind his father, whose loss we were lameting 11 short months ago."

During Edward's brief reign George, then Duke of York, was resolute and assiduous in every proper effort to lighten the burden of sovereignty which lay upon his leder brother. The monarchial crisis came upon the Empire with practically no warning, although United States newspapers had frequently referred to the friendship between Edward and Mrs. Wallis Simpson, the former Baltimore girl who often accompanied the man who had long been known to all the world as the Prince of Wales.

In December, 1936, the crisis grew acute and it became generally known Edward would make a choice between the throne and the woman he loved. The choice was made and on Saturday, Dec. 12, the new King, who was to be known as George VI, took the Accession Oath and announced the first act of his reign would be to confer the title of Duke of Windsor upon his predecessor, who had left England on his abdication. Within the short space of 1 months the Empire had three Kings, an experience unknown since the 15th century.

No small factor in the popularity with which George's accession was received was his family — Queen Elizabeth and his two daughters, Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. Edward, in a wireless broadcast on his abdication, had said he found it impossible to carry on his heavy burden "without the help and support of the woman I love," and added that his younger brother, [illegible] as King George, had "one matchless blessing, enjoyed by so many of you and not bestowed to me, a happy home with his wife and children."

Crisis Well Handled

The attitude of the people at large was probably best summarized by The Times when it said: "When the nation met the shock of revelation it was with momentary incredulity, which was almost at once succeeded by two or three days of tension and of confused opinion in which disillusionment prevailed. But the crisis was handled so steadily by the Prime Minister, and was faced with such unanimity by the governments of the Empire and in the British parliament, that the ship of state gave no lurch.

"For the first time in the history of the Crown a King shed his high office and left virtually no contention behind him; and his successor, King George VI, with his Queen beside him, was in his place instantly. Thus twice in the same year State trumpeters blew for an accession, but for so [illegible] history would have to go back many years."

The following message from George VI on his 41st birthday, a few days later, was read in the House of Lords by Lord Cromer, the Lord Chamberlain, and in the Commons by Mr. Speaker Fitzroy:

"I have succeeded to the Throne in circumstances which are without precedent, and at a moment of great personal distress, but I am resolved to do my duty, and I am sustained by the knowledge that I am supported by the widespread good will and sympathy of all my subjects, here and throughout the world.

"It will be my constant endeavour, with God's help, supported as I shall be by my dear wife, to uphold the honor of the Realm, and to promote the happiness of my people."

Throughout the previous momentous days, the large-hearted London crowd good-houmouredly jostled each other around the house of the new King and Queen at 145 Piccadilly, determined to give the sovereign and his consort a typically popular welcome to the throne. Messages of loyalty from the dominions and colonies and from the remotest stations of the Empire, followed one another rapidly.

Perhaps the most striking sentences in the speech of the Prime Minister in the Commons, when he moved that a humble address be presented to His Majesty in reply to his gracious message, was that in which he referred to the new King's personal characteristics.

"Sir," said Mr. Baldwin, and as he spoke deep feeling played upon his face, "I have the honor of knowing the new King well . . . Whatever may happen to him, no personal predelictions of any kind will stand between him and what he conceives to be his first duty, and that is to fulfil his great task as King and Emperor."

Recalled His Father

In a New Year's message issued shortly afterwards to all his subjects throughout the world, King George said:

"I follow a father who had won for himself an abiding place in the hearts of his peoples, and a brother whose brilliant qualities gave promise of another historic reign—a reign cut short in circumstances upon which, from their very sadness, none of us would wish to dwell.

"I realize to the full the responsibilities of my noble heritage, I shoulder them with all the more confidence in the knowledge that the Queen and my mother, Queen Mary, are at my side.

"Throughout my life it will be my constant endeavor to strengthen that foundation of mutual trust and affection on which the relations between the sovereign and the peoples of the British Empire so happily rest.

"I ask your help towards the fulfilment of this purpose, and I know that I do not ask in vain."

As a prospective ruler, his brother, Edward VIII, then Prince of Wales, once said of him: "My brother Bertie (Albert) would make a better King than I would." The Duke had said of himself: "My chief claim to fame seems to be that I am the father of Princess Elizabeth."

George VI was born at York Cottage, Sandringham, Dec. 14, 1895, and was first known as Prince Albert. At 25 years of age he was created Duke of York, assuming the title held for many years by his father, who had successively become Prince of Wales and George V.

His full baptismal name was Albert Frederick Arthur George. He was born when the reign of Queen Victoria, his grandmother, who filled the throne for no less than 64 years, the longest reign in British history, had still five years to run. The aged monarch was not a little disturbed that the latest British prince should arrive on the anniversary of the

Britain Has Seventh Queen

The accession of Princess Elizabeth marks the seventh time in history that a Queen has ruled England. The following is a list of her predecessors:

Jane—1553 (14 days' reign)
Mary I—1553-1558
Elizabeth I—1558-1603
Mary II—1689-1694
Anne—1702-1714
Victoria—1837-1901

Scotland has been ruled by two queens, Margaret (1286-1290) and Mary (1542-1567).

Papers' Extras Across Canada Carry News Of King's Death

By The Canadian Press

Black-bordered newspapers told shocked Canadian readers today of the unexpected death of the King.

The news broke before 6 a.m. EST—after publication time for most morning papers and well before most evening papers go to press.

Many told the news in extra editions — at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. In Victoria the morning Colonist's extra devoted six pages to the story.

Across the country, evening papers went to press hours earlier than usual. They carried news stories on the death and Elizabeth's accession to the throne and reaction in Canada and elsewhere in the Commonwealth. Editorials praised the King's career of service. Pictures illustrated the story of his reign and his severe illness last year.

ELIZABETH II WELL SCHOOLED FOR HER TASK

'Lillibet' Of 1930's Is Queen

By The Canadian Press

The pink bundle yawned, burbled and blew bubbles—and seconds later, as dawn whipped across London's Mayfair on April 21, 1926, elderly Sir William Joynson-Hicks, then Britain's home secretary, greeted His Royal Highness, the Duke of York, and said:

"It's a girl!"

Then Sir William hustled off to the Lord Mayor to herald the news that former Lady Elizabeth Angela Marguerite Bowes-Lyon had borne "a babe, female, of true royal blood" who in a few short years would have all Britain at her chubby knees, and in two decades would be the central figure in a romance of world interest.

Observers of 26 years ago were quick to sense that Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary would never be far from the shadow of a crown. But few who stood around the fo[illegible] in the private chapel of Buckingham Palace five weeks later could guess how close that shadow lay.

Her kicking legs warmed by an antique robe which had covered the infant limbs of a queen and three kings, Elizabeth roared her disapproval without realizing her christening came when, among other events of the times, the British Commonwealth of Nations arrived at maturity.

Her arrival coincided with the joint decision of Britain and the Dominions to define themselves as "autonomous communities within the Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate to one another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs though united by a common allegiance to the Crown."

Saw Statute Sealed

She graduated from the nursery and entered the schoolroom when the Statute of Westminster in 1932 set solemn seal to that concept. While a gangling teen-ager self-consciously opening the door to public life, she watched the Commonwealth link arms in defence of that concept. At 21, a young woman in love and marriage a few months away, she called on her generation to walk with her in perpetuating "our union."

Flipping back the newspapers of that time when a proud, sparkling-eyed mother softly told her first child to "shush" as the ancient ceremony of the Church of England came to a climax, today's reader would discover that:

Gentle King George V of the neatly trimmed iron-grey beard, who was to dote on this baby, was enjoying vigorous health.

Debonair Edward VIII, then Prince of Wales and Elizabeth's "Uncle David," was still unmarried. Even if he clung to bachelorhood, her own parents — the quiet, shy Duke and Duchess of York—might have a son who would sit on the throne.

But the news columns of the period would also tell how the shadow of the regal headdress became each hour more substance than fancy after Elizabeth's 11th birthday in 1937.

"Grandpapa England," as Elizabeth fondly called her grandfather, was dead, the new king had abdicated to retire with "the woman I love," and her father was gravely weighing the responsibilities of the crown he wore.

A slim, nervous and retiring child, Elizabeth could not comprehend fully the implications of these muddled weeks.

Perhaps that's why she could grin and wave on Coronation Day as she joined her tired parents, her stiff-backed Granny and their retinue on a Buckingham Palace baloncy.

"Hello, Lillibet"

Far from that baloncy, far from the cheering throngs who cried "Hello, Lillibet!" loomed the future—the great, inescapable responsibility of being the sixth British queen since the Norman Conquest.

There on the baloncy was father to guide and inspire, a young king who defeated by sheer will-power his nervous speech defect. Behind him, calm, steady, was her grandmother, Queen Mary, to whom regal precedence, duty and devotion to a proud dynasty were all-important.

"The Bambino," as Queen Mary called Elizabeth, would have a good life. There would be cracking good family parties, outdoor trips, pets, riding and friendly companionship.

From the first, the King and Queen were determined to have their daughter's life as free from clammy traditionalism as possible.

She had to be a natural child. Affectations could develop later, but in childhood, let there be nonsense, let there be nursery junkets, and let there be a little girl with a silly giggle who would slyly collect worms and butterfly cocoons while wondering what it might be like to feed a pet turtle. And, of course, the result, at 21, was a sturdy, vibrant young woman with a lot of her father's serious mien, but not at all lacking in her mother's sense of humor.

Although slow in appearing, her smile was broad and unaffected when it lit her face.

Loved London

And it lit her face often in early life. Perhaps the atmosphere of the Bruton Street home of her maternal grandparents, the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, where she was born, had a lot to do with it. In any event, the London residence of one of Scotland's most ancient families will long remain a nostalgic memory for Elizabeth.

Later, she and her parents moved to 145 Picadilly, a bigger home with black doors and a large garden, where one could play and wave and chortle at the sightseers who insisted on peering through the iron railing.

Then, there were long trips to the country—Glamis in the Scottish Highlands, where younger sister Margaret was born in 1930. But smoky London always remained a place of adventure from the day "Grandpapa" first sent a coach to take her driving through Kensington Gardens—and Queen Mary ordered an urban excursion.

While Canadian lungs roared cheers to her parents in the spring of 1939, Elizabeth and Margaret went adventuring. They had their first ride in a London underground. It was much more zestful fun than sitting sedately in a limousine with a royal flag flapping and whipping about its radiator.

Forbidden to have an automobile of her own, Elizabeth chalked up a personal triumph during the war by driving a military car through rush-hour traffic, twice around Piccadilly Circus. That marked her graduation from the Auxiliary Territorial Service school where she had been a member since her 18th birthday.

Knew The People

As is the case today, she knew London's teeming peoples, the rich and the poor. On VE-Day, 1945, she and Margaret stood with their parents on Buckingham Palace balcony, waving to the adulating crowds below.

This time, however, the tumult and rejoicing were too much. While the city went wild, she slipped away into the throng to get her first street's-eye view of her tired but happy King and Queen.

Peace had again come to her island, and with it new demands, tedious tasks and sober responsibilities for an heiress called "princess" by right of royal birth, but lacking a title in peerage and rated a commoner by law.

Princess Elizabeth then seemed to blossom.

Early in 1947 she and Margaret Rose accompanied the King and Queen to South Africa. It was her first visit outside the British Isles, and her first intimate contact with that Commonwealth whose destiny she would dedicate herself to at legal maturity.

Pledge of Faith

At Capetown she observed her 21st birthday with this pledge of faith to her Empire:

"Will you, the youth of the British family of nations, let me speak on my birthday as your representative?

"Now that we are coming to manhood and womanhood, it is surely a great joy to all to think that we shall be able to take some of the burden off the shoulders of our elders who have fought and worked and suffered to protect our childhood.

"We must not be daunted by the anxieties and hardships that the war has left behind for every nation of our Commonwealth....

"There is a motto which has been borne by many of my ancestors—a noble motto — 'I serve.' Those words were an inspiration to many bygone heirs to the throne when they made their knightly dedication as they came to manhood.

"I cannot do quite as they did, but through the inventions of science I can do what was not possible for any of them. I can make my solemn act of dedication with a whole Empire listening.

"I declare....all my life.... shall be devoted to your service and the service of our great imperial family to which we all belong, but I shall not have the strength to carry out this resolution alone, unless you join in it with me....God help me to make good my vow, and God bless all of you who are willing to share it."

DURING TOUR of the Princess Elizabeth and Duke of Edinburgh of Canada in 1951 a state dinner was tendered the royal couple on their visit to Canada. This photograph of Princess Elizabeth was taken on that occasion.

New Queen Never An Idler, Interested In Art, Outdoors

LONDON, Feb. 6—(CP)—Never a lass to sit before a spinet idling away hours as did the bored but always beautiful princesses of fairyland lore, Elizabeth preferred paint tubes and easel, lino mats and a sharp cutting knife to keep her fingers flying and her mind agile and relaxed.

Inheritor of her mother's love of artistic expression, Elizabeth never was grim or stodgy or a rabid and "arty" devotee of line and form. She could discuss surrealism, appraise Picasso — but gave herself no conceited airs, rather she apporached the subject for what it really meant to her: a good hobby.

Before she came of age, Elizabeth's water colors drew more than mere polite praise when displayed at the London Rowley Galleries and later when hung in Buckingham Palace.

And in keeping with a fast-maturing miss, and perhaps tiring of the classic water color vehicle as a means of expression, she came to a sturdier, bolder art—lino cuts. If not giving the most satisfaction, at least they supplied her with effective and original personal Christmas greeting cards.

Most children at times cause despair to parents by trundling home "precious" stones, gathered at seashores, in parks and along country footpaths. Whether she cause despair or not is unknown, but during most of her adolescent days Elizabeth was an enthusiastic colored stone collector. Even in 1947 she could tell her juniors how to grade and mount beautiful pebbles.

Liked Outdoors

On the more strenuous and physical side, she enjoyed cycling and skating, next to riding and swimming, of course. And in keeping with ancient royal household tradition, she became an adept knitter and mistress of the pincushion-and-needle art.

Philip may have been influenced in his devotion, by the way, with discovery that Elizabeth showed commendable skill with a skillet and batter-bowl. There too, Scottish-born Queen Elizabeth's guiding hand is seen. Like any sensible, far-seeing mother, she insisted the elder daughter should know how to keep house, change bed-linen and, above all, to cook.

It's perhaps disconcerting to reconcile Elizabeth in a Norman Hartnell dream dress with an Elizabeth in grease-spotted overalls, agilely twisting a heavy wrench under the hood of an automobile.

But during her term in army service she learned to take a motor apart, reassemble it, test it—and stand back with a well-daubed but beaming face, proud as any master mechanic.

From her 15th birthday on, she developed an almost fanatical desire to drive her own automobile.

But it wasn't until shortly after her engagement to Philip that the King agreed to allow her a Daimler for personal use.

Maybe in a headstrong mood, maybe in a rash moment of rebellion against what she youthfully thought was an overdose of control, she could cry to a friend: "I'd like a car of my own, but there's so much family talk about which make I must have that I don't think I'll ever get one".

Journalists Laud Elizabeth As Lively, Happy

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP) — How can Elizabeth's personality and character be assessed?

Well, first off go to her staunchest admirers— those newspaper men whose daily chore is reporting the multitudinous duties of the Royal Family.

Early in 1947, Louis Wulff, veteran British Press Association reporter, wrote in his book "Queen of Tomorrow:".

"Unspoilt, natural and charming no matter whom she meets she looks at each with the same steadfast, direct and tranquil gaze, listens to each with the same interested attention, speaks to each in the same softly-rounded musical voice that is so compellingly reminiscent of her mother."

Always a happy person, with the gift of making those she met happy, too, she could be described as being utterly free from self-consciousness.

Knowledge of the world, statecraft, politics and humanity, wrote Wulff, are necessary prerequisites of a modern princess, and Britain's mistress-to-be cetainly added to her studies. However, she "was neither forced precociously in a hothouse of royal learning as a young girl, nor circumscribed in her studies and entertainments when she grew older."

Vigorous, Serious.

Therefore, with a vigorous, lively disposition, she could on the one hand be light-hearted, gay and easy-going, and on the other — a serious-minded young woman, aware of solemn duties and the historic role life and circumstances mapped for her.

Basically, Elizabeth was a dutiful elder child. Howver, just as a million youngsters in Britain and Canada, she could curl up, kitty-cat fashion, after a day of social chores and avidly read popular novels. "For Whom the Bell Tolls," among others, was enjoyable fare.

But reading tastes never stopped at popular titles, as her own library of classical French and English works gave evidence. The shelves began to expand and when she moved from 145 Piccardilly as a child the transfer of her library was one job she bossed personally.

Another side is given by some habitues of social gatherings in London who suggested she included a curt and sometimes imperious side to her make-up. They tell of a Palace party at which she found a friend powdering her nose is a corridor.

Elizabeth is reported as snapping: "This is not the cloakroom."

Rebelliousness, Schoolwork Marked Queen's Early Years

Elizabeth's first audience was a grave one, and among it were her equals and superiors, both temporal and spiritual.

There were greying grandparents, fussy aunts and jocular uncles. There was the twinkling-eyed Archbishop of Canterbury who sonorously intoned her names: Elizabeth Alexandra Mary —the first after her mother, the second after her great-grandmother, and the third after Queen Mary.

The sponsors who stood about the Lily Font—designed in 1840 for Queen Victoria's first child—were King George V, Queen Mary, the Princess Royal, the Duke of Connaught and the Earl and Countess of Strathmore.

Royal baptisms are always somewhat elaborate affairs and cooing Elizabeth appreciated the attentive audience, while not realizing that the christening water had been brought all the way from River Jordan.

Too, she was totally unaware that she started a new Royal fashion. In years past, Royal babies were usually baptized at Windsor Castle. Since Elizabeth's christening in the Buckingham chapel, that Royal residence has been favorite choice for such events.

Spanning the years that followed, it became apparent that Elizabeth's was a happy childhood, undisturbed and unruffled by post-war economic and social unrest.

Rebellious Girlhood

However, no secret has ever been made that her entry to girlhood was marked by the usual and natuarl rebellions. In fact, when five, she is reported as being rude to her governess, who answered in kind by refusing to talk to her until an apology was made. Lillibet wouldn't have that, and stamping her feet cried: "Good morning — it's Royalty speaking!"

That did it. Mother stepped in and reminded the tot that Royalty, of all people, has its obligations of politeness.

Queen Mother Mary had little patience with affected airs. Once she took tiny granddaughter to an exhibition. About to enter, Queen Mary heard Lillibet say in a pleased manner that folks were waiting "to see me." She didn't see the exhibits. Instead she was sent home in a taxi.

Elizabeth never sweated through a formal examination, but her early education covered a wide range. Beginning with English literature, grammar and elementary maths, it ranged to French and the Scriptures.

French At Meals

It may have affected her digestion, but once a week French only was spoken at meal times.

With passing years, studies included constitutional and economic history—and intricate problems arising from Commonwealth problems.

Nibbling a sweet, she plowed through histories of the colonies—and "The Evolution of a Self-Governing Dominion."

While bent over such sturdy tomes, her father told her of Edward's abdication. In a robe of purple velvet, an ermine cloak and lilliputian coronet, she watched the Coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey a few months later.

Years for a princess, as for all young people, seem to have Mercury's feet. They swiftly sped away while Elizabeth was engrossed by lessons. Girl Guide activities, reading and sports. Soon she was 13—wearing her first long stockings and mentioned for the first time since babyhood in a Court circular.

Then Mars took a hand in world events. While her father's ministers sparked the strategy of war, Elizabeth, then 16, was confirmed in the Church of England—and gazetted colonel in the Grenadier Guards. Then, like all British girls her age, she registered for national service—for the Queen of today had to be ever willing to defend her Commonwealth.

S. Africa Recalls Happy Princess

LONDON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — South Africa will not necessarily remember Elizabeth as a princess taking an oath of duty.

Her citizens will recall a warm, unaffected, friendly young woman who wandered among them asking frank questions —and demanding frank answers. Thus, her actions won more friends than her words.

For example, her mother was having difficulty clambering the rocky slopes leading to Rhodes Memorial in Rhodesia. Her high-heeled shoes were not made for mountain climbing. Elizabeth shucked off her sport shoes and gave them to the Queen. "Here," she said "try these," then raced the party up the incline in her stockinged feet.

At Eshowe, 5,000 semi-nude Zulas struck up a dance and march-past for the Royal Party. Young Margaret was quite tickled She began to smile—until Elizebath bore down with a reproving glance.

Later, at a Girl Guide review in Basutoland, Elizabeth caught a glimpse of a bus loaded with Guides, but kept apart from the main demonstration. Before Margaret could follow and despite anxious protests of officals, Elizabeth ran to them. After a lengthy chit-chat, Elizabeth returned to her party with the information that the bus contained a Girl Guide troop from a leper colony.

The heiress presumptive (according to protocol it must never be assumed that a male heir shall not be born to the King and Queen) thought of her people back home while enjoying the warm sunshine and hospitality of South Africa. Sensitive to her homeland's economic trials, she paused during her trip to make a statement worthy of a future monarch:

"I feel rather guilty for being here enjoying myself when the people at home are suffering so."

That sentiment was typical of Elizabeth, who at 18 years of age, was ready to be a Counsellor of State. When 19, Buckingham Palace announced that "the King has granted Her Royal Highness, the Princess Elizabeth, a commission with the honorary rank of second subaltern in the Auxiliary Territorial Service. Her Royal Highness is at present undergoing a course at a driving training centre in the south of England."

On a visit to that A.T.S. centre, the King and Queen found Elizabeth stretched under a truck— and smeared with oil and grime but bubbling over with enthusiasm for her "grease monkey" job.

Relief Greeted George VI's Accession to Throne

death of her husband Albert, the Prince Consort, over whose loss she had remained inconsolable for nearly 40 years.

The mournful coincidence was rendered less painful for her, however, when George and Mary readily agreed that the first name of their second child should be Albert. Frederick had been a name popular in his mother's family, Arthur was a name well known in the British House and George was the name, of course, by which his father was called by his nearest kindred.

Only 18 months lay between the ages of Prince Albert and his brother Edward, afterwards Edward VIII. At the age of 14 Albert entered the Royal Naval Training College at Osborne, Isle of Wight and gained more intensive training at Dartmouth. He joined a cadet ship and served on the Collingwood at the outbreak of the Great War. He was aboard her at the Battle of Jutland and was mentioned in despatches. Towards the end of 1917 he entered the Royal Air Force and a month before the Armistice went to France on the RAF staff, remaining in Belgium until the close of hostilities.

Ill While In Navy

Throughout his naval career the Prince suffered almost continually from illness and he was removed to Aberdeen at the outbreak of war for an operation for appendicitis. Although the operation was successful he never enjoyed a complete measure of health. He returned to the Collingwood however and served afloat until he joined the staff of the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth. He returned to sea on the Malaya but ill-health continued to beset him and this time an operation for a duodenal ulcer was necessary.

Towards the end of 1917, at his father's desire, Prince Albert entered the air service, undoubtedly in order the junior branch of the forces should receive at least one royal recruit. At that time the army and navy had their own air forces, but on the merging of these the Prince was given the rank of captain in the new Royal Air Force.

Typical of his methodical ways was his qualification in the final test. On the day fixed he rose early in order to have the ordeal over. But a high wind was blowing and he was strongly advised to postpone his attempt. With a matter-of-fact: "I can't have it hanging over my head," he went up and passed the test.

After obtaining his pilot's certificate he subsequently reached the ranks of Squadron Leader, Wing Commander and Group Captain

He was in Belgium at the Armistice and his first official duty following that was to represent King George V when the King of the Belgians made his spectacular return to Belgium's capital, which had been in German hands four years.

In 1919 he went to Cambridge with his brother Prince Henry, now Duke of Gloucester, to study history and economics. Partly as a result of these studies and doubtless also on account of his parents' wishes—the Duke of York—he was so created in the birthday honors of 1920 and had been created a Knight of the Garter on his 21st birthday—began to manifest an intensive interest in the social life of the nation.

Fined For Smoking

At Cambridge, college rules and tradition bowed no more for prince than commoner for on one occasion a proctor caught Albert smoking in a street while wearing cap and gown—and he drew the usual fine.

His brief undergraduate life was frequently interrupted by the call of official duties for the then Prince of Wales was visiting Canada and the United States and later Australia and New Zealand. Albert had to deputize for him at home.

After Cambridge he had the life of a civilian, a distinct change from the course followed by British princes of earlier generations, who almost without exception served in the fighting forces.

He became known as "The Industrial Prince". Like his father, he early paid ungrudging devotion to public service and through it learned much of Britain's gravest national problems and was active in contributing to their solution.

He once said "nothing is more important to the security and prosperity of the Empire than keeping up a high standard of industrial welfare". Studying that welfare, he went among his fellow countrymen, stood at the side of factory workers and miners as they labored. By 1932, as Duke of York, he was in a position to say "I have been able to see nearly every industry in the country."

One of the most notable of the Duke's activities in connection with social wefare was his initiation of holiday camps for an equal number of boys from the historic public schools and from working-class district, an enterprise that continued under his personal direction until his accession to the throne.

Married In 1923

On Jan. 15, 1923, the Court Circular contained the following: "It is with the greatest pleasure that the King and Queen announce the betrothal of their beloved son, the Duke of York, to Lady Elizabeth Bowes - Lyon, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore and Kinghorne, to which union the King has gladly given his consent."

The news was received with a keen and affectionate interest in every part of the Empire, and good wishes were forthcoming from wide and diverse circles. In Great Britain the people already realized that the Duke of York, overcoming the difficulties attaching to his high state, had struck out on his own account into a new life of activity through his intensive and sympathetic studies of problems which "present themselves in the present era," while his career both in the navy and air force had shown him possessed of qualities which had enabled him to serve with credit, if not with marked distinction.

The identity of his bride-to-be did not come entirely as a surprise to those who had been watching movements in Court circles. In the previous summer her Majesty Queen Mary had visited Glamis Castle, the picturesque seat of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, and had spent much time there in the company of the future Duchess of York. To the nation at large, Lady Elizabeth Bowes - Lyon, who was then in her 23rd year, was chiefly known as having been one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Princess Mary (later the princess Royal) to Viscount Lascelles (later the Earl of Harwood). As things turned out her Ladyship was the first of Princess Mary's bridesmaids to herself become a bride.

The wedding took place in Westminster Abbey, April 26, 1923, amidst general acclamations of goodwill. There were eight bridesmaids, and the bridegroom was supported by his brothers, the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry (later Duke of Gloucester). "Marriages with foreign princes and princesses used to be regarded as the lot of our royal house, through political necessity," wrote The Times, "and with some rare exceptions did not greatly move the masses. . .Belief in love and marriage in ingrained in the British peoples, as one of the oldest, deepest and healthiest of their traditions.

"Though some of these unions had their element of romance, and the nation tried to make the most of it, they were a little sceptical as to its reality where 'reasons of state' had brought the young people together. The marriage of the Duke of York with his sister's friend is clearly a love match, and it appeals to this deep-rooted national feeling in the same way. The people know very little about the bride, - as of necessity they know very little about well-bred young ladies living quietly at home, but all they do know is good and commendable.

Up to the time of this marriage it is noteworthy that, with the exception of Princess Mary's the marriages of the royal household into the peerage for at least a century had in all instances been into Scottish families. Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, married Lord Lorne in 1871. The people in Argyllshire then said that Queen Victoria "would be a proud woman that day, with her daughter marrying the son of the great Duke of Argyll." The Earl of Fife married Princess Louise Victoria, eldest daughter of King Edward. Another royal match with a Scottish family was that of Princess Patricia of Connaught with Captain Ramsay in 1922.

Birth of Princess

One of George V's wedding gifts to his second son was the conferment of the rank of Knight of the Thistle, which was also a compliment of course to the bride and her family. Their first home was at White Lodge, Richmond, and later they moved to 145, Piccadilly. Princess Elizabeth Alexander Mary was born April 21, 1926 and Princess Margaret Ross Aug. 21, 1930.

Before his accession, George VI saw many parts of the Empire although he was not of course as widely-travelled as Edward. He was the first of George V's sons ever to set foot on Canadian soil. He was a cadet on board the Cumberland, which touched Halifax and Charlottetown before the war. In the first year of their married life the then Duke and Duchess of York paid an official visit to Scotland, and later they went to Ireland, East Africa and the Soudan, Uganda and Egypt. In 1927 they went around the world by way of Australia and New Zealand aboard the battle cruiser Renown.

The King's interest in matters Canadian was especially notable during his years as Duke of York. Following the Armistice he visited the late General Sir Arthur Currie at Canadian Headquarters at Bonn. In April 1922 he presided over the Canadian Club dinner of welcome to the late Hon. Peter Larkin, who had gone to London as High Commissioner, and he also attended more than one of the commemorative banquests held in London on Dominion Day.

George VI. Dies

helped Britons meet and turn back the foe's blitzkreig. With his Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the King will be long remembered for his part in "Britain's finest hour."

The Monarch was better known both to his own subjects and to foreigners than any other modern king. His radio addresses were heard around the world. He travelled extensively despite poor health which plagued him from the time he ascended the throne.

To the modest, young brother—who wanted nothing more than to live a quiet life with his family—fell the task of being the nominal ruler of an empire with a total population in excess of 500,000,000, approximately a quarter of the people of the globe. He lacked three days of being 41 years old at the time.

Though the days of his reign saw the empire shrink greatly, the King and his family vastly increased the love and respect in which the Royal institution was held.

Died On Same Estate Where Born

George VI died on the same estate where he was born in the smaller York Cottage near the big Sandringham House. His father, King George V, also died at Sandringham 16 years ago, on Jan. 21, 1936.

The King's survivors include his mother, 84-year-old Queen Mary.

Born Albert Frederick Arthur George, Duke of York, the second son of George V and Queen Mary, was shy, nervous and lacking in self-confidence until his marriage in 1923 to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon. His wife's quiet companionship and the happy home she created for him did much to banish his shyness and even helped to cure his stammering.

He was the first English king to have a commoner wife. Queen Elizabeth was the youngest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, popular alike in London society and her native Scotland.

The two had to face a new democratic spirit in a shattered world. Colonies gave way to dominions and dominions to republics during the 15-year reign, but despite transformations and loss of territory George VI helped maintain much of Britain's prestige and powers of leadership.

Frail Monarch Met Many Crises

The frail King was called on, time after time, to meet crises facing the Empire and Commonwealth.

He came to the throne at a time when the monarchy was reeling under the severest blow it had received in popular esteem for generations.

The first voluntary abdication in English history—Edward's dramatic decision to throw up his position as King-Emperor in order to wed the alluring Mrs. Wallis Simpson—had shaken to the core the average Briton's implicit faith in the men who rule him.

He ascended the throne in a wave of indifference and unflattering comparison with his elder brother.

He overcame it and became a symbol of national character, a devoted and typical family man—an "ordinary bloke" the English called him. He was unpretentious and in every way the product of the British tradition of constitutional monarchy.

He came to the throne during a family crisis in a critical year of war and rumors of war—yet he left the popularity of his house greater than ever.

Endeared Himself Around World

During a reign which saw the worst crisis Britain and the Commonwealth had ever weathered—the Second World War—culminating in two years of illness, he endeared himself to his country and the world.

He added lustre to the British tradition of constitutional monarchy.

In the grueling war years and the aftermath of austerity this unswerving devotion to duty inspired the confidence and trust of his people.

He and the Queen started slowly—they were themselves.

Just as George V conquered the wave of unpopularity which surged against him at the outset of his reign, so his second son dispersed the public fears.

The visit of the King and Queen to France in 1938 proved to be the great turning point.

The French people took the Royal couple to their hearts and his triumph was contagious. On their returning home there were scenes of mass loyalty reminiscent of the jubilee days of George V.

Nation Awakes To Sudden Popularity

The nation suddenly awoke to the fact that it had a friendly King, who, with his smiling wife and two little daughters, had a sincere and simple humanity and a desire to lead a normal, domestic happy life.

Since then the people have shared in every family celebration. Princess Elizabeth's wedding and the birth of her children were the latest occasions.

During their six-week tour of Canada and the United States in early 1939 the Royal couple were acclaimed not only as worthy sovereigns but as people of personality and charm.

History was made because never before had a reigning British monarch visited the United States.

Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver and a host of towns and villages enroute spread before the Royal couple with their offerings of loyalty and affection. The King sought out contacts with his people in a way that drew all hearts to himself as well as to his crown.

Welcome In United States Incomparable

The welcome in the United States was incomparable. Americans can remember the King and President Roosevelt shaking hands at Washington Station, the King saluting the grave of George Washington, the United States Congressional reception, the King eating a hot-dog at a picnic at Hyde Park, the storm of New York's greeting, and the informality of the tour of the World's Fair. And all these things made to American feeling an irresistible appeal.

One of the brilliant pages of his reign was the marriage of his daughter Elizabeth to Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, former Prince of Greece and Denmark. In November, 1947, at a magnificent ceremony in Westminster Abbey, the 21-year-old heiress presumptive was married to the man of her choice, newly created Duke of Edinburgh and Prince of the Realm.

Margaret, the King's vivacious, witty and attractive younger daughter, has many suitors for her hand but her choice, if any, had not been announced at the time of the Monarch's death.

Just before his daughter and heir, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh left on a trip to Africa and Australia and New Zealand last week the King joined them in a visit to the theatre.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Truman said Tuesday night in an address that the world stands between permanent world peace and the destruction of civilization.

C.A.B. Is Told Radio Needs Present Opinion

AMHERST, N.S., Feb. 6 (CP)—T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said Tuesday private radio must do more than present facts—it must present opinions.

In a speech on C.A.B. affairs before this second day's session of the Maritime Association of Broadcasters, Mr. Allard said radio's role is important in keeping people informed.

"It is growing more so in a day of increasing newsprint shortages, in a day when there are far more radio stations in existence in North America than daily newspapers," he said.

He felt the day would come "when we must express our own opinions. No man commands respect unless he stands for something. Editorial policy is a process of standing for something and I believe that broadcasting stations must soon come to the point where each of them takes sides for or against, on vital issues of the day."

Broadcasting was "assisted by the more enlightened progressive elements amongst printed publications who realize the necessity for freedom in all avenues of mass communication if democracy is to survive and who know that a threat to one's freedom is a threat to all."

British Officials Stunned At News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—British officials in the United States awoke with a shock today to the news that their King was dead.

The death of King George VI was announced early today in London.

The word had not yet reached Washington when British offices were called immediately after the announcement.

Charles Campbell, press officer at the British Embassy, was stunned. He said he was notifying British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks immediately.

Propose Deepening Of Richelieu River

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 6 (AP).—Deepening of a 66-mile stretch of the Richelieu River in Canada to create an inland waterway from Canadian ore fields to New York State was proposed Tuesday by a New York legislator.

Republican Assemblyman James A. Fitzpatrick of Plattsburgh said barges and other cargo vessels then could travel from Canada down the Richelieu, into Lake Champlain, the New York barge canal system, and the Hudson River on a direct natural route.

Plan Two Covenants

PARIS, Feb. 6 — (AP) — The United Nations wound up a bitter debate Tuesday by voting in its closing hours to draw up two separate covenants on Man's basic civil, political, economic, social and cultural right. It turned over the job of drawing up the twin international magna carta to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights.

VISITING NAIROBI on her way to Australia with Prince Philip, the King's daughter found herself proclaimed Queen after her father died peacefully in his sleep during the night. 325,000 Petition Liquor Law Enforced

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 — (CP).—The archbishop's palace announced Tuesday that about 325,000 residents of the Montreal and affiliated Roman Catholic dioceses have signed a petition to the Quebec government asking strict observance of the provincial liquor laws.

The City of Montreal provided 202,236 signatures. Residents of other diaceses in province have also signed a similar petition and their number is estimated to be at least 100,000.

The petitions, submitted by hundreds of voluntary workers, deal with enforcement and punishment generally and with hours of closing for grills and cafes on Saturday nights and restricted hours in places where beer and wine are served during meals on Sundays.

It was also announced that 108 town councils have made similar requests, among which are 18 in the Montreal area.

See Ontario Farms Going Mechanized

TORONTO, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Ontario farms are going mechanized and farmers are choosing the more high-powered farm machines to cut down the number of men needed to work the land.

Dr. H. L. Patterson, farm economics director of the Ontario Agriculture Department, told the Ontario Plowmen's Association that farmers can save money by joint ownership of heavy machinery such as tractors and combines.

"The method of joint ownership is working equitably on many farms today. It could work anywhere that men of good will are willing to co-operate on a fair basis and are careful to follow the necessary rules."

Ether Explodes Three Burned

STRAFORD, Feb. 6—(CP)—An explosion of ether burned a four-year-old boy and two doctors in a Stratford general hospital operating room Tuesday.

The boy, John Grits, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Grits, Stratford, suffered second degree burns to his face and neck. Hospital officials said he was in satisfactory condition Tuesday night.

Two doctors, Dr. L. A. Macklin and Dr. C. E. Sylvester, were knocked off their feet by the explosion which shook the operating room. They both received minor burns.

In a statement Tuesday night, hospital spokesmen said they were almost certain that the freak explosion was caused by static electricity, in spite of grounding precautions that had been taken.

Defence Estimates Studied By Cabinet

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 — (CP) — Cabinet took its first long, hard look Tuesday at defence estimates for the next fiscal year which are expected to tower beyond a record $2,000,000,000.

Top defence, financnal and diplomatic officials, including the chiefs of staff, were present as the estimates came under review on the eve of External Affairs Minister Pearson's departure for an important meeting of the N.A.T.O. council of ministers starting in 11 days.

Couple Learn Son Alive, POW

KEEWATIN, Minn., Feb. 6 — (AP). — An underground iron miner and his wife who had been paid $5,000 of the government insurance of their son listed as killed in action Tuesday, received a letter from the son saying he is a prisoner of war.

Last summer the Defence Department notified Mr. and Mrs. Marko Milkovich of Keewatin that their son, Pte. Michael Milkovich, 24, had been killed in action.

An army chaplain later wrote the couple that their son had "a quick death with no suffering." The chaplain said young Milkovich had "received a Christian burial."

The couple heard no more until the Chinese Communists released their prisoner of war list Dec. 19. Milkovich's name was on the Communist list, but the Defence Department did not verify the listing as a prisoner.

The letter received Tuesday was written Christmas Eve and had a Christmas greeting card enclosed.

Two Local Divers Recover Body

The body of James Harrold, 36, of Toronto, who was drowned on Lake Simcoe near Beaverton, Sunday, in an attempt to swim from one ice fishing hole to another, was recovered on Tuesday morning at 10:30.

Diver Fred James, and helper Dick Junkin, both of the Trent Valley canal staff of Peterborough, were taken with their gear to Lake Simcoe by Norman Bradley, also of this city in one of his trucks.

The rescue party on arrival checked in with Provincial Constable Kenneth Moore, who guided them to the spot on the ice. With a ladder from the Beaverton fire hall, diver James descended an open ice cut two by 20 feet and made a circuit of the muddy water at the end of a 50-foot rope.

On the second circuit, after James had shortened his rope by six feet, the body of Harrold was located 45 feet west of the fishing hole he had originally plunged into. The hole that the swimmer had headed for lay 70 feet away in a south-easterly direction.

In the absence of Coroner Dr. J. M. Smith, Dr. Harold Ames, was in attendance. An inquest will be held. The body was taken to Profitt Funeral Home, Beaverton, and following the inquest will be sent to Toronto for burial.

Community Fund Capts. Arrange City Campaign

A new approach to collecting funds for the needy which is really an old approach was the theme for a short address given by the Rev. M. P. Poole, of All Saints' Anglican Church, Tuesday night.

Mr. Poole spoke to the 15 team captains of the retail division of the Red Cross and Community Chest at a dinner at the YMCA.

The dinner meeting was held to discuss ways and means of organizing the division's activities in the comumnity fund campaign which is to take place March 7-15.

Mr. Poole quoted the words of the Apostle Paul in his second letter to the Corinthians when he told of the collections taken by the Macedonians for the needy people of Jerusalem.

Collect For Others

"Like you," Mr. Poole said, "the Macedonians did not know the people they were helping, but this did not diminish their zeal to help. You will also be collecting for people both in your community and outside of it whom you don't know."

The speaker went on to say that workers in the campaign should try to achieve the same qualifications that characterised the Macedonians. These qualifications were: faith, utterance, knowledge, diligence and love.

The speaker was introduced by F. M. Warren, co-chairman with W. Roberts of the retail division, and thanked by Alex Elliott, chairman of the fund committee.

Many of the captains are professional salesmen who are taking time off from commission jobs that will mean a substantial cut in their pay cheques. All of the men will be spending time in the campaign that they will have to take away from their own businesses.

Following are the team captains: J. Steinkrauss, C. H. Elliott, Leo Edwards, Cliff Boate, Al Plaskett, Doug Anderson, Jack Richardson, Frank Paterson, Bruce Edwards, W. J. Jones, Norman Hughes, R. J. Faulkner, Art Newson, Tom Lillico, the Rev. J. E.

Judge Upsets Finding Of Court Of Revision

Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay has upset a city court of revision ruling on the assessment for the Playfair Bowling Alley, 55 George St. N. He reduced the assessment a flat $5,000, making it now $21,970. Originally the bowling alley was assessed at $31,970 but at the court of revision this was cut $5,000. Ross Wright, manager of Strikes Ltd., thought this decrease insufficient and he appealed.

Walter Howell was counsel for Strikes Ltd. And Wilfred F. Huycke, KC, city solicitor, represented the city.

The bowling alley is one-storey high, of cement block construction. Inside, it is cement block covered with plaster.

There are no windows except at the front and Judge McGibbon said the building could not be used for any other purpose than bowling without a great deal of remodelling.

Three expert evaluators were called in to give their estimates on the present day value of the bowling alley and also on the Cliff Towle building, a few doors north.

Gordon Hancock estimated the bowling alley's value at $35,000 to $38,000 and Towle's $45,000 to $50,000; Jack Sinclair $44,755 and $51,300; and Arnold Steele $35,000 and $36,000.

Assessed values are usually much lower than market values.

Valuations were also made on the Dominion Store, George St. and on the Duffus building, across from the market square.

Not Comparable

Judge McGibbon, however, said these two buildings were not comparable and he did not consider them in giving his valuation.

"For the purpose of this appeal I have only taken into consideration the Strikes building and the Cliff Towle building," he said, "and I am of the opinion that the Strikes building is assessed too high when one takes into consideration its construction and the purpose for which it was built."

Judge McGibbon also pointed out that the bowling alley is closed for three months of the year and so during that time is not producing revenue.

There was no dispute over the land which is assessed at $1,700.

Judge McGibbon said he understood the assessor reached his valuation on the basis of cubic content. This might be all right in its way, he conceded, but the Towle building is a better building in every way.

He also noted that the assessor agreed there could be a variation in assessment of $2,000 to $3,000 either way.

Taking all these factors into consideration he lopped another $5,000 off the assessment of the bowling alley, thus allowing the appeal with costs.

Police Officials To Be Resworn

All local police and court officials who derive their authority from the crown will be re-sworn to their respective offices Thursday.

This procedure is always followed as soon as the death of a reigning monarch is officially announced. A proclamation is being issued in Ottawa today by Chief Justice Thibideau Rinfret, proclaiming Elizabeth Queen of Canada and the swearing-in ceremonies of crown officials will take place Thursday.

There was no police court today. When Magistrate W. R. Philp took the bench, he said, "Out of respect for our late Sovereign, George VI, all cases stand adjourned until Thursday."

There is also a possibility that lawyers, magistrates and judges who have been appointed King's Counsel, may be reappointed as Queen's Counsel, now that a Queen is on the British throne.

Covering Up Reeve Charges

LINDSAY, Feb. 6.— "They are trying to cover themselves up, but they are not going to get away with it."

This charge was laid against the Lindsay consulting engineers, Proctor, Redfern and Laughlin by Reeve Richard Butler Monday night. Mr. Butler was referring to freezing up of the town's sewage disposal plant in early December.

Town Clerk W. R. Allely read a letter from Mr. Fellows, one of the firm's engineers listing the precautions to be taken when the plant was to be shut down in the winter. The letter was dated Jan. 17, six weeks after the plant was frozen.

Reeve Butler remarked that the engineer should have been on hand in December when the plant broke down.

Later in the meeting a letter was read from Mr. Redfern stating that arrangements were being made to have the pumps at Colborne St. repaired immediately.

Reeve Butler reported that an inspection Monday revealed the settling tank at the sewage disposal plant was still frozen, the stirring arm bent and the pumps at Colborne St. were still out.

Court Awards Widow $50,000

Added To $16,000 Given In Will Of C. J. A. Duranceau

A 51-year-old Peterborough widow, Mrs. Charles A. J. Duranceau of 280 Simcoe St., has been awarded an extra $50,000 out of her late husband's estate, valued at $215,233.

The $50,000 is in addition to $16,000 cash coming to her when her husband's will is probated.

This award was made by Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay in a surrogate court judgment. Judge McGibbon found that Mr. Duranceau, a wealthy heating and plumbing engineer, had not made adequate provision for his widow.

Mr. Duranceau was a resident of Peterborough for 54 years. He died here last August in his 85th year.

Mrs. Duranceau said she had received nothing from the executors since the death of her husband five months ago. And she has had to borrow money to maintain herself in her home.

The application by Mrs. Duranceau was made under the Dependent's Relief Act. This act gives the judge power to grant a lump sum or make any other allowance for the proper maintenance of the applicant.

Will Appeal

V. J. McElderry, K.C., counsel for Mrs. Sylvio Dechantigny, 344 Rubidge St., said he would appeal the judgment of Judge McGibbon. Mrs. Dechantigny is a daughter of Mr. Duranceau.

The Duranceaus were married in Montreal in February, 1939. At that time he was 72 years of age and she was 37.

A marriage contract stated that when he died she was to receive $8,000. She would also receive all the moveable effects of the household at the time of his death and receive free occupation of one of the flats belonging to him.

These provisions would cease if she married, left the flat, or died.

Under the terms of the will (not yet probated) Mrs. Duranceau was given a further bequest of $8,000 and the household goods and furnishings in her residence at 280 Simcoe St.

She was entitled to choose a flat and—if he had not already bought her a home in Peterborough—the executors and trustees were empowered to purchase one, providing it did not cost more than $3,000. This would be hers rent free so long as she remained unmarried.

It was up to Mrs. Duranceau to pay the taxes and insurance and keep the property in good repair.

Needs Medical Care

Mrs. Duranceau is suffering from high blood pressure and, according to Dr. Louis Zacks, she needs medical attention and other necessities so she can maintain her health.

"I do not think it would be possible to maintain this applicant in the comfort and articles of necessity of which she was formerly provided by her late husband at less than $2,000 a year," said Judge McGibbon. "She is now 50 years of age and her life expectancy would probably be in the nature of 25 years or more.

"Taking this into consideration and also the provision which the deceased has made for her under the will, and more particularly when one considers the provision which has been made for the other members of the family. . . I am of the opinion that adequate provision and compensation has not been provided for by the deceased for the proper maintenance of his widow."

Value of Estate

Value of the estate is estimated as follows: real estate, $71,002; land, mortgages and agreements for sale, $1,800; insurance and annuities, $1,732.50; cash on hand and money on deposit, $88,946.70; bonds and debentures, $23,666.73; and miscellaneous assets, $1,500.

The Succession Duties office revised their estimate upwards by $26,585.50, so the total value of the estate as it stands for probate is $215,233.43.

The $50,000 award to Mrs. Duranceau will bear four per cent interest from the date of her husband's death.

Coincidence

Practically before Mayor Wilbert Moore of Port Hope finished reading a motion calling for a mayor's chain of office, it was around his neck Monday night. Just as he finished reading the motion an unanimous vote was taken and immediately Councillor Glen James reached under the table and pulled out a box. He lifted out the chain, hurried to the mayor's seat and placed it around Mayor Moore's neck. Mayor Moore's first comment was: "Did it have to be so elaborate?" and later said, "It's kind of heavy," shifting it around.

Ski Jumpers All Ready To Take Off

Men will try to imitate birds Saturday at Nassau when the Southern Ontario ski jumpers take off from the jump in senior and junior zone competition.

Despite the rain and mild weather there is enough snow on the hill for the Peterborough club to hold the two meets. The juniors from Southern Ontario will contest for some honors while the seniors will compete in an open invitation meet.

Dave Johnson, a Peterborough senior jumper, said today that the snow conditions at Nassau are good for jumping. Any thin places will be fixed on Thursday and Saturday as safety measures.

No decision has been made yet whether the other meets and events, the Southern Ontario junior cross - country, slalom, downhill, the women's novice class and downhill meet, will be held on Saturday and Sunday Only the jumping is definitely on.

Will Decide

The Peterborough club members will meet later today to decide if the other events will be held.

Peterborough will have Ab Vass, Ian Blaiklock and Mr. Johnson entered in the senior competition. The junior entrants have not been announced. Entries are expected from Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Huntersville and Midland.

Each jumper will make three trips through the air (barring all injuries). The first jumps will decide the winner by their style and not necessarily their distance. Each jumper will be judged by his steadiness in flight, his confidence going down the tower, at the lip of the jump, in the air and landing.

The third in the series will be for the long distance jump, where jumpers try to establish a record. The usual distance for the Nassau jump is between 90 and 100 feet while the record is 132 feet, set by an Ottawa jumper.

City Shocked By Death Of King George VI Flags Fly At Half Mast

Ministerial Association Expected To Hold Memorial Service On Funeral Day As Peterborough Goes Into Mourning

A shocked city learned this morning of the death of King George VI. Reaction was swift, and marked by the sadness that the people felt. Flags drooped at half-mast, and conversation in homes, on streets and in downtown restaurants was limited almost completely to the King's death and the succession of Queen Elizabeth. Both police court and county court were adjourned until Thursday. Schools continued with their work after brief messages of regret for the King's death from the principals and teachers.

Plans for the observation of mourning are tentative as yet, but it is expected that the Peterborough Ministerial Association will sponsor a memorial service the day of the King's funeral. Clergy of all faiths will take part in the service.

As well, all city churches will hold some form of special service at their regular times of service.

Radio station CHEX discontinued all commercial broadcasting for 24 hours.

Mayor's Message

Mayor Hugh F. Waddell expressed officially the sentiment of the city.

"It was with deep regret that the city learned today of the King's death. For everyone, there will be a feeling of personal loss, because his personality was such that he was very close to the people.

"Although a frail man, he felt it his duty to his people to act as King. There is no doubt that the strain of the past 13 years, which were full of war and the threat of war, hastened his death.

"While remembering with sadness the passing of King George VI, the city at the same time welcomes Canada's new and youthful sovereign, Queen Elizabeth."

President of the Ministerial Association, the Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, said:

"Our King has been advanced to courts of higher service. Although our hearts grieve with all the citizens of our mourning dominion, I am sure our people will give thanks to God for the noble example of sacrificial service which he has given to the commonwealth and the world.

"Doubtless every sad heart will remember prayerfully the Royal Family and will renew its feeling of loyalty and devotion to the person of the Queen and the throne."

Bishop Berry

His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry declared:

"It is a great sadness to all the people of Canada. The example of his personal life, as well as his dignity as a monarch, has impressed itself over the years on the people who looked up to him as a sovereign. They have as well looked up to him as a man.

"The succession of Princess Elizabeth to the throne will be a matter of personal joy to the Canadians who received her visit last year. We hope her years on the throne will witness an increase in the much-desired peace of the world."

Both Rabbi Joseph Mayer of the Beth Irsael Synagogue and Magistrate W. R. Philp, remarked on the sadness of the King's death. Rabbi Mayer said that the Jewish community of Peterborough is "deeply shocked by the sudden passing of the King."

Magistrate Philp said that "everyone is in agreement in the respect they had for the King, both as a sovereign and a gentleman."

Traffic Tied Up By 3-Car Crash Auto Rolls Over

Traffic on the Lakefield highway was held up for 30 minutes during the rush hour late Tuesday afternoon as a result of a collision involving three cars.

A long line of honking cars formed on either side of the accident, seven miles north of Peterborough.

Miss Lottie Ball, a nurse who lives in North Monaghan township was shaken up but otherwise uninjured when her car crashed into an oncoming car and then rolled over in a deep ditch.

The car landed in a deep pool of water. Damage is estimated at $150.

Wilfred Briscoe, Bailieboro, was driving toward Peterborough in his 1932 model car. He swerved over to the left side of the highway to avoid striking a car ahead that stopped suddenly. And when abreast of the car ahead he collided with the oncoming car driven by Miss Ball.

Miss Ball tried to avoid a collision by pulling onto the right shoulder but her vehicle struck the left fender of Briscoe's car and she plunged into the ditch.

About $50 damage was caused to Briscoe's car.

The car ahead of Briscoe that braked suddenly was driven by Arthur Inchley, Campbellcroft. He told OPP Constable Tom Armitage that he was forced to apply his brakes when another driver ahead of him stopped on the highway to let some passengers out.

Few At City Hall

Crowds Could See Memorial Plaque On New Building

In the half hour between 3 and 3.30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, only six persons might have seen the city's bronze tablet honoring the memory of the four men who died under a falling wall in the Zacks building fire, if it were placed in the general office at the city hall.

If its setting were in the front wall of the new store building that is projected to fill the wide gap in the George St. business block, the plaque might have been seen by 406 persons.

Those two numbers were the count made by the Examiner as pertinent to the city council's deferred decision as to the position of the mural tablet in commemorating the sacrifice of four men's lives in the line of public duty.

Fire, water and light committee have recommended placement in the office at the city hall, but at the council meeting Monday night Ald. T. D. Miller moved that this matter be held up for the present pending discussion by the council in committee of the whole.

Fire Department

Recently it was suggested that the plaque be put on the exterior wall of the fire department's station on Aylmer St. That was followed by the Examiner's proposal that local custom in such memorials might follow the historic records in London, England, by placing the plaque on the site of the fire where the men died, at their work.

It was just an average afternoon at the city hall, a routine half-hour of a dull February day. Three men and three women called at the main office during that time. One man and one woman were paying parking fines of one dollar each. The others were about some ordinary business. Possibly that was not an average half-hour's count of customers. On the other hand there are many periods during the week when more than 406 people pass along the west side of George St. between Hunter and Simcoe Streets.

Incidentally, Ald. A. B. Burrows mentioned today to the Examiner that his comment at the council meeting Monday was not that the firemen had been consulted, but the widows of the four men, George Reynolds, Orville Rome, Grover Deck and Earl Spencley.

Their preference was the city hall office as a repository of the city's memorial bronze.

Decision still rests with the city council, and for them the Examiner's count of passers-by in both places may be of some guidance. Such tributary tablets are not only commemorative but they also carry a suggestion of example, and in this case of men serving the public who entered a dangerous building in the course of duty, and died there.

If it is a repository that is desired for the memorial to the Peterborough fire fighters, then the city hall may be quite properly chosen for the honor of framing the tablet.

However, the element and factor of example is something to place before the attention of youth, and there are comparatively few young people seen in the office of the city hall.

The most of its visitors are adult folks, taxpayers, people who have reached the stage of ownership of property, others paying fees and fines and so on. But, youth is largely represented in the stream of people passing daily down George St.

The Examiner's count, again, was 406 to 6 for that average half hour on a winter' afternoon. All day Saturday and Sunday, every week, the count would be literally thousands to nil for the city hall is closed on those two days.

Polish Cadet Testifies On Red Cruelties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(CP)—Marion (Mike) Gawiak, a former Polish army cadet now living at Port Colborne, Ont., testified before a Congressional committee Tuesday that thousands of Poles disappeared in 1940 from a Soviet prison camp he was in.

A special House of Representatives committee is attempting to establish as an historical fact whether the mass slaughter of more than 10,000 Polish soldiers in the Katin Forest of Western Germany during the Second World War was committed by the invading Germans, as the Russians claim, or by the retreating Russians, as the Germans claim.

Gawiak said the Poles so deeply hated and feared the Russians that when Germany invaded Poland in 1939, his mother and sister fled toward the enemy German lines rather than risk capture by the "friendly" Soviets.

Seized By Russians

The witness said he and his father fled toward Romania but were seized by the Russians and flung into a Soviet prison camp at Kozel'sk. Later, he escaped.

Gawiak testified that more than 4,600 Polish prisoners disappeared from Kozel'sk prison camp between February and May, 1940. The total population of the camp was 5,000. Those who vanished, he said, were called out from lists carried by Russian officers.

Gawiak said pictures of bodies exhumed at Katyn Forest showed the slain Poles were wearing the "identical" military overcoats and boots they had donned just before disappearing from Kozel'sk camp.

Meanwhile, committee chairman Ray Madden (Dem., Ind.) announced that a masked witness, described as the only known eyewitness of the Katyn massacre, will testify today.

U.S.-Canada Begin Seaway Talks Feb. 14

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP).—The United States and Canada are planning to start "preliminary" negotiations on problems connected with the St. Lawrence seaway about Feb. 14 at Ottawa.

Government officials said that the talks will be concerned chiefly with problems of power development which will arise whether Canada goes ahead alone with the St. Lawrence project or has United States co-operation as urged on Congress by President Truman.

Jack Gorrie, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, will head a United States delegation which will include representatives of the State Department, Federal Power Commission, Defence and Commerce Departments, Office of Defence Mobilization, and possibly other agencies.

Michael Rennie Old Hand At Standing In

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6 (AP).—This week the stand-in for Michael Rennie, the English actor, fell ill and the studio scurried around for a substitute.

"No hurry," assured Rennie. "I'm an old hand at standing in."

He wasn't kidding. Without poring through the records, I would hazard a guess that he is the only stand-in to achieve starring status.

Rennie, who has done a number of leading roles for 20th-Fox, is currently playing Jean Valjean in the remake of "Les Miserables." Playing opposite to him is Sylvia Sidney. When she reported to work, Rennie said to her, "You don't remember me, do you?" She allowed that she didn't.

"I was the stand-in for John Loder in a picture called "Sabotage" that you and he made in England back in the 30s," he said.

Miss Sidney still didn't remember, but the memory is a vivid one for Rennie. That was his first movie job.

The Hard Way

"I wanted to be a film actor," he recalled. "I figured the only way to be one would be to watch how it was done. I thought of being an extra, but that would have meant that I would only work a day or so in every picture. If I were a stand-in, I could watch the whole picture being made."

So Rennie took the stand-in job, which consists of standing under the lights until everything is ready and the star steps into the set. "It was physically exhausting to be standing for so long," he remembered. "But it wasn't mentally exhausting, because I had much to watch and learn."

Rennie is modest about his success in American pictures. He attributes his good fortune to what he calls the "Mid-Atlantic accent." That is an accent neither too British nor too American, thus permitting him to play either nationality.

He managed to develop it while training with the R.A.F. in Canada and the United States.

Two Canadian Plays Introduced At Festival

HALIFAX, Feb. 6 — (CP). — Two one-act plays by Canadian authors will be among the seven entries in the Nova Scotia Regional Drama Festival opening here Thursday.

"Incident on the Border" by Donald Wetmore of Halifax, a romantic spy drama of the Maine-New Brunswick border in the days of the American Civil War, will be staged by the Lunenburg Little Theatre. Mr. Wetmore's play was last year's winner of the second annual Nova Scotia Drama League play writing contest.

Dalhousie University Players will present "God Caesar," by Marjorie Price, winner of the Sir Barry Jackson Trophy several years ago as the best Canadian one-act play in the Dominion drama festival.

This year's festival will be adjudicated by London stage star Pierre Lefevre.

Planning VE-Day Show To Honor General Crerar

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (CP). — Seven years after VE-Day, 700 of Canada's wartime army officers will gather at Toronto May 8. A representative group of senior officers is working to make attendance cover all Canada at a dinner to honor Gen. H. D. G. Crerar who commanded the Canadian Army on the western front.

Their advance "bumph" on the dinner resembles an operations order and comprises 13 single-spaced mimeographed pages. Three Generals and 11 Brigadiers —nothing under a Lieutenant-Colonel—are on the 22-man "steering committee."

Lt.-Col. E. W. (Ernie) Whelpton (Toronto greeting-card manufacturer) says the committee's two big jobs will be to reach all interested officers and then to hold down acceptances to capacity—700.

"It was good fun getting the Generals and Brigadiers to work on the mailing lists," Col. Whelpton said. "Ham Roberts is working on the gunners, Eric Haldenby is responsible for infantry, Coley Campbell for the Engineers, and so on." Maj.-Gen. Roberts (now retired at Clarkson, Ont.) was in command at Dieppe, Brig. Haldenby (Toronto architect) and Colin Campbell (Toronto Mining consultant) served in Italy and on the western front.

"No matter how good our lists are, we'll miss some of the boys who want to come. Those living outside Ontario will get first preference, even ahead of unit commanders—we want this representative. I hear the Seaforths in Vancouver are pooling regimental donations to send a man—that's good. The way applications are piling in, maybe the affair should have been at the armories." The dinner is at the Royal York Hotel.

Seating By Groups

Seating at the dinner will be arranged in groups representing formations. Tables will be flagged with cards in proper colors with such wording as "1st Armd Bde" and "1 Ech 21 Arm GP." Representation will cover not only the European operation and defence of Britain but Hong Kong, Spitsbergen, Kiska, North Africa and officer-loans to allied nations.

The "bumph" (which shows the hand of Maj.-Gen. C. C. Mann of Toronto) even specifies preferred dress which ranges from No. 1 dress uniform, through serge, white tie, dinner jacket with or without miniatures, down to business suit. Female officers (coming from all parts of Canada) are given an option of evening dress with or without miniatures.

Speeches, including the guest of honor's 15-minute talk, will be brief and few. Gen. Crerar (who will wear white tie and tails) said: "I'll just give the boys some reminiscences—no policy address or anything like that—and then we can get back to talking about old times."

At the dinner, Gen. Crerar will be presented with a portrait of himself on behalf of those attending and hundreds unable to attend. It will be an oil painting, 22 by 28 inches, by Mrs. Lilias Torrance Newton, R.C.A. (which doesn't mean artillery), of Montreal, showing the general in uniform with two rows of medals. Mrs. Newton will work on the portrait in Ottawa in March.

Lakefield Church Reports Show Year's Progress

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 6 (ENS)—Reports from all departments of the United Church presented at the annual congregational meeting Wednesday evening showed a year of progress in the church's history.

Prior to the business session dinner was served by members of the Missionary and Service Club. A short worship service, conducted by the minister, the Rev. W. H. Tonge followed. The meeting was favored with a solo by the Rev. Ole Borne Hoison, of Norway. The choir, under the direction of Quirt McKinney, also sang several numbers. J. D. Grylls was accompanist for the evening.

Elmer Milburn was appointed recording steward for the meeting.

The treasurer's report, given by George Spence showed total receipts to be $6,596.56. This report showed a slight deficit, the only one in any department.

In giving the report of the Missionary and Maintenance fund, J. A. Porter, who for the past 20 years has been treasurer of this department, stated that the sum of $1,935, forwarded to the United Church of Canada, was the largest given by any church of the presbytery of comparable size.

Mrs. Sherman Northey reported for the Women's Association and briefly reviewed the year's work. Last year Lakefield Women's Association stood third in the presbytery and it is hoped they will take top place this year. Total receipts were $1,607.

In reporting for the Women's Missionary Society Mrs. P. H. Darling said a bale of clothing had been sent overseas and a donation made to the Korean Relief Fund. She also mentioned the loss sustained by the Society in the death of Mrs. J. A. Porter, one of their most active workers. She also mentioned with regret, the fact that another member, Mrs. Roy Brown, had moved from the village. Receipts for the year totalled $480.

Mrs. W. H. Fife reporting for the Missionary and Service Club cited the printing of a cook book, and the giving out of "Talent Money" as the main sources of income for 1951. Food parcels are sent overseas each month, and a donation made each year to the Rev. Harold Steed, a missionary in Africa. The club's receipts amounted to $1,600.

Superintendent Neil Wood gave the financial report for the Sunday School showing total receipts to be $949. Mr. Wood said the duplex envelopes had been used in the Sunday School with gratifying results and also invited those present to inspect the newly decorated and furnished beginners department room.

The choir have a membership of 25 and 10 members. Total receipts were $13. Miss Jean Spence presented the choir report.

W. W. Yale reported a total of $200 received by the pension fund, and the report of the boys' work was given by Mr. Tonge, who spoke of the splendid leadership given by Ken Jakins, L. Pratt and Thos. Payton.

Mrs. George Carey said that the Mission Band had a total of 16 members and during the year they had raised $94.

The proceeds of a play, presented several times, from which $715 had been realized, was reported as the chief means of raising funds for the Young Adults Society, by John David Grylls. The society had also put coat racks in both church and Sunday school. Total receipts were $747.

A newly formed organization, the Young People's Union are making progress and are contributing their share in the Church's work. The sum of $25.00 was given to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund.

The C.G.I.T. was composed of 36 girls and six leaders. reported Mrs. W. H. Tonge, and their year's activities had included the packing of three bales of clothing and a visit to the Old People's Home. Their receipts for the year were $119. It was also reported that there were 45 boys in the Cub Packs and 20 in the Sea Scouts.

The report of session, given by W. H. Fife, showed that eight had joined the church by transfer of membership; eight had been removed by death; 12 had been received on profession of faith and 14 had moved away. On recommendation of the session, George Spence and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Milburn will be returned for terms of five years and Bruce Dunford will be appointed for two years.

Chairman of the Board of Stewards, A. G. Buchanan presented the Budget for consideration. He also moved that the Board be reduced to 12 members. Those whose terms of office had expired were re-elected. They were Mr. Buchanan, Ralph Jackman and A. W. Stewart.

Reporting for the trustee board, Mr. Fife stated that the old sheds had been removed and the lawns resurfaced and reseeded. The windows had also been repaired. Mr. Fife, speaking for the entire congregation, paid special tribute to the splendid work carried on by Mr. Tonge and Mrs. Tonge.

The officers recommended by the official board were elected as follows — treasurer, George Spence; treasurer, M and M., J. A. Porter, with a committee of Mrs. E. Milburn, Mrs. W. W. Leonard and Mrs. W. Whetung; rep. to presbytery, Mr. Milburn and Mr. Porter; auditors, H. T. Hill and Frank Payne; Observer representative, Mrs. S. Narrow Trousers? Only A Few To Wear Them

LONDON (CP).—Take it easy, men: there's no real danger of a radical change in the trouser styles in 1952.

From Saville Row to chain-store tailors, the men who cut British cloth say men's suits have stayed pretty much the same since 1939, and they're not likely to be different this year.

So you don't have to worry about that report in the Tailor and Cutter saying men may have to go barefoot to climb into their new, narrow-style trousers.

The December issue of the British Trade Journal said:

"Trousers are no longer garments which you can don with your boots on. Now it is not only necessary to be barefooted, but it is requisite to point the toe also as you slide down the essentially narrow cylinders."

But most London tailors say really narrow trousers will be worn by extremely few men. Such Edwardian styles, one leading firm said, are favored only by men with large wardrobes. And large wardrobes are scarce these days.

Three big west end outfitters said men have become so used to elbow room in clothes they would sell that freedom dearly.

H. Crutcher, spokesman for another well-known firm, said tight trousers and tight-waisted, Edwardian-style jackets are supplied "by special request only."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Menus For Women Boarders

I quote this letter first, and comment below:

"Dear Mary Moore: My husband passed away recently, leaving me with 2 small youngsters (4, 9) I don't feel that I should leave them and work outside the home—not this year anyway. But I have two bedrooms that I can rent. Can you please give me some hints on a week's menu. (Breakfast, lunch and supper) on how to serve filling and appetizing meals so that I will be able to make some extra money to keep our home together. The rooms may bring $5.00 and $6.00 per week. Will it be at all possible to serve good meals for about $10.00 each a week. I would have to have women boarders. I always have enjoyed your column but I have never seen a request like mine.—R. F."

✧ ✧ ✧

In this city $15.00 per week for room and board for women would be a minimum. Do not charge less or you will not make enough profit for your effort. By all means stay home until the children are of school age, then only work while they are at school. You are lucky to have two rooms to rent.

To keep your boarders happy and healthy think of food from the nutritional viewpoint, then flavor and attractive appearance can be considered. I will have economy in mind all of the time.

BREAKFASTS 1) One-half medium-sized grapefruit or 1 sliced orange or 6-oz. glass canned orange or grapefruit or pineapple juice; oatmeal or cornmeal or whole wheat or mixed whole-grain cereal with brown sugar and top milk, whole wheat toast and jam, coffee. 2) Poached, boiled, scrambled or coddled egg, 1 or 2 slices of toast, fruit same as in No. 1 breakfast, jam, coffee. (You will notice there are eight alternative meals at least in those choices—so the breakfast menu never need be montonous.) On Sundays have jowl bacon and French toast.

LUNCHES OR SUPPERS 1) Homemade soup; whole wheat bread sandwiches with chopped egg or chopped bacon and peanut butter or bacon and tomato or toasted cheese—all with lettuce; applesauce or canned plums or fresh apple, and date and oatmeal cookie; 8-ounce glass milk. 2) Potato and meat pancakes, or macaroni and cheese or French onion soup with cheese or Split pea soup with cheese fingers of clam chowder with toasted rye bread; celery or sliced tomato or tomato jelly on lettuce; Whole wheat or dark rye bread; 8-ounce glass mlik; prune or lemon souffle or fruit cup.

DINNERS 1) Halibut trimmings, egged and crumbled and fried or baked (you will have to shop for these but they may be bought at large fish shops where you must become acquainted with the manager—for 30 cents per pound and are delicious) or shoulder pork chops baked on scalloped potatoes (make the scalloped potatoes from reliquefied milk made from skim or whole milk powder) or hot salmon loaf (from pink salmon) and potatoes baked in jackets; and shredded beets baked in casserole with butter or in top of double boiler; or scalloped tomatoes or/ and boiled outer celery stalks with mushroom soup sauce; raw carrot strips or cole slaw or celery and lettuce salad; cherry or apple batter pudding; tea or coffee.

2) Chili con carne or chop suey or creamed tuna on biscuits; fine cabbage and carrot slaw; hot tea biscuits or cornbread or bran muffins; upside down prune or peach or rhubarb or apple pudding; top milk; coffee.

My correspondent and other readers who earnestly want to nourish their families well, and yet make the budget stretch to the squawking point, will do well to study those menu suggestions—plenty of thought has been spent on them by me and other nutritionists.

R. F.—you keep writing to me and I'll keep sending along the help.

RCHEST YOUTH ENGAGED—John Leonard Smallman, 18, of London, Ont., often termed Canada's richest teenager, is engaged. The youth, who inherited most of a $2,802,661 estate when he was 14, is to marry Mary Kathleen Steers, daughter of a prominent London family. The fortune, the major share of the estate of a grand-aunt, Mrs. Eleanor E. B. Morgan, a daughter of a founder of the Imperial Oil Co., is to be held in trust until he reaches 21.

What's Right?

As you and your husband are leaving a party he says to another couple: "Come by our house for a nightcap." You would much prefer they didn't come by.

WRONG: Say nothing, or make your follow-up invitation half-hearted.

RIGHT: Always back up your husband's offers of hospitality. Later, if you like, you can ask him to consult with you before extending such invitations. But at the time, back him up.

Older Women Keenly Enjoy Golden Mile Club Sessions

The source of new interest and much pleasure to older women of this city is the Golden Mile Club. The first and third Tuesday afternoon of each month is now looked forward to by 39 members and nothing short of illness or impassable weather keeps them at home. (Just three years ago the club started with five rather hesitant members.)

Some also make the day an occasion for a shopping spree for the meetings now have the handy downtown location of Grafton's recreation room, kindly loaned by the management.

Sponsorship of the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough keeps this club on an even keel, though it has become pretty much self-sufficient and has a balance in the treasury of more than $200 raised by members' own efforts. However, the sponsors see that there are several special entertainments during the year, including a Christmas dinner party and gifts, a summertime picnic and favors for the meetings on festive occasions such as the Valentine party this week. Also, transportation is provided to meetings for handicapped members.

No membership fee is levied but small collection boxes are in evidence and those who can do so drop in some coins at each meeting. It's pretty well assured that the boxes will never remain empty for such an event might mean no refreshments—and that would never do.

The tea table is the first thing that is prepared for the meetings and it is always bright and gay with flowers or decorations. On Tuesday there were lighted red candles in silver holders and novelty Valentine cards and big baskets of fruit and candy fancily decorated with red hearts and frills.

Then there was a Valentine contest which had been made up by a Soroptimist member and the answer to each question contained the word "heart." Contest winner Mrs. M. Maher received a flower pot that was so admired by the losers, to her great delight for she is nearly blind herself. Four Valentine sachets were given as consolation awards. After tea the apples and candy were given to members having birthdays nearest to February 14th.

An important item of the meeting is the roll call which is duly taken and recorded by secretary-treasurer Mrs. A. Stanger. Announcements are made by president Mrs. E. Chatten which this week concerned the making of articles for the bazaar in March. All finished work is to be brought to the meeting on February 19th.

A new project was launched this week by which each member signing up receives a small red stocking to hang on the wall. Each month she puts in coppers, adding one each time. When turned in at the end of a year they should contain 78c and the total of all will make a sizeable sum for the treasury. To what use this money will be put is not yet decided.

esting and impressive talk on the influence of home on the child. "A real home," he explained, "is the greatest need of all children." Records show that unhappy, nervous, maladjusted children are the product of broken homes in a great many cases. Under the pressure of modern advertisement, an unnatural way of family life is portrayed, by films, on the radio, and in books. The "easy life" is emphasized; life in which the process of outwitting other people, and taking advantage of the weak, is held forth as an example for all to see. Things of high value are degraded and belittled, while things of little or no value are exalted.

Mr. Morgan urged all parents to impress on their young people the seriousness of marriage, and to advise them to train for it as they would train for any career. Counselling young people is much more important than any lavish display of wealth, such as is seen in so many fashionable weddings. Give our young people only the highest ideal of marriage to follow, he said.

Going further, the speaker stated that parenthood is a job for the sturdy; not for the weak. Parents must be prepared to answer the questions—(and there will be thousands of them)—of their children, honestly, without any beating around the bush. The following points were suggested as good rules to follow. "Take time to deal with children. Use low, quiet voice. Be calm, controlled and relaxed. Be reasonable, just and fair. Be patient. Laugh with them, not at them. Give sincere praise for accomplishments."

Bearing in mind that the family is a unit, Mr. Morgan urged that the members of the family work together and play together, both inside and outside of the home. Give the children happy memories of their early home life, and they will never forget it.

Mr. Welch thanked the speaker.

Refreshments were served by Mr. J. Quinn, Mr. B. Neely, Mr. N. Andrew, Mr. H. Pearson and Mr. M. Humphries. A special feature of this lunch was a beautifully decorated cake, made by Mrs. Welch to commemorate Founder's Day.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Mr. M. J. Curtis of the Collegiate staff was guest speaker at the Founder's Night meeting of Central Home and School Association on Monday night.

Mr. Curtis, music teacher and director of the various extra-curricular musical activities of PCVS was accompanied by a girls' double trio who assisted him in his demonstration of teaching methods and also entertained delightfully with musical selections.

Mr. Curtis chose as his topic "Music as an adventure" which he said, might be a novel concept for most people. In developing this idea he explained that learning music opens up a whole hitherto unexplained continent to boys and girls; their first public performance is a thrilling adventure. The realm of music is so vast. The music of the immortals is like the mountain ranges toward which progress is slowly made through forests which must be penetrated represented by theory, across prairies symbolized by hours of weary practicing until at length the foothills are reached and maybe the mountains themselves scaled and the fruits of the adventure won.

"Music," he said, "is one of the most diffucult subjects, on the curriculum, but it appeared to present few difficulties to Mr. Curtis as he demonstrated some of the methods he has used starting at Grade I where the first easy intervals are taught. Rounds are used as a start for part singing and children soon learn to sing with one another (harmonize) rather than against. By Grade V most children provided they have been given suitable remedial work, should sing in tune and by the time they reach collegiate should be singing three and four part songs. He spoke of the contribution made by Don Wright towards helping boys' voices during adolescence calling them alto-tenor voices. In closing he called attention to the wide variety of musical adventures at Collegiate, girls' chorus, mixed choir, school band and barber shop quartettes. After leaving school music still is an adventure for it leads to the enrichment of our lives in later life and "can mould the habits of a nation."

Girls assisting Mr. Curtis were the six hits and a miss, Ann Gordon, Anne Webb, Barbara Woodcock, Ann Grant, Mary Lou Waterman, Catherine Waterman, and pianist Betty Lapp.

They sang two serious numbers, "Passing By" and "Linden Lea" and two comedy numbers in costume, "Ship to My Lou," and "Three Little Kittens."

Mrs. L. Horning, president, introduced Mr. Curtis and the appreciation of the audience to him and the double trio was expressed by Miss S. Palmer.

Founder's Night was observed in memory of Mrs. Courtice. Mr. D. Crawford read the Home and School Creed and a special collection was taken for the Courtice Memorial Fund. An attractive birthday cake in Home and School colors flanked by matching lighted tapers was on display with Mrs. J. Callaghan, Mrs. S. Haymon and Mrs. H. Shimer in charge of arrangements.

This cake formed part of the delightful refreshments served by Mrs. A. Barber and her committee.

Roll call attendance prizes were won by Miss M. Brock's and Mr. H. V. Cunningham's classrooms.

HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, Feb. 6 (ENS)—"From Neglect to Respect", an historical dramatization showing the rise and spread of interest in children resulting in the Home and School Association of today was presented in the town hall Monday evening by the local branch of that organization in celebration of Founder's Night.

The dawn of a new day for the children of England and children the world over, was depicted in Scene I of the play which took place in England about 1840. The characters in this scene were: Queen Victoria played by Mrs. J. E. Corneil and Prince Albert by Bruce Cooke. The dialogue had reference to Charles Dickens and the books he had written about the horrible treatment accorded to children in England.

Scene II (America 1897)

A group of mothers in period costumes were seated in the living room of Mrs. Alice McLellan Burney of Washington, D.C. (Mrs. W. Nobes Sr.). Mrs. Phoebe Hearst (Mrs. J. Calnan) a woman of considerable wealth and influence lends her hearty support to Mrs. Burney in the forming of the Congress of Mothers, an organization to awaken every state to the need of better education for children. Other characters in this scene were Mrs. Aldai Stevenson, wife of the vice-president of the U.S.A. (Mrs. J. Wilde); Mrs. Mulberry (Mrs. W. Woodbeck) and Mrs. Roberts (Mrs. G. Whitney).

Scene III took place in Canada in 1895 in the living room of Miss Georgina McCurdy of Baddeck, N.S. (Mrs. B. Johnson) where a number of ladies and men have gathered to discuss the subject of doing something to improve the schools through a closer co-operation with the teachers and by giving them better equipment. Sandy McKinnon (Larry Sayers) arrived with his bagpipes and was requested to play a number. Miss McCurdy then announced that she expected Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Bell (Mrs. W. Nobes Jr. and Mrs. Gerald Buchanan respectively), to arrive to tell them of a Parents' Club that had been formed in Washington. The result of the meeting was that a similar organization formed in Baddeck in 1895. Other characters in this scene were: Mrs. McAskill (Mrs. R. Sayers); John McPherson (Mrs. George Kennedy); Mrs. John McPherson (Mrs. Grenville Rutherford); Donald McLeod (Mrs. Harry Anderson); two interested ladies, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. John Anderson.

Scene IV was a pageant showing the spread of the Home and School Association throughout Canada presented by 11 women in long white gowns, with headdress shaped like a crown carrying the date of their particular part. They carried shields also inscribed with their province or branch of the organization. In the background was a raised stand on which stood the Spirit of History (Miss Marla Whitney). On the steps at her feet sat two children Doreen Whitney and Kenneth Kirk. Characters in the pageant were: Baddeck 1895, Mrs. G. Whitney; Ontario 1896, Mrs. B. Johnson; first Council 1916, Mrs. Parnell; British Columbia 1922, Mrs. J. Calnan; Canadian Federation 1927, Mrs. R. Sayers; Alberta 1929, Mrs. Harry Anderson; Manitoba 1935, Mrs. W. Rice; N.S. Federation 1936, Mrs. J. Beatty; New Brunswick 1937, Mrs. Grenville Rutherford; Saskatchewan 1938, Mrs. W. Woodbeck; Quebec 1940, Mrs. J. Wilde.

A profusion of colored lights operated by stage manager Robert J. Hill made a beautiful effect. Soloists were Mrs. J. Beatty and Mrs. W. Goadsby, pianist Mrs. D. Kirk.

The president Mrs. B. Johnson presided for a short business session and welcomed the parents and members of the Norwood Home and School Association. The attendance shield and prize of a dollar was won by Mr. Linton's room. Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. R. Backus at the piano.

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

"Father's Night" was observed Monday at Rifle Range Home and School Association meeting, and in spite of bad weather, a good number sallied forth to lend moral support to "Dad." Mr. Len Welch presided, with Mr. Jack Quinn acting as secretary. Devotions were read by the Rev. Ivan Morgan, and Mr. Murray Humphries read an interesting article on the importance of Health week.

To commemorate the life of Mrs. A. C. Courtice, the founder of Home and School Associations in Canada, candles were lit by Mr. Morgan, Mr. L. Welch, Mr. J. Quinn and Mr. B. Neely.

Bazaar news was discussed, and Mrs. K. Mann was appointed as ticket convenor for this event.

One-Piece Sweater Dresses Head Dior's "Sinuous" Line

PARIS, Feb. 6—(AP)—The sweater girl—with a difference—received a new lease of life from style-setter Christian Dior in his spring 1952 collection which opened yesterday.

"Sinuous" is Dior's choice of a word for his new line.

Sweater dresses are in one piece but with tops that continue to a band or cuff around the hips. Although there is no seam or belt at the waist, it is well-marked and narrowed by darts. On suits and coats, collars and revers are often replaced with narrow cardigan sweater bands, and many suits have sweater-type jackets. Length is unchanged.

The second-most-popular dress form has a blousy top with pointed shirt collar. It is gathered or pleated to a corselet waist just below a high bustline.

The silhouette is only moderately full, except for giant-skirted ball gowns. Most skirts are flared, with widely-spaced inverted pleats let out below the hips for a full hemline.

As usual, Dior has dared to be different. While other houses' mannequins totter on towering, needle-thin shoe heels, he is still plugging sensible medium-low heels. And while spring hats have been almost universally reduced to not much more than a curving band set back from the brow, Dior hats cover the head like a helmet, showing only a little swept-back hair in front.

Semi-fitted coats have dropped belts behind, and there are some of the rounded-off hip-length coats seen elsewhere, but Dior's models aren't cut away enough to be real swallow-tails.

Deeply-rounded necklines bare the shoulders as well as their bosom. Some of these are of the leaning-edge or catch-all type, filled in with roses.

Most sleeves are three-quarter length. A little less exaggerated version of the new set-in sleeve is called an almond sleeve at Dior's.

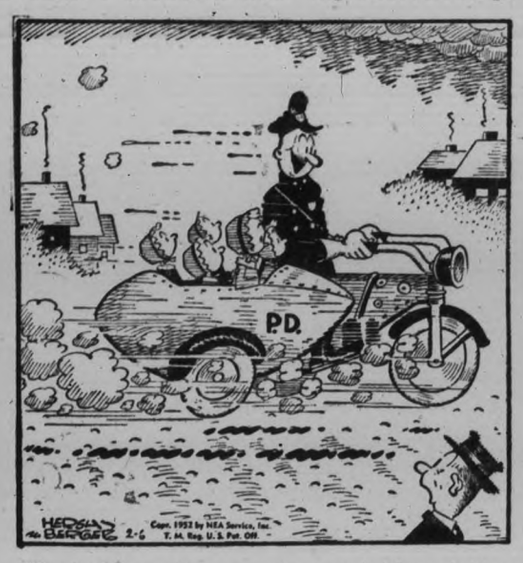
Of Interest to Women

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger



"Some of the mothers on my beat are holding a bridge party again!"

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-Age Youth Won't Make Responsible Man Overnight

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 22, and have been married for 19 months to a man a year younger than I. He is very childish and doesn't like to be corrected even when I tell him some of our friends have commented on his childishness. He can't save money and is always broke a few days after payday. I work to buy our clothes and extras for the house, and he is continually borrowing from me. It's useless to try to get ahead. If I refuse him the money, there's a fuss about it. I have had to do everything for him since we were married—as his mother and father did before. Also, he is a great tease though he knows I am annoyed when he keeps it up too long. If I show my annoyance, it leads to more trouble. Twice he has thrown all the dishes from the table to the floor, breaking them all.

I suggested that we try a separation for a while and he agreed, but we haven't done it yet. If he were on his own for a while he might learn the value of money and how to take care of himself. JOSEPHINE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Young people often regard me as an old fuddy-duddy because I so vehemently crusade against teen-age marriages. Yet I know that practically no boy (and few girls) in his teens can grasp the concept of matrimonial responsibilities and obligation. Marriage is not a lark, as so many young people think, but a serious business to be undertaken by those who are fully aware of its seriousness.

Didn't You Know?

Your husband, Josephine, was a first-class example of a teen-age youth who most certainly was not fit to be a husband. Can you honestly say that you had no inkling of his immaturity when you married him? Did you seriously believe that a clergyman's blessing would transform him into a capable husband?

You are at present fighting a losing battle. With his mother ever on the alert to perform whatever tasks you omit, he has absolutely no chance of growing up. His carelessness in regard to money, his peevishness at you for criticizing him, all point to a childishness that isn't likely to be outgrown for a long time—if ever. I'm afraid you're married to a Peter Pan who absolutely will refuse to escape from the comfortable, irresponsible stage of childhood.

The fact that you are working to provide him with all the comforts of life will tend to delay any possibility of his acquiring any sense of duty.

The trial separation you suggest would be no good for your husband, though it might help you a lot. The only thing that could help him would be for you both to move away from close proximity of his parents, and for you to give up your job, thereby shifting the financial responsibility of the family to his supposedly masculine shoulders. If you continue doing everything for him, including the major portion of wage-earning, no miracle will accomplish his mental coming-of-age.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 22, and have had an affair with a man my own age. Now I'm going steady with a fellow of 24. I know he loves me and is going to propose. However, I'm afraid to tell him what I have done. I know I will make him a fine wife. Should I tell? RUBY S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You made a mistake, are sorry for it ,and I can see no point in carrying it over into your marriage. Your husband may be very understanding and forgiving, but your past conduct is likely to be brought up every time you have an argument. It probably would ease your conscience to tell him, but that satisfaction will have to be denied as part of your penance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to [illegible] who has been in Korea for several months. I admire and respect him and sincerely wish I didn't have to hurt him. However, I am convinced now that I don't love him and never should have accepted his ring. Should I write and tell him now or wait until he returns? D. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: One of the tragedies of modern living is the heartbreak caused to both parties by sudden engegements to boys going overseas, followed by a realization on the girl's part that she has made a mistake. It seems so callous to write and tell a boy that he no longer has a sweetheart, but it is the best and easiest in the end. To keep him living on false hopes all the time he is overseas will only make the sad revelation harder for him to bear. Write as kindly a letter as you can—but write!

Flags Lowered Across World At King's Death

LONDON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Flags throughout the world were lowered to half staff today at the news of the death of King George.

In Paris the United Nations Secretary-General, Trygve Lie, ordered the lowering of the flags of the world organization's 60 members, who Tuesday concluded their sixth General Assembly.

At Gen. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact headquarters outside Paris the flags of Britain and the 11 other Pact countries were lowered as soon as the news was received.

In the West German capital of Bonn, flags were lowered on all public buildings.

In Berlin the Russians notified the western powers they would like to join in lowering flags out of respect to the King.

Willing To Co-Operate

The Soviet Control Commission sent word to American, British and French authorities that they were willing to dip the Red flag, which flies with those of the Western nations over the defunct Allied control authority headquarters.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands was "deeply shocked," her Secretary at Soestdyk palace said.

Denmark's broadcasting system interrupted a program of light music to announce the death then began playing solemn music.

In the Indian capital of New Delhi, officials said Thursday probably would be declared a day of mourning.

Prime Minister Nehru told the Indian parliament "I am sure the House will deeply sympathize with Her Majesty the Queen, Princess Elizabeth and the people of England with whom the King was so popular.

"It is significant in this world of Republics how the British Royal House stood firm, not merely in law, but in the affections of the people."

No definite period for the services' mourning was set by Mr. Claxton.

He issued orders for the artillery to fire 56 rounds, one a minute—one for each year of the King's life—in all provincial capitals, in Ottawa and at other "saluting stations" across Canada on the day of the funeral.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 30c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Says Democracy Needs To Know Human Rights

KINGSTON, Feb. 6 — (CP) — A prominent Quebec churchman today told the Alma Mater Society of Queen's University that "a sound democracy requires a sound philosophy of human rights and a Christian knowledge of authority in those who are fit to share the heavy tasks of building a free nation."

Msgr. Ferdinand Vandry, rector of Laval University and superior of the Quebec Seminary, speaking in English, said that a Christian democracy was based on a correct notion of right and authority.

"Universal suffrage, one man, one vote, is, in my opinion, a democratic formula which favors electoral oratory but serves much less the best interests of the nation," said Msgr. Vandry.

Defining his notion of right, M . Vandry said that in Russia only the state has rights, human beings have none.

Not Man-Made

"Fundamental rights of the human being are not man-made, they are the work of God to which the human legislator must submit. They constitute what is called natural right . . . nothing can be changed in this natural right, man must submit to it."

Positive right flowed from the natural right and changed with circumstances and the necessities of social order.

But, he added, positive right must not conflict with natural right.

"If they want to respect the rights of God and take into account the dignity of the human person, democracies will have to make the basis of social organization and legislation, this correct notion of right,"

"Democracy is not synonymous with anarchy," said the Roman Catholic churchman. . . "Authority is not a negation of liberty."

Authority, said the speaker, is derived from God.

The notion of authority "which consists of making the people the source of authority. . . dechristianizes, and brings it down to the size of man because it removes from it the crown of greatness which the creator gave it."

He said people would recognize more readily "the majesty of the right to command, if they see its divine character."

People Have Right

In a democracy, said Msgr. Vandry, the people have the right to manifest their point of view in the government of the nation.

"But is it wise? Is it truly in the interest of the people that the undesirables, the less intelligent, the unlettered, the ignorants, the amoral, the godless . . . have the same social value and exercise the formidable power to guide the political life of the nation?"

Universal suffrage is, Msgr. Vandry said, "a necessary evil" in a democracy, on condition that "a democratic elite" is created to safeguard "the essential liberties, guaranteeing the rights of all."

CHANCELLOR CHEERED—Paper streamers swirled through the dignified atmosphere of Convocation Hall in Toronto in a student demonstration acclaiming the installation of External Affairs Minister Pearson as Chancellor of Victoria University. Canada Said Very Little At U.N. Session

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Feb. 6—(CP)—Canada had less to say than usual at the session of the United Nations General Assembly which concluded today. But she continued to play an important part in the world body.

L. B. Pearson, who was head of the Canadian delegation in the opening weeks of the session, struck a sombre note in his major policy address which, many delegates agreed, still held true at the close of the assembly meetings.

He said that if the split between East and West deepens, the western world must be prepared for the disappearance of the U.N. as now known, and the replacement of it by regional pacts to preserve peace.

The East-West split, as exemplified by the exchanges between Justice Minister Garson and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky, showed no signs of healing.

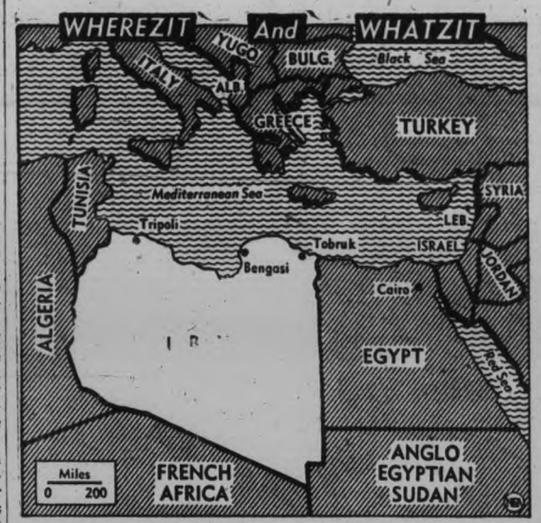
Garson Rebuffed

Garson, who led the Canadian delegation after Christmas, attempted to sound out the Russians on the real purposes of their new proposals on atomic energy but was rebuffed with crude insults.

Canada, however, will have a further chance for clarification in the new disarmament commission set up of 11 members of the Security Council plus Canada, who is included because of her contributions to the development of atomic energy.

Often a conciliator in the U.N. in the past, Canada again made a major conciliation move in drafting amendments to a multipower resolution on the Palestine issue.

Behind the scenes, the Canadian delegation was active particularly in connection with the western proposal on collective security. The Canadian delegation helped shape the resolution which calls on the U.N. to prepare anti-aggression forces, such as the troops Canada sent to Korea, which could be used against aggression anywhere.



LIBYA, former keystone of Italy's African colonies, is the world's newest sovereign nation—and one of its poorest and most backward. Post-war Libya was born under UN sponsorship on Dec. 24, 1951, with a Western-style parliament and constitution, and a Moslem king—Idris I of Senussi, former ruler of Cyrenaica. A land about one-third the size of the United States, Libya is made up of three provinces—Tripolitania, Cyrenaica and the Fezzan—with a population of less than 2,000,000, mostly Arabs. The three territories are divided by wide wastes of desert and by distrust among their rival Arab leaders. Their peoples are wretchedly poor and uneducated. Per capita income is about $30 a year, the way of life primitive. Libya's importance lies in its strategic location in the turbulent Middle East. Its position on the Mediterranean coast has made it a prize of empire-builders from Caesars to Mussolini. In World War II, when Montgomery's and Rommel's tanks rumbled back and forth across the desert, it gained the nickname, "world's longest battlefield." As the first nation spawned solely by the UN, Libya is watched over with anxious eyes by the Western world. To give it a fighting chance, and to keep its strategic military bases on our side, the U. S. and the UN will send about $10,000,000 worth of aid to Libya this year.

Early Governor Of Canada Native Son

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey who will be sworn in Feb. 28 as the first native-born governor-general of Canada sent historians here searching to discover if he actually is the first Canadian to hold the post.

Mr. Massey is the first Canadian to become governor-general since Confederation in 1867. But a century before that, a native Canadian served as governor of this country, in the period before the British conquered French Canada in 1759.

He was Pierre de Rigaud, Marquis de Vaudreuil-Cavagnal, born in Montreal in 1704. He served as governor of New France from 1755 to 1760.

He was the son of Philippe de Rigaud, Marquis de Vaudreuil, and Canadian-born Louise Elisabeth Joybert de Soulanges. The father, a native of France, served as governor from 1703 to 1725.

Clouded Record

Pierre de Rigaud served as governor of Trois Rivieres and of Louisiana, before being appointed governor of the whole of New France.

Writers of early Canadian history say little complimentary about him. Some of the writers state that he was in over-all command at Quebec when the British forces under Gen. Wolfe attacked in 1759.

When he heard of Montcalm's death on the battlefield, he is said to have deserted.

In 1760 in Montreal he personally surrendered New France to the British forces. He was returned to France and tried on a charge of maladministration, but was acquitted.

Armed Forces Win Pay Fight

OTTAWA, Feb. 6.—(CP)—The armed forces have apparently won their fight against the controversial move to give part of every married serviceman's pay to his wife in a separate cheque.

Indications now are that the step, scheduled to go into effect for officers March 1, will be dropped or at least modified as a result of clamor among both officers and men against it.

The plan was that pay of married servicemen would be split in two with one cheque going to the husband, one to the wife. It was meant to protect wives whose husbands don't support them properly.

It provoked controvery throughout defence headquarters for days because the husbands considered it an intrusion on their private affairs and an unnecessary indignity.

The controversy has been taken under consideration by Defence Minister Claxton and his aides.

Criminal Negligence

BRANTFORD, Feb. 6—(CP)—Lion tamer Kenneth W. Hill, of Simcoe, has been charged with criminal negligence as a result of an impromptu show here Saturday afternoon during which his lioness, Goldie, sank her teeth into the leg of Mrs. Gladys Smith, 41, of nearby Vanessa.

Canada Puzzled As To How Strasser Can Return Home

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP)—Otto Strasser says he's going back to Germany, but officials here are at a loss to know how Hitler's one-time political helpmate can re-enter his homeland without travel credentials or a German passport.

The 55-year-old German Nationalist, who linked up with Nazism to help Hitler to power and later fled Hitler's henchmen, is reported to have said in an interview in Montreal last night that he has won a six-year fight to leave Canada and return to Germany.

There, he said, he will form a new political party to oppose Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, whom he described as the "German Quisling."

Diplomatic officials here said Strasser, who has a family somewhere in Switzerland, came to Canada as a political refugee in 1941 and as such was free to leave Canada whenever he chose. They hinted that Canada would not be too unhappy if he decided to go.

Don't Want Him Back

However, the German Government has indicated it isn't too keen about having Strasser back. When Strasser escaped Hitler's wrath, the Nazi dictator stripped him of German citizenship and the German Government considered him a stateless person requiring a passport to get back home.

German Embassy officials here declined to say whether Strasser, who has made his temporary home at Paradise, N.S., has actually applied for a passport, but they were emphatic that no passport has been issued to him.

As far as the Canadian Government is concerned, Strasser is known to have applied for a certificate of identity which he probably could use in applying for a visa to travel in other countries, but the government has declined to meet this request.

Must Come From Germany

It considers the political refugee a German and it takes the stand that if any travel credentials are to be issued they should come from the German authorities. Strasser was in Montreal to consult on publication of a book.

The government considered that if Strasser wanted to get into some other country it is his own affair, but if he couldn't get in and tried to get back, that would be another question. Strasser would have trouble being readmitted to Canada.

Strasser left Montreal for Paradise before he could be questioned further on how he expects to get back to Germany.

One possibility is that some country has decided to give him a visa.

Strasser sought through German courts to have his citizenship restored. Court action was launched in Bavaria, his last place of residence in that country, but the courts have been slow in bringing down a decision on the case.

But Strasser is known to have a number of friends in Germany, trying to bring him back, and they may have found some way of doing this, unknown to officials here.

Explains Philosophy

Some of his philosophy and political platform was disclosed in the Montreal interview Tuesday night. Europe, he said, must find its salvation between the extremes of communism and capitalism. The Schuman plan for control of the Rhur was "nothing but a gigantic cartel for the protection of the United States dollar."

Germany, he continued, would fight on the side of the West against Russia "only with the promise that our eastern provinces would be returned to us."

"No German is going to die to save the United States and Canada unless there is a good reason for it."

What's more war with Russia was "inevitable" and western chances of winning it would be much greater if Germany—"King of the West"—were saved. The chances of world peace were not good with China lost to the Communists and he believed that Indo-China, Malaya, Burma and India soon would go, too.

Says High Taxes Bring Inflation

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 — (CP). — J. M. Macdonnell, financial critic for the Progressive Conservative Party, said Tuesday night that unnecessarily high taxes contribute to the spiral of inflation.

In a speech prepared for broadcast over a national network in the CBC series "The Nation's Business," Mr. Macdonnell said the taxpayer gets hit in two ways.

"First you pay extra taxes, and these very extra taxes, instead of being deflationary as the government tries to pretend, instead of bringing prices down, raise prices against you.

"The only person who comes out of this well is the tax collector, the Minister of Finance. For him it is a grand merry-go-round. He gets a rake-off out of everything. Taxes go up, prices go up, and his national revenue goes up."

The last treasury report showed that Finance Minister Abbott had a surplus of $721,000,000 for the first nine months of the current fiscal year. He took from the taxpayers $721,000,000 more than he needed, said Mr. Macdonnell, who represents Toronto Greenwood in the Commons.

With that many dollars "on the loose," the tendency of the government would not be to economize.

Unable To Leave U.S. Sings Across Border

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP)—Paul Robeson, Negro bass-baritone, who was not allowed to leave the United States by immigration officials, will give a border-straddling concert for the Communist-led International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Harvey Murphy, regional director of the union, said here Tuesday a date for the concert has been set but "cannot be divulged at this time."

Last week Robeson was scheduled to sing for the union's convention here but U.S. immigration officials placed him under what Robeson called domestic arrest.

He said then he would sing for the union any time.

The concert will likely be held at the Peace Arch at Blaine, Canadian-U.S. border crossing point.

Two Pilots Killed

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6 (CP)—Two R.A.F. student pilots killed Monday when an R.C.A.F. aircraft hit the transmitting tower of radio station CBW at Carman, Man., were identified Tuesday as A:P.O. Peter Frederick Harvey, 20, of Isleham, England, and A:P. O. Edward Scanlan, 18, Chiswick, England. The pilot, FO. Charles Chow-Leong, 29, of Lethbridge, Alta., was identified earlier.

Ask Court Reinstate Teachers' Alliance

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 — (CP). — The Supreme Court of Canada was asked Tuesday to reinstate the Alliance of French - language Teachers as the bargaining agent for teachers in Montreal's French-language Roman Catholic schools.

Roger Thibaudeau of Quebec, counsel for the Alliance, said that during a strike of Montreal teachers in 1949 the Quebec Labor Relations Board had revoked certification of the alliance as bargaining agent.

Farmers Won't Oppose Sale Of Margarine

TORONTO, Feb. 6—(CP)—The Dairy Farmers of Canada Tuesday said they will no longer oppose the sale of colored margarine—as long is it isn't colored yellow.

In a statement the association suggested that manufacturers choose from a wide range of other colors and leave "the natural color associated with butter" to the butter makers.

Seek Maturity In Christ, Missioner Says

MILLBROOK, Feb. 6 (ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church was filled to capacity with extra chairs having to be placed along the aisle, for the final service on Sunday evening of the preaching mission which has been conducted all week in the various churches of Millbrook and district.

In the morning a large congregation attended the service in St. Thomas' Anglican Church when holy communion was administered by the Rev. Gerald W. Gregson the missioner, and by the Rev. A. A. Chote, the rector.

The last week-night service was held in Grace Presbyterian church on Friday when a medical doctor, Dr. J. Kenney, a homemaker, Mrs. M. P. Poole, a business woman, Miss Riel, a school girl, Ethel Roberts, and a schoolteacher, Miss Isabel Conley, told what Christianity meant to them in everyday living.

In his closing address on Sunday, Mr. Gregson said that although the final service of the mission had been reached, missions such as these never really end. Their influence goes on and on. He exhorted the people not to remain babes in Christ but to strive for maturity. He told them "To know, to grow, to glow" and then to go anywhere Christ wanted them to go. It was not so much what God sent into people's lives as what they did with what He sent.

He said that the true Christian wished to give of his best, no matter what the task at hand. As he grew in Christianity he changed from rushing to resting, from getting to giving, and from petition to praise. He suggested the setting aside of a few minutes in each week to give thanks. In conclusion he made a final appeal to all present to re-dedicate their lives to Christ.

Following the service a fellowship hour was spent in the Sunday school rooms, when members of the women's organizations of all three churches served refreshments. On behalf of the Ministerial Association the Rev. A. M Butler presented the missioner, Mr. Gregson, with a guildcraft tray, made in Millbrook, as a memento of the past week, and a token of appreciation. The Rev. W. H. Heustin made the presentation of a cup and saucer to Miss Estella Hetherington, and the Rev. A. A. Chote made a similar presentation to Mrs. G. A. Spicer in appreciation for playing the organ, and for leading the joint choirs, arranging the musical numbers and singing solos during the mission.

All those present were given the opportunity to meet Mr. Gregson personally.

Speculate On Hdqts.

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP)—Speculation continued Tuesday whether London or Paris will be chosen as permanent headquarters for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. One newspaper, ranging far afield, put in a plug for Ottawa. London comment generally is of a defensive nature, wryly resigned to an inevitable victory for the glitter and gaiety of Paris over London's deeper and (say the papers) less superficial attractions.

Fire 21-Gun Salute To Mark Queen's Accession

OTTAWA, Feb. 7. (CP)—The raising of the Canadian ensign atop Canada's parliament buildings and the firing of a 21-gun salute today marked the accession of Elizabeth to the throne as Queen of Canada. The flag, at half-staff since the death of the King early Wednesday, was lifted to full-staff sharp at noon (EST) as the first blast of the Royal salute began heralding the accession of the new Queen. The ceremony was repeated across the land, as flags were raised and guns thundered the news.

Only a few people came to watch the ceremony of the guns firing with their barrels pointing over the Ottawa river towards Quebec province.

No members of the Cabinet were among the small crowd of photographers, policemen and a few others who watched the guns fire a round every 10 seconds.

This is Accession Day in Canada, which Wednesday was the first Commonwealth country to proclaim Elizabeth as Queen Elizabeth II. The Cabinet took that action a few hours after the King died.

Friday the flags will go to half-staff again and will remain there until the day of the King's funeral. That day, to be decided on by Queen Elizabeth on her arrival in London from her cancelled tour, will be a national day of mourning in Canda. Canada will also observe the same period of official mourning proclaimed for Britain, probably six months.

(Elizabeth will not be proclaimed Queen in Britain until Friday, but Commonwealth countries need not wait for this to hold their own accession ceremonies.)

Close Ties

Elizabeth comes to the throne with closer Canadian ties than any other monarch before her. They were born of the 36-day cross-country tour just three months ago when she and her consort, Philip, saw and were acclaimed by millions of Canadians and were seen by them. It gave Elizabeth an understanding of Canada's loyalty to the throne and a concept of Canada and its future.

Messages of sympathy were cabled from Canada to the royal family on the death of the King Wednesday. Scores of tributes poured in from the nation's high officials to the King who led Canada and her sister commonwealth members through 16 years of war and half-peace.

Prime Minister St. Laurent expressed profound sorrow at the death of a man greatly loved by all. He informed Queen Elizabeth of Canada's earnest desire to support her in the great responsibility she now assumes.

To Represent Canada

Mr. St. Laurent told reporters that External Affairs Minister Pearson, flying to Lonon en route to an Atlantic Pact meeting in Lisbon, will represent Canada at

Protocol Experts Face Problem On Title Changes

LONDON, Feb. 7 (Reuters)—Experts on protocol conferred Wednesday night on problems relating to changes in titles and precedence made by the death of King George VI.

First is the question of the official titles to be taken by the new Queen's mother and grandmother.

These are not automatic and will eventually be answered by an announcement from Buckingham Palace.

An expert outside the court said the widowed Queen Elizabeth probably will take the title of Queen Mother and that Queen Mary, formerly known as the Queen Mother, will be known simply as Queen Mary.

It is doubtful if 84-year-old Queen Mary will take the title of Dowager Queen or Dowager Queen Mother, as the royal family is said to dislike them.

Up To Queen

The future title of the Queen's husband, Prince Philip, is something that will have to be decided by Queen Elizabeth herself.

Although husband of the new sovereign, the Duke has no standing except by courtesy. As the most recently-created Duke, he is far down in the order of precedence.

If the Queen wants him to rank as first gentleman of the land, however, she only has to command the change in the order of precedence.

If she wants him to be known as Prince Consort, she can command that too. Queen Victoria did not give Prince Albert that title until 17 years after their marriage.

Say Thrombosis Cause Of Death

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 7 (CP).—Coronary thrombosis was the cause of the King's death, it was learned today.

Court officials announced that a thrombosis—a blood clot that reached the heart—was the immediate cause of death.

The King's doctors announced that in his operation last Sept. 23, a cancerous lung was entirely removed. Three years earlier, he was operated on to relieve a vein disease that could have led to the formation of blood clots.

In London, The Daily Express said today that the doctors who removed the King's lung "knew that he had only a short time to live. . . and it is almost certain the King also knew."

Hungarian Sympathy

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 7 (AP).—The Hungarian foreign ministry has sent a note to the British legation here expressing sympathy over the death of the King, a spokesman of the ministry said today.

Budapest newspapers published the news of the death in one sentence this morning.

Opposed Hoodlums Ward Official Slain

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 (AP). — A Republican ward official, described as a vigorous foe of the so-called hoodlum element seeking domination of some of the city's wards, was slain in gangland style Wednesday night.

Seven shotgun blasts, apparently fired by two gunmen from an automobile, felled Charles Gross, 56, acting Republican committeeman of the 31st ward.

Political spokesmen speculated that the slaying stemmed from a steadily strengthening hoodlum encroachment into the ward's politics. They reported similar gangland invasion in several of the city's 50 wards.

Allies, Reds Give Ground On Armistice

Negotiators Remain Far Apart On Other Issues

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Communists and Allies each gave ground today and narrowed the gap on troop rotation and the future of displaced civilians.

But negotiators remained as far apart as ever on key issues blocking a Korean armistice.

Allied negotiators abandoned demands that the Communists trade displaced civilians for UN-held war prisoners.

The U.N. reiterated, however, that all prisoners must have the right to choose whether they want to be repatriated, and that impartial teams must interview civilians to determine whether they want to live in North or South Korea.

An official UN spokesman, Brig-Gen. William P. Nuckols, said before the transcript of the negotiations was available that the demand for civilian interviews also was dropped. The record shows that this was not the case.

In an adjoining tent the Communists gave ground in the dispute over troop rotation during an armistice. The Allies said they would talk about the Communists' definition of coastal waters and consider dropping two demands relating to troop dispositions during a truce.

Key Issue

The key issue of whether the Reds have the right to build and repair North Korean airfields during an armistice has been shelved for the time being.

The U.N. command continued its study of a Red proposal that a high-level political conference be held within 90 days after an armistice to consider all Asian problems looking toward peace in Korea.

The Allies did not suggest a date for another full-dress session on armistice agenda item five—recommendations to governments involved in Korea. The U.N. said Wednesday it would request another meeting after studying the Red draft.

Staff officers working on truce supervision and prisoner exchange will meet again at 11 a.m. Friday (9 p.m. EST Thursday) in Panmunjom.

The Communist concession on troop rotation narrowed to 15,000 the difference between Allied and Red figures.

U.N. staff officers said the Allies' rock-bottom figure was 40,000.

Use Black Drapes

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—Black and purple drapes were hung about the main doors of the parliament buildings today in mourning for the King. They will remain until the day after the funeral.

Canada's Proclamation

OTTAWA, Feb. 7. (CP)—Canada's proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II as the new monarch, signed by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret, Administrator of the Government:

To all to whom these presents shall come,

Greeting:

Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy our late Sovereign Lord King George the Sixth of blessed and glorious memory by whose decease the Crown of Great Britain, Ireland and all other His Late Majesty's Dominions is solely and rightfully come to the High and Mighty Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, now know ye that I, the said Right Honorable Thibaudeau Rinfret, Administrator of Canada as aforesaid, assisted by Her Majesty's Privy Council for Canada do now hereby with one voice and consent of tongue and heart publish and proclaim that the High and Mighty Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary is now by the death of our late Sovereign of happy and glorious memory become our only lawful and Rightful Liege Lady Elizabeth the Second by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions Beyond the Seas Queen, Defender of the Faith, Supreme Liege Lady in and over Canada, to whom we acknowledge all faith and constant obedience with all hearty and humble affection, beseeching God by whom all kings and queens do reign to bless the Royal Princess Elizabeth the Second with long and happy yedrs to reign over us.

Given under my hand and seal at arms at Ottawa, this sixth day of February, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two, and in the first year of Her Majesty's reign.

Day Of King's Funeral National Day Of Mourning

OTTAWA, Feb. 7. (CP)—The day of the King's funeral will be proclaimed a day of national mourning for Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday night in a statement. (The date of the funeral has not yet been announced from London.) Mr. St. Laurent said that national ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. at the National War Memorial on Ottawa's Confederation Square and that he will place a wreath at the cenotaph.

"It is expected," he added, "the ceremony will be attended by members of the diplomatic corps and other dignitaries, including representatives from various national organizations."

There will be two minutes of silence, the beginning of which will be indicated by the firing of a gun and the ending of which will be indicated by the start of a 56-gun salute, one each minute for each year of the King's life.

"It is expected," Mr. St. Laurent said, "that the churches will hold memorial services and that members of the government will wish to attend the churches to which they belong."

Renew Negotiations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP).—The World Bank announced today renewal of negotiations with Iran in an effort to revive operations of that country's oil industry.

Truck Driver Obtains Remand

HAMILTON, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Maurice McArthur, driver of the truck involved in a crash last Friday night which claimed the lives of four Hamilton people, obtained a remand until Feb. 20, when he appeared on a dangerous driving charge Wednesday in Dundas.

A court official said today that McArthur had been released on bail of $1,000, submitted by the Hepburn Transport Company.

McArthur, who resides at St. Thomas, was charged following a truck-car accident at the old Mausoleum curve, on the Toronto-Hamilton highway.

Four died from injuries suffered in the collision. They were: Andrew Alderson, Lois Hankinson, Ronald Berta and Dolores Jourdain. Still in hospital with injuries are Beverley Alderson, Marvin Bevan and Ray Younger.

Masefield Valedictory

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—Britain's poet laureate, John Masefield, Wednesday published his valedictory for the late King George VI:

"O wisdom, who, with power infinite,
Utterest death to every creature born,
Grant to us now the mercy of thy light,
With comfort to beloved Queens who mourn."

Says Germany Promised Part In NATO

Complicated Affair So Membership Will Be Delayed

BONN, Germany, Feb. 7. — (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told parliament today that West Germany is promised eventual inclusion in the North Atlantic community by the peace contract now being negotiated between the Bonn government and the Western Big Three occupation powers.

Opening a two-day debate on his proposal to raise 12 German divisions for the European Army, Adenauer said he realized Germany could not be admitted to membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "today or tomorrow because election of new members to N.A.T.O. is a complicated affair which takes time."

Caused Consternation

Widespread consternation was caused in France and Western Europe earlier this week by a report that Adenauer had told his party West Germany wanted N.A.T.O. membership and the Saar Basin before it would furnish troops for the European Army. Adenauer later denied the statement attributed to him.

As Adenauer spoke, the parliament and other government buildings were heavily guarded by police against threatened Communist demonstrations and tumult broke out from the Leftists within the Bundestag (lower House). Twice the Chancellor warned booing deputies that he would eject the disturbers unless they remained quiet.

Outside some 500 demonstrators, mostly women, carrying Communist-sloganned placards tried to march on the parliament building and were driven back by police with a water hose. Police then roped off the road leading to the building.

Massey Choice Amuses Reds

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP).—The Russians have been somewhat amused by the appointment of Vincent Massey as Governor-General of Canada.

"Massey," said Pravda, "is a member of a big industrial family, owners of the Massey-Harris Agricultural machinery plants."

The Soviet press regards the Canadian government as a highly capitalistic outfit subservient to the United States.

Russians, while sympathetic towards the Canadian people, believed to strongly desire friendship and closer ties with the U.S.S.R., are not sympathetic towards the Canadian government.

Only Small Group Greet Elizabeth On Sad Arrival

LONDON, Feb. 7. (CP)—Elizabeth II today set foot on English soil for the first time as Britain's Queen. The new ruler, summoned from a round-the-world tour of Commonwealth countries by the death of her father, touched down at London airport from Africa at 4:19 p.m. (11:19 a.m. EST). She and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived only a few hours after batteries at Hyde Park and the Tower of London boomed out a 56-gun salute over the solemn capital.

The salute was echoed by ships of the fleet in home and foreign waters and military and naval garrisons throughout the United Kingdom. It tolled one round for every year of the late King's life.

The four-engined plane carrying the 25-year-old Queen set down after a 4,000-mile one-stop flight from Nairobi, Kenya Colony. Prime Minister Churchill headed the official delegation which welcomed the new ruler.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (Reuters)— King George VI will be buried Friday, Feb. 15, it was officially announced tonight.

The airport welcome, held beneath grey skies that reflected Britain's gloom came just one week after Elizabeth had anxiously bade her ailing father goodbye before leaving on her tour.

Gloucesters Present

The royal family was represented by the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, aunt and uncle of the Queen. Another uncle, the Duke of Windsor, sails from New York tonight to attend the funeral.

The scene at the airport was a cheerless one. The airport was ringed by scores of policemen sent to keep the arrival private. Churchill had appealed to the public in advance to stay away from the airport and respect the Queen's grief.

Elizabeth stepped out of the plane at 4:33 p.m. It was arranged that she go to Clarence House, her residence as princess, and then to Buckingham Palace to take the oath to uphold the constitution before the Privy Council.

She will be formally proclaimed Queen Friday—the first woman to rule Britain in 51 years.

Six cars stood by at the airport to take the royal party and its luggage to the heart of London. Policemen were posted along the 15-mile route from the airport to central London.

Queen Mother, Margaret Attend Service

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 7 (Reuters) — Veiled in heavy mourning, widowed Queen Mother Elizabeth and her daughter, Princess Margaret, made their first appearance in public today since death of the King.

Their heads bowed in grief, the two women drove through the main gates of Sandringham estate to attend a half-hour Holy Communion service at the Royal Church of St. Mary Magdalene, a few hundred yards away.

After the service, the car returned to the estate empty while the widowed Queen and Margaret walked back alone through the grounds of the estate to the sprawling brick house where the King's body lies.

Wear Black Ties

Villagers of Sandringham went to work wearing black ties and arm bands, out of respect for a man who was more than a reigning monarch to them. He was the local farmer, deeply loved and respected as an understanding landlord.

The villagers hoped that they would be able to pay their last respects in the little 16th century church of St. Mary's.

When the last King, George V, died here 15 years ago, villagers in the area were allowed to see his body, which rested in the church for a few days before being taken to London.

Ritual Difficult For Coronation

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—Arrangements for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II—perhaps the most complicated ritual in all the pageantry of state—started even before the King's death.

But the ceremonial, involving lengthy planning and many officials, is not expected to take place before late autumn this year or early next spring.

The coronation of the late King, in May, 1937, was so elaborate suggestions were heard that the ceremonial might be curtailed, particularly for the benefit of those taking part.

Details of organization are drafted at the College of Arms in London's financial district. Heading the staff is the Garter King of Arms, Sir George Bellew, an expert in heraldry since his appointment as Pursuivant 28 years ago. The arrangements are submitted to Buckingham Palace after approval by the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl Marshal.

At the crowning ceremony, the Duke of Edinburgh will be first to kneel before the Queen, his wife, and take the oath of allegiance.

Find T.T.C. Passengers Now Down 15%

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Fifteen per cent fewer persons are taking street-cars than before the Toronto Transportation Commission strike which ended 16 days ago.

"We just don't know what has happened to them," T.T.C. officials said today. "We had them before the strike but they're not here now."

Toronto firms said car-pool arrangements instituted during the three-week strike have ended. However, the T.T.C. still is 15 per cent short in its daily passenger count. It used to be 900,000 a day.

Elizabeth Will Now Rule Quarter Of World's People

LONDON, Feb. 7 (Reuters)—With the formal proclamation that she is Queen, Elizabeth II will officially become sovereign of some 580,000,000 subjects, more than one-quarter of the world's population.

During the reign of King George VI, Britain loosened her hold on her far-flung empire. But the sun still never sets on subjects of the British crown.

Many lands are independent but remain members of the Commonwealth—free, yet linked together by tradition and common loyalty.

Canada, a Dominion whose last legal tie to Britain was severed, still recognizes the throne and was the first to proclaim Elizabeth queen. The proclamation was issued Wednesday.

In New Zealand, the governor-general will read the proclamation of Queen Elizabeth from the steps of parliament house Feb. 11. Ceremonies will be repeated by mayors and local authorities throughout the dominion.

In New Delhi a 21-gun salute will be fired Friday in honor of the formal proclamation. Flags will fly from the mast head Friday until sunset, then resume half-staff position during 11 days of state mourning.

The South African government today proclaimed Elizabeth "sovereign in and over the Union of South Africa."

Queen Elizabeth will also be proclaimed Friday in the Gold Coast, which has the first native assembly in British Africa.

Australia will issue stamps bearing a portrait of the new sovereign in about six months. The special issue of stamps prepared for the royal tour of Australia has been cancelled.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced he received a telegram from the new Queen saying: "Owing to the sudden death of my father I have had to return home immediately. I regret that for the present my Australian visit will have to be postponed."

She sent a similar message to Ceylon announcing the postponement of her Commonwealth tour. The message was signed "Elizabeth R." (Regina.)

CROWDS MOURN THE KING—In sorrow as in joy loyal Britons instinctively turn to Buckingham Palace. Early Wednesday morning, when news came of the death of the king, shocked, almost unbelieving Londoners made their familiar way to the Palace. Old, middle-aged and young (there is a baby in the perambulator at left) early arrivals are shown gathering outside the Palace gates.

Egypt Reports Arrest Of 500 For Bloody Riots

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Feb. 7 (Reuters).—More than 500 arrests have been made in this explosive trouble spot in the last three days in an Egyptian police anti-terrorist campaign aimed at paving the way for negotiation of the Anglo-Egyptian crisis, it was announced today.

Official Egyptian sources disclosed that the drive began on orders from the Ministry of Interior in Cairo.

Latest swoop was Wednesday when 150 arrests were made at Zagazig, long regarded as headquarters of Egyptian terrorists in the delta region.

Two days ago, 39 suspects were rounded up in Ismailia, and police at Port Said were reported to be holding an estimated 200.

In London, the British government published the text of a note handed over to Egypt Wednesday calling for drastic punishment of all involved in the "brutal and barbarous" death of British subjects during the Jan. 26 Cairo riots.

Britain charged that "little or nothing was done by Egyptian police to prevent these outrages," which brought about the deaths of 26 Britons, including the Canadian Trade Commissioner J. MacLeod Boyer, a native of Victoria, N.B.

The note said that the British Turf Club was surrounded by "a savage mob under organized leadership which broke into the premises, set them on fire and barbarously murdered those of the occupants who were unable to escape."

U.S. Ready To Accept Red Proposal

High-Level Meeting Likely To Discuss Political Settlement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP) —The United States is prepared to agree to Communist recommendations for a high-level conference to discuss a permanent political settlement in Korea.

The meeting would not be held until after a cease-fire had stopped all Korean fighting and the recommendations had been acted on by the United Nations. The U.N. General Assembly is due to hold a special session if and when a truce is agreed on.

Red armistice negotiators in Korea yesterday placed the conference proposal formally before the U.N. negotiating team. It is the last big issue to be raised although some other matters such as exchange of prisoners of war are still unsettled.

Will Get Instructions

The proposal was forwarded here by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the U.N. commander. American officials said it would get immediate attention and indications were that Ridgway shortly will be instructed to submit a counter-proposal.

The counter-proposal would differ from the Communist plan in some respects, it was said, but not on the main point of holding a political conference if the present talks at Panmunjom succeed

The problems of post-armistice talks with the Reds on the future of Korea have long been foreseen and are understood to have been discussed in principle by the United States with Britain, France, and other U.N. countries fighting in Korea.

It is understood these discussions have made clear that the American government, as a member of the United Nations, has no objections to engaging in political talks on Korean questions but would not want to be bound to discuss broader issues such as Formosa and Red China's bid for a U.N. seat. If the Reds try to force an agreement on discussion of such matters there may be some difficulty on the whole project.

the King's funeral. Also attending will be Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's new governor-general-designate who has cancelled plans to sail home Friday.

The Prime Minister said however it is not expected the royal death will alter plans to open the new session of parliament Feb. 28. And Mr. Massey will fly back to Canada to be sworn in as governor-general in time to officiate at the parliament opening.

It is possible that Viscount Alexander, the retired governor-general who was to sail for Britain Feb. 17 to become defence minister, may fly over in time to attend the King's funeral.

The death of the King makes necessary the taking of a new oath of allegiance by thousands of Canadians holding office by the King's commission. This includes all officers of the army, judges, members of the Commons and Senate and Canadian ambasadors and ministers abroad.

Charges Envoy In POW Murders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP).—A former Polish colonel testified today there is reason to believe the present Russian Ambassador to London commanded a Russian "murder" prison camp in the Second World War.

Col. George Grobicki, 60, told a special House of Representatives investigating committee that a Brig. Gen. Zarubin of the Soviet Secret Police commanded Kozelsk prison camp, where he was confined in 1940.

Grobicki said he once established from a photograph that this man is the same Zarubin who now represents the Soviet government in London. But testifying under oath today, he said:

"The name is the same and the likeness is a very great one. But I do not know for sure."

The sub-committee, investigating the murder of thousands of Polish officers in Katyn forest, near Smolensk, early in the Second World War, also arranged to hear testimony by a United States reporter this afternoon.

He is Henry Cassidy, former chief of The Associated Press Bureau in Moscow and now news editor of the National Broadcasting Company.

Western Oils Hold Firmly To Gains

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Western oils held firmly to mid-session gains today in early afternoon stock market dealings but industrials turned slowly downward.

Trading opened briskly and continued steadily. Industrial dealings were mostly in leading issues but increased western oil and base metal speculation boosted the turnover for the first three hours to 1,919,000 shares.

Papers, liquors and miscellaneous issues led industrials lower while utilities, banks and retail stores posted a majority of fractional declines. Foods and textiles drew firm support and refining oils countered the trend with a scattered list of gains.

Western oil gains ranged from pennies to about 25 cents. Ajax Petroleum jumped 18 cents in a turnover of more than 200,000 shares while Canada Southern, Devon-Leduc and Scurry also climbed strongly.

Base metal leaders were mixed. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge and United Keno Hill climbed fractions while International Nickel, Waite Amulet and Noranda dipped.

Senior golds were firm. Secondary issues weakened.

House Fire Nipped In Bud

LINDSAY, Feb. 7. (ENS) — What started out as a serious house fire was checked this morning with quick action by the Lindsay department.

A frantic phone call from the owner of a house at 15 Russell St. west resulted in the fire truck hooking up their booster hose and extinguishing a fire that was well started in the partition of the house between the living room and dining room. Believed to have been caused by an over-heated hot air furnace pipe, over $50 fire damage was done before the fire was put out. Firemen were out almost an hour.

Churchill bowed deeply and shook hands with the Queen as she stepped from the plane, closely followed by her husband.

Dressed In Black

Elizabeth wore a black hat and coat. The Duke, in a dark overcoat, was hatless.

Five minutes later they drove away toward London.

A thine line of spectators standing outside the air port saw the procession pull away.

A group of soldiers snapped a salute at the royal car as it passed. The Queen unsmiling waved back.

Before leaving the airport, the Queen said she would like to see the crew of the airliner. They lined up on the concrete apron and in a low voice she thanked them all.

Her face was pale and she was plainly under a strain. But there were no tears.

As the royal car swept through the gates, the Duke solicitously bent forward and arranged the rug around the Queen's feet.

Their car was followed by one carrying the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester.

In the streets outside, men barred their heads and women—some in tears—waved handkerchiefs.

Met By Queen Mary

Meanwhile in London, 83-year-old Queen Mary was advised by telephone of the royal party's return.

She immediately drove to Clarence House to comfort her grieving granddaughter.

The King will be buried with other British monarchs at Windsor castle.

Work has begun on a catafalque, or raised dais, on which the body of the King will lie in state in centuries-old Westminster Hall. More than 1,000,000 Britons will file through the vast, cold stone hall to pay their last respects.

In the dead King's room a dim light glowed all night. The body is expected to be taken in a simple procession to Wolferton station two miles away for its train journey to London.

Nation In Mourning

As the nation went into mourning, theatres closed, radio and television went off the air—except for news bulletins — and churches stayed open all night for special prayers.

The night life of the capital came to a standstill.

Silent crowds, many clothed darkly in mourning, moved silently through the streets. A cluster of persons kept solemn vigil in front of Buckingham Palace all night. The crowd swelled today.

The widowed Queen mother and Princess Margaret were in deep mourning at Sandringham.

Makes Declaration

Before the Privy Council in her clear, high voice Queen Elizabeth will make the historic accession declaration. It includes these words:

"I do solemnly and sincerely, in the presence of God, profess, testify and declare that I am a faithful Protestant and that I will, according to the true intent of the enactments which secure Protestant succession to the throne of my realm, uphold and maintain said enactments to the best of my powers, according to law".

Accession to the throne must come first, before the new Queen's homage to her dead father and comfort to her widowed mother.

From the palace, the Queen will be driven 130 miles to Sandringham.

The widowed Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, Elizabeth's 21-year-old sister, prayed by his bedside Wednesday evening. Comforting them were the Bishop of Norwich and the Duke of Gloucester.

Through the night, saddened villagers and farmers and their wives and children stood silently before the great gate, peering down the gravel drive at the great house.

Royal gamekeepers, woodsmen, farmhands went quietly about their daily duties in barn and field.

Before every gate stood uniformed policemen, quietly telling those who asked that there was no more news.

The rule that none must loiter while the King is in residence was overlooked in death. Those who wished could linger and mourn.

Plain Coffin

While the sorrowing young Queen sped homeward, a plain oak coffin was prepared for the remains of her father.

At the Royal estate of Sandringham, where the King died peacefully in his sleep Wednesday morning, silent, sorrowing carpenters sawed, hammered and fitted the coffin from a great oak tree, felled months ago on the estate where he was born and died.

When the plain coffin is finished, the body will be placed in it and carried a quarter-mile to the little church.

The carpenters who built it, the woodsmen and field workers and guardians of the game will make up the honor guard in the dimly-lit chancel of the chapel until the body is brought to London by train, probably Sunday.

A detachment of Royal Guards Regiment arrived from London Wednesday night to join in the ceremonial carriage of the body from Sandringham to the little Wolferton railway station.

In London, the King will lie in state in Westminster Hall, chill, vaulted chamber in the Palace of Westminster.

Soon after the Queen reaches Sandringham tonight, a family service will be held by the Rev. Hector Anderson, rector of the village church.

Two Red Jets Said Damaged

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 7 (AP)—An American Sabre jet pilot damaged two Communist MIG jets in a three-minute battle high over snow swept North Korea today The action involved 17 Allied Sabres and 30 Red jets.

The Sabre jets were flying escort for Allied fighter bombers which took to the skies as snow clouds cleared during the afternoon.

Light snow fell all along the battle line.

United Nations raiding parties hit the Reds west of Chorwon, one-time anchor of the Communists' iron triangle. One unit fought two sharp 25-minute battles in the snow before returning to its own lines. The other reached its objective on high ground without trouble and returned while snow still was falling.

Wool Makes Money For Commonwealth

LONDON (Reuters)—Wool has proven a golden fleece to Britain and the three wool-producing dominions—Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

In six years they have made a profit of £170,610,000 from sale of wartime stocks of 10,500,000 bales.

The figure was announced in accounts of the point organization set up to sell wartime wool surpluses—U.K.-Dominion Wool Disposals Limited.

The British government bought up the wartime surplus to aid the dominions. Profit from sales is divided equally, half for Britain, half to be split among the dominions.

The wool which brought the record sum originally cost only £6,000,000 at wartime prices — some 700 per cent profit.

The organization now has sold all its stocks and is going into voluntary liquidation.

VANCOUVER. — (CP) — The city parks board is investigating ways of eliminating Sunday afternoon motor traffic jams in the Sylvan reaches of Stanley Park. Pedestrian crossings are the main reason for the jams and both overhead and underground passage-ways are being considered.

Report Jobless Up 85,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—Registered unemployed in Canada increased by 85,000 during four weeks, the Labor Department reported today.

This brought the number seeking work through the department's employment offices to 337,000 at Jan. 17 compared with 252,000 at Dec. 20, 1951, and 281,900 at Jan. 18, 1951.

The department said the employment situation in some local areas, notably Ontario and Quebec, was affected by continuing shifts in employment from consumer goods to defence and other producer goods industries.

Seasonal lay-offs and bad weather conditions also disrupted the labor market.

Bus Passengers Escape Injury

Five passengers and the driver of a Colonial Coach Lines bus escaped injury Wednesday afternoon, when a 14 foot angle iron loosened from the side of a truck pierced the side of the bus, wrecking the emergency door and smashing two rear seats.

All passengers were seated near the front when a three ton truck, travelling north on Water St., brushed the left front corner of the bus near Mill St. The collision knocked the truck platform slightly sideways.

Planks of the wooden platform were pried loose and a long three inch square piece of metal stripping drove into the side of the southbound bus, as the two vehicles scraped past each other.

At the rear emergency door of the bus, it rammed through the side, and after overturning one double seat and damaging the left side of the rear seats, it continued through the floor, cutting the air brake lines and damaging the bus transmission.

The bus, driven by N. A. Wells, 287 Stewart St., received the biggest share of the estimated $1,000 damage. Damage to the bus is said to be about $850. It will take approximately $150 to repair the wrecked platform of the truck.

Constable Sherman Keliele investigated.

Supreme Court Makes Ruling On Petroleum

CALGARY, Feb. 7—(CP)—A far-reaching judgment of petroleum rights was handed down Wednesday by the Supreme Court of Alberta, appellate division, with one of the five judges dissenting.

The court decided the word "petroleum" includes oil and other hydro-carbons and natural gas existing in its natural condition in strata.

The Canadian Pacific Railway and Imperial Oil Co. Ltd. won an appeal against Michael Borys of the Leduc district. At a previous hearing the trial judge ruled that natural gas and petroleum were two different substances.

Heart of this case revolved around the meaning and effect that should be given the word petroleum.

Borys claimed that petroleum is a liquid as it exists in the earth and does not include gaseous hydrocarbons. If this were the case oil rights and natural gas rights would have to be purchased separately.

The appellants said that petroleum embraces not only crude oil but includes all gaseous hydrocarbons whether liquid, solid or gaseous.

Rule 4,000 Get Insurance

WINDSOR, Feb. 7—(CP)—Unemployment Insurance compensation for the period Dec. 20 to Dec. 25 inclusive should be paid an estimated 4,000 Ford of Canada employees, an Unemployment Insurance Commission Board of Referees ruled today.

If the ruling is upheld—and Commission officials say it will be appealed to Mr. Justice Alfred Savard, Quebec Exchequer Justice who is the Unemployment Insurance Umpire—an estimated 4,000 Ford workers will receive three or four days' unemployment compensation. That would mean $10 to $15 for each man.

The ruling derives from two "test case" decisions in the appeals of Ford employees Ralph Allen and William Post against denial of unemployment insurance for the "mopping-up" period following the 12-day December strike at Ford of Canada.

Federal Grant Relaces Taxes

COBOURG, Feb. 7 (ENS) — Cobourg will receive a federal grant in lieu of taxes in connection with the ordnance depot, Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P. of Cobourg, told the dinner meeting of the Cobourg Kiwanis Club. The question was raised recently on how Cobourg would fare since the property was tax free.

Dr. Robertson declared that he was unable to estimate how much the grant would be as the buildings would have to be completed and valuated before the amount of the grant could be estabilished. The ordnance depot would be a big thing for the town of Cobourg, the speaker said, and this would be evident as time went on.

Dealing with the factors which induced the government to select Cobourg as the site of the new depot, Dr. Robertson said that it was due to a combination of circumstances the natural advantages afforded by the town plus the cooperation of the mayor and various town officials. Senator William Fraser of Trenton, former member for Northumberland county, also played a prominent part in getting the depot for Cobourg.

Future international affairs will play an important part in determining the ultimate size of the ordnance depot but some estimates are as much as $15,000,000, Dr. Robertson said. It will occupy 225 acres of land.

Kinsmen Initiation Held At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7 — (ENS)— Kinsmen here held their initiation night at Edgewater Park on Monday evening, with a bus load of members of the Belleville club on hand to swell their numbers.

B. Yanover, president of the Belleville club, headed the delegation from that city and also handled the initiation exercises. District Governor Murray Davis also attended. Gordon Walroth, president of the Campbellford club conducted the meeting, which was termed a huge success by the members, who watched the school-boy pranks of the initiation proceedings with much merriment.

After the meal hour, Kinsman W. J. Callaghan introduced the Rev. J. C. Moloney of St. Mary's Church, Campbellford, who was guest speaker. Father Moloney gave a humorous discourse on the subject of "Ambition," relating his own experiences in the days of his childhood and youth. A vote of thanks was moved to him by John Hill.

Following the brief recess during which the Belleville visitors made lavish preparations, nine Campbellford men were initiated into full membership in the club. The Belleville group saw to it that the initiation was rigorous and complete. The Charge of Kinmanship was read to the nine new members by Past- President Forrest R. Dennis of the Campbellford club. The following members who were put through the exercises are now Kinsmen: Glenn Taylor, John Hall, Robert D. Knox, Dc.; Ross Jewell, Murray Campbell, Paul Coughlan, Ray Hall, Bruce Barnum and Keith Bailey.

New Queen Head Of 2 Churches

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II became titular head of two separate churches the moment her father died Wednesday.

She is head of the Church of England and head of the Church of Scotland, which is Presbyterian in organization. Both are protestant bodies but there is no common communion between them. Some basic differences date back to the protestant reformation before England and Scotland were united.

Elizabeth, as head of each church, takes the sacrament and worships in the buildings of each church. Thus she is an Anglican while in England and a Presbyterian while in Scotland.

Personally, Elizabeth is known to be sincerely religious, but being head of two churches does not make her a prelate. Nor is she a laywoman. She is a Queen, spiritual and temporal head of the state.

She does not meddle in church affairs. That is just as taboo as interference in temporal politics.

As Queen, Elizabeth personally appoints the two archbishops and the bishops of the church of England when those offices fall vacant. But she does not select the persons to fill the posts—they are nominated by the government.

There are no bishops in the Scotland. Its head is an elected moderator. But the general assembly derives its authority from the Queen, its temporal head.

Rescue 18 On Schooner

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two women and 16 men stranded aboard the disabled Colombian schooner Gloria for a week were rescued Wednesday night after week-long searching by United States Air Force planes and American navy patrol boats.

The 87-foot boat was dismasted and stripped of its rudder by a storm Jan. 30. It ran out of fuel, food and water.

Four survivors who took to a lifeboat in search of help were picked up Monday by the navy ship John F. Thorson.

The 18 others finally were sighted by a patrol bomber Wednesday, picked up a patrol boat and landed at Cristobal, Canal Zone, Wednesday night.

Paul O'Sullivan was appointed chairman of the membership committee; William McComb was named chairman of the employment committee, and Ed. White chairman of the entertainment committee. One application for membership was received and accepted.

Howard Wilson reported on the hockey team sponsored by the branch and praised the work done by Jack Storie at hockey practices and games. Mr. Wilson withdrew as manager of the team owing to lack of time and Mr. Storie was appointed in his place.

Twenty-three members were presented for initiation and were duly initiated by a team composed of president Outingdyke, Ken Hazell and William Dungar.

Comrade Harry Field thanked the members for their generous support in helping to insulate the boiler room. After passing accounts the meeting closed.

Cobourg Hospital Surplus $17,150

COBOURG, Feb. 7 — (ENS) — Aided by private donations, Cobourg General Hospital was able to show an operating surplus of $17,150 for 1951 as compared with a deficit of $5,293.88 for the previous year, it was revealed at the annual meeting of the hospital board. Without grants and private donations the hospital would have shown a deficit of $15,235.14 this year, it was pointed out. Municipal and provincial grants totalled $12,500 and donations in cash or equipment amounted to $17,000.

One of the main factors which brought this year's surplus was $17,000 in private donations as compared with $3,000 in 1950. Seventy-five per cent of the hospital income came from the patients; 10 per cent from grants and 15 per cent from donations and bequests.

Figures for the past few years show that there has been a reduction in the number of days stay per patient. Revenue for the year was $92,156 as compared with $72,172 in 1950. This increase was due mainly to increased per diem rates. Expenses for 1951 totalled $107,385 or $15,000 more than the year before and this was due mainly to increased salaries.

Church Leaders Praise Monarch

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said in a statement Wednesday:

"The King was a grand leader of his people by reason of his courage, his simple humanity, his selfless regard for others, his single-minded devotion to duty.

"We thank God for his example. Our best memorial to a beloved monarch, our best encouragement to his daughter called to the throne is to follow the example of his courageous and Godly life."

The Archbishop is the spiritual head of the Church of England.

Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Roman Catholic primate of England and Wales, sent a message of sympathy to the Royal family in which he said:

"By his devotion to duty, by his loving interest in the welfare of his people, by his courage in the face of illness and by his magnificent example of family life, King George VI won a unique position in the hearts of his subjects. He was a true father of his people and as such we mourn his passing."

MONTREAL (CP) — Annual report of the economic and tourist development bureau showed 415 new industries started operations in Montreal in 1951, compared with the average of 300 for the past 10 years. Director Valmore Gratton said the figures prove active industrial expansion is continuing in Montreal.

A Hot Potato

We are pleased to learn that the impudent and insulting plan by which the Department of Defence proposed to send separate cheques to the wives of servicemen is either to be greatly modified, or dropped entirely. We think that the latter would be the better course. We commented on this scheme with a good deal of heat on January 30; several other newspapers took the same attitude toward the plan that we did, and it has caused dissatisfaction among the servicemen who are principally concerned. The proposal was that the wives of men in the army and air force should receive a cheque for part of their husbands' pay—usually for more than half of it; the husband would receive the remainder, and out of that would be made the deductions for his pension, income tax, and other monthly expenses. The reason given for this change was that some servicemen did not make adequate provision for their wives, and that this scheme would compell them to do so.

* * *

As an instance of insulting bureaucratic action this would be hard to beat. No figures were given as to how many servicemen make inadequate provision for their families; the figure, we are certain, would be a very small one; it was decided that as some men were neglectful of their duty in this respect, all servicemen should be treated as though they shared this fault. In our opinion, the Defence Minister should trace this idiotic proposal to its source, and sharply rebuke everyone who approved of it. People who think that the average Canadian citizen (which is what a soldier is, after all) is a nincompoop who must be compelled to take care of his dependents, have no place in the Civil Service. A low concept of the average citizen will go far to create a spineless nation.

* * *

We live in a conservative welfare state. Most Canadians find no radical fault with that, because it has come about through their own desire. But a welfare state is not a state in which the average citizen is to be treated as though he were an inmate of a home for the feeble-minded, by government officials who look upon themselves as his keepers. Let the gentlemen at Ottawa remember that.

Cost-of-Living Index Rises

A slight rise in the cost of living index was computed by the Ottawa statisticians for the last month in the year. It rose from 191.1 to 191.5. This was something of a surprise, following the one-tenth of a point drop at the end of November, and considering that food prices, particularly of meats, have now receded from their peaks. However, the index figure is for December, not January; and it was not until January that any decline in food prices was noticeable. In fact, the index rise in December was largely accounted for by higher food prices (items like potatoes) in that month.

There is a very good chance that the index for January will show no rise, and perhaps a slight decline, and that this month's index will continue to record a steadiness. Canadian farm product prices at terminal markets dropped off sharply in January. The composite index closed at 254.5 for January 26th; on December 28th it was 262.1. This decline in wholesale prices at the end of January will be reflected in the retail food prices by this month's index.

Illegal Smokes

The illegal traffic in American cigarettes has got out of control, judging from reports from big Canadian centres near the border, like Montreal, Windsor and Vancouver. Millions of American cigarettes have been seized, yet the sale of them in Canada continues.

The reason is, of course, that the traffic is profitable. A Canadian can buy a package of cigarettes south of the border for about twenty cents (the price varies according to the State tax). To smuggle a few cartons across every fortnight, for themselves and friends, saves money; the Canadian package of twenty costs between 42 cents and 46 (depending on the province and city). To high-jack a truckload across—bought at American wholesale prices—and peddle them offers such chances for big profits that hundreds of persons willingly take the risk of confiscation and fines and are making a fancy livelihood out of the illegal trade.

Ottawa has realized that the taxes on cigarettes are too high. The last increase has resulted in both an increase in smuggling and a marked decrease in taxation yield. It is assumed that when the next budget is brought down, or perhaps earlier, the latest tax increases will be dropped. Is that enough? Canadians have become accustomed to smoking American cigarettes and buying them under the counter at prices ranging between 30 and 32 cents a package. To take off only the last two cents of tax still leaves the American cigarette attractive to even normally law-abiding citizens. The tax reduction will have to be greater than that to encourage smokers to use their own, and to wipe out the big business of cigarette-running.

A Notable Community Project

Two and a half years ago the sod was turned to begin construction of an outdoor swimming centre in Riverside Park—a project which the Peterborough Lions Club were undertaking. A year later, in June 1950, and twelve months of hard work later, not only in raising funds but also in the actual job of digging, carpentering and painting, the pool was opened. It was a fine effort worth a fine pool—and fine it is. There are actually two pools: the swimming bath and the wading pool, with an accompanying bath house as excellent in its sanitary arrangements and physical appointments as the pools. Now, after only two seasons, the whole project is paid for. The mortgage was ceremoniously burnt on Monday evening.

In actual cash the bathing centre cost $65,000. This is apart from the work the club members did themselves. Of this sum, all was raised by the Lions Club excepting $5,000 by way of government grant. The small fees charged for towels and use of the pools during the two seasons were not revenue towards the capital expense; as a matter of fact, these did not meet the operating expenses.

The swimming centre is a beautiful investment of time, effort and money in the city's future. It is a shining example of the able and worthy work which service clubs perform in this city for the benefit of the community: a project conceived, carried out and completed without fanfare and with despatch.

Quis Custodiet Ipsos Custodes?

We are sorry to introduce a brief editorial about baby-sitters with a scrap of Latin. We do so, however, because the scrap of Latin is very old, and expresses a dilemma often met with in law and in morals; it means, roughly, "Who watches the watchers?", and it expresses the complex nature of public and private responsibility.

On Saturday last a news report was published of the killing of a child of three, in Toronto, by a young woman who was engaged as a baby-sitter. We do not propose to discuss this case, and indeed it would be illegal and improper for us to do so; we use it merely as a starting point for some remarks on this business of baby-sitting, which has grown to very great proportions during the past fifteen years.

It must always be realized that it is foolish to leave a child in the care of anyone who is not reasonably well known to its parents. The most favoured baby-sitters, we believe, are girls of high-school age who are neighbours, and who are acquainted with both parents and the children they are to care for. Another group of baby-sitters is composed of mature women who augment their income in this way, and who may perhaps have raised families of their own; their character is known and it is their best recommendation. Both these groups of sitters are trustworthy in all except a very small proportion of cases.

Very often, however, the accustomed sitters are all engaged, and parents, in haste and desperation, engage someone whom they do not know, and whose recommendation is negligible. In doing so they run a risk—not a great risk, perhaps, but a risk nevertheless. This being so, it is well for parents to remember that the employment of a sitter does not relieve them of responsibility, and that the person to watch the watcher of the children is one of themselves.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Somebody now figures that the Leaning Tower of Pisa will fall in the year 2151. Meanwhile, wise tourists will not lean too heavily on the overhanging side.

Up in Snag it is said that you can hear your words freeze when you speak. This should save a lot of letter writing, as your friends can simply thaw out your news in the base burner.

When Aneurin Bevan, in the Commons, said to Mr. Churchill: "You are not fit for your office," the P.M. replied: "I am afraid you are endeavouring to make some belated repayment to me for the remarks I made during the war when I called you a squalid nuisance." This is the sort of interchange which brightens politics.

August is to be the starting month for television in Canada, according to A. D. Dunton, chairman of the C.B.C. An august beginning for April foolishness? Canada could conveniently do without television for another three years, until TV has got beyond the mewling and puking stage.

Open Letter To Vyshinsky

By
LYDIA NORD
(In a broadcast over the B.B.C. European Service)

MR. VYSHINSKY: I should never have written this letter if I had not heard your speech about us refugees.

When I first met you in the house of Valeri Ivanovich Mejlank, you were neither a Minister or a State Prosecutor, but only an official in the People's Commissariat of Justice, and so I could speak to you as an ordinary mortal.

My point of view at that time was that of an ordinary Soviet woman. At the time of the Revolution I was only ten years old, and I went to school and learned to think independently under the Soviet regime. Although not a party member, I believed sincerely in the practicability of building Socialism and a classless society.

I believed in the Soviet regime, which promised the whole nation a free, happy comfortable life in the future. Because of my belief I was prepared to accept such tidings as the destruction of the peasantry, the state of hunger and the hordes of homeless children in every Soviety town as being temporary and inevitable evils of a transitionary period.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT alas, as time went on I felt the Soviet power closing in like a vice upon my human rights. To take a simple example: because my husband at that time held an important post, I was not able to invite my friends to the house, since they were not worthy of the circles in which we moved. Several times my husband was reproached because of my sociableness, and then we used to have terrible quarrels. Gradually I came to realize that I belonged to a definite caste which had no links either with the broad masses of the Soviet people or with the intelligentsia.

When I examined the life led by other strata of Soviet society, I saw that it was very different from ours—both materially and in its legal aspect. But I only realized the full force of this contrast when I found myself at the bottom of the Soviet pyramid.

This was in 1937. My fall from the top to the bottom of the pyramid was completely unexpected. My whole life was destroyed overnight. It was then that I realized that Soviet citizens have norights at all, although these rights are listed in the Constitution and talked about a great deal by Soviet propagandists. It was you, Mr. Vyshinsky, who taught me this.

✧ ✧ ✧

BY this time you were already in Krylenko's (Commissar for Justice and State Prosecutor) post, and I applied to you to find out officially what had happened to my husband. You were not easily accessible then, but with a woman's persistence I overcame all obstacles. Naturally I knew that the gulf between us was immense, and I did not dream of calling you by your Christian name or shaking you by the hand, as I had done when I first met you.

When I entered your office you leaned back in your chair, and passing an icy glance over me from head to foot, asked my name and business. When I explained, you delved into some file or other, and finally, avoiding my eyes said: "Your husband was an enemy of the people and a foreign agent. He refused to sign the accusations brought against him, but the righteous arm of Soviet justice has punished him—he has been shot".

Those were your very words. When I asked if I had the right to apply for an order to obtain a roof over my children's heads, or at least a postponement of our ejection from our official living quarters into the street, you replied: "No." And you answered my other questions in the same way.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOSING all self-control, I said: "Then we are all to throw ourselves under a train?" You replied with a mere shrug of the shoulders, as though saying, "That is your affair". You knew the accusations against my husband were false, and that his shooting was not punishments but murder. My family fortunately survived. But although the Soviet constitution guaranteed me the right to labour at first I could get no sort of work, because my husband had been shot.

My struggle for existence was a hard one, but somehow I managed to drag myself onto the first few steps of the ladder of life in the U.S.S.R. But still, at any moment I might have been thrown down to the bottom again. In spirit I remained at the bottom, where the majority of the Russian intelligentsia were in fact languishing and in my heart I remained by those graves whose location is known only to certain officials of the Ministry of Internal Affairs, and to you Mr. Vyshinsky. You gave me an introduction to the school of life. I studied Soviet reality as attentively as I had earlier studied the theory of Communism, and I became convinced that there was no common ground between the two.

You taught me then that human rights are not given to one; one has to take them by force. And so after the war I took the right to live in a free world, by refusing to return to my motherland.

✧ ✧ ✧

I AND MY COUNTRYMEN who did not return home are aware that in calling us, in your speech your "brothers" and "sisters", in sympathizing with our "bitter lot", you were only trying to influence world public opinion, not us. You are surely not so naive as to think that your oratory and promises can bring us back to the U.S.S.R.

You are too intelligent to be a fanatic and you know enough to be able to see people and things as they are. You have often been abroad and you know well the life of capitalist countries, in fact you yourself enjoy the advantages of foreign life. And so you must realize in your heart that we were quite right not to come home. You know from your spies that we are living abroad in conditions that Soviet citizens cannot even dream of, and that we enjoy the same freedom and rights as the native populations of the countries where we have taken refuge.

We quite realize that you are very anxious for us to return to the U.S.S.R. In 1945 the Politburo realized that of the millions of Soviet citizens then in German territory, either as prisoners-of-war or as deportees, very few would return to the U.S.S.R. voluntarily. They knew also that those who did not return would travel to different countries and there tell the truth about Soviet life. For this reason Stalin hastened to conclude with the Allies a treaty on forced repatriation of all Soviet citizens. Foreseeing that there would be resistance from those to be repatriated and fearing that public opinion abroad would be on their side, you, Mr. Vyshinsky, hastened to declare that "only war criminals would refuse to return to their homeland".

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Allies believed you and began to carry out the terms of the treaty. What was the result? The men who were to be repatriated shot or hanged themselves, cut their throats, hurled themselves out of cars, and did everything to show that they preferred death to return to their "homeland". You must know as much as the rest of the world about the tragedies of this sort which took place at Linz or Dachau. Finally the Allies realized that hundreds of thousands of people could not all be war criminals. Forcible repatriation was stopped, and we found asylum in D.P. camps (Displaced Persons).

After this you changed your tactics and began enticing us home with promises. But we soon heard from men who had been lucky enough to escape from N.K.V.D. (Secret police) reception camps what sort of welcome you were really giving to those who volunteered to return. Many of these men had been deported by the Germans when little more than children.

What crime had they committed in Soviet eyes? Tell us where the majority of repatriated war prisoners now are? Where are the members of Vlasov's Army, to whom the Soviet Government promised a full amnesty if they would return? (Vlasov was the Russian "quisling" general who comanded a Russian force fighting on the German side.) Why, Mr. Vyshinsky, could you not spare these unfortunate people a small part of the sympathy which you shower so lavishly upon us who did not return?

We love Russia and our own people. But we will not come back to Russia while it is ruled by a Communist dictatorship. We are grateful to the Governments and peoples which are sheltering us, and above all we are grateful because each one of us can now say with pride: "I am a man, and not a slave."

QUEEN ELIZABETH

By ROGER FULFORD

(Ed. Note: This special copyrighted article on the new Queen has been written by Roger Fulford, author of "The Royal Dukes", "George IV" and other publications on the British Royal Family and traditions.)

TO-DAY we revert to the habit of half a century ago and acclaim "our most gracious Sovereign Lady, the Queen." Inevitably the minds of those in middle life will wander back to former times, when "God Save the Queen" seemed to be a part of the established and endless glory of Victorian England.

Some, indeed, arguing from the familiar premise that England is never so prosperous as when she has a Queen, may be inclined to interpret the present too closely in terms of the past, and to view Queen Elizabeth as if she had the magical quality of the legendary King Arthur, who was supposed one day to restore the old order. But without pressing analogies and comparisons thus far we can profitably look back for guidance and portents to those sixty-four years when Great Britain was last ruled by a Queen—even if the backward glance only reminds us of the great gulf fixed between the world which knew President Kruger and the world which knows Premier Stalin. The comparison at least sets before us the abiding problems which face a woman Sovereign of this country.

Queen Victoria, although she was among the most successful of English rulers, always maintained that sovereignty was a task for men, and that women were unsuited for it. These were her exact words: "I am every day more convinced that we women, if we are to be good women, feminine and amiable and domestic, are not fitted to reign: at least it is contre gré that they drive themselves to the work which it entails."

In these days such opinions may seem almost absurd and laughable, yet there is in them both truth and warning. For the work which the British people have expected of their monarchs over the past 100 years has been extremely burdensome and (not to put too fine a point on it) impossible for a woman—more especially if she is a mother with young children. George V, in his forthright fashion, once expressed this by saying that people "think one is made of stone and can go on forever."

✧ ✧ ✧

UNDOUBTEDLY the labours demanded of a King or Queen are heedlessly accepted by the public as something rather agreeable—a little desk-work varied by a number of pleasant drives or excursions through London or the provinces. In reality the picture is less rosy.

The official business of the Crown lies in the examination of State papers, the interviews with members of the Government, prominent persons and diplomats, the particular responsibility of the Sovereign in Church and Service matters, all the problems connected with the Royal Household and the management of royal property (amounting to a Government Department in miniature). These all combine to make not only a full-time job but a particularly anxious and exacting one. Mr. Churchill has referred to the right of the Sovereign under the Constitution to be made acquainted with everything for which the Ministers of the Crown are responsible, and he has also emphasized the extraordinary diligence which the Sovereign must show if he is to do this and to keep up to date with the flow of papers coming into the Palace.

In this connection it is not inappropriate to recall that Queen Victoria held that it was impossible for a woman to discharge all these duties of a Constitutional Monarch and at the same time to undertake a heavy round of public functions and appearances. Even people who are tolerably well-informed probably have very little idea how these increased during the reigns of King George V and King George VI, but it is only necessary to compare the Court Circular in these reigns with that in Queen Victoria's reign to realize what the change has been. Moreover, many of the functions of the Court—such as a Presentation Party, a Garden Party, or even a Court Ball—have become necessarily more formal owing to the numbers who have the right to be invited and the very proper inclusion in them of representatives of the Commonwealth.

SURVEYING the burden of duty which thus falls on the Queen—and it would hardly be exaggerating to describe it as formidable and even monumental—the public will thankfully recognize that in her husband the Queen has the support which can alone make her life tolerable. That shrewd monarch, King Leopold I of the Belgians, once wrote to Queen Victoria, "In your position, you could not exist without having a happy home life." The century which has passed since those words were written has but served to hammer home their truth.

The Duke of Edinburgh is doubtless wearied of being compared with his illustrious forbear the enlightened Prince Consort—but he certainly brings to the support of the Queen gifts which are reminiscent of those of Prince Albert, and are not obscured by the somewhat solemn personality of that Prince. Whether he will make himself, as the Prince Consort did, the private secretary and adviser of the Queen, or whether he will take over some of the formal and more public side of her work—rather as Prince Bernhard does in Holland—is a matter for speculation.

The first feelings of anyone pausing to analyse what is expected of a Queen in the twentieth century—even when she has the comfort and support of a happy home—must be ones of sympathy and understanding. But next there should be gratitude to the parents of the Queen for the way in which they trained her for her inheritance. The rather murky intrigues and squabbles which clouded the youth of Queen Victoria, and which have too often encumbered the heir to the English throne, were completely lacking. For her parents gave her — so far as was possible through the distractions of war—a girlhood and youth which were normal for one of her generation and were not teased by a pedantic emphasis on the inheritance which might one day be hers.

BUT from the time the Princess came of age—and in the case of the heir to the throne this is eighteen and not twenty-one—she has been widely encouraged to see the workings of the monarchy, to take her place in official functions and to get to know the notabilities of English public life. Her speech in welcome to the King of Norway this year (1951), her appearances at the Trooping the Colour and even her earliest broadcast at the beginning of the war, show that nature has richly endowed her for her position.

When she was on the verge of her inheritance Queen Victoria wrote, "I am not alarmed at it, and yet I do not suppose myself quite equal to all: I trust however that with good-will, honesty and courage I shall not, at all events, fail." That blend of modesty and confidence won for Queen Victoria the fervent attachment of the British people, and it can with confidence be said that as her descendant faces her task with the same good-will and courage she, too, will be supported by the same expressions of devotion from her subjects.

Who Needs To Be Taught A Lesson?

(CALGARY HERALD)

THE President of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, Charles E. Harkness, wants to "teach the Canadian public a lesson".

Mr. Harkness advocates a nation-wide strike of hundreds of thousands of dairy farmers in Canada. If all milk were withheld from the market, Canadians might be forced to realize the importance of the Canadian dairy industry. He claims that the dairy industry is "losing" $1,000,000,000 a year, and he blames "child labor, higher costs, margarine and New Zealand imports," among other things.

What kind of a lesson does Mr. Harkness want to teach us? No intelligent person needs to be taught that the dairy industry is an important one in Canada, not only to the farmer but to every citizen in the land. Does he want to teach us, perhaps, that we will submit to the highly-protectionist policies of the organized dairy lobby or be deprived of an essential part of our diet?

As for his claim that the industry is losing a billion dollars a year, we just don't believe it.

If dairy farming is such a patently disastrous venture, it is most peculiar that so many farmers stay in the business, and they do. It is true that dairy herds are being depleted, but we believe the main reason for that is that the price of beef is so high, not because the price of milk and butter is so low. The dairy industry in Canada has consistently failed to meet the requirements of the Canadian market, and that is the reason for the return of margarine and the importation of New Zealand butter. The Canadian public would be delighted to buy Canadian butter in preference to all other butter or margarine, if it could do so in reasonable quantity and at a reasonable price. If the dairy industry cannot meet competition, or refuses to meet competition, that is its own business, and threatening the public will do no good whatever.

Dairy farmers have no more right to complain about rising costs any more than any other producer of any other commodity in Canada. All costs have risen. We believe, furthermore, that high costs in the dairy industry are in very many cases traceable to lack of efficiency and an unwillingness to change methods with the times. We do not believe in fixing prices to protect the least efficient producer, which is what happens all too often in the dairy industry.

Mr. Harkness cannot deny that a lot of dairy farmers have made, and are making, a success of their business and manage in some mysterious manner to make money even under the deplorable conditions he pictures, How come? Do they do it with mirrors, or because they know what they're doing?

There will always be a market for all the efficiently-produced and fairly-priced dairy products the dairy industry can produce in Canada, and there will always be efficient dairy farmers who will find the market profitable. That, perhaps, is a lesson Mr. Harkness should learn.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding... Get wisdom, get understanding: forget it not; neither decline from the words of my mouth. Forsake her not, and she shall preserve thee: love her, and she shall keep thee. Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding...

Hear, O my son, and receive my sayings; and the years of thy life shall be many.... Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go: keep her; for she is thy life. (Prov. 4: 1, 5-7, 10, 13.)

Queen Mary Mourns In Seclusion

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP) — Queen Mary mourned in seclusion today the death of a third son, King George VI.

From the top of Marlborough House, her official London residence, her flag still flew at full-staff.

A police sergeant on duty near her home explained, "It is the personal flag of Queen Mary. It always has flown as now when she is in residence—and is not lowered to half-staff." All other flags throughout the country were.

It was just before 9:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. EST) Wednesday when Queen Mary was preparing to go through the day's letters with her private secretary that she was told her son had died.

At once the 84-year-old Queen withdrew to a first-floor lounge and stayed there throughout the day, refusing to see anyone.

But Wednesday night her daughter, Princess Mary, was with her for an hour.

Queen Mary has lived to see the close of five reigns, the death of three of her five sons and her only daughter widowed.

Her youngest son, Prince John, died in 1919, and the Duke of Kent was killed in an airplane crash in 1942.

Churchgoers Ignoring Moral Needs–Pastor

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 7. (ENS) —Spectator-itis is too common among church-goers, the Rev. A. E. Larke told Springville United church congregation on Sunday morning.

Mr. Larke defined the word as the tendency to attend church and enjoy what it has to offer, at the same time ignoring its social, moral and ethical demands. Another problem faced the church: the complacent attitude of people with once-vital spiritual lives.

The Christian life, he said, carried the obligation to take up a cross. Purpose of his message, said Mr. Larke, was to challenge the members and office-holders of the church to greater devotion and a fuller commitment to Christian discipleship.

The YPU cancelled their regular Sunday evening meeting to attend the final service of the preaching mission held Sunday night in Millbrook, with the Rev. Gerald Gregson preaching.

Canadian Play Opens With Canuck Cast

LONDON,—(CP)—"The Happy Time," a play about French-Canadian life in Ottawa in the '20s, received mixed reviews when it opened in London without a real Canadian in the cast.

Some critics attending the first night at the St. James' theatre said the play, a Broadway success, lived up to its title. Others found it flat.

The Manchester Guardian found little flavor in references to racial conflict in Canada, while Canadian-born Beverley Baxter, writing in the Evening Standard, criticized attempts to reproduce the "variations of the French-Canadian dialect".

French actress Genevieve Page, a god-daughter of designer Christian Dior, plays the pretty housemaid. Baxter says "She is better designed than anything M. Dior had to show when I attended one of his seances last summer."

Hawks Bow To Red-Hot Spits As Indians Humble Brantford 9-4

By The Canadian Press.

The third place Galt Black Hawks bumped into a red-hot Windsor Spitfires' club Wednesday night and ended up as the victims of the Spits' biggest upset in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series this season.

With only 800 fans on hand, the Spitfires cut down the Hawks 6-4 in Windsor to gain their eighth win against 33 losses and four ties and move out of the cellar by one point. Oshawa Generals, idle on Wednesday night, dropped down to the last rung.

In only other Junior A action, Toronto Marlboros boosted their first place lead over Guelph Biltmores by blanking the eighth-place Waterloo Hurricanes 8-0 in Waterloo. A four-goal effort by Danny Poland highlighted the game.

Meanwhile, in the Senior A games, the league-leading Stratford Indians knocked off the third-place Brantford Redmen with a 9-4 triumph in Stratford and Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen edged Owen Sound Mercurys 4-3 before a home crowd of 1,807 fans.

Clinch First Place

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds clinched first place in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League with a 5-1 win over Sudbury Wolves at Sault Ste. Marie. It was the Greyhounds' 24th victory and shoved them 17 points out in front of the Wolves with eight games left to play for each club.

Windsor was outshot by Galt in every period but, in spite of this, managed to take a 3-2 lead in the first period and a 5-3 margin in the second.

The Hawks threatened to deadlock the score in the third period when Jack Hill scored 45 seconds after the frame opened to cut the Spits' lead to 5-4. However, Bobby Brown scored his second goal of the night to give the Spits a two-goal lead once more.

Besides Brown, Joe Zorica scored twice for Windsor. Johnny Muckler and Reg Campbell accounted for the Spitfires' other goals. Jim McBurney, Don McDonald, Ken Wharram snared the Hawks' other tallies.

Marlboros coasted to a 4-0 lead in the first period, added one more in the second and three in the final while keeping Waterloo scoreless in all three heats. With Poland getting four of the markers, it was left to Rod McElroy, Eric Nesterenko, Wally Maxwell and Louis Bendo to divide the others.

Curb Chances

Stratford's win over Brantford put a crimp in the losers' chances for a playoff berth in the senior series. Mickey Roth and George Aiken sparked Stratford's attack with three counters and two assists each. Dinny Flanagan counted two goals and two assists and Jack White one goal and two assists. Bernie Smith, Bill Shill, Lloyd Ferguson and Bill Russell racked up the Brantford goals.

Kitchener - Waterloo drove home three goals in the final 11 minutes to defeat Owen Sound. Bobby Schnurr figured in one goal and two assists for the winners while Verity, Don Bauer and Bill Mitchell got one counter apiece. Tommy Burlington figured in all three Owen Sound goals, scoring one and setting up others for Bill McComb and Buck Forslund.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Dr. J. B. Kirkpatrick, president of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union, announced today that all C.I.A.U. activities have been cancelled until after the funeral of the King.

The board of reference, acting unanimously on the decision, said respect for the late King should be shown in athletics as in other spheres.

The organizing committee of the Oslo Winter Olympic Games Wednesday ordered all national flags at the Olympic villages to be flown at half staff in mourning for the late King George VI.

The flags include those of Poland, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia from Communist - dominated eastern Europe.

New York Giants landed the signature of one of their "big three" hurlers Wednesday when righthander Jim Hearn came to terms. Hearn had a 17-9 record last season and earned a $2,500 raise to $21,000. The Giants still have a little dickering to do with Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen, the other key members of the hurling staff.

Pete Reiser, National League batting champion in 1941 and a pinch-hitter for Pittsburgh Pirates last season, was signed as a free agent by Cleveland Indians Wednesday. "I don't see how Reiser can help but prove valuable," Tribe general manager Frank Greenberg said. "Last season he got 11 hits in 33 times as a pinch-hitter, and that's pretty good clutch batting in any company."

Edmonton Mercurys, Canada's hockey entry in the winter Olympics at Oslo, defeated a Swedish team 8-1 Wednesday night at Soedertaelje, near Stockholm.

At Providence, R.I., jockey Carroll Haire, 20, of Lincoln, R.I., pleaded no contest Wednesday to two indictments returned in the recent grand jury investigation of race fixing at Rhode Island tracks. At the request of John Dilibero, handling his defence as public defender, the cases were continued three weeks for sentence.

Haire was accused of accepting $700 from T. Paul Kanall of Winthrop, Mass., to pull a horse named Flyaround at Lincoln Downs race track on Nov. 6, 1950, and of corrupting Charley Mullins, another jockey, by paying him $700 to pull a horse named Transegret the same day. Both horses were favorites. Flyaround finished next to last and Transegret was second.

Seventeen of the original 84 horses entered for the Grand National Steeplechase were withdrawn at the first acceptance stage Wednesday at London. Cafe Creme, one of two French horses given top weight of 175 pounds along with Freebooter—the 1950 winner—was taken out. Another acceptance for the gruelling four miles, 856 yards race at Aintree April 5 is scheduled for March 18.

Three members of the Kingston team—Sands, Bernie Tetro and Howard Reid—were skips in the Kingston double win last week of the Ontario Tankard and Governor-General's Trophy.

Sands' rink had little trouble with the Renfrew rink skipped by Tom L. Cuthbertson. In the 12-end game, Sands gave up points in only three ends.

Havelock Victorious Over Hastings 8-3

HASTINGS, Feb. 7—(ENS)—Hastings intermediates continued their losing ways last night as Havelock pinned an 8-2 defeat on them in a regular T.V.L. fixture before a good crowd.

Play was fast and fairly even, on good ice, but the locals lacked that extra drive inside the opposing line. Hill turned in his best effort of the season, while up front Blake, Huard and Herrington stood out.

Carravaggio, Eakins and Reid were most dangerous for Havelock, and Bradley turned in a nice effort in the net. Herrihgton and Wilson went off with majors in the third for mixing.

Lindsay Downs the Links In Lively Junior Contest Before 600 Fans At Civic

Lindsay Kin took the first game of a final regular home-and-home junior hockey series over Oddfellows Wednesday night at Civic Arena 9-6 in a nip-and-tuck struggle. Over 600 fans, largest mid-week junior crowd in years, saw the final duel of the local season, prior to playoffs, between the keen rivals who meet in Lindsay Friday to wind up the schedule. It was a rugged battle throughout with 14 penalties in all, evenly divided, and though Links were outscored by a slight margin they conceded nothing on the general play. Kinsmen proved slightly better opportunists when breaks came their way, to earn the victory.

Got the Edge

Johnny Godfrey's boys took a one-goal edge in a fast first period as Twist, Coyle, Heffernan rifled a pair of tallies with the first two the marksmen and the Stewart, Sullivan, Ferguson line notched one to more than offset two nice efforts by the fleet Kin winger, Ken Schinkel, aided by Dave Lucas and centre Doug Powell. All goals were neat ones as the teams combined nicely in a pleasing show with Oddfellows holding a definite edge territorially in the first 20 minutes.

Undaunted, Kinsmen fought back in the mid-frame and action aplenty featured a bruising 20 minutes of play. The rivals battled to a scoreless draw the first half; but Kin found the range in the latter half to score three and take the edge away from Links, despite a desperate fight with Kin showing their best pattern plays on attack and Lady Luck smiling approvingly, too. Powell opened on a three-way passing play with Norm Dysart and Schinkel as he whipped a 25-foot ice cutter without looking, near centre, that caught the lower right corner. Dysart clicked late in the frame from a circle face-off through a maze of players. Meanwhile, Links continued to play hard hockey but were unable to beat McGuire. With seconds to go, Dave Lucas gave his team a two-goal margin when with Links a man down, he rushed with Schinkel close in and the puck bounced high off a stick to drop behind Wasson into the cage—a tough break for Links.

Action Aplenty

The final period saw the Lakefield line give Links new steam as Coyle potted a beauty close in from Twist at the one-minute mark. Kin came back strong again to get this one back, seconds later, as Gord Deeth, the Oshawa boy drilled a long screener near the blue line after a faceoff to the left that found the mark. Copeland came around the net to push one in near the five-minute mark on a fast piece of headwork, and Dysart scored his second with Links shorthanded on a neat set-up by his linemates. Army Armstrong drilled one to the left corner, four minutes later on Ferguson's passout to the blueline and Oddfellows staged a strong bid to overhaul the league-leaders, but a 2-1 break on goals in the final half was their best as Kin put up a stubborn defence to hold well against the dangerous Godfreyites. Bill Stewart scored the final Link marker in the dying minutes, a high flip to the upper mesh from McCracken and Ferguson.

Lindsay: Goal, McGuire; defence, Marshall, Shervington; centre, Smith; wings, McDonald, Vasey; alts., Powell, Dysart, Schinkel, Copeland, Deeth, Hall, Lucas, Pallister (spare goalie).

Oaklands Gain Cage Win Over St. Peter's

After breaking a tie with only six seconds to go, St. Peter's High Saints were edged 30-29 Wednesday as De LaSalle Oaklands of Toronto dropped in the winning basket just as the final whistle went. The game was the Saints' second in Ontario Catholic Conference play.

The Saints gave their home fans numbering about 200, something to cheer about in the last three minutes after it had been a "dead" game for more than three-quarters. They then wiped out a 10-point deficit, tied the score and went ahead on a foul shot by Jack Richardson. But De LaSalle's Fitzpatrick on a fast break dropped the ball through in the last seconds for the winner.

After their terrific comeback which had fans and coaches screaming, the Saints actually deserved the win. They outplayed the Oaklands throughout but just couldn't put the ball through the hoop.

De LaSalle were more evenly matched with the young Saints, who are mostly only junior age. The Saints showed some signs of improvement since they first met the strong St. Michael's College quintet two weeks ago. St. Mike's outclass both De LaSalle and St. Peter's by easily 20 points.

Shooting Off

If the Saints' shooting had been on, they would have won by a wide margin. Although they have practiced with the new backboards, they were having trouble both with long and short shots, the ball just bouncing around on the rim.

But with quick breaks up the floor, they easily outpassed De LaSalle throughout the game. Defensively the Saints worked a zone which the Oaklands found difficulty until the third quarter when Liddle cracked it several times.

With a slight edge in height the Toronto cagers were picking the rebounds off both backboards. This helped them defensively as the Saints were off the mark.

Doug Galvin and Fred Legros gave the Saints a 4-3 lead at the quarter. But they fell back in the second quarter when De LaSalle's Fitzpatrick broke away for eight points to help build up a 15-9 score for Toronto at the half.

Galvin continued to plug away for the Saints in the third quarter as they went down 24-17, being held 9-8 on the quarter score.

Jack Richardson with short jabbing checks which often netted him the ball led the Saints' rally in the fourth quarter, then climaxed his performance by sinking the foul shot which gave St. Peter's the lead 29-28 with six seconds to go. Fitzpatrick soon settled the issue.

Often the play was rough and gradually became worse until Simmons of St. Peter's and Tadman of Toronto were tossed out of the game for scrapping. There were 34 fouls called, mostly for hacking and holding.

De LaSalle's Fitzpatrick, a pivot man, topped the scoring with 12 points while St. Peter's Legros had eight and Galvin had 10. Richardson totalled six for the Saints. Lineups:

SPS (29)—Richardson 6, Jones 2, Fitzpatrick, Galvin 10, Legros 8, McGillen, Simmons 1, O'Rourke, Quinlan 2.

De LaSalle (30)—Vaclavek 3, Tadman, Nicholls, Wilson, Fitzpatrick 12, James, Liddle 5, Baxter 3, DeVrienot 2.

Central Takes Win

Armstrong scored the only goal on a pass from Dinsdale to give Central a 1-0 intermediate Public School Hockey League victory over Confederation yesterday at the arena. It was a fine close-checking contest with both goalies kicking aside a flock of hot thrusts in every period. Teams:

Central—Hayman, Lang, Dunford, Simpson, Tetlock, Sorrie, Oinsdale, Armstrong, McInroy, Pollock, Menzies, Barber, Birkhof, Vilneff.

Confederation — Outwater, Woods, Casey, Copping, Moffatt, Nicholls, G. Kimball, Moore, Kinniby, Pulkinghorn, M. Kimball.

Referee, L. McNeill.

WOOLLEY WINS WARNE — Down to the last end tied up seven-all, Mrs. L. E. Woolley's rink from the Toronto Granite Club Club won the Warne Trophy bonspiel Wednesday afternoon with the last stone. Mrs. G. Devitt's Bobcaygeon rink held the trophy momentarily on the second-last stone, but Mrs. Woolley's shot replaced the Devitt stone for the eighth point. Around the coveted trophy the Granite club rink posed seconds after winning trophy, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. L. E. Woolley (back row, left to right), and Mrs. L. J. McGuinness and Miss Jane Clarke (front row).—(Examiner Staff Photo).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

If the Eagles run true to form they'll beat the Petes here tomorrow night. It seems to be the pattern of their play the last half of the senior "B" schedule. When these teams clash twice in one week—as they've done several times this season—the Petes win the first one, and the Eagles roar back to take the next number. Well, Petes edged 'em out Monday, and it might be Eagles' turn to take the Friday night fray. We'll just have to wait and see—along with a couple of thousand more puck followers. A fast, tight tussle is assured when these clubs tangle on the ice, and not a smidgin of love lost betwixt 'em.

* * * * * *

Belleville plays in Kingston Friday night and if the K's take Hawks again, they'll either be tied with Eagles or ahead of 'em—depending on what Ned Vitarelli's crew does that eve. If Hawks win, they'll be right on the heels of Petes, provided Jim Ellis' outfit should lose. A lot of angles shaping up this weekend in the Central Ontario circuit. Petes lead now with 28 points, Belleville has 24, while Eagles and Kingston are next with 19 each. Hawks played two more games than the rest. The schedule concludes the end of this month. Local clubs only meet a couple of more times, and mayhap not at all in playoffs. So, don't pass up any of these stellar hockey attractions this month.

Smythe Likes The Saints

Thought this was an interesting item from Brantford: "Contrary to popular belief, says Lloyd Johnston of the Kitchener Record, the Leafs don't have strings on Toronto St. Mike's juniors. Conny Smythe gives the club $20,000 to start with. All St. Mike's teams from peewees to top-grade juniors are permitted to practice free at the Gardens. Just to show you there is a catch to it, Conny gets a nice piece of change from the gate when St. Mike's play. Those Sunday afternoon games do attract the crowds. On top of that, Conny usually gets his fingers on one or two good players from the Irish." Yeah, Conny is canny.

Speaking of minor hockey, the PMHA loop playoffs are on tonight at Civic Arena. Two-game series, points to count, so these first frays are highly important. It's Otonabee Wolves vs. St. Peter's bantams at 6.30, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Trojans at eight bells, and the juvenile Marines vs. Triple Links at 9.30 of the clock. Only undefeated team this season is the Martin-Hewitt midget squad, which won 12 straight games. Marines lost two, Links three, Trojans four, Wolves two and SPS five to make the finals. Winners are city champs and go into provincial playdowns in the OMHA. Drop around, folks, and see some future senior stars battling it out bitterly in playoff contests.

Lindsay Beats The Links

Lindsay Kin came through with a 9-6 OHA junior "B" victory here last night o'er the Oddfellows. Some 600 fans on deck and they saw a lively scrap all the way, with not much to choose between the teams. No less than nine Lindsay lads and seven of the Links figured in the scoring, which was well spread around in each inning. Rugged in spots, too, as these husky youngsters don't spare themselves when the chips are down. A sort of preview to group playoffs which will be coming up shortly. The Godfrey gang winds up the schedule tomorrow on Scugog ice and then waits word on playoff dates. First and fourth teams tangle and second and third in best-of-five series.

Southern Ontario senior and junior men's zone ski jumping competitions are on this Saturday at the Nassau jump. There's enough snow on the landing slope for the jumpers now and it'll be checked again and patched, if necessary, ere the events go. Entries expected from Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Huntsville and Midland, with Ab Vass, Ian Blaiklock and Dave Johnson senior entries from the Peterborough Club. It's been some time since top skiers from this part of the province did their jumping here, and no doubt a lot of folks will drive out to take a look at this thrilling wintertime spectacle.

Black's Take Tussle From Lindsay 35-21

Black's lasses triumphed over the Lindsay girls Wednesday night in a city league exhibition game in the Lindsay Collegiate gym 35-21. Except for a brief moment when the score was tied six-all, just before the half ended, Black's were always out in front.

With only six players, including Mabel Gillen on loan for the game from the undefeated Neill's team, Black's easily took the win. A sparkling scoring performance by Gillen, backed by a steady attack by Rosie McInroy, Carol Raper, Reta Naylor and Eadie McIlhagga helped Black's to the win.

Marj Owen again led the Lindsay girls with assistance from Ruth Beard, sparkplug of the Lindsay team. This will be one of the last games played by Beard before she leaves Lindsay for Toronto.

PCVS Gets Win Over TCS In Cage Play

P.C.V.S.' well-balanced senior "A" cage quintet chalked up its third straight win Wednesday when they finished stronger than Trinity College School of Port Hope for a 43-38 exhibition win.

Coach Bev Goulding's Garnet and Grey cagers fresh from O.A.B.A. junior triumphs over Oshawa were slow starting and didn't climb ahead until the third quarter and then skimmed through easily in the fourth.

The poor lighting had some effect on P.C.V.S.' passing and shooting. Used to the brightly-lit P.C.V.S. floor, the Garnet and Grey found the lighting bad, causing a number of fumbles and off-the-target field attempts.

After a 50 per cent record on field attempts Saturday in Oshawa, the P.C.V.S. cagers slipped to the average 33 per cent with Trinity. They netted 18 out of 55. Trinity College matched P.C.V.S. closely having 17 good out of 57; seven out of 14 were good in the first quarter and six for 17 in the second. They only scored on four out of 21 in the second half.

A U.S.A. Star

An American import, Walker, who played pivot, was having a field day for Trinity until Don Ash and Jim Hendry caught up with him in the second half. He sent in seven field baskets and two foul shots for 16 points in the first half, and then had to settle for only two points in the second.

Murray Grafstein helped Ash and Hendry hold Walker as he blotted out Trinity's passing scheme.

Trinity lost Houston, last year with Belleville Collegiate juniors, in the third quarter when he twisted an ankle. Up to that time he had played havoc with Garnet and Grey guards with his shifty footwork.

With Walker checked and Houston out, Trinity was not the same team and the P.C.V.S. quintet began to play stronger. Better-balanced they had an edge on the Port Hope boys throughout the second half.

Mostly by Walker's efforts, Trinity College took a 14-12 lead in the first quarter and extended it to 29-26 at the half. They fell behind at the third quarter 35-33 and couldn't regain the lead.

Walker with his first half barrage swept the game's scoring honors with 18 points, followed by Lionel Hempstead with 11 for P.C.V.S. Hempstead's showing was his best this season.

Lineups:

P.C.V.S. (43)—Ash 6, Young 3, Grafstein 2, Hempstead 11, Brown 4, Hendry 6, Langhorne 9, Cranfield 2.

Trinity (38)—Walker 18, Muntz 3, Cowan, Board, Houston 6, Thomas 6, Ryley, Mowry, Ryley 3.

R. Pearson Bowls 365

R. Pearson rolled high single of 365 and C. Signorotti had top three of 877 this week in the Major Bowling League at Playfair. Team high was taken by UEW with 3,548 as Mowry's clipped off a season's high single for teams with a 1,422 count. Six points went to Mowry's, Campbell, Stud. Champs, Odeon and Cherney respectively over Examiner, Brewers, McLeod, Wood and Kawartha; as 4-2 wins were chalked up by Lillian's, Revenoors, Herb's, Bickell, Crowley, Plazas and UEW over Selkirk, Wonder, Darling's, B & E, Kingsmen, Sun Life and Clapper's in that order.

Good scores included: H. Correll (351) 851, T. Collins (304) 837, R. Pearson 799, M. Hill (328) 792, H. Mowry 793, J. Goodson 779, J. McKenzie (307) 782, H. Killen 776, W. Corrigan 763, E. Mrs. L. E. Woolley Retains Warne Curling Trophy In Close Finish To 'Spiel

Mrs. L. E. Woolley, Toronto Granites, probably the most outstanding lady curler of the province, ably supported by her two sisters, Mrs. R. Smith and Miss J. Clark, along with Mrs. J. McGuinness, won the Warne Trophy here on Wednesday afternoon, 8-7, with her last stone on the 10th end, with Mrs. G. Devitt, Bobcaygeon, as the runner-up, but it was close. It was the second time in two years for the same skip to win. Mrs. J. Watts' local rink won the second event with Mrs. J. Dunkerly's Peterborough rink second.

Mrs. R. Card, Kingston, won the third event over Mrs. A. Elmhirst's Keene rink.

The bonspiel began at 10 a.m. Monday and continued until 3:30 Wednesday afternoon. The bonspiel was a huge success. The committee of Mrs. V. Selkirk, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. E. O'Toole, Mrs. F. Patterson, Mrs. M. McCartney, Mrs. J. Watts, and Mrs. J. Green did a fine job. They attended to all details—and there were many—and deserved all the compliments that came their way. Mrs. L. Bearne's social committee also came in for high praise.

Mrs. E. O'Toole and Mrs. F. Patterson, two newcomers on the committee, were kept busy with the tabulation of games and players. It helped the spectators a lot.

Flew Up North

It was not generally known that Mrs. R. Smith, who vices for her sister Mrs. L. C. Woolley, lives in Florida, and flew up north to attend this ladies' bonspiel. A real sporting gesture.

Those curlers who came from centres where there is no artificial ice, deserve the highest praise.

At the conclusion of the bonspiel on Wednesday, tea was served in the club parlors, and after the prizes had been distributed the ladies left for their homes, tired but happy.

Before play started in the morning, the gathering stood in silence out of respect and in memory of the late King.

Hopes To Bring Canada Skiing Points

By JACK SULLIVAN

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 7 (CP).—Mrs. Rhoda Wurtele Eaves confidently expects to bring Canada its first points in Olympic skiing history.

The 25-year-old veteran of the Canadian women's team has shown top form since her arrival in Norway in mid-January and the experts from other competing countries have kept a sharp eye on the Montrealer while she practices.

She worked out with the Canadian Alpine team Wednesday and by far showed the best form among the Canadian women.

Rhoda injured an ankle while training for the 1948 Olympics and failed to place in the games. This time the Canadian team officials and Norwegian experts figure she has an excellent chance of taking one of the women's events in the slalom, downhill or giant slalom.
